865. Relief for legacies imported from a third country.

A person who has become entitled as a legatee to property situated in a third country¹ is not required to pay any duty or tax chargeable on the importation thereof into the United Kingdom², on condition that:

- 2165 (1) he is either normally resident³ in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man or a secondary resident⁴ who is not normally resident in a third country or an eligible body⁵;
- 2166 (2) he furnishes proof to the officer of his entitlement as legatee to the property; and
- 2167 (3) save as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs otherwise allow, the property⁶ is imported by or for such person not later than two years from the date on which his entitlement as legatee is finally determined⁷.

No relief is to be so afforded in respect of:

- 2168 (a) beverages containing alcohol;
- 2169 (b) tobacco products;
- 2170 (c) any motor vehicle⁸ which, by its type of construction and equipment, is designed for and capable of transporting more than nine persons including the driver, or goods, or any special purpose vehicle or mobile workshop;
- 2171 (d) articles, other than portable instruments of the applied or liberal arts, used in the exercise of a trade or profession before his death by the person from whom the legatee has acquired them;
- 2172 (e) stocks of new materials and finished or semi-finished products;
- 2173 (f) livestock and stocks of agricultural products exceeding the quantities appropriate to normal family requirements⁹.

1 For these purposes, 'third country' has the meaning given by EC Council Directive 77/388 (OJ L145, 13.6.77, p 1) art 3(1) (substituted by EC Council Directive 91/680 (OJ L376, 31.12.91, p 1) art 1(1)): Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 2. For the purposes of art 21, the reference to the Directive is to be construed as a reference to that instrument as amended, modified or otherwise affected by the Act concerning the conditions of accession of the Republic of Bulgaria and Romania and the adjustments to the treaties on which the European Union is founded (OJ L157, 21.6.2005, p 203): Relief for Legacies Imported from Third Countries (Application) Order 2006, SI 2006/3158.

3 For the meanings of 'normal residence' and 'normally resident' see PARA 866 post.

4 For these purposes, 'secondary resident' means a person who, without being normally resident in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man, has a home situated in the United Kingdom which he owns or is renting for at least 12 months: Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 21(3).

5 For these purposes, 'eligible body' means a body solely concerned with carrying on a non-profit making activity and which is incorporated in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man: ibid art 21(3).

6 For these purposes, 'property' means any personal property intended for personal use or for meeting household needs and includes household effects, household provisions, household pets and riding animals, cycles, motor vehicles, caravans, pleasure boats and private aircraft, provided that any goods are excluded which, by their nature or quantity, indicate that they are being imported for a commercial purpose: ibid art 2.

7 Ibid art 21(1).

8 For these purposes, 'motor vehicle' includes a trailer: ibid art 2.

866. Rules for determining where a person is normally resident.

'Normal residence' means a person's principal place of abode situated in the country where he is normally resident¹. The following provisions apply for determining where a person is normally resident².

A person is to be treated as being normally resident in the country where he usually lives:

- 2174 (1) for a period of, or periods together amounting to, at least 185 days in a period of 12 months;
- 2175 (2) because of his occupational ties³; and
- 2176 (3) because of his personal ties⁴.

In the case of a person with no occupational ties, the above provisions apply with the omission of head (2) above, provided that his personal ties show close links with that country⁵.

Where a person has his occupational ties in one country and his personal ties in another country, he is to be treated as being normally resident in the latter country, provided that either:

- 2177 (a) his stay in the former country is in order to carry out a task of a definite duration; or
- 2178 (b) he returns regularly to the country where he has his personal ties⁶.

A United Kingdom citizen⁷ whose personal ties are in the United Kingdom but whose occupational ties are in a third country⁸ may⁹ for the purposes of relief be treated as normally resident in the country of his occupational ties, provided that he has lived there for a period of, or periods together amounting to, at least 185 days in a period of 12 months¹⁰.

(5) ANTIQUES, PRIZES ETC

868. Relief from customs or excise duty on antiques, prizes etc.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may allow the delivery without payment of customs or excise duty on importation:

2181 (1) of any goods², other than spirits³ or wine⁴, which are proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners to have been manufactured or produced more than 100 years before the date of importation;

2182 (2) of articles which are shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners to have been awarded abroad to any person for distinction in art, literature, science or sport, or for public service, or otherwise as a record of meritorious achievement or conduct, and to be imported by or on behalf of that person⁵.

(6) RE-IMPORTED GOODS

869. Relief from excise duty on certain United Kingdom goods re-imported.

Without prejudice to any other enactment relating to excise, the following provisions have effect in relation to goods¹ manufactured or produced in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man which are re-imported into the United Kingdom after exportation therefrom².

If the goods are excise goods at the date of their re-importation³, they may on re-importation be delivered for home use without payment of excise duty if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁴:

- 2183 (1) that, at the date of their exportation⁵, the goods were not excise goods or, if they were then excise goods, that the excise duty⁶ had been paid before their exportation; and
- 2184 (2) that no drawback⁷ in respect of the excise duty, and no allowance, has been paid on their exportation or that any such drawback or allowance so paid has been repaid to the Consolidated Fund⁸; and
- 2185 (3) that the goods have not undergone any process outside the United Kingdom since their exportation⁹.

If the goods both are, at the date of their re-importation, and were, at the date of their exportation, excise goods, but were exported from a warehouse¹⁰ or from the place where they were manufactured or produced without the excise duty having been paid, then, where the following conditions are satisfied, that is to say:

- 2186 (a) it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that the goods have not undergone any process outside the United Kingdom since their exportation; and
- 2187 (b) any allowance paid on their exportation is repaid to the Consolidated Fund, the goods may on their re-importation, subject to such conditions and restrictions as the Commissioners may impose, be entered and removed without payment of excise duty for re-warehousing or for return to the place where they were manufactured or produced, as the case may be¹¹.

Nothing in the above provisions authorises the delivery for home use of any goods not otherwise eligible therefor¹².

870. Relief from excise duty on certain foreign goods re-imported.

Without prejudice to any other enactment relating to excise, goods¹ manufactured or produced outside the United Kingdom² and the Isle of Man which are re-imported into the United Kingdom after exportation therefrom may on their re-importation be delivered without payment of excise duty for home use, where so eligible, if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³:

- 2188 (1) that no excise duty was chargeable thereon at their previous importation or that any excise duty so chargeable was then paid; and
- 2189 (2) that no drawback⁴ has been paid or excise duty refunded on their exportation or that any drawback so paid or excise duty so refunded has been repaid to the Consolidated Fund⁵; and
- 2190 (3) that the goods have not undergone any process outside the United Kingdom since their exportation⁶.

For these purposes, goods which, on their previous importation, were entered for transit or transshipment or were permitted to be delivered without payment of excise duty as being imported only temporarily with a view to subsequent re-exportation and which were re-exported accordingly are deemed, on their re-importation, not previously to have been imported⁷.

(7) GOODS IMPORTED FOR TESTING ETC

871. Relief from excise duty on goods imported for testing etc.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may by order provide that, in such cases and subject to such exceptions as may be specified in the order, goods imported into the United Kingdom² for the sole or main purpose:

- 2191 (1) of being examined, analysed or tested; or
- 2192 (2) of being used to test other goods, are to be relieved from excise duty³ chargeable on importation; and any such relief may take the form either of an exemption from payment of duty or of a provision whereby the sum payable by way of duty is less than it would otherwise be⁴.

Such an order:

- 2193 (a) may make any relief for which it provides subject to conditions specified in or under the order, including conditions to be complied with after the importation of the goods to which the relief applies;
- 2194 (b) may contain such incidental and supplementary provisions as the Commissioners think necessary or expedient; and
- 2195 (c) may make different provision for different cases⁵.

872. Scope of relief.

Where goods are imported into the United Kingdom¹ for the sole or main purpose of being:

- 2196 (1) examined, analysed or tested; or
- 2197 (2) used to test equipment to establish whether that equipment can process such imported goods in a manner which may be specified by a potential buyer of that equipment, payment of excise duty chargeable on those imported goods is not required².

The above provisions do not apply to:

- 2198 (a) goods exceeding the quantities which the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³ may determine are necessary for the purpose of the examination, analysis or test;
- 2199 (b) goods which are consumed by a person in the examination, analysis or test; or
- 2200 (c) petrol or any petrol substitute⁴, and are without prejudice to any other relief from payment of excise duty chargeable on the importation of goods⁵.

Nothing in the above provisions permits goods to be imported contrary to any prohibition or restriction on their importation⁶.

Relief is not afforded by the above provisions in respect of goods imported for the purpose of any examination, analysis or test which itself constitutes a sales promotion or in respect of heavy oil⁷ imported for the purpose of being used as fuel for a road vehicle⁸.

A person intending to import goods eligible for relief under the above provisions must give the Commissioners notice of the importation in writing, containing such particulars as the Commissioners may direct, of his intentions with respect to that importation by him of such goods⁹. Where such goods are to form part of a series of similar importations, the Commissioners may regard those requirements as being satisfied by a single notice¹⁰.

An importer of goods who intends to claim relief under the above provisions must make such entry and declaration relating to the importation as the Commissioners may direct¹¹.

Security must be provided to the Commissioners in respect of the amount of excise duty which is to be relieved from payment by the above provisions; and such security must be in such form as the Commissioners may require¹².

The following provisions set out the conditions subject to which relief is granted; and if any such condition is not complied with, the excise duty immediately becomes payable¹³:

- 2201 (i) the purpose for which the goods were imported must be fulfilled in the United Kingdom and within such time as the Commissioners may require¹⁴;
- 2202 (ii) the goods must not be used for any purpose excepted from relief¹⁵;

- 2203 (iii) any goods not completely used up or destroyed in the course of, or as a result of, the examination, analysis or test, and any products resulting from those operations, must be destroyed or otherwise rendered commercially worthless, exported or put to other use on payment of duty¹⁶;
- 2204 (iv) the importer must keep such records as the Commissioners may require relating to the importation of goods, the use to which the goods are put, and any remaining or resulting goods, and must preserve the records for such period, not exceeding two years from the completion of the goods' use in the examination, analysis or test, as the Commissioners may require¹⁷;
- 2205 (v) the importer must, at any reasonable time, permit the Commissioners to inspect and take extracts from, copy, or remove for a reasonable period, the records required under head (iv) above¹⁸;
- 2206 (vi) where the records required under head (iv) above are in a form which is not readily legible, or which is legible only with the aid of equipment, the importer must, if the Commissioners so require, furnish to them a transcript or other permanently legible reproduction of those records¹⁹;
- 2207 (vii) records required under head (iv) above must be kept at the importer's principal place of business or such other place as the Commissioners may direct²⁰;
- 2208 (viii) the importer must provide the Commissioners with such information relating to the examination, analysis or test, and any goods remaining after or resulting from such operation, as the Commissioners may require²¹;
- 2209 (ix) the importer must, before goods which have been relieved from excise duty by the above provisions are transferred to another person not employed by him, notify the Commissioners of his intention in writing and, on receiving the goods, the recipient must comply with the conditions of the relief as if he were the importer²²;
- 2210 (x) the importer must, as soon as the examination, analysis or test is finished, notify the Commissioners in writing of the date it was finished and supply the Commissioners with details in writing of any goods not completely used up in, and of any goods resulting from, that operation, together with written notice of how he proposes to dispose of them in accordance with head (iii) above²³.

(8) DUTY-FREE GOODS SUPPLIED TO HER MAJESTY'S SHIPS

873. Supply of duty-free goods to Her Majesty's ships.

The Treasury¹ may by regulations provide that, subject to any prescribed² conditions, goods³ of any description specified in the regulations which are supplied either:

- 2211 (1) to any ship⁴ of the Royal Navy in commission of a description so specified, for the use of persons serving in that ship, being persons borne on the books of that or some other ship of the Royal Navy or a naval establishment; or
- 2212 (2) to the Secretary of State, for the use of persons serving in ships of the Royal Navy or naval establishments, are for all or any purposes of any excise duty or drawback⁵ in respect of those goods to be treated as exported; and a person supplying or intending to supply goods as mentioned in head (1) or head (2) above is to be treated accordingly as exporting or intending to export them⁶.

Regulations so made with respect to goods of any description may regulate or provide for regulating the quantity allowed to any ship or establishment, the manner in which they are to be obtained, and their use or distribution⁷. The regulations may:

- 2213 (a) contain such other incidental or supplementary provisions as appear to the Treasury to be necessary for these purposes, including any adaptations of the customs and excise Acts⁸; and
- 2214 (b) make different provision in relation to different cases, and in particular in relation to different classes or descriptions of goods or of ships or establishments⁹.

Before making any such regulations, the Treasury must consult with the Secretary of State and with the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹⁰.

The powers conferred by the above provisions apply for the purposes of customs duty as they apply for the purposes of excise duty but do not so apply after such day as the Commissioners may by order appoint¹¹.

874. Duty-free supplies for the Royal Navy.

The following provisions apply to dutiable food and drink¹, tobacco² and matches which are supplied to any of the following ships and naval establishments, that is to say:

- 2215 (1) Her Majesty's ships³ in commission which are normally required in the ordinary course of their duty to be absent from United Kingdom territorial waters⁴ for periods of more than six days continuously in each year;
- 2216 (2) Her Majesty's ships in commission which are normally required in the ordinary course of their duty to be absent from United Kingdom territorial waters but not for periods as long as six days continuously and Her Majesty's ships in commission belonging to classes I and II (state of readiness) of the Reserve Fleet in which only officers and men serving in the Reserve Fleet are living;
- 2217 (3) Her Majesty's ships other than those mentioned in heads (1) and (2) above and naval establishments⁵, or, with the exception of matches, to the Admiralty at a naval victualling yard, depot or sub-depot, for distribution to any of Her Majesty's ships specified in head (1), (2) or (3) above for the use of persons living in that ship, being persons borne on the books of that or of another of Her Majesty's ships or of a naval establishment, or to the Admiralty as aforesaid for distribution to any naval establishment for the use of officers and men of the Royal Navy⁶ and Royal Marines⁷ living in that establishment, and borne on the books of that or some other naval establishment or of one of Her Majesty's ships⁸.

The quantity of tobacco to be so supplied in each month for the use of each person or officer or man mentioned above who is an habitual user of tobacco and who is living in a ship or establishment specified above must not exceed in the case of:

- 2218 (a) Her Majesty's ships designated in head (1) above, save when undergoing a refit exceeding 28 days, one and a half pounds;
- 2219 (b) Her Majesty's ships designated in head (2) above, save when undergoing a refit exceeding 28 days, one and a quarter pounds;
- 2220 (c) Her Majesty's ships designated in head (3) above, and naval establishments, other than such establishments as the Admiralty may from time to time exclude, three-quarters of a pound;
- 2221 (d) Her Majesty's ships designated in heads (1) and (2) above during any refit which exceeds 28 days, three-quarters of a pound, and no such person or officer or man is during any month to receive any quantity of such tobacco in excess of the amount specified in heads (a) to (d) above properly applicable to him⁹. However, any tobacco taken on board any of Her Majesty's ships at any place outside the United Kingdom must, if it is supplied after the return of the ship to the home station for the use of any person, officer or man mentioned above, be taken into account in calculating the quantities to be supplied for the purposes of the above provisions¹⁰.

The tobacco supplied in accordance with heads (c) and (d) above must be provided by the Admiralty from a naval victualling yard, depot or sub-depot¹¹.

The marking, supply and distribution of tobacco supplied under the above provisions must be in accordance with such conditions as may from time to time be prescribed by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs after consultation with the Admiralty¹².

The supply and distribution of dutiable liquor supplied under the above provisions must be controlled by the Admiralty, subject to the agreement of the Commissioners¹³.

The goods specified in, and supplied in accordance with, the above provisions are to be treated, for all or any purposes of any customs or excise duty, drawback or allowance in respect of those goods, as exported; and a person so supplying or intending so to supply goods is to be treated accordingly as exporting or intending to export them, provided that all the conditions which may from time to time be prescribed by the Commissioners after consultation with the Admiralty are duly complied with¹⁴.

The time of exportation of the goods specified above is deemed to be:

- 2222 (i) in the case of goods supplied direct to any of Her Majesty's ships of the classes specified in heads (1) and (2) above, the time when such goods are first received on board such ship; and
- 2223 (ii) in the case of goods supplied to the Admiralty, the time when such goods are received for the first time in any naval victualling yard, depot or sub-depot in the United Kingdom¹⁵.

1 For these purposes, 'food and drink' means any article used as food or drink for human consumption other than drugs: Duty-Free Supplies for the Royal Navy Regulations 1954, SI 1954/1406, reg 10.

2 For these purposes, 'tobacco' means manufactured tobacco of every description: ibid reg 10.

3 For these purposes, 'Her Majesty's ship' means a ship of the Royal Navy on the home station, other than a naval establishment (see note 5 infra): ibid reg 10.

4 As to the extent of the territorial sea (or waters) of the United Kingdom see the Territorial Sea Act 1987 s 1; and INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS LAW vol 61 (2010) PARA 124; WATER AND WATERWAYS vol 100 (2009) PARA 31. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

5 For these purposes, 'naval establishment' means any naval establishment ashore in the United Kingdom manned by officers and men of the Royal Navy (see note 6 infra): Duty-Free Supplies for the Royal Navy Regulations 1954, SI 1954/1406, reg 10.

6 For these purposes, 'officers and men of the Royal Navy' means serving officers and ratings of the Royal Navy and officers and ratings of the Royal Naval Reserve, Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve or other naval reserve when in actual service: ibid reg 10.

7 For these purposes, 'officers and men of the Royal Marines' means serving officers and men of the Royal Marines and officers and men of the Royal Marine Volunteer Force or other Royal Marine reserve when in actual service: ibid reg 10.

RELIEFS/(9) RELIEFS FOR PERSONS ENTERING THE UNITED KINGDOM/(i) In general/875. Power to provide, in relation to persons entering the United Kingdom, for reliefs from duty and value added tax and for simplified computation of duty and tax.

(9) RELIEFS FOR PERSONS ENTERING THE UNITED KINGDOM

(i) In general

875. Power to provide, in relation to persons entering the United Kingdom, for reliefs from duty and value added tax and for simplified computation of duty and tax.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may by order make provision for conferring on persons entering the United Kingdom reliefs from duty and VAT²; and any such relief may take the form either of an exemption from payment of duty and tax or of a provision whereby the sum payable by way of duty or tax is less than it would otherwise be³.

The Commissioners may by order make provision supplementing any Community relief⁴, in such manner as they think necessary or expedient⁵.

The Commissioners may⁶ by order make provision whereby, in such cases and to such extent as may be specified in the order, a sum calculated at a rate specified in the order is treated as the aggregate amount payable by way of duty and tax in respect of goods imported by a person entering the United Kingdom; but any order making such provision must enable the person concerned to elect that duty and tax is to be charged on the goods in question at the rate which would be applicable apart from that provision⁷.

Such an order may:

- 2224 (1) make any relief for which it provides, or any Community relief, subject to conditions, including conditions which are to be complied with after the importation of the goods to which the relief applies and conditions with respect to the conduct⁸ in relation to the goods of persons other than the person on whom the relief is conferred and of persons whose identity cannot be ascertained at the time of importation;
- 2225 (2) in relation to any relief conferred by order made under the above provisions, contain such incidental and supplementary provisions as the Commissioners think necessary or expedient, including provisions requiring any person to whom a condition of the relief at any time relates to notify the Commissioners of any non-compliance with the condition and provisions for the forfeiture of goods in the event of non-compliance with any condition subject to which they have been relieved from duty or tax; and
- 2226 (3) make different provision for different cases⁹.

Such an order may provide, in relation to any relief which under such an order is made subject to a condition, for there to be a presumption that, in such cases as may be described in the order by reference:

- 2227 (a) to the quantity of goods in question; or
- 2228 (b) to any other factor which the Commissioners consider appropriate, the condition is to be treated, unless the Commissioners are satisfied to the contrary, as not being complied with¹⁰. Such an order may also provide, in relation to any requirement of such an order for the Commissioners to be notified of non-compliance with a condition to which any relief from payment of any duty of excise is made subject, for goods to be exempt from forfeiture for breach of certain conditions¹¹ in respect of non-compliance with that condition if:

- 2229 (i) the non-compliance is notified to the Commissioners in accordance with that requirement;
- 2230 (ii) any duty which becomes payable on those goods by virtue of the non-compliance is paid; and
- 2231 (iii) the circumstances are otherwise such as may be described in the order¹².

If any person fails to comply with any requirement of an order under the above provisions to notify the Commissioners of any non-compliance with a condition to which any relief is made subject, he is liable on summary conviction to a penalty¹³; and the goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture¹⁴.

Nothing in any order under the above provisions is to be construed as authorising any person to import any thing in contravention of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force with respect thereto under or by virtue of any enactment¹⁵.

1 As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq post.

2 For these purposes, 'duty' means customs or excise duty chargeable on goods imported into the United Kingdom and, in the case of excise duty, includes any addition thereto by virtue of the Excise Duties (Surcharges or Rebates) Act 1979 s 1 (as amended) (see PARA 620 ante): Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13(4). For these purposes, 'VAT' or 'tax' means VAT chargeable on the importation of goods from places outside the member states or on the acquisition of goods from the member states other than the United Kingdom: s 13(4) (amended by the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 14, Sch 3 para 93). As to the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 858 note 1 ante. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

3 Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13(1). In exercise of the power so conferred the Commissioners have made the Customs Duty (Community Reliefs) Order 1984, SI 1984/719 (see PARA 226 et seq ante), the Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs) (Fuel and Lubricants Imported in Vehicles) Order 1989, SI 1989/1898 (amended by SI 1995/1777) (see PARA 876 post), the Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193 (see PARA 879 et seq post), the Travellers' Allowances Order 1994, SI 1994/955 (amended by SI 1995/3044) (see PARA 878 post), the Travellers' Reliefs (Fuel and Lubricants) Order 1995, SI 1995/1777 (see PARA 877 post) and the Customs and Excise Duties (Travellers' Allowances and Personal Reliefs) (New Member States) Order 2004, SI 2004/1002 (amended by SI 2006/3157). As to the making of orders see PARA 858 note 2 ante.

4 For these purposes, 'Community relief' means any relief which is conferred by a Community instrument and is of a kind, or of a kind similar to that, which could otherwise be conferred by order made under the Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13 (as amended): s 13(4) (amended by the Finance Act 1984 s 15(1), (5), (8)). For the meaning of 'Community instrument' see PARA 5 note 4 ante.

5 Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13(1A) (added by the Finance Act 1984 s 15(1), (2), (8)).

6 Ie without prejudice to the Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13(1): see the text and notes 1-3 supra.

7 Ibid s 13(2).

8 For these purposes, 'conduct', in relation to any person who has or may acquire possession or control of any goods, includes that person's intentions at any time in relation to those goods: ibid s 13(4) (amended by the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 1(5), Sch 1 para 8(3)).

9 Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13(3) (amended by the Finance Act 1984 s 15(1), (3), (4), (8); and the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 Sch 1 para 8(1)).

- 10 Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13(3A) (added by the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 Sch 1 para 8(2)).
- 11 le under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 124: see PARA 1101 post.
- 12 Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13(3B) (added by the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 Sch 1 para 8(2)).
- 13 Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13(3C) (added by the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 Sch 1 para 8(2)). The penalty must be of an amount not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale: see the Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13(3C) (as so added). As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post.
- 14 Ibid s 13(3C) (as added: see note 13 supra).
- 15 Ibid s 13(5).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/3. RELIEFS/(9) RELIEFS FOR PERSONS ENTERING THE UNITED KINGDOM/(ii) Fuel and Lubricants in Vehicles/876. Fuel and lubricants imported in vehicles.

(ii) Fuel and Lubricants in Vehicles

876. Fuel and lubricants imported in vehicles.

A person entering the United Kingdom is not required to pay any excise duty chargeable on the importation of fuel and lubricants contained in a vehicle¹ imported by and with him on condition that:

- 2232 (1) the fuel is contained in the standard fuel tank² of the vehicle;
- 2233 (2) the fuel and lubricants are used only in the vehicle and are not removed from the vehicle except temporarily, in order to facilitate repair, or permanently, in order to be destroyed; and
- 2234 (3) the lubricants are of a type and quantity necessary for the normal operation of the vehicle during its journey³.

A person entering the United Kingdom is not required to pay any excise duty chargeable on the importation of fuel contained in a portable tank carried in a private vehicle⁴ imported by and with him on condition that:

- 2235 (a) the total quantity of fuel carried in such a tank in the vehicle does not exceed ten litres; and
- 2236 (b) the fuel is used only in the vehicle⁵.

Except for fuel and lubricants taken into a vehicle outside the European Union, where a person entering the United Kingdom has travelled from another member state, the reliefs afforded by the above provisions do not apply to fuel and lubricants in a commercial vehicle⁶ he has with him⁷.

The relief so granted is without prejudice to any other relief⁸.

1 For these purposes, 'vehicle' means any motor vehicle: Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs) (Fuel and Lubricants Imported in Vehicles) Order 1989, SI 1989/1898, art 2. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'standard fuel tank' means: (1) the tank, permanently fitted by the manufacturer to a vehicle and to all vehicles of that type, supplying fuel directly for propulsion and, where appropriate, refrigeration; and (2) a gas tank fitted to a vehicle designed for the direct use of gas as a fuel: ibid art 2.

3 Ibid art 3.

4 For these purposes, 'private vehicle' means any road vehicle other than one which: (1) by its type of construction and equipment, is designed for and capable of transporting goods or more than nine persons, including the driver; or (2) is for a special purpose other than transport: ibid art 2.

5 Ibid art 4.

6 For these purposes, 'commercial vehicle' means any road vehicle which: (1) by its type of construction and equipment, is designed for and capable of transporting goods of more than nine persons, including the driver; or (2) is being used or is intended for use to carry passengers for reward; or (3) is being used or is intended for use for a purpose other than transport: ibid art 1A(2) (added by SI 1995/1777).

7 Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs) (Fuel and Lubricants Imported in Vehicles) Order 1989, SI 1989/1898, art 1A(1) (added by SI 1995/1777). As to relief for fuel and lubricants imported in commercial vehicles see PARA 877 post.

8 Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs) (Fuel and Lubricants Imported in Vehicles) Order 1989, SI 1989/1898, art 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/3. RELIEFS/(9) RELIEFS FOR PERSONS ENTERING THE UNITED KINGDOM/(ii) Fuel and Lubricants in Vehicles/877. Fuel and lubricants contained in a commercial vehicle.

877. Fuel and lubricants contained in a commercial vehicle.

A person who has travelled from another member state is, on entering the United Kingdom¹, relieved from payment of excise duty on the fuel and lubricants contained in a commercial vehicle that he has with him². The reliefs so afforded apply:

- 2237 (1) only to fuel that is contained in the vehicle's standard tanks³ and is being used or is intended for use by that vehicle⁴;
- 2238 (2) only to fuel on which excise duty has been paid in the member state in which the fuel was acquired at a rate that is appropriate to the use to which that fuel is being or is intended to be put and the excise duty paid on that fuel has not been remitted, repaid or drawn back⁵;
- 2239 (3) only to fuel and lubricants that were taken into the vehicle within the European Union and are of a type and quantity necessary for the normal operation of the vehicle during its journey⁶.

The reliefs afforded by the above provisions are subject to the conditions set out in heads (a) to (c) below; and if any condition is not complied with, the fuel and lubricants are, unless that non-compliance was sanctioned by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, liable to forfeiture⁷. The conditions mentioned above are:

- 2240 (a) the fuel and lubricants must be used only in the vehicle and must not be removed from the vehicle except temporarily, to facilitate repair, or permanently, to be destroyed⁸;
- 2241 (b) the fuel and lubricants must be used only for purposes appropriate to the rate of excise duty paid in the member state in which the fuel was acquired⁹;
- 2242 (c) the excise duty paid on the fuel and lubricants must not be remitted, repaid or drawn back¹⁰.

1 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

2 Travellers' Reliefs (Fuel and Lubricants) Order 1995, SI 1995/1777, art 3(1). For these purposes, 'commercial vehicle' means any road vehicle which: (1) by its type of construction and equipment, is designed for and capable of transporting goods or more than nine persons, including the driver; or (2) is being used or is intended for use to carry passengers for reward; or (3) is being used or is intended for use for a purpose other than transport: art 2.

3 For these purposes, 'standard tanks' has the meaning in EC Council Directive 92/81 (OJ L316, 31.10.92, p 12) art 8a (added by EC Council Directive 94/74 (OJ L365, 31.12.94, p 46) art 2(5)): Travellers' Reliefs (Fuel and Lubricants) Order 1995, SI 1995/1777, art 2.

(iii) Travellers from Third Countries

878. Travellers from third countries.

A person who has travelled from a third country¹ is, on entering the United Kingdom², relieved from payment of VAT and excise duty on the following goods in the following quantities, that is to say:

- 2243 (1) in relation to alcoholic beverages:
 - 1. (a) with an alcoholic strength of more than 22 per cent by volume, a total of one litre; or with an alcoholic strength of not more than 22 per cent by volume, fortified wines, sparkling wines (including made-wines), a total of two litres;
 - 2. (b) still wines (including made-wines), a total of two litres;
- 141
 - 2244 (2) 60 millilitres of perfume and 250 millilitres of toilet water;
 - 2245 (3) 200 cigarettes or 100 cigarillos or 50 cigars or 250 grams of smoking tobacco;
 - 2246 (4) an article of any other description the value of which does not exceed £145 or several such articles the combined value of which does not exceed that amount, obtained by him in a third country and contained in his personal luggage³.

The reliefs so afforded are subject to the condition that the goods in question, as indicated by their nature or quantity or otherwise, are not imported for a commercial purpose nor are used for such purpose; and if that condition is not complied with in relation to any goods, those goods are, unless the non-compliance was sanctioned by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, liable to forfeiture⁴.

No relief is afforded under the above provisions to any person under the age of 17 in respect of tobacco products or alcoholic beverages⁵.

1 For these purposes, a person is not treated as having travelled from a third country by reason only of his having arrived from its territorial waters or air space: Travellers' Allowances Order 1994, SI 1994/955, art 2(2) (b). 'Third country', in relation to relief from excise duties, means a place to which EC Council Directive 92/12 (OJ L76, 23.3.92, p 1) (as amended) does not apply and, in relation to relief from VAT, has the meaning given by EC Council Directive 77/388 (OJ L145, 13.6.77, p 1) art 3(1) (substituted by EC Council Directive 91/680 (OJ L376, 31.12.91, p 1) art 1(1)): Travellers' Allowances Order 1994, SI 1994/955, art 2(2)(c).

2 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

3 Travellers' Allowances Order 1994, SI 1994/955, art 2(1), Schedule (amended by SI 1995/3044). For these purposes, goods are treated as contained in a person's luggage where they are carried with or accompanied by the person or, if intended to accompany him, were at the time of his departure for the United Kingdom consigned by him as personal luggage to the transport operator with whom he travelled: Travellers' Allowances Order 1994, SI 1994/955, art 2(2)(a).

UPDATE

878 Travellers from third countries

TEXT AND NOTES--The goods are no longer required to be obtained by the traveller in a third country; and where his journey involved transit through an outside country, or began in an outside territory, SI 1994/955 applies if he is unable to establish to an officer of HM Revenue and Customs that the goods contained in his personal luggage were acquired subject to the general conditions governing taxation on the domestic market of a member State and do not qualify for any refunding of VAT or excise duty: art 2(3) (added by SI 2008/3058).

Head (1) now refers to alcoholic beverages and alcohol; the relevant quantities are one litre of alcoholic beverages of an alcoholic strength not exceeding 22% by volume, or undenatured ethyl alcohol of 80% by volume or over; and two litres of alcohol and alcoholic beverages of an alcoholic strength not exceeding 22% by volume; each respective amount represents 100% of the total relief afforded for alcohol and alcoholic beverages; and for any one person, the relief applies to any combination of the types of alcohol and alcoholic beverage described, provided that the aggregate of the percentages used up from the relief the person is afforded for such alcohol and alcoholic beverage does not exceed 100%. The quantities for beer and for still wine are now 16 litres or less and 4 litres or less: SI 1994/955 arts 2(1), 4, Schedule (arts 2(1), 4 amended, Schedule substituted, by SI 2008/3058).

Head (3). Each quantity referred to represents 100% of the total relief afforded for tobacco products; and for any one person, the relief applies to any combination of tobacco products, provided that the aggregate of the percentages used up from the relief the person is afforded for such alcohol and alcoholic beverage does not exceed 100%; 'cigarillos' is defined as a cigar of a maximum weight of three grams: SI 1994/955 art 2(1), Schedule (art 2(1) amended, Schedule substituted, by SI 2008/3058).

Heads (2) and (4). Goods other than fuel, alcoholic beverages, alcohol and tobacco products, and the quantity is a total value of £340 or less if the person travelled by air or sea, and £240 otherwise; private pleasure-flying or private pleasure sea-navigation does not constitute travel by air or sea for this purpose (this refers to the use of an aircraft or a sea-going vessel by its owner or the person who enjoys its use either through hire or through any other means, for purposes other than commercial and in particular other than for the carriage of passengers or goods or for the supply of services for consideration or for the purposes of public authorities; the value of an individual item may not be split up; but the value of a person's personal luggage, if imported temporarily or re-imported following its temporary export, and of medicinal products required to meet his personal needs, is excluded (art 2(1) amended, Schedule substituted, by SI 2008/3058).

NOTE 1--'Third country' is as defined for the purposes of EC Council Directive 2007/74 (referred to as an 'outside country'), but incorporates the definition that applies for the purposes of Directive 2007/74 to 'territory where the Community provisions on value added tax or excise duty, or both, do not apply' (referred to as 'outside territory', but any such territory is not a third country for VAT (or, as the case may be, excise duty) purposes: SI 1994/955 art 2(2)(c) (substituted by SI 2008/3058).

TEXT AND NOTE 4--The condition is complied with, for example, where an occasional importation consists exclusively of goods intended as presents, or of goods for the personal or family use of the person in question: SI 1994/955 art 3 (amended by SI 2008/3058).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/3. (iv) Property imported from a Third Country

879. Persons transferring their normal residence from a third country.

A person entering the United Kingdom¹ is not required to pay any duty or tax chargeable in respect of property² imported into the United Kingdom on condition that:

- 2247 (1) he has been normally resident in a third country³ for a continuous period of at least 12 months;
 - 2248 (2) he intends to become normally resident⁴ in the United Kingdom;
 - 2249 (3) the property has been in his possession and used⁵ by him in the country where he has been normally resident, for a period of at least six months before its importation;
 - 2250 (4) the property is intended for his personal or household use in the United Kingdom; and
 - 2251 (5) the property is declared for relief⁶:
- 142
- 3. (a) not earlier than six months before the date on which he becomes normally resident in the United Kingdom; and
 - 4. (b) not later than 12 months following that date⁷.

A person is not to be afforded relief unless the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs are satisfied that the goods have borne, in their country of origin or exportation, the customs or other duties and taxes to which goods of that class or description are normally liable and that such goods have not, by reason of their exportation, been subject to any exemption from, or refund of, such duties and taxes, or any turnover tax, excise duty or other consumption tax⁸.

Where the Commissioners are satisfied that a person has given up his normal residence in a third country but is prevented by occupational ties⁹ from becoming normally resident in the United Kingdom immediately, they may allow property to be declared for relief earlier than as prescribed in head (5)(a) above, subject to such conditions and restrictions as they think fit¹⁰.

1 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'property' does not include: (1) beverages containing alcohol; (2) tobacco products; (3) any motor road vehicle which by its type of construction and equipment is designed for and capable of transporting more than nine persons including the driver, or goods, or any special purpose vehicle or mobile workshop; and (4) articles for use in the exercise of a trade or profession, other than portable instruments of the applied or liberal arts: Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 11(3). For the meaning of 'property' generally see PARA 865 note 6 ante; and as to the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 858 note 1 ante.

3 As to the meaning of 'normally resident' see PARA 866 ante. For the meaning of 'third country' see PARA 865 note 1 ante.

4 For these purposes, any reference to a person who has been normally resident in a third country and who intends to become normally resident in the United Kingdom is to be taken as a reference to a person who intends to comply with the requirements of the Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 3(2), (3) or (4) (see PARA 866 ante), as the case may be, for being treated as normally resident in the United Kingdom: art 4(a). The date on which a person becomes normally resident in the United Kingdom is the date when, having given up his normal residence in a third country, he is in the United Kingdom for the purpose of fulfilling such intention as is mentioned in art 4(a): art 4(b).

5 For these purposes, 'used', in relation to a person's use of consumable property, includes having the property at his disposal: ibid art 2.

6 For these purposes, 'declared for relief' refers to the act by which a person applies for relief on importation of the goods or on their removal from another customs procedure and includes, as the case may be, any declaration under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 78 (as amended) (see PARA 944 post) or any entry under the Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260 (as amended) (see PARA 1032 et seq post), the Excise Warehousing (Etc) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/809 (as amended) (see PARA 671 et seq post) or the Customs Controls on Importation of Goods Regulations 1991, SI 1991/2724, reg 5 (as amended) (see PARA 82 note 7 ante), or any entry required by EC Commission Regulation 2561/90 (OJ L246, 10.9.90, p 1) art 40 (repealed: see now EC Council Regulation 2913/92 (OJ L302, 19.10.92, p 1) (the 'Community Customs Code') arts 98-113 (as amended); and PARA 151 et seq ante): Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 8(2).

7 Ibid art 11(1). As to the conditions common to all reliefs see PARA 886 post. Where personal belongings otherwise qualify for relief under art 11 save only that the property has not been possessed and used for the specified period, then, just as relief can be granted from customs duties as 'special cases justified by the circumstances' under EC Council Regulation 918/83 (OJ L105, 23.4.83, p 1) art 3 (see PARA 227 ante), similar consideration applies in respect of VAT and excise duty and relief may be granted accordingly: HM Revenue and Customs Notice 48 Extra-statutory Concessions (March 2002) PARA 9.6. Where personal belongings otherwise qualify for relief under the Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 11 save only that the property is declared for relief outside the specific periods, then, just as relief can be granted from customs duties as special cases under EC Council Regulation 918/83 (OJ L105, 23.4.83, p 1) art 6 (see PARA 227 ante) or art 9 (see PARA 227 ante), similar consideration applies in respect of VAT and excise duty and relief may be granted accordingly: HM Revenue and Customs Notice 48 Extra-statutory Concessions (March 2002) PARA 9.7.

8 Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 11(2). As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq post.

Where property, including motor vehicles, has been purchased in accordance with the terms of EC Council Directive 77/388 (OJ L145, 13.6.77, p 1) art 15(10) and otherwise qualifies for relief from payment of customs charges under the Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 11, relief is not to be refused solely by reason of art 11(2): HM Revenue and Customs Notice 48 Extra-statutory Concessions (March 2002) PARA 9.3.

Where property, including motor vehicles, has been purchased by members of United Kingdom forces, or by the civilian staff accompanying them, in countries outside the area of the European Community and otherwise qualifies for relief from payment of customs charges under art 11, relief is not to be refused solely by reason of the Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 11(2): HM Revenue and Customs Notice 48 Extra-statutory Concessions (March 2002) PARA 9.4.

Where property, including motor vehicles, has been purchased under a United Kingdom export scheme by members of the United Kingdom diplomatic service, by members of United Kingdom forces or by the civilian staff accompanying them or by members of international organisations and otherwise qualifies for relief from payment of customs charges under the Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 11, relief is not to be refused solely by reason of art 11(2): HM Revenue and Customs Notice 48 Extra-statutory Concessions (March 2002) PARA 9.5.

9 For the meaning of 'occupational ties' see PARA 866 note 3 ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/3. RELIEFS/(9) RELIEFS FOR PERSONS ENTERING THE UNITED KINGDOM/(iv) Property imported from a Third Country/880. Additional relief for property imported on marriage from a third country.

880. Additional relief for property imported on marriage from a third country.

In addition to the relief afforded where a person transfers his normal residence from a third country¹, a person entering the United Kingdom is not required to pay any duty or tax chargeable in respect of property imported into the United Kingdom² on condition that:

- 2252 (1) he has been normally resident³ in a third country for a continuous period of at least 12 months;
- 2253 (2) he intends to become normally resident⁴ in the United Kingdom on the occasion of his marriage; and
- 2254 (3) the property is declared for relief⁵ not earlier than two months before the date fixed for the solemnisation of the marriage and not later than four months following the date of the marriage⁶.

A person to whom the above provisions apply is not required to pay any duty or tax chargeable in respect of any wedding gift⁷ imported into the United Kingdom by him or on his behalf on condition that such wedding gift is:

- 2255 (a) given or intended to be given to him on the occasion of his marriage by a person who is normally resident in a third country;
- 2256 (b) declared for relief not earlier than two months before the date fixed for the solemnisation of the marriage and not later than four months following the date of the marriage⁸.

Relief must not be so afforded in respect of any wedding gift the value of which exceeds £800⁹. For the purpose of so affording any relief from any duty or tax, a wedding gift is to be treated as if it were liable to Community customs duty and valued in accordance with the rules applicable to such duty¹⁰.

1 In addition to the relief afforded by the Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, Pt IV (arts 11, 12): see PARA 879 ante. For the meaning of 'third country' see PARA 865 note 1 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'property' is limited to household effects and trousseaux, other than tobacco products and beverages containing alcohol: ibid art 13(2). For the meaning of 'property' generally see PARA 865 note 6 ante. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

3 As to the meaning of 'normally resident' see PARA 866 ante.

4 As to references to a person who has been normally resident in a third country and who intends to become normally resident in the United Kingdom see PARA 879 note 4 ante.

(v) Scholastic Equipment

881. Relief for scholastic equipment.

A person entering the United Kingdom¹ is not required to pay any duty or tax chargeable in respect of scholastic equipment² imported into the United Kingdom on condition that:

- 2257 (1) he is a pupil or student normally resident³ in a third country⁴ who has been accepted to attend a full-time course at a school, college or university in the United Kingdom; and
- 2258 (2) such equipment belongs to him and is intended for his personal use during the period of his studies⁵.

1 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'scholastic equipment' means household effects which represent the normal furnishings for the room of a pupil or student, clothing, uniforms, and articles or instruments normally used by pupils or students for the purpose of their studies, including calculators or typewriters: Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 16(2).

3 As to the meaning of 'normally resident' see PARA 866 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'third country' see PARA 865 note 1 ante.

5 Customs and Excise Duties (Personal Reliefs for Goods Permanently Imported) Order 1992, SI 1992/3193, art 16(1). This is without prejudice to relief afforded under Pt II (arts 5-7) (see PARA 885 post), Pt III (arts 8-10) (see PARA 886 post), Pt IV (arts 11, 12) (see PARA 879 ante), Pt V (arts 13-15) (see PARA 880 ante), Pt VII (arts 17-20) (see PARA 882 post), or Pt VIII (art 21) (see PARA 865 ante). The provisions of reg 7 (see PARA 885 post) do not apply to relief afforded under art 16: art 16(3). As to the conditions common to all reliefs see PARA 886 post.

(vi) Honorary Decorations etc

882. Relief for honorary decorations and awards.

A person entering the United Kingdom¹ is not required to pay any duty or tax chargeable on the importation into the United Kingdom of any goods² on condition that:

- 2259 (1) he is normally resident³ in the United Kingdom; and
- 2260 (2) such goods comprise any honorary decoration which has been conferred on him by a government in a third country⁴ or any cup, medal or similar article of an essentially symbolic nature which has been awarded to him in a third country as a tribute to his activities in the arts, sport or the public service, or in recognition of merit at a particular event⁵.

No relief may be so afforded in respect of beverages containing alcohol, tobacco products or importations having a commercial character⁶.

883. Relief for gifts received by official visitors in a third country.

A person entering the United Kingdom¹ is not required to pay any duty or tax chargeable on the importation into the United Kingdom of any goods² on condition that:

- 2261 (1) he is normally resident³ in the United Kingdom;
- 2262 (2) he is returning from an official visit to a third country⁴;
- 2263 (3) the goods were given to him by the host authorities of such country on the occasion of his visit; and
- 2264 (4) the goods are not intended for a commercial purpose⁵.

No relief may be so afforded in respect of beverages containing alcohol, tobacco products or importations having a commercial character⁶.

884. Relief for gifts brought by official visitors.

A person entering the United Kingdom¹ is not required to pay any duty or tax chargeable on the importation into the United Kingdom of any goods² on condition that:

- 2265 (1) he is normally resident in a third country³;
- 2266 (2) he is paying an official visit to a third country;
- 2267 (3) the goods are in the nature of an occasional gift which he intends to offer to the host authorities during his visit; and
- 2268 (4) the goods are not intended for a commercial purpose⁴.

No relief may be so afforded in respect of beverages containing alcohol, tobacco products or importations having a commercial character⁵.

(viii) Conditions to be Fulfilled

885. Conditions common to certain reliefs.

Where property¹ in respect of which relief is afforded is permitted to be imported over a period, it may be imported² in more than one consignment during such period³.

Where any goods are declared for relief⁴:

2269 (1) before the date on which a person becomes normally resident in the United Kingdom⁵; or

2270 (2) if he intends to become so resident on the occasion of his marriage, before such marriage has taken place, the relief is subject to the condition that there is furnished to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs such security as they may require⁶.

Where relief is afforded, it is a condition of the relief⁷ that the goods are not lent, hired out, given as security or transferred in the United Kingdom within a period of 12 months from the date on which relief was afforded, unless such disposal is authorised by the Commissioners⁸. Where the Commissioners so authorise any such disposal, they may discharge the relief; and the person to whom the relief was afforded must forthwith pay tax at the rate then in force, provided that, where a lower rate was in force when relief was afforded, the amount payable is to be determined by reference to the lower rate⁹.

886. Conditions common to all reliefs.

A person is not entitled to relief from payment of duty or tax in respect of any goods¹ unless the goods are declared for relief² to the proper officer³.

Where relief from payment of duty or tax is afforded subject to a specified intention on the part of a person in relation to his becoming normally resident in the United Kingdom⁴, or the use of the goods in respect of which relief is afforded, it is a condition of the relief that such intention be fulfilled⁵.

Where relief from payment of duty or tax has been afforded⁶ and subsequently the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁷ are not satisfied that any condition subject to which such relief was afforded has been complied with, then, unless the Commissioners sanction the non-compliance, the duty or tax becomes payable forthwith by the person to whom relief was afforded, except to the extent that the Commissioners may see fit to waive payment of the whole or any part thereof; and the goods are liable to forfeiture⁸.

(ix) Persons enjoying certain Immunities and Privileges

887. Reliefs from duties and taxes for persons enjoying certain immunities and privileges.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may by order make provision for conferring in respect of any of the following persons, that is to say:

- 2271 (1) any person who, for the purposes of any provision of the Visiting Forces Act 1952 or the International Headquarters and Defence Organisations Act 1964, is a member of a visiting force or of a civilian component of such a force or a dependant of such a member or a headquarters, a member of a headquarters or a dependant of such a member²;
- 2272 (2) any person enjoying any privileges or immunities under or by virtue of the Diplomatic Privileges Act 1964, the Commonwealth Secretariat Act 1966, the Consular Relations Act 1968, the International Organisations Act 1968 or the International Development Act 2002³;
- 2273 (3) any person enjoying, under or by virtue of the European Communities Act 1972⁴, any privileges or immunities similar to those enjoyed under or by virtue of the enactments referred to in head (2) above, reliefs, by way of remission or repayment, from payment by them or others of duties of customs or excise or VAT⁵.

Such an order may make any relief for which it provides subject to such conditions binding the person in respect of whom the relief is conferred and, if different, the person liable apart from the relief for payment of the tax or duty, including conditions which are to be complied with after the time when, apart from the relief, the duty or tax would become payable, as may be imposed by or under the order⁶. Such an order may also include any of the following provisions, that is to say:

- 2274 (a) provision for payment to the Commissioners of the tax or duty by the person liable, apart from the relief, for its payment, or any person bound by the condition, or any person who is or has been in possession of the goods⁷ or has received the benefit of the services, or for two or more of those persons to be jointly and severally liable for such payment; and
- 2275 (b) in the case of goods, provision for forfeiture of the goods, for cases where:

- 2276 (i) relief from payment of any duty of customs or excise or VAT chargeable on any goods, or on the supply of any goods or services or the importation of any goods has been conferred, whether by virtue of an order under the above provisions or otherwise, in respect of any person mentioned in heads (1) to (3) above; and

- 2277 (ii) any condition required to be complied with in connection with the relief is not complied with⁸.

Such an order may contain such incidental and supplementary provisions as the Commissioners think necessary or expedient and may make different provision for different cases⁹.

Where, in respect of any person mentioned in heads (1) to (3) above, relief is conferred (whether by virtue of an order under the above provisions or otherwise) in relation to the use of goods by any persons or for any purposes, the relief is to be treated as conferred subject to a condition binding on him that the goods will be used only by those persons or for those purposes¹⁰.

Nothing in any order under the above provisions is to be construed as authorising a person to import any thing in contravention of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force with respect to it under or by virtue of any enactment¹¹.

RELIEFS/(9) RELIEFS FOR PERSONS ENTERING THE UNITED KINGDOM/(ix) Persons enjoying certain Immunities and Privileges/888. Reliefs from duties and taxes for diplomats.

888. Reliefs from duties and taxes for diplomats.

Where any tobacco product or beverage containing alcohol is removed from warehouse¹ in the course of its being supplied to an entitled person, that is:

2278 (1) any person enjoying any privilege or immunity by virtue of his being:

- 5. (a) a diplomatic agent²;
- 6. (b) a senior officer of the Commonwealth Secretariat³;
- 7. (c) a consular officer⁴;
- 8. (d) a representative or a person recognised as holding a rank equivalent to a diplomatic agent⁵; or

2279 (2) any person enjoying⁶ any privilege or immunity similar to those enjoyed by the persons specified in head (1) above⁷, payment of any duty or tax⁸ chargeable in respect of its removal from warehouse or supply is not required⁹.

Where an entitled person purchases a motor vehicle which has been manufactured in a country (other than the United Kingdom¹⁰) which is a member state or a member of the European Free Trade Association¹¹, payment of tax chargeable in respect of the supply is not required¹². No relief¹³ is so afforded if the entitled person has previously been afforded relief in respect of any other motor vehicle, unless he has disposed of all previous motor vehicles in respect of which relief has been so afforded and paid any duty or tax which was required¹⁴ to be paid¹⁵.

Nothing in the above provisions is to be taken as conferring relief in respect of any duty or tax which is subject¹⁶ to remission or refund¹⁷.

It is a condition of the relief conferred under the above provisions that the entitled person:

- 2280 (i) must deliver or cause to be delivered to the supplier of the motor vehicle a certificate in the prescribed form¹⁸ before the supply is made¹⁹; and
- 2281 (ii) must comply with the general conditions attaching to the relief²⁰.

Duty and VAT are to be remitted on alcoholic liquor and tobacco products of United Kingdom manufacture imported by, or supplied to, diplomatic representatives of foreign states in the United Kingdom who are entitled to similar privileges in respect of imported products of foreign manufacture under the Diplomatic Privileges Act 1964²¹.

¹ For these purposes, 'warehouse' means a warehouse within the meaning of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1) (as amended) (see PARA 412 note 3 ante); the premises in respect of which a person is registered under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 41A (as added and amended) (see PARA 445 ante), s 47 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 465 ante), or s 62(2) (see PARA 505 ante); the premises in respect of which a person holds an excise licence under s 54(2) (see PARA 484 ante) or s 55(2) (see PARA 485 ante); or premises registered for the safe storage of tobacco products in accordance with regulations made under the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 7(1)(b) (as amended) (see PARA 591 ante); Customs and Excise (Personal Reliefs for Special Visitors) Order 1992, SI 1992/3156, art 2 (amended by SI 2007/5).

RELIEFS/(9) RELIEFS FOR PERSONS ENTERING THE UNITED KINGDOM/(ix) Persons enjoying certain Immunities and Privileges/889. Reliefs from duties and taxes for visiting forces and headquarters.

889. Reliefs from duties and taxes for visiting forces and headquarters.

Where an entitled person, that is a person who:

2282 (1) is¹ a serving member of a visiting force of a country (other than the United Kingdom) which is a party to the North Atlantic Treaty, or a person recognised by the Secretary of State as a member of a civilian component of such a force or a person who is a military or civilian member of a headquarters or organisation designated for the purpose²; and purchases a motor vehicle which has been manufactured in a country which is a member state or a member of the European Free Trade Association⁴, payment of tax⁵ chargeable in respect of the supply⁶ is not required⁷. It is a condition of the relief⁸ so conferred that the entitled person:

2283 (2) is neither a United Kingdom national³ nor a permanent resident of the United Kingdom,

2284 (a) must deliver or cause to be delivered five certificates in the prescribed form⁹ before the supply is made¹⁰; and 2285 (b) must comply with the general conditions attaching to the relief¹¹.

Where an entitled person imports, acquires¹² or removes from warehouse¹³ any goods, payment of any duty¹⁴ or tax chargeable in respect of the importation¹⁵, acquisition or removal is not required¹⁶. It is a condition of the relief so conferred in respect of a motor vehicle that the entitled person:

2286 (i) must deliver or cause to be delivered four certificates in the prescribed form¹⁷ before the goods are removed by or on behalf of the entitled person¹⁸; and 2287 (ii) must comply with the general conditions attaching to the relief¹⁹.

Where a gift of goods, other than tobacco products or beverages containing alcohol, is made to an entitled person by dispatching them to him from a place outside the United Kingdom, payment of any duty or tax chargeable in respect of the importation, acquisition or removal is not required²⁰.

No relief is, however, to be so afforded in respect of a motor vehicle if the entitled person has previously been afforded relief²¹ in respect of any other motor vehicle, unless he has disposed of all previous motor vehicles in respect of which relief has been so afforded and paid any duty or tax which was required²² to be paid²³.

Duty²⁴ is to be remitted or refunded in accordance with agreements with the authorities concerned on:

2288 (A) goods and services imported by or supplied to visiting forces and their instrumentalities, for the official use of the force, or their instrumentalities;

2289 (B) goods and services imported by or supplied to NATO military headquarters, organisations or agencies, for their official use;

- 2290 (c) United States and Canadian government expenditure on mutual defence or mutual aid contracts;
- 2291 (d) temporary importations of equipment required by contractors for fulfilling NATO infrastructure contracts or in connection with the provision and maintenance of United States forces' defence facilities in the United Kingdom²⁵.

Relief from excise duty is to be allowed, in accordance with conditions agreed with the United States Air Force, on charges for admission to air shows and open days and goods sold by United States forces' organisations during air shows and open days to persons not entitled to receive or consume them unless customs charges have been paid²⁶.

Duty is to be remitted on gifts, whether imported or purchased in the United Kingdom, from United States forces to charitable organisations²⁷.

890. General conditions attaching to relief.

An entitled person¹ upon whom any relief² is conferred is not only bound by the specific conditions as to relief³ but also by the general conditions described below⁴.

It is a condition of the relief that the goods must not be lent, hired out, given as security or transferred by the entitled person or any other person without the prior authorisation in writing of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁵. Where the Commissioners authorise such disposal, they may discharge the relief and the entitled person to whom the relief was afforded must forthwith pay the duty⁶ or tax⁷ at the rate then in force, provided that, where a lower rate was in force when relief was afforded, the amount payable is to be determined by reference to the lower rate⁸.

It is also a condition of the relief that the goods are to be used exclusively by the entitled person or members of his family forming part of his household⁹.

Where relief has been afforded and subsequently the Commissioners are not satisfied that any condition attaching to such relief¹⁰ has been complied with, then, unless the Commissioners sanction the non-compliance in writing, the duty or tax becomes payable forthwith and the goods are liable to forfeiture¹¹. Where relief has been so afforded, but any duty or tax subsequently so becomes payable, the entitled person upon whom the relief was conferred and any person who, at or after the time of the non-compliance with the condition which has caused the duty or tax to become payable, has been in possession of the goods are jointly and severally liable to pay it¹².

1 For these purposes, 'entitled person' means an entitled person for the purposes of either the Customs and Excise (Personal Reliefs for Special Visitors) Order 1992, SI 1992/3156, Pt VI (arts 14-17) (see PARA 888 ante) or Pt VII (arts 18-22) (see PARA 889 ante): art 8.

(10) PRODUCE OF THE SEA OR THE CONTINENTAL SHELF

891. Produce of the sea or continental shelf.

Fish, whales or other natural produce of the sea, or goods¹ produced or manufactured therefrom at sea, if brought direct to the United Kingdom, are:

- 2292 (1) in the case of goods which, under any enactment or instrument having the force of law, are to be treated as originating in the United Kingdom, to be deemed for the purposes of any charge to customs duty not to be imported; and
- 2293 (2) in the case of goods which, under any enactment or instrument having the force of law, are to be treated as originating in any other country or territory, to be deemed to be consigned to the United Kingdom from that country².

Any goods brought into the United Kingdom which are shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs to have been grown, produced or manufactured in any area for the time being designated under the Continental Shelf Act 1964³ and to have been so brought direct from that area are to be deemed, for the purposes of any charge to customs duty, not to be imported⁴.

The Secretary of State may by regulations prescribe cases in which, with a view to exempting any goods from any duty, or charging any goods with duty at a reduced or preferential rate, under any of the enactments relating to duties of customs, the continental shelf⁵ of any country prescribed by the regulation or of any country of a class of countries so prescribed is to be treated for the purposes of such of those enactments or of any instruments made thereunder as may be prescribed as if that shelf formed part of that country and as if any goods brought from that shelf were consigned from that country⁶.

1 As to the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 858 note 1 ante.

2 Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 14(1). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

4 Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 14(2). As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq post.

5 For these purposes, 'continental shelf', in relation to any country, means: (1) if that country is the United Kingdom, any area for the time being designated under the Continental Shelf Act 1964 s 1(7); (2) in any other case, the sea bed and subsoil of the submarine areas adjacent to the coast, but outside the seaward limits of the territorial waters, of that country over which the exercise by that country of sovereign rights in accordance with international law is recognised or authorised by Her Majesty's government in the United Kingdom: Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 14(4). As to the extent of the territorial sea (or waters) of a country see the Territorial Sea Act 1987 s 1; and INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS LAW vol 61 (2010) PARA 124; WATER AND WATERWAYS vol 100 (2009) PARA 31.

6 Customs and Excise Duties (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 14(3). At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made and none have effect as if so made. As to the making of regulations see PARA 858 note 2 ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/3. RELIEFS/(11) SMALL NON-COMMERCIAL CONSIGNMENTS/892. Small non-commercial consignments.

(11) SMALL NON-COMMERCIAL CONSIGNMENTS

892. Small non-commercial consignments.

No excise duty is payable on the importation of goods forming part of a small consignment¹ of a non-commercial nature².

In the case of goods consigned from another member state, no relief is to be given unless the goods were acquired in the European Community subject to the taxation normally imposed in the domestic market of a member state and without relief from excise duty or turnover tax chargeable there³.

In the case of goods consigned from a country which is not a member state, no relief is to be given unless the consignment is of an occasional nature⁴.

Where a small consignment of a non-commercial character contains goods of any of the following descriptions, namely:

- 2294 (1) tobacco products (being cigarettes, cigars or smoking tobacco);
- 2295 (2) alcohol and alcoholic beverages (being spirits or wine), tafia and saké; or
- 2296 (3) perfumes or toilet waters, in excess of the prescribed quantities⁵, no relief is to be given in respect of any goods of that description contained in that consignment⁶.

The above provisions do not apply to goods contained in the baggage of a person entering the United Kingdom or carried with such a person⁷.

1 For these purposes, 'small consignment' means a consignment, not forming part of a larger consignment, containing goods with a value for customs purposes not exceeding £75 in the case of a consignment from a member state, or £32 in any other case: Excise Duties (Small Non-Commercial Consignments) Relief Regulations 1986, SI 1986/938, reg 3(2) (amended by SI 1987/149; SI 1989/2253).

2 Excise Duties (Small Non-Commercial Consignments) Relief Regulations 1986, SI 1986/938, reg 3(1). For these purposes, a consignment is of a non-commercial character only if the following requirements are met, namely: (1) it is consigned by one private individual to another; (2) it is not imported for any consideration in money or money's worth; (3) it is intended solely for the personal use of the consignee or that of his family and not for any commercial purpose: reg 3(3).

3 Ibid reg 4(1).

4 Ibid reg 4(2).

5 The prescribed quantities are: (1) in the case of tobacco products: (a) 50 cigarettes; or (b) 25 cigarillos (cigars with a maximum weight each of three grams) or ten cigars; or (c) 50 grams of smoking tobacco; (2) in the case of alcohol and alcoholic beverages: (a) one litre of distilled beverages and spirits of an alcoholic strength exceeding 22% by volume, or undenatured ethyl alcohol of 80% by volume and over; or (b) one litre of distilled beverages and spirits and aperitifs with a wine or alcohol base, tafia, saké or similar beverages of an alcoholic strength of 22% by volume or less, or sparkling wines or fortified wines; or (c) two litres of still wines; (3) in the case of perfumes and toilet waters: (a) 50 grams of perfumes; or (b) 250 millilitres of toilet waters: ibid reg 5, Schedule (amended by SI 1992/1821).

- 2297 (1) any relief from payment of any duty of customs¹ or excise² or VAT³ chargeable on, or on the supply or importation of, any goods⁴ has been conferred⁵ in respect of any qualifying person subject to any condition as to the persons by whom or the purposes for which the goods may be used; and
- 2298 (2) if the tax or duty has subsequently become payable, it has not been paid, then, if any person:

- 2299 (a) acquires the goods for his own use, where he is not permitted by the condition to use them, or for use for a purpose that is not permitted by the condition, or uses them for such a purpose; or
- 2300 (b) acquires the goods for use, or causes or permits them to be used, by a person for a purpose that is not permitted by the condition, or disposes of them to a person not permitted by the condition to use them, with intent to evade payment of any tax or duty that has become payable or that, by reason of the disposal, acquisition or use, becomes or will become payable, he is guilty of an offence⁶.

A person guilty of such an offence may be detained⁷; and he is liable on conviction to a penalty⁸. Where any person is guilty of such an offence, the goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture⁹.

4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES

(1) INTRODUCTION

896. Provisions relating to the management and collection of duties.

The management and collection of customs and excise duties¹ are governed primarily by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979², which consolidated the previous enactments relating thereto, in particular the Customs and Excise Act 1952³, and came into operation on 1 April 1979⁴. Provisions relating to customs supervision and control are also contained in the Community Customs Code⁵.

To facilitate the management and collection of customs and excise duties, the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 contains provisions relating to (inter alia):

- 2305 (1) customs and excise control areas⁶;
- 2306 (2) the control of importation⁷;
- 2307 (3) the control of exportation⁸;
- 2308 (4) duties and drawbacks⁹;
- 2309 (5) the regulation of shipping¹⁰;
- 2310 (6) the prevention of smuggling¹¹; and
- 2311 (7) the detention of persons, forfeiture and legal proceedings¹².

The appointment and duties of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, who have responsibility for collecting and accounting for the revenues of customs and excise, and their officers, which were formerly dealt with by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979, are now provided for by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005¹³.

The powers conferred by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 have been supplemented by subordinate legislation made thereunder and by various provisions of subsequent Finance Acts. Among other powers, there is a power to make regulations for facilitating the use of electronic communications in the administration of customs and excise duties¹⁴.

1 The provisions of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979, in so far as they relate to customs duties, apply, notwithstanding that any duties are imposed for the benefit of the Communities, as if the revenue from duties so imposed remained part of the revenues of the Crown: s 1(7).

2 The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 and the other Acts included in the Customs and Excise Acts 1979 are to be construed as one Act; but, where a provision of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 refers to that Act, that reference is not to be construed as including a reference to any of the others: s 1(2). For the meaning of 'the Customs and Excise Acts 1979' see PARA 398 note 2 ante. Any expression used in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 or in any instrument made under that Act to which a meaning is given by any other Act included in the Customs and Excise Acts 1979 has, except where the context otherwise requires, the same meaning in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 or any such instrument as in that Act: s 1(3).

3 Any provision of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 relating to anything done or required or authorised to be done under or in pursuance of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979 has effect as if any reference to those Acts included a reference to the Customs and Excise Act 1952: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 177(4), Sch 7 para 10(1). Any provision of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 relating to anything done or required or authorised to be done under, in pursuance of or by reference to that provision or any other provision of that Act has effect as if any reference to that provision, or that other provision, as the case may be, included a reference to the corresponding provision of the enactments repealed by that Act: Sch 7 para 10(2). Any functions which, immediately before 1 April 1979, fell to be performed on behalf of any other person by the Commissioners or by officers or by any person appointed by the Commissioners continued to be so performed by them unless and until other arrangements were made, notwithstanding that those functions were not expressly mentioned in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979: s 178(3), Sch 7 para 11.

897. Application of provisions to hovercraft.

The following provisions of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979, that is to say:

- 2312 (1) the general provisions¹;
- 2313 (2) the provisions relating to customs and excise control areas²;
- 2314 (3) the provisions relating to the control of importation³;
- 2315 (4) the provisions relating to the control of exportation⁴;
- 2316 (5) the provisions relating to the control of coastwise traffic⁵;
- 2317 (6) the supplementary provisions relating to customs and excise control⁶;
- 2318 (7) the general provisions relating to duties and drawback⁷;
- 2319 (8) the provisions relating to the detention of persons, forfeiture and legal proceedings⁸; and
- 2320 (9) the general and miscellaneous provisions⁹, apply as if references to ships¹⁰ or vessels¹¹ included references to hovercraft; and the provisions in heads (1) to (9) above apply in relation to an approved wharf¹² or transit shed¹³ which is not in a port¹⁴ as if it were in a port¹⁵. All other provisions of the customs and excise Acts¹⁶ apply as if references, however expressed, to goods¹⁷ or passengers carried in or moved by ships or vessels included references to goods or passengers carried in or moved by hovercraft¹⁸.

In all the provisions of the customs and excise Acts, 'landed', 'loaded', 'master', 'shipped', 'shipped as stores', 'transhipment', 'voyage', 'waterborne' and cognate expressions are to be construed in accordance with the above provisions¹⁹.

References in the customs and excise Acts to goods imported or exported by land, or conveyed into or out of Northern Ireland by land, include references to goods imported, exported or conveyed across any part of the boundary²⁰ of Northern Ireland; and in those Acts references to vehicles²¹ include references to hovercraft proceeding over land or water or partly over land and partly over water²².

Any power of making regulations or other instruments relating to the importation or exportation of goods conferred by the customs and excise Acts may be exercised so as to make provision for the importation or exportation of goods by hovercraft which is different from the provision made for the importation or exportation of goods by other means²³.

898. Application of provisions to pipelines.

In the customs and excise Acts¹ 'shipping' and 'loading' and cognate expressions, where used in relation to importation or exportation, include, in relation to importation or exportation by means of a pipeline², the conveyance of goods³ by means of the pipeline and the charging and discharging of goods into and from the pipeline, but subject to any necessary modifications⁴.

In the customs and excise Acts 'importer', in relation to goods imported by means of a pipeline, includes the owner⁵ of the pipeline⁶.

Any power of making regulations or other instruments relating to the importation or exportation of goods conferred by the customs and excise Acts may be exercised so as to make provision for the importation or exportation of goods by means of a pipeline which is different from the provision made for the importation or exportation of goods by other means⁷.

A. APPOINTMENT, DUTIES AND FUNCTIONS

900. Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs.

Formerly, the revenues of customs and excise were under the charge of Her Majesty's Commissioners for Customs and Excise. From 18 April 2005¹ the Commissioners were integrated with the Commissioners of Inland Revenue and became Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs².

Now, in so far as is appropriate in consequence of this change, a reference in an enactment³, instrument or other document to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, to customs and excise or to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue (however expressed) is to be taken as a reference to the Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs⁴. In so far as is appropriate in consequence of the vesting of functions in officers of Revenue and Customs⁵ a reference in an enactment, instrument or other document to any of the persons formerly excising those functions⁶ (however expressed) is to be taken as a reference to an officer of Revenue and Customs⁷; and in so far as is appropriate, a reference in an enactment, instrument or other document to the Valuation Office of the Inland Revenue (however expressed) is to be taken as a reference to the Valuation Office of Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs⁸.

The Treasury may by regulations make such provision as it thinks appropriate in consequence of these changes⁹ in respect of a reference in an enactment (however expressed) to: (1) the Commissioners of Inland Revenue (or to a Commissioner); (2) the Commissioners of Customs and Excise (or to a Commissioner); (3) customs; (4) customs and excise; (5) Inland Revenue; or (6) any of the persons specified¹⁰ in connection with specified functions¹¹.

² See PARA 901 post. In the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979, 'the Commissioners' means the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs: s 1(1) (amended by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(6), Sch 4 paras 20, 22(b)).

Such regulations in respect of a reference in an enactment: (1) may amend an enactment; (2) may make incidental and consequential provision; (3) must be made by statutory instrument; and (4) must not be made unless a draft has first been laid before, and approved by resolution of, each House of Parliament: s 50(5). Consequential amendments are made by Sch 4, which is without prejudice to the generality of s 50(1)-(4): s 50(6). Section 50(1)-(4), subject to any express provision to the contrary, has effect in relation to enactments passed or made, and instruments and documents issued, whether before or after the passing of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005: s 50(7). Appointment of Commissioners and officers.

901. Appointment of Commissioners and officers.

Her Majesty may by Letters Patent appoint Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs¹. A Commissioner may resign by notice in writing to the Treasury, and otherwise holds office in accordance with the terms and conditions of his appointment (which may include provision for dismissal)². In exercising their functions³, the Commissioners act on behalf of the Crown⁴, and service as a Commissioner is service in the civil service of the state⁵.

The Commissioners may appoint staff, to be known as officers of Revenue and Customs⁶. A person holds and vacates office as an officer of Revenue and Customs in accordance with the terms of his appointment (which may include provision for dismissal)⁷. An officer of Revenue and Customs must comply with directions of the Commissioners (whether he is exercising a function conferred on officers of Revenue and Customs or exercising a function on behalf of the Commissioners)⁸. Anything (including anything in relation to legal proceedings) begun by or in relation to one officer of Revenue and Customs may be continued by or in relation to another⁹. Service in the employment of the Commissioners is service in the civil service of the state¹⁰.

The Commissioners and the officers of Revenue and Customs may together be referred to as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs¹¹.

Each person who is appointed¹² as a Commissioner or officer of Revenue and Customs must make a declaration acknowledging his obligation¹³ of confidentiality¹⁴. Such a declaration must be made as soon as is reasonably practicable following the person's appointment and in such form, and before such a person, as the Commissioners may direct¹⁵.

Functions and duties of Commissioners.

902. Functions and duties of Commissioners.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ are responsible for:

- 2321 (1) the collection and management of revenue² for which the Commissioners of Inland Revenue were formerly³ responsible;
- 2322 (2) the collection and management of revenue for which the Commissioners of Customs and Excise were formerly responsible; and
- 2323 (3) the payment and management of tax credits for which the Commissioners of Inland Revenue were formerly responsible⁴.

The Commissioners also have all the other functions which formerly vested in the Commissioners of Customs and Excise (or in a Commissioner)⁵. The Commissioners may do anything which they think: (a) necessary or expedient in connection with the exercise of their functions; or (b) incidental or conducive to the exercise of their functions⁶.

In relation to the power to make transfer of functions orders in respect of England⁷ or Wales⁸, the Commissioners and the officers of Revenue and Customs are to be treated as if they were a Minister of the Crown⁹. An Order in Council under the Ministers of the Crown Act 1975¹⁰ or the Government of Wales Act 1998¹¹ may not provide for the transfer of a function relating to the collection and management of revenue specified¹² above¹³.

903. Functions of officers.

A function¹ conferred by an enactment² (in whatever terms) on any of the persons listed below vests³ in an officer of Revenue and Customs⁴. Those persons are: (1) an officer as defined in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979⁵; (2) a person acting under the authority of the Commissioners of Customs and Excise; (3) an officer of the Commissioners of Customs and Excise; (4) a customs officer; (5) an officer of customs; (6) a customs and excise officer; (7) an officer of customs and excise; and (8) a collector of customs and excise⁶.

An officer of Revenue and Customs may provide a valuation of property⁷: (a) for a purpose relating to the functions of Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs; or (b) at the request of any person who appears to the officer to be a public authority; or (c) at the request of any other person if the officer is satisfied that the valuation is necessary or expedient in connection with the exercise of a function of a public nature or the management of money or assets received from a person exercising functions of a public nature⁸.

903 Functions of officers

TEXT AND NOTES 1-6--Nothing in the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 6 or 7 restricts the functions in connection with which Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may exercise a power under an enactment amended by the Serious Crime Act 2007 Sch 12: Sch 12 para 31.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(2) THE COMMISSIONERS FOR REVENUE AND CUSTOMS; OFFICERS/(i) The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs/A. APPOINTMENT, DUTIES AND FUNCTIONS/904. Exercise of powers and functions and performance of duties.

904. Exercise of powers and functions and performance of duties.

In the exercise of their functions the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs must comply with any directions of a general nature given to them by the Treasury¹. The Commissioners must make arrangements for the conduct of their proceedings and for the conduct of the proceedings of any committee established by them². A decision to make such arrangements must be taken with the agreement of more than half of the Commissioners holding office at the time³. Expenditure of the Commissioners in connection with the exercise of their functions is to be paid out of money provided by Parliament⁴.

Arrangements which the Commissioners are required to make⁵ may, in particular, enable the Commissioners, or a number of Commissioners acting in accordance with arrangements⁶, to delegate a function of the Commissioners, other than a non-delegable function⁷, to a single Commissioner⁸, to a committee established by the Commissioners (which may include persons who are neither Commissioners nor staff of the Commissioners nor officers of Revenue and Customs⁹), or to any other person¹⁰. Such delegation of a function by the Commissioners or a number of Commissioners does not prevent the exercise of the function by the Commissioners or those Commissioners, and does not, subject to express provision to the contrary in directions¹¹ or arrangements¹², prevent the exercise of the function by an officer of Revenue and Customs¹³. Subject to directions and arrangements by the Commissioners¹⁴, an officer of Revenue and Customs may exercise any function of the Commissioners, except non-delegable functions¹⁵.

Statutory restrictions apply in connection with the exercise of certain functions of the Commissioners or officers¹⁶.

Any person, whether an officer¹⁷ or not, engaged by the orders or with the concurrence of the Commissioners, whether previously or subsequently expressed, in the performance of any act or duty relating to an assigned matter¹⁸ which is by law required or authorised to be performed by or with an officer, is deemed to be the proper¹⁹ officer by or with whom that act or duty is to be performed²⁰. Any person so deemed to be the proper officer has all the powers of an officer in relation to the act or duty so performed or to be so performed by him²¹.

If any person requests an officer or a person appointed by the Commissioners to transact any business relating to an assigned matter with him on behalf of another person, the officer or person so appointed may refuse to transact that business with him unless written authority from that other person is produced in such form as the Commissioners may direct²².

6 le by virtue of ibid s 12(2)(b): see note 2 head (2) supra.

7 As specified in ibid s 14(2), the non-delegable functions mentioned in s 14(1) are:

.4 (1) making, by statutory instrument, regulations, rules or an order;

.5 (2) approving an application for a warrant to search premises under the Taxes Management Act 1970 s 20C (as added and amended) (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1706); and

.6 (3) approving an application for a warrant to enter premises under the Finance Act 2003 s 93, Sch 13 Pt 7 paras 43-52 (see STAMP DUTIES AND STAMP DUTY RESERVE TAX).

8 The Commissioners may not delegate the function under the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 20(1)(a) of giving instructions for the disclosure of information (see PARA 921 head (1) post) except to a single Commissioner: s 14(3).

9 For the meaning of 'officer of Revenue and Customs' see PARA 903 note 4 ante.

10 Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 14(1). Where the Commissioners or a number of Commissioners delegate a function to a person by virtue of s 14(1)(c), the Commissioners or those Commissioners must monitor the exercise of the function by that person and, in the exercise of the function the delegate must comply with any directions of the Commissioners or of those Commissioners: s 14(5).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(2) THE COMMISSIONERS FOR REVENUE AND CUSTOMS; OFFICERS/(i) The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs/A. APPOINTMENT, DUTIES AND FUNCTIONS/905. Transfer of property.

905. Transfer of property.

Upon commencement¹ of these provisions, the property, rights and liabilities² of any of the old commissioners³ vested⁴ in the new commissioners⁵. Anything done by, on behalf of or in relation to any of the old commissioners which had effect immediately before commencement continues to have effect as if done by, on behalf of or in relation to the new commissioners⁶. Anything (including any legal proceedings) which immediately before commencement was in the process of being done by, on behalf of or in relation to any of the old commissioners may be continued by, on behalf of or in relation to the new commissioners⁷.

Upon commencement, the property, rights and liabilities of any of the old officers⁸ vested in the officers of Revenue and Customs⁹. Anything done by, on behalf of or in relation to any of the old officers which had effect immediately before commencement continues to have effect as if done by, on behalf of or in relation to an officer of Revenue and Customs¹⁰. Anything (including any legal proceedings) which immediately before commencement was in the process of being done by, on behalf of or in relation to any of the old officers may be continued by, on behalf of or in relation to an officer of Revenue and Customs¹¹.

So far as is necessary or appropriate¹², on and after commencement:

2324 (1) a reference to any of the old commissioners in an agreement (whether written or not), instrument or other document is to be treated as a reference to the new commissioners; and 2325 (2) a reference in an agreement (whether written or not), instrument or other document to any of the old officers is to be treated as a reference to an officer of Revenue and Customs¹³.

These provisions operate in relation to property, rights or liabilities: (a) whether or not they would otherwise be capable of being transferred; (b) without any instrument or other formality being required; and (c) irrespective of any requirement for consent that would otherwise apply¹⁴.

Provision was made for the Treasury to make a scheme identifying property, rights and liabilities of the old commissioners which on commencement were to vest not in the new commissioners but in the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions¹⁵. A scheme could include consequential and incidental provision and could, in particular: (i) apply (with or without modification) or make provision similar to any provision above; (ii) modify the effect of certain of the above provisions¹⁶; and (iii) make provision for shared ownership, use or access¹⁷. The Treasury has power to require the new commissioners to transfer specified property, rights and liabilities to the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions¹⁸.

1 For these purposes, 'commencement' means the time appointed under the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 53 for the commencement of s 5 (see PARA 902 ante): ss 48(9), 49(6). The time appointed was 18 April 2005: see the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 (Commencement) Order 2005, SI 2005/1126, art 2(2)(a).

2 For these purposes, 'rights and liabilities' includes rights and liabilities relating to employment: Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 48(9).

906. General duties of Commissioners in relation to customs matters concerning the European Communities.

For the purpose of implementing Community obligations, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs must co-operate with other customs services on matters of mutual concern and, without prejudice thereto, may for that purpose:

- 2326 (1) give effect, in accordance with such arrangements as they may direct¹ or by regulations prescribe, to any Community requirement or practice as to the movement of goods² between countries, including any rules requiring payment to be made in connection with the exportation of goods to compensate for any relief from customs duty allowed or to be allowed (and may recover any such payment as if it were an amount of customs duty unpaid); and
- 2327 (2) give effect to any reciprocal arrangements made between member states, with or without other countries or territories, for securing, by the exchange of information or otherwise, the due administration of their customs laws and the prevention or detection of fraud or evasion³.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES/(C) Common Duties in relation to the Isle of Man/910. Isle of Man share of common duties.

(C) COMMON DUTIES IN RELATION TO THE ISLE OF MAN

910. Isle of Man share of common duties.

Of the moneys standing to the credit of the General Account of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ an amount ascertained for each financial year in accordance with the following provisions must be paid by the Commissioners, at such times and in such manner as they may determine, to the Treasurer of the Isle of Man².

There must be calculated in such manner as the Treasury may direct:

- 2328 (1) the amount of common duties, whether collected in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man³, which is attributable to goods⁴ consumed or used in the Isle of Man, to services supplied in the Isle of Man or, as respects pool betting duty⁵, to bets placed by persons in the Isle of Man;
- 2329 (2) the cost incurred by the Commissioners in collecting the amount so attributable together with the amount of any drawback⁶ or repayment referable to that amount, and the amount arrived at by deducting from the amount calculated under head (1) above the amount calculated under head (2) above is known as the net Isle of Man share of common duties⁷.

For these purposes, the amount of common duties collected in the Isle of Man and the United Kingdom, or in the Isle of Man, must be calculated by reference to the amount so collected in respect of such duties after giving effect to any addition or deduction provided for under the Excise Duties (Surcharges or Rebates) Act 1979⁸ or any Isle of Man equivalent⁹.

The Commissioners must for each financial year prepare, in such form and manner as the Treasury may direct, an account showing the payments made by them under the above provisions and must send it, not later than the end of November in the following financial year, to the Comptroller and Auditor General¹⁰, who must examine and certify the account¹¹. The Comptroller and Auditor General must send every account so examined and certified by him and his report thereon to the Treasury and a copy of every such account and report to the Treasurer of the Isle of Man; and the Treasury must lay copies of the account and report before Parliament¹².

1 As to the General Account of the Commissioners see PARA 907 ante.

2 Isle of Man Act 1979 ss 2(1), 14(2) (s 14(2) amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)). The amount mentioned in the Isle of Man Act 1979 s 2(1) is the excess of the net Isle of Man share of common duties over the common duties collected in the Isle of Man: s 2(2).

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES/(C) Common Duties in relation to the Isle of Man/911. Meaning of 'common duties'.

911. Meaning of 'common duties'.

'Common duties' means:

- 2330 (1) customs duties chargeable on goods imported into the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man¹;
- 2331 (2) excise duties chargeable on goods imported into or produced in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man;
- 2332 (3) pool betting duty² chargeable under the law of the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man;
- 2333 (4) lottery duty³ chargeable under the law of the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man;
- 2334 (5) VAT chargeable under the law of the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man except tax chargeable⁴ on gaming machines⁵.

The Treasury may, however, by order amend the above provisions by adding or deleting any duty or tax which is under the care and management of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or any corresponding duty or tax chargeable under the law of the Isle of Man; and any such order may apply to a duty or tax generally or in such cases or subject to such restrictions as may be specified in the order⁶. The power to make such orders is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of the House of Commons⁷.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES/(C) Common Duties in relation to the Isle of Man/912. Recovery of common duties chargeable in the Isle of Man.

912. Recovery of common duties chargeable in the Isle of Man.

Any liability to pay an amount of a common duty¹ chargeable under the law of the Isle of Man is, to the extent to which it has not been discharged or enforced there, enforceable in the United Kingdom as if it were a liability to pay an amount on account of the corresponding common duty chargeable under the law of the United Kingdom².

Any amount recoverable by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs from any person under the above provisions may be set off against any amount recoverable by him from the Commissioners on account of a common duty chargeable under the law of the United Kingdom³.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES/(C) Common Duties in relation to the Isle of Man/913. Offences relating to common duties etc.

913. Offences relating to common duties etc.

Any summons or other process requiring a person in the Isle of Man to appear before a court in the United Kingdom:

2335 (1) to answer a charge that he has committed an offence relating to a common duty¹ chargeable under the law of the United Kingdom or to the importation or exportation of anything into or from the United Kingdom²; or 2336 (2) to give evidence or to produce any document or thing in proceedings for any such offence, may be served by being sent to him by registered post or the recorded delivery service³.

A warrant issued in the Isle of Man for the arrest of:

2337 (a) a person charged with an offence relating to a common duty chargeable under the law of the Isle of Man or to the importation or exportation of anything into or from the Isle of Man; or may be executed in England and Wales by any constable acting within his police area⁴. A warrant, other than one for the arrest of a person charged with an offence punishable with at least two years' imprisonment, may not be so executed unless it has been indorsed for execution by a justice of the peace in England or Wales; and any warrant which purports to have been so issued may be so indorsed without further proof⁵. A warrant for the arrest of a person charged with an offence may be so executed by a constable notwithstanding that it is not in his possession at the time; but the warrant must, on demand of that person, be shown to him as soon as practicable⁶.

1 For the meaning of 'common duty' see PARA 911 ante.

2 For these purposes, references to an offence relating to a common duty or to importation or exportation include references to any offence which relates to any of those matters whether or not it is an offence under a provision dealing specifically with that matter: Isle of Man Act 1979 s 5(8). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

3 Ibid s 5(1). Section 5(1) is without prejudice to any other enactment enabling any process to be served or executed otherwise than as provided in s 5(1): s 5(7). In relation to proceedings for any such offence as is mentioned in s 5(1): (1) the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 97 (summons to witness and warrant for his arrest: see MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) PARAS 734, 736) has effect as if the reference in s 97(1) to a person in England and Wales included a reference to a person in the Isle of Man; and (2) the Criminal Justice Act 1967 s 9 (as amended) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) PARA 1535) applies also to written statements made in the Isle of Man but with the omission of the Criminal Justice Act 1967 s 9(2)(b), (3A) (as added) and the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 102(2)(b), (3A) (as added): Isle of Man Act 1979 s 5(2)(a), (3) (a) (amended by the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 154, Sch 7 para 198).

4 Isle of Man Act 1979 s 5(4). Section 5(4) is without prejudice to any other enactment enabling any process to be served or executed otherwise than as provided in s 5(4): s 5(7). For these purpose, references to a warrant for the arrest of any person include references to any process for that purpose available under the law of the Isle of Man: s 5(8).

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES/(C) Common Duties in relation to the Isle of Man/914. Transfer of functions to the Isle of Man authorities.

914. Transfer of functions to the Isle of Man authorities.

Her Majesty may by Order in Council make such modifications in any provision contained in or having effect under any Act of Parliament extending to the Isle of Man as appear to Her Majesty to be appropriate for the purpose of transferring to any authority or person constituted by or having functions under the law of the Isle of Man:

- 2339 (1) any functions under that provision of the Lieutenant Governor of the Isle of Man, whether referred to by that title or otherwise, or of a deputy governor of the Isle of Man;
- 2340 (2) any functions under that provision, so far as exercisable in relation to the Isle of Man, of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or an officer¹ of the Commissioners².

Any statutory instrument so made is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament³.

¹ For these purposes, 'officer' has the same meaning as in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 (see PARA 417 note 6 ante): Isle of Man Act 1979 s 14(3).

² Ibid s 11(1) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (2), (7)). See the Isle of Man (Transfer of Functions) Order 1980, SI 1980/399.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(2) THE COMMISSIONERS FOR REVENUE AND CUSTOMS; OFFICERS/(i) The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs/C. DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION/915. Information relating to imported goods.

C. DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION

915. Information relating to imported goods.

On being notified at any time by the Treasury¹ that it is satisfied that it is in the national interest that the information in question should be disclosed to persons other than the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, the Commissioners may disclose through such person as may be specified in the notification information contained in any document with which the Commissioners have been provided in pursuance of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979² for the purpose of making entry of any goods on their importation³, being information of the following descriptions only, namely:

- 2341 (1) the description of the goods, including any maker's catalogue number;
- 2342 (2) the quantities of the goods imported in a particular period, but, if any quantity is given by value, it is not also to be given in any other form;
- 2343 (3) the name of the maker of the goods;
- 2344 (4) the country of origin of the goods;
- 2345 (5) the country from which the goods were consigned, in respect of imported goods of such descriptions, as may be so specified⁴.

The Commissioners may, for the purpose of supplementing the information as to imported goods which may be made available to persons other than the Commissioners, disclose information, consisting of the names and addresses of persons declared as consignees in entries of imported goods, arranged by reference to such classification of imported goods as the Commissioners think fit, to such persons as they think fit⁵. Such information may be so disclosed on such terms and conditions, including terms and conditions as to the payment of fees or charges to the Commissioners and the making of the information available to other persons, as the Commissioners think fit⁶.

¹ As to the Treasury see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) PARAS 512-517.

² For the meaning of 'the Customs and Excise Acts 1979' see PARA 398 note 2 ante.

⁴ Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 10(1), (2). Without prejudice to s 177(4), Sch 7 para 10 (see PARA 896 note 3 ante), s 10 also applies to information of any of those descriptions contained in any document with which the Commissioners have been provided for that purpose after 7 March 1967 in pursuance of the Customs and Excise Act 1952: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 10(3).

The Treasury may by order add to the descriptions of information to which s 10 applies any further description of information contained in any document such as is mentioned in s 10(2) or (3) other than the price of the goods or the name of the importer of the goods: s 10(4). The power to make such orders is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 10(5). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made.

Information relating to consumer safety.

916. Information relating to consumer safety.

If they think it appropriate to do so for the purpose of facilitating the exercise by any enforcement authority or any officer of an enforcement authority of any functions conferred on the enforcement authority or, as the case may be, officer of an enforcement authority by or under Part II of the Consumer Protection Act 1987¹, or by or under Part IV of that Act² in its application for the purposes of the safety provisions³, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may authorise the disclosure to the enforcement authority or, as the case may be, officer of the enforcement authority of any information obtained or held for the purposes of the exercise by the Revenue and Customs of their functions in relation to imported goods⁴.

A disclosure of information so made must be made in such manner as may be directed by the Commissioners and may be made through such persons acting on behalf of the enforcement authority or, as the case may be, officer of the enforcement authority as may be so directed⁵.

Information may be so disclosed whether or not the disclosure of the information has been requested by or on behalf of the enforcement authority or, as the case may be, officer of the enforcement authority⁶.

Obtaining information from social security authorities.

917. Obtaining information from social security authorities.

The following provisions apply to:

- 2346 (1) any information held by the Secretary of State for the purposes of any of his functions relating to social security¹; and
- 2347 (2) any information held by a person in connection with the provision by him to the Secretary of State of any services which that person is providing for purposes concerned with any of those functions².

The person holding any information specified in heads (1) and (2) above is entitled to supply it to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or any person by whom services are being provided to those Commissioners for purposes connected with any of their functions³.

Information must not be so supplied to any person except for one or more of the following uses:

- 2348 (a) use in the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of criminal offences which it is a function of the Commissioners to prevent, detect, investigate or prosecute;
- 2349 (b) use in the prevention, detection or investigation of conduct⁴ in respect of which penalties which are not criminal penalties are provided for by or under any enactment;
- 2350 (c) use in connection with the assessment or determination of penalties which are not criminal penalties;
- 2351 (d) use in checking the accuracy of information relating to, or provided for purposes connected with, any matter under the care and management of the Commissioners;
- 2352 (e) use, where appropriate, for amending or supplementing any such information; and
- 2353 (f) use in connection with any legal or other proceedings relating to anything mentioned in heads (a) to (e) above⁵.

An enactment authorising the disclosure of information by a person mentioned in heads (1) and (2) above does not authorise the disclosure by such a person of information supplied to him under the above provisions except to the extent that the disclosure is also authorised by a general or specific permission granted by the Secretary of State⁶.

¹ For these purposes, references to functions relating to social security include references to: (1) functions in relation to social security contributions, social security benefits, whether contributory or not, or national insurance numbers; and (2) functions under the Jobseekers Act 1995 (see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS vol 44(2) (Reissue) PARA 258 et seq): Finance Act 1997 s 110(5). Nothing in s 110 (as amended) affects any disclosure authorised by the Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 121F (as added) (see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS vol 44(2) (Reissue) PARA 402), the Tax Credits Act 2002 s 59, Sch 5 para 3 (supply of information to Revenue and Customs for purposes of tax credit: see SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS) or the Employment Act 2002 s 14 (supply of information to Revenue and Customs for purposes of statutory paternity pay or statutory adoption pay: see EMPLOYMENT vol 39 (2009) PARAS 444, 490): Finance Act 1997 s 110(5A) (added by the Social Security Contributions (Transfer of Functions, etc) Act 1999 s 6, Sch 6 para 10(1), (3); and amended by the Employment Act 2002 s 53, Sch 7 para 50). As from a day to be appointed, the words 'statutory paternity pay' are replaced by the words 'ordinary statutory paternity pay, additional statutory paternity pay': Finance Act 1997 s 110(5A) (prospectively amended by the Work and Families Act 2006 s 11(1), Sch 1 para 45). At the date at which this volume states the law, no order had been made bringing this amendment into force.

2 Finance Act 1997 s 110(1).

3 Ibid s 110(2) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)).

918. Use of information acquired by Revenue and Customs in connection with a function.

Information acquired¹ by the Revenue and Customs² in connection with a function³ may be used by it in connection with any other function⁴; but this is subject to any provision which restricts or prohibits the use of information and which is contained in: (1) the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005; (2) any other enactment⁵; or (3) an international or other agreement to which the United Kingdom or Her Majesty's government is party⁶. Provision is made about the supply and other use of information under other statutes⁷ in specified circumstances⁸.

1 In the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005, a reference to information acquired in connection with a matter includes a reference to information held in connection with that matter: s 51(4).

2 For these purposes, 'the Revenue and Customs' means: (1) the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs; (2) an officer of Revenue and Customs; (3) a person acting on behalf of the Commissioners or an officer of Revenue and Customs; (4) a committee established by the Commissioners; (5) a member of a committee established by the Commissioners; (6) the Commissioners of Inland Revenue (or any committee or staff of theirs or anyone acting on their behalf); (7) the Commissioners of Customs and Excise (or any committee or staff of theirs or anyone acting on their behalf); and (8) a person specified in ibid s 6(2) (see PARA 903 ante) or s 7(3) (see INCOME TAXATION): s 17(3). For the meaning of 'officer of Revenue and Customs' see PARA 903 note 4 ante.

3 For these purposes, 'function' means a function of any of the persons listed in ibid s 17(3): s 17(4). As to the functions of the Commissioners see PARA 902 ante. For the meaning of 'function' generally see PARA 901 note 3 ante.

4 Ibid s 17(1).

5 For these purposes, the reference to an enactment does not include: (1) an Act of the Scottish Parliament or an instrument made under such an Act; or (2) an Act of the Northern Ireland Assembly or an instrument made under such an Act: ibid s 17(5).

6 Ibid s 17(2). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

TEXT AND NOTES--As to the disclosure of information by Revenue and Customs for the purposes of civil recovery of the proceeds of crime see Serious Crime Act 2007 s 85. See also Serious Crime Act 2007 (Disclosure of Information by Revenue and Customs) Order 2008, SI 2008/403.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(2) THE COMMISSIONERS FOR REVENUE AND CUSTOMS; OFFICERS/(i) The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs/C. DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION/920. Wrongful disclosure.

920. Wrongful disclosure.

A person commits an offence if he discloses¹ revenue and customs information relating to a person² whose identity either is specified in the disclosure or can be deduced from it³. A person guilty of such an offence is liable to a penalty⁴. It is a defence for a person charged with such an offence of disclosing information to prove that he reasonably believed that the disclosure was lawful, or that the information had already and lawfully been made available to the public⁵.

A prosecution for such an offence may be instituted in England and Wales only by the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions⁶, or with the consent of the Director of Public Prosecutions⁷.

1 He is in contravention of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 18(1) (see PARA 919 ante) or s 20(9) (see PARA 921 post).

2 For these purposes, 'revenue and customs information relating to a person' means information about, acquired as a result of, or held in connection with the exercise of a function of the Revenue and Customs (within the meaning given by ibid s 18(4)(c): see PARA 919 note 4 ante) in respect of the person; but it does not include information about internal administrative arrangements of Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (whether relating to Commissioners, officers or others): s 19(2).

3 Ibid s 19(1). Section 19 is without prejudice to the pursuit of any remedy or the taking of any action in relation to a contravention of s 18(1) or s 20(9) (whether or not this provision applies to the contravention): s 19(8).

4 Ibid s 19(4). Such a person is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, to a fine or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months, to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum or to both: see s 19(4). As to the statutory maximum see PARA 539 note 15 ante. In relation to an offence under s 19 committed before the commencement of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 282 (short sentences: see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) PARA 1121) the reference in the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 19(4)(b) to 12 months has effect as if it were a reference to six months: s 55(1).

5 Ibid s 19(3).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(2) THE COMMISSIONERS FOR REVENUE AND CUSTOMS; OFFICERS/(i) The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs/C. DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION/921. Public interest disclosure.

921. Public interest disclosure.

Disclosure of revenue and customs information is in accordance with these provisions¹ if:

- 2362 (1) it is made on the instructions of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs (which may be general or specific);
- 2363 (2) it is of a kind to which any of heads (a) to (f) below applies, or specified in regulations made by the Treasury²; and
- 2364 (3) the Commissioners are satisfied that it is in the public interest³.

Disclosure may be made in the following circumstances:

- 2365 (a) if it is made: (i) to a person exercising public functions (whether or not within the United Kingdom); (ii) for the purposes of the prevention or detection of crime; and (iii) in order to comply with an obligation of the United Kingdom, or Her Majesty's government, under an international or other agreement relating to the movement of persons, goods or services⁴;
- 2366 (b) if: (i) it is made to a body which has responsibility for the regulation of a profession; (ii) it relates to misconduct on the part of a member of the profession; and (iii) the misconduct relates to a function⁵ of the Revenue and Customs⁶;
- 2367 (c) if: (i) it is made to a constable; and (ii) either the constable is exercising functions which relate to the movement of persons or goods into or out of the United Kingdom or the disclosure is made for the purposes of the prevention or detection of crime⁷;
- 2368 (d) if it is made: (i) to the National Criminal Intelligence Service⁸; and (ii) for a purpose connected with its functions relating to criminal intelligence⁹;
- 2369 (e) if it is made: (i) to a person exercising public functions in relation to public safety or public health; and (ii) for the purposes of those functions¹⁰;
- 2370 (f) if it: (i) is made to the Police Information Technology Organisation¹¹ for the purpose of enabling information to be entered in a computerised database; and (ii) relates to a person suspected of an offence, a person arrested for an offence, the results of an investigation, or anything seized¹².

Information disclosed in reliance on these provisions may not be further disclosed without the consent of the Commissioners (which may be general or specific)¹³.

¹ As mentioned in the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 18(2)(b): see PARA 919 head (2) ante.

² Such regulations: (1) may specify a kind of disclosure only if the Treasury is satisfied that it relates to: (a) national security; (b) public safety; (c) public health; or (d) the prevention or detection of crime; (2) may make provision limiting or restricting the disclosures that may be made in reliance on the regulations, and that provision may, in particular, operate by reference to: (a) the nature of the information; (b) the person or class of person to whom the disclosure is made; (c) the person or class of person by whom the disclosure is made; (d) any other factor; or (e) a combination of factors; (3) must be made by statutory instrument; and (4) may not be made unless a draft has been laid before and approved by resolution of each House of Parliament: ibid s 20(8). As to the Treasury see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) PARAS 512-517.

Disclosure to prosecuting authority.

922. Disclosure to prosecuting authority.

Disclosure of revenue and customs information is in accordance with these provisions¹ if made: (1) to a prosecuting authority²; and (2) for the purpose of enabling the authority: (a) to consider whether to institute criminal proceedings in respect of a matter considered in the course of an investigation conducted by or on behalf of Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs; or (b) to give advice in connection with a criminal investigation³ or criminal proceedings⁴.

Information disclosed to a prosecuting authority in accordance with these provisions may not be further disclosed except: (i) for a purpose connected with the exercise of the prosecuting authority's functions; or (ii) with the consent of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs (which may be general or specific)⁵. A person commits an offence if he contravenes this provision⁶, and a person guilty of such an offence is liable to a penalty⁷. It is a defence for a person charged with such an offence to prove that he reasonably believed either that the disclosure was lawful, or that the information had already and lawfully been made available to the public⁸. 923. Data protection and freedom of information.

Nothing in the statutory provisions relating to the use and disclosure of revenue and customs information¹ authorises the making of a disclosure which contravenes the Data Protection Act 1998² or is prohibited by Part 1³ of the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000⁴.

Revenue and customs information relating to a person⁵, the disclosure of which is prohibited by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005⁶, is exempt information under the Freedom of Information Act 2000⁷ if its disclosure: (1) would specify the identity of the person to whom the information relates; or (2) would enable the identity of such a person to be deduced⁸. Except as so specified, however, information the disclosure of which is prohibited⁹ is not exempt information for the purposes of the Freedom of Information Act 2000¹⁰.

It is the duty of every constable and every member of Her Majesty's armed forces¹ or coastguard to assist in the enforcement of the law relating to any assigned matter².

¹ For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'armed forces' means the Royal Navy, the Royal Marines, the regular army and the regular air force, and any reserve or auxiliary force of any of those services which has been called out on permanent service, or embodied: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1) (amended by the Reserve Forces Act 1996 (Consequential Provisions etc) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/3086, reg 10(3)).

² Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 11. For the meaning of 'assigned matter' see PARA 904 note 18 ante. Section 11 does not apply in connection with a function relating to a matter to which the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 7 (former Inland Revenue matters) applies: s 16, Sch 2 para 5(1). A person may rely for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 11 on a statement (written or oral) of an officer of Revenue and Customs that a function does not relate to a matter to which the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 7 applies: Sch 2 para 5(2). Obstruction of officers etc.

927. Obstruction of officers etc.

A person commits an offence if without reasonable excuse he obstructs¹:

- 2371 (1) an officer of Revenue and Customs²;
- 2372 (2) a person acting on behalf of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³ or an officer of Revenue and Customs; or
- 2373 (3) a person assisting an officer of Revenue and Customs⁴.

A person guilty of such an offence is liable to a penalty⁵.

1 'Obstruction' need not involve physical violence: see Borrow v Howland (1896) 74 LT 787. In Hinchliffe v Sheldon [1955] 3 All ER 406 at 408, [1955] 1 WLR 1207 at 1210, CA, Lord Goddard CJ considered that anything which makes it more difficult for a person to carry out his duty amounts to an obstruction. Giving a warning may, therefore, amount to obstruction: see Green v Moore [1982] QB 1044, [1982] 1 All ER 428; Moore v Green [1983] 1 All ER 663. Standing by and doing nothing is not an obstruction unless there is a duty to act: Baker v Ellison [1914] 2 KB 762. (iv) Inspection and Complaints

929. Inspection of Commissioners and officers.

The Treasury¹ may make regulations conferring functions on Her Majesty's Inspectors of Constabulary² in relation to: (1) the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³; and (2) officers of Revenue and Customs⁴. Such regulations:

- 2374 (1) may, in relation to Her Majesty's Inspectors of Constabulary, apply (with or without modification) or make provision similar to any provision of the Police Act 1996⁵ relating to inspection;
- 2375 (2) may enable a Minister of the Crown or the Commissioners to require an inspection to be carried out;
- 2376 (3) must provide for a report of an inspection to be made and, subject to any exceptions required or permitted by the regulations, published;
- 2377 (4) must provide for an annual report by Her Majesty's Inspectors of Constabulary;
- 2378 (5) may make provision for payment by the Commissioners to or in respect of Her Majesty's Inspectors of Constabulary⁶.

An inspection carried out by virtue of these provisions may not address a matter of a kind which the Comptroller and Auditor General may examine⁷.

Under regulations made by the Treasury, Her Majesty's Inspectors of Constabulary are empowered to carry out inspections in England and Wales into the effectiveness of the actions of an officer or the Commissioners in relation to the prevention, detection or investigation of any offence, or any subsequent criminal proceedings conducted by the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions⁸.

The operation of any guidance issued by the Commissioners to their officers about alternatives to criminal investigations or levying civil penalties may be inspected at the request of the Chancellor of the Exchequer or the Commissioners⁹.

Officers of Revenue and Customs may be appointed as assistant inspectors and as staff officers to Her Majesty's Inspectors of Constabulary¹⁰.

Confidentiality of information obtained during inspection or investigation.

930. Confidentiality of information obtained during inspection or investigation.

Where Her Majesty's Inspectors of Constabulary¹ obtain information in the course of exercising a function² relating to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs and officers of Revenue and Customs³, they may not disclose it without the consent of the Commissioners, and they may not use it for any purpose other than the exercise of their statutory function⁴. A report of an inspection⁵ may not include information relating to a specified person without his consent⁶.

Where the Independent Police Complaints Commission⁷ or a person acting on its behalf obtains information from the Commissioners or an officer of Revenue and Customs, or from the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration⁸, in the course of exercising a function⁹ relating to the Commissioners and officers of Revenue and Customs:

- 2379 (1) the Commission or person must comply with any restriction on disclosure imposed by regulations¹⁰ (and those regulations may prohibit disclosure generally or only in specified circumstances or only without the consent of the Commissioners); and
- 2380 (2) the Commission or person may not use the information for any purpose other than the exercise of the statutory function¹¹.

A person commits an offence if he contravenes any of the provisions above¹², and a person guilty of such an offence is liable to a penalty¹³. It is a defence for a person charged with an offence under these provisions of disclosing or using information to prove that he reasonably believed that the disclosure or use was lawful or that the information had already and lawfully been made available to the public¹⁴. A prosecution for an offence under these provisions may be instituted in England and Wales only: (a) by the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions¹⁵; or (b) with the consent of the Director of Public Prosecutions¹⁶.

931. Complaints to the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration.

The Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration¹ may investigate, on reference being duly made to him, administrative actions taken by or on behalf of Revenue and Customs, other than those which he is expressly precluded from investigating². An investigation may take place in any case where a written complaint has been made to a member of the House of Commons by a member of the public who claims to have sustained injustice in consequence of maladministration in connection with administrative action and the complaint has been referred to the Parliamentary Commissioner, with the consent of the person who made it, by a member of the House of Commons with a request to conduct an investigation thereon³. The Parliamentary Commissioner may not, however, conduct such an investigation in respect of any of the following matters:

- 2381 (1) any action in respect of which the person aggrieved has or had a right of appeal, reference or review to or before a tribunal constituted by or under any enactment or by virtue of Her Majesty's prerogative;
- 2382 (2) any action in respect of which the person aggrieved has or had a remedy by way of proceedings in any court of law;

but the Parliamentary Commissioner may conduct an investigation notwithstanding that the person aggrieved has or had such a right or remedy if satisfied that in the particular circumstances it is not reasonable to expect him to resort or have resorted to it⁴.

932. Complaints to the independent Adjudicator.

If a person has a complaint which the staff at the local customs and excise office or at the port or airport cannot resolve, he should contact the officer of Revenue and Customs for the region¹. If the officer of Revenue and Customs does not then settle the complaint to that person's satisfaction, he may ask the independent Adjudicator to look into the matter². The independent Adjudicator will not, however, deal with the following types of complaint:

- 2383 (1) matters in respect of which the person aggrieved has or had a right of appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal or other independent tribunal;
- 2384 (2) matters relating to a criminal prosecution brought by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, until the court proceedings have been completed;
- 2385 (3) complaints which have been investigated by the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration³; and
- 2386 (4) matters which arose before 1 April 1995.

The Treasury¹ may make regulations conferring functions on the Independent Police Complaints Commission² in relation to: (1) the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³; and (2) officers of Revenue and Customs⁴. Such regulations:

- 2387 (a) may apply (with or without modification) or make provision similar to any provision of or made under Part 2 of the Police Reform Act 2002⁵;
- 2388 (b) may confer on the Independent Police Complaints Commission, or on a person acting on its behalf, a power of a kind conferred by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 or another enactment⁶ on an officer of Revenue and Customs;
- 2389 (c) may make provision for payment by the Commissioners to or in respect of the Independent Police Complaints Commission⁷.

The Independent Police Complaints Commission and the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration⁸ may disclose information to each other for the purposes of the exercise of a function by virtue of these provisions or under the Parliamentary Commissioner Act 1967⁹. The Independent Police Complaints Commission and the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration may jointly investigate a matter in relation to which the Independent Police Complaints Commission has functions by virtue of these provisions and the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration has functions by virtue of the Parliamentary Commissioner Act 1967¹⁰.

(3) CONTROL AREAS; RESTRICTIONS ON THE MOVEMENT OF GOODS AND PASSENGERS

(i) Introduction

934. Methods of control.

In order to control the import and export of goods, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ have power:

- 2390 (1) to appoint ports² and to approve wharves³ for the import and export of goods by sea;
- 2391 (2) to designate customs and excise airports with examination stations through which goods and passengers are to pass⁴;
- 2392 (3) to approve customs and excise stations on the boundary of Northern Ireland⁵;
- 2393 (4) to set up approved areas connected with the Channel Tunnel⁶;
- 2394 (5) to approve transit sheds for the storage of goods not yet cleared out of charge⁷.

Goods may be imported or exported by pipeline only if the pipeline has been approved⁸.

The control areas are used to control the movement of:

- 2395 (a) aircraft into and out of the United Kingdom⁹;
- 2396 (b) hovercraft¹⁰;
- 2397 (c) persons entering or leaving the United Kingdom¹¹;
- 2398 (d) goods over the boundary with Northern Ireland¹²; and
- 2399 (e) goods by ship¹³ or pipeline¹⁴.

In order so to control the import and export of goods, officers have the following enforcement powers:

- 2400 (i) power of boarding¹⁵;
- 2401 (ii) power of access¹⁶;
- 2402 (iii) power of detention¹⁷;
- 2403 (iv) power to inspect aircraft, aerodromes, records etc¹⁸; and
- 2404 (v) power to prevent the flight of aircraft¹⁹.

(ii) Types of Control Areas

935. Appointment of ports etc.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may by order made by statutory instrument appoint and name as a port for the purposes of customs and excise any area in the United Kingdom specified in the order¹.

The appointment of any port for those purposes made before 1 August 1952² may be revoked, and the name or limits of any such port may be altered, by an order made under the above provisions³, as if the appointment had been made by an order under those provisions⁴.

The Commissioners may in any port from time to time appoint boarding stations for the purpose of the boarding of, or disembarkation from, ships by officers⁵.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(3) CONTROL AREAS; RESTRICTIONS ON THE MOVEMENT OF GOODS AND PASSENGERS/(ii) Types of Control Areas/936. Approval of wharves.

936. Approval of wharves.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may approve, for such periods and subject to such conditions and restrictions as they think fit, places for the loading or unloading of goods¹ or of any class or description of goods². The Commissioners may at any time for reasonable cause revoke or vary the terms of any approval so given³.

References to an approved wharf⁴ are to a place approved under the above provisions or a place specified or approved under the equivalent provision for goods imported on or after 1 January 1992 from a place outside the customs territory of the Community⁵, other than an examination station⁶.

Any person contravening or failing to comply with any condition or restriction attaching to an approval by virtue of which a place is an approved wharf is liable to a penalty⁷.

An officer⁸ may at any time enter an approved wharf and inspect it and any goods for the time being at the wharf⁹.

938. Approval of customs and excise stations on the boundary of Northern Ireland.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may, for the purpose of safeguarding the revenue and for the better enforcement of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force under or by virtue of any enactment with respect to the importation or exportation of any goods², make regulations appointing places for the examination and entry of, and payment of any duty chargeable on, any goods being imported or exported by land³ ('customs and excise stations'); and any such regulations may make different provision in relation to different classes or descriptions of goods and, in particular, in relation to different classes or descriptions of vehicles⁴. In such cases and subject to compliance with such conditions as appear to the Commissioners to be appropriate, the Commissioners may dispense with any requirement of a regulation so made⁵.

If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation so made or any condition of a dispensation so given, he is liable to a penalty⁶; and any goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture⁷.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(3) CONTROL AREAS; RESTRICTIONS ON THE MOVEMENT OF GOODS AND PASSENGERS/(ii) Types of Control Areas/939. Channel Tunnel customs approved areas.

939. Channel Tunnel customs approved areas.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may approve, for such periods and subject to such conditions and restrictions as they think fit, places in the United Kingdom, and in France in a control zone within the Channel Tunnel system, for the customs and excise control of persons, goods or vehicles in relation to the construction, operation or use of the Channel Tunnel or any part of it, and may also approve all or any through trains while they are within any area in the United Kingdom specified in the approval or while they constitute a control zone; and any such place or train is referred to as a 'customs approved area'¹.

Such conditions and restrictions may include² such as relate to:

- 2405 (1) the security of a customs approved area;
- 2406 (2) the access and egress of persons, goods and vehicles to and from it;
- 2407 (3) the giving of notice to the Commissioners of the arrival of persons at it through the Channel Tunnel from France;
- 2408 (4) the provision of accommodation for the use of the Commissioners and the costs of and incidental to such provision;
- 2409 (5) the processing of goods in it;
- 2410 (6) the keeping of records³.

Different conditions and restrictions may be imposed in respect of different parts of a customs approved area⁴.

The Commissioners may at any time for reasonable cause revoke or vary the terms of any approval so given⁵.

An officer may at any time enter a customs approved area and inspect it and any buildings and goods in it⁶.

Any person contravening or failing to comply with any condition or restriction imposed by the Commissioners⁷ is liable to a penalty⁸.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(3) CONTROL AREAS; RESTRICTIONS ON THE MOVEMENT OF GOODS AND PASSENGERS/(ii) Types of Control Areas/940. Approval of transit sheds.

940. Approval of transit sheds.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may approve, for such periods and subject to such conditions and restrictions as they think fit, places for the deposit of goods¹ imported and not yet cleared out of charge, including goods not yet duly² reported and entered³. The Commissioners may at any time for reasonable cause revoke or vary the terms of any approval so given⁴.

References to a transit shed⁵ are to a place approved under the above provisions or under the equivalent provision⁶ for goods imported on or after 1 January 1992 from a place outside the customs territory of the Community⁷.

Any person contravening or failing to comply with any condition or restriction attaching to an approval by virtue of which a place is a transit shed is liable to a penalty⁸.

An officer⁹ may at any time enter a transit shed and inspect it and any goods for the time being in the transit shed¹⁰.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(3) CONTROL AREAS; RESTRICTIONS ON THE MOVEMENT OF GOODS AND PASSENGERS/(ii) Types of Control Areas/941. Control of movement of goods by pipeline.

941. Control of movement of goods by pipeline.

Goods¹ are not to be imported or exported by means of a pipeline² that is not for the time being approved by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs for these purposes³.

Uncleared goods, that is to say:

- 2411 (1) imported goods, whether or not chargeable with duty, which have not been cleared out of charge, and, in particular, goods which are, or are to be, moved within or between a port or airport and other places⁴; or
- 2412 (2) dutiable goods⁵ moved from warehouse⁶ without payment of duty, are not to be moved by means of a pipeline that is not for the time being approved by the Commissioners for these purposes⁷.

The Commissioners may give their approval under these provisions for such period and subject to such conditions as they think fit, and may at any time for reasonable cause vary the terms of their approval, and, if they have given to the owner⁸ of the pipeline not less than three months' written notice of their intention so to do, revoke their approval⁹.

A person who:

- 2413 (a) contravenes the above provisions¹⁰, or contravenes or fails to comply with a condition so imposed by the Commissioners¹¹; or
- 2414 (b) except with the authority of the proper officer¹² or for just and sufficient cause, obtains access to goods which are in, or in course of conveyance by, a pipeline approved under these provisions, is guilty of an offence and liable to a penalty¹³, and may be arrested¹⁴; and any goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture¹⁵.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(3) CONTROL AREAS; RESTRICTIONS ON THE MOVEMENT OF GOODS AND PASSENGERS/(iii) Requirements to use Control Areas/942. Control of movement of aircraft into and out of the United Kingdom and trains through the Channel Tunnel.

(iii) Requirements to use Control Areas

942. Control of movement of aircraft into and out of the United Kingdom and trains through the Channel Tunnel.

Save as permitted by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹, the commander of an aircraft entering the United Kingdom from a place outside the United Kingdom² must not cause or permit the aircraft to land³:

- 2415 (1) for the first time after its arrival in the United Kingdom; or
- 2416 (2) at any time while it is carrying passengers or goods⁴ brought in that aircraft from a place outside the United Kingdom and not yet cleared, at any place other than a customs and excise airport⁵; but that prohibition does not apply by virtue only of the fact that the aircraft is carrying goods brought in it from a place outside the customs territory of the Community⁶.

Save as permitted by the Commissioners, no person importing from a place within the customs territory of the Community or concerned in so importing any goods in any aircraft is to bring the goods into the United Kingdom at any place other than a customs and excise airport⁷.

Save as permitted by the Commissioners:

- 2417 (a) no person is to depart on a flight to a place or area outside the United Kingdom from any place in the United Kingdom other than a customs and excise airport; and
- 2418 (b) the commander of any aircraft engaged in a flight from a customs and excise airport to a place or area outside the United Kingdom must not cause or permit it to land at any place in the United Kingdom other than a customs and excise airport specified in the application for clearance for that flight⁸.

The above provisions do not apply in relation to any aircraft flying from or to any place or area outside the United Kingdom to or from any place in the United Kingdom which is required by or under any enactment relating to air navigation, or is compelled by accident, stress of weather or other unavoidable cause, to land at a place other than a customs and excise airport; but:

- 2419 (i) the commander of any such aircraft:
- 146 9. (A) must immediately report the landing to an officer⁹ or constable and must on demand produce to him the journey log book belonging to the aircraft;
 - 10. (B) must not without the consent of an officer permit any goods carried in the aircraft to be unloaded from, or any of the crew or passengers to depart from the vicinity of, the aircraft; and
 - 11. (C) must comply with any directions given by an officer with respect to any such goods; and 2420 (ii) no passenger or member of the crew may without the consent of an officer or constable leave the immediate vicinity of any such aircraft¹⁰, but heads (i)(B) and (i)(C) above do not apply in relation to goods brought in the aircraft from a place outside the customs territory of the Community¹¹.

Nothing in the above provisions¹² prohibits the departure of passengers or crew from the vicinity of an aircraft or the removal of goods from an aircraft, where that departure or removal is necessary for reasons of health, safety or the preservation of life or property¹³.

Any person contravening or failing to comply with any of the above provisions is liable to a penalty¹⁴.

1 As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 For the meaning of 'commander', in relation to an aircraft, see PARA 863 note 6 ante. For these purposes, references to a place or area outside the United Kingdom do not include references to a place or area in the Isle of Man; and in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 21(3)(b) (see head (b) in the text) the reference to a place in the United Kingdom includes a reference to a place in the Isle of Man: s 21(8) (added by the Isle of Man Act 1979 s 13, Sch 1 para 4). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

3 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'land' and 'landing', in relation to aircraft, include alighting on water: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1).

4 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 21(1). For these purposes, 'customs and excise airport' means an aerodrome for the time being designated as a place for the landing or departure of aircraft for the purposes of the customs and excise Acts by an order made by the Secretary of State with the concurrence of the Commissioners which is in force under an Order in Council made in pursuance of the Civil Aviation Act 1982 s 60 (see AIR LAW vol 2 (2008) PARA 353): Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 ss 1(1), 21(7) (amended by the Civil Aviation Act 1982 s 109(2), Sch 15 para 23). Unless the context otherwise requires, 'aerodrome' means any area of land or water designed, equipped, set apart or commonly used for affording facilities for the landing and departure of aircraft: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1). For the meaning of 'the customs and excise Acts' see PARA 413 note 1 ante. As to the application of these provisions to certain Crown aircraft see PARA 899 ante.

Any decision of the Commissioners as to whether or not permission for any of the purposes of s 21 (as amended) is to be given or withdrawn, or as to the conditions subject to which any such permission is given, is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see the Finance Act 1994 ss 14(1)(d), (2)-(7), 15, 16 (as amended), Sch 5 para 2(1)(b); and PARAS 1240, 1245, 1252 et seq post.

For the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 21 (as amended), references to an aircraft are to be treated as including references to a through train; and in relation to such trains, s 21 (as amended) is to be construed as follows: (1) references to a customs and excise airport are to be construed as references to a terminal control point or place which is a customs approved area; (2) references to a flight are to be construed as references to a journey, and the reference in s 21(4) (see the text and notes 9-10 infra) to flying is to be construed accordingly; (3) references to landing are to be construed as references to stopping for the purpose of enabling passengers or crew to board or leave the train or goods to be loaded onto or unloaded from it; and (4) references to the commander of an aircraft are to be construed as references to the train manager of a train: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para A2(1)-(5) (added by SI 1993/1813). Control of movement of hovercraft.

943. Control of movement of hovercraft.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may by regulations impose conditions and restrictions as respects the movement of hovercraft and the carriage of goods by hovercraft², and, in particular:

- 2421 (1) may prescribe the procedure to be followed by hovercraft proceeding to or from a port³ or any customs and excise airport⁴ or customs and excise station⁵, and authorise the proper officer⁶ to give directions as to their routes; and
- 2422 (2) may make provision for cases where, by reason of accident, or in any other circumstance, it is impracticable to comply with any conditions or restrictions imposed or directions given as respects hovercraft⁷.

The above provisions apply to hovercraft proceeding to or from any approved wharf⁸ or transit shed⁹ which is not in a port as if it were a port¹⁰.

If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation so made, or with any direction given by the Commissioners or the proper officer in pursuance of any such regulation, he is liable to a penalty¹¹; and any goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture¹².

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(3) CONTROL AREAS; RESTRICTIONS ON THE MOVEMENT OF GOODS AND PASSENGERS/(iii) Requirements to use Control Areas/944. Customs and excise control of persons entering or leaving the United Kingdom.

944. Customs and excise control of persons entering or leaving the United Kingdom.

Any person entering the United Kingdom must, at such place and in such manner as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may direct, declare any thing contained in his baggage or carried with him² which he has obtained outside the United Kingdom or, being dutiable goods or chargeable goods³, he has obtained in the United Kingdom without payment of duty or tax, and in respect of which he is not entitled⁴ to exemption from duty and tax⁵.

The above provisions do not apply:

- 2423 (1) to a person entering the United Kingdom from the Isle of Man as respects anything obtained by him in the Island unless it is chargeable there with duty or VAT and he has obtained it without payment of the duty or tax⁶;
- 2424 (2) to a person entering the United Kingdom from another member state, except:
- 148 12. (a) where he arrives at a customs and excise airport⁷ in an aircraft in which he began his journey in a place outside the member states; or
- 13. (b) as respects such of his baggage as is carried in the hold of the aircraft in which he arrives at a customs and excise airport and, notwithstanding that it was transferred on one or more occasions from aircraft to aircraft at an airport in a member state, began its journey by air from a place outside the member states⁸.

Any person entering or leaving the United Kingdom must answer such questions as the proper officer⁹ may put to him with respect to his baggage and any thing contained therein or carried with him, and must, if required by the proper officer, produce that baggage and any such thing for examination at such place as the Commissioners may direct¹⁰.

Any person failing to declare any thing or to produce any baggage or thing as so required is liable to a penalty¹¹.

Any thing chargeable with any duty or tax which is found concealed, or is not declared, and any thing which is being taken into or out of the United Kingdom contrary to any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force with respect thereto under or by virtue of any enactment, is liable to forfeiture¹².

1 As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 These words may include a motor car or clothes or shoes worn by an individual since the carriage envisaged is carriage by sea or air, eg carriage of goods in the hold of a ship: see Brokelmann v Barr [1971] 2 QB 602, [1971] 3 All ER 29, DC; R v Lucien [1995] Crim LR 807, CA.

10 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 78(2). Section 78 (as amended) does not provide an alternative basis for permitting officers of Revenue and Customs to conduct rub-down, strip or intimate searches, the basis for that power existing only by virtue of s 164 (as amended) (see PARA 1151 post): R v Lucien [1995] Crim LR 807, CA. In R v Nelson, R v Rose [1998] 2 Cr App Rep 399, CA, it was held that there was no conflict between the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 78(2) and the Code of Practice for the Detention, Treatment and Questioning of Persons by Police Officers para 10.1, made pursuant to the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 959), and that, if there were grounds for suspicion that an offence had been committed, a caution should be given.

11 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 78(3) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). Such a person is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of three times the value of the thing not declared or of the baggage or thing not produced, as the case may be, or level 3 on the standard scale, whichever is the greater: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 78(3) (as so amended). As to valuation of the goods see PARA 1185 post. As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post. The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 78(1), (3) (as amended) creates an absolute offence: R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Claus (1987) 86 Cr App Rep 189, DC (the offence is committed once there has been a failure to declare goods which should have been declared; the fact that a voluntary declaration has been made some time after entry is immaterial).

At any time while a ship¹ is within the limits of a port², or an aircraft is at an aerodrome³, or a vehicle⁴ is:

- 2425 (1) entering, leaving or about to leave the United Kingdom;
- 2426 (2) within the prescribed area⁵;
- 2427 (3) within the limits of or entering or leaving a port or any land adjacent to a port and occupied wholly or mainly for the purpose of activities carried on at the port;
- 2428 (4) at, entering or leaving an aerodrome;
- 2429 (5) at, entering or leaving an approved wharf⁶, transit shed⁷, customs warehouse⁸ or free zone⁹; or
- 2430 (6) at, entering or leaving the premises of revenue traders¹⁰, any officer¹¹, and any other person duly engaged in the prevention of smuggling¹², may board the ship, aircraft or vehicle and remain therein and rummage and search any part thereof¹³.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may station officers in any ship at any time while it is within the limits of a port; and if the master¹⁴ of any ship neglects or refuses to provide reasonable accommodation below decks for any officer stationed therein or means of safe access to and egress from the ship in accordance with the requirements of any such officer, the master is liable to a penalty¹⁵.

947. Officers' powers of detention of ships, aircraft or vehicles.

Where, in the case of a ship¹, aircraft or vehicle² of which due report has been made³, any goods⁴ are still on board that ship, aircraft or vehicle at the expiration of the relevant period⁵, the proper officer⁶ may detain that ship, aircraft or vehicle until there have been repaid to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs:

- 2440 (1) any expenses properly incurred in watching and guarding the goods beyond the relevant period, except, in the case of a ship or aircraft, in respect of the day of clearance inwards; and
- 2441 (2) where the goods are removed, by virtue of any provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979⁷, from the ship, aircraft or vehicle to a Queen's warehouse⁸, the expenses of that removal⁹.

Where, in the case of:

- 2442 (a) any derelict or other ship or aircraft coming, driven or brought into the United Kingdom under legal process, by stress of weather or for safety; or
- 2443 (b) any vehicle in Northern Ireland which suffers any mishap, it is necessary for the protection of the revenue to station any officer in charge thereof, whether on board or otherwise, the proper officer may detain that ship, aircraft or vehicle until any expenses thereby incurred by the Commissioners have been repaid¹⁰.

Power to inspect aircraft, aerodromes, trains, records etc.

948. Power to inspect aircraft, aerodromes, trains, records etc.

The commander¹ of an aircraft must permit an officer² at any time to board the aircraft and inspect:

- 2444 (1) the aircraft and any goods³ loaded therein; and
- 2445 (2) all documents⁴ relating to the aircraft or to goods or persons carried therein, and an officer has the right of access at any time to any place to which access is required for the purpose of any such inspection⁵.

The person in control of any aerodrome⁶ must permit an officer at any time to enter upon and inspect the aerodrome and all buildings and goods thereon⁷.

The person in control of an aerodrome licensed under any enactment relating to air navigation and, if so required by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, the person in control of any other aerodrome must:

- 2446 (a) keep a record in such form and manner as the Commissioners may approve of all aircraft arriving at or departing from the aerodrome;
- 2447 (b) keep that record available and produce it on demand to any officer, together with all other documents kept on the aerodrome which relate to the movement of aircraft; and
- 2448 (c) permit any officer to make copies of, and take extracts from, any such record or document⁸.

If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any of the above provisions, he is liable to a penalty⁹.

7 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 33(2).

8 Ibid s 33(3). Any decision of the Commissioners consisting of the imposition of a requirement by virtue of s 33(3) on a person in control of an aerodrome who is not licensed under any enactment relating to air navigation or as to what is or is not to be approved, whether or not in relation to such a requirement, for the purposes of s 33(3)(a) (see head (1) in the text), is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see the Finance Act 1994 ss 14(1)(d), 15, 16 (as amended), Sch 5 para 2(1)(g); and PARAS 1240, 1245, 1252 et seq post. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

9 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 33(4) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). Such a person is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or a penalty of level 4 on the standard scale, or to both: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 33(4) (as so amended). As from a day to be appointed, the reference to three months is replaced by a reference to 51 weeks: s 33(4) (as so amended; prospectively amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 280(2), (3), Sch 26 para 26(1), (3)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(3) CONTROL AREAS; RESTRICTIONS ON THE MOVEMENT OF GOODS AND PASSENGERS/(iv) Enforcement Powers/949. Power to prevent flight of aircraft and journey of trains.

949. Power to prevent flight of aircraft and journey of trains.

If it appears to any officer or constable¹ that an aircraft is intended or likely to depart for a destination outside the United Kingdom² and the Isle of Man from any place other than a customs and excise airport³ or a customs and excise airport before clearance outwards is given, he may give such instructions and take such steps by way of detention of the aircraft or otherwise as appear to him necessary in order to prevent the flight⁴.

Any person who contravenes any instructions so given is liable to a penalty⁵.

If an aircraft flies in contravention of any instruction so given or notwithstanding any steps taken to prevent the flight, the owner⁶ and the commander⁷ thereof are⁸ each liable to a penalty⁹, unless he proves that the flight took place without his consent or connivance¹⁰.

1 For the meaning of 'officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante. It is the duty of a constable to assist in the enforcement of the law relating to any assigned matter: see PARA 925 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'customs and excise airport' see PARA 942 note 5 ante.

4 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 34(1) (amended by the Isle of Man Act 1979 s 13, Sch 1 para 5). As to the limits on the powers of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 34 (as amended) relating to the control of movements into and out of the United Kingdom in order not to prevent, restrict or delay the movement of persons or things between different member states see the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 4; and PARA 1174 post. Officers possess powers of boarding and search of, and free access to every part of, an aircraft at a customs and excise airport: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 ss 27, 28 (as amended); and PARAS 945-946 ante. As to the application of these provisions to certain Crown aircraft see PARA 899 ante.

For the purposes of s 34 (as amended), references to an aircraft are to be treated as including references to a through train; and, in relation to such a train, s 34 (as amended) is to be construed as if: (1) references to a customs and excise airport were references to a place which is a customs approved area; (2) references to a flight were references to a journey, any cognate expression to be construed accordingly; and (3) the reference in s 34(3) (as amended) (see the text and notes 6-9 infra) to the commander of an aircraft were a reference to the train manager of a train: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 4B(1)-(4) (added by SI 1993/1813). For the meaning of 'customs approved area' see PARA 939 ante.

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 34(2) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). Such a person is liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or a penalty of level 4 on the standard scale, or to both: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 34(2) (as so amended). As from a day to be appointed, the reference to three months is replaced by a reference to 51 weeks: s 34(2) (as so amended; prospectively amended by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 280(2), (3), Sch 26 para 26(1), (4)(a)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post.

6 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'owner', in relation to an aircraft, includes the operator of the aircraft: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1).

7 For the meaning of 'commander', in relation to an aircraft, see PARA 863 note 6 ante.

(4) CONTROL OF IMPORTATION

(i) In general

950. Time of importation.

For the purposes of the customs and excise Acts¹, the time of importation of any goods² is deemed to be³:

- 2449 (1) where the goods are brought by sea, the time when the ship⁴ carrying them comes within the limits of a port⁵;
- 2450 (2) where the goods are brought by air, the time when the aircraft carrying them lands in the United Kingdom⁶ or the time when the goods are unloaded in the United Kingdom, whichever is the earlier;
- 2451 (3) where the goods are brought by land, the time when the goods are brought across the boundary⁷ into Northern Ireland⁸.

In the case of goods brought by sea of which entry is not required⁹, the time of importation is deemed to be the time when the ship carrying them came within the limits of the port at which the goods are discharged¹⁰.

Goods imported by means of a pipeline¹¹ are treated as imported at the time when they are brought within the limits of a port or brought across the boundary into Northern Ireland¹².

A ship is deemed to have arrived at a port at the time when the ship comes within the limits of that port¹³.

Goods intended to be brought into the United Kingdom through the Channel Tunnel are to be treated as being imported into the United Kingdom:

- 2452 (a) in the case of goods intended to be carried in a shuttle train, when they are taken into a control zone in France within the Channel Tunnel system;
- 2453 (b) in the case of goods carried, while the train constitutes a control zone in France or Belgium, in a through train carrying passengers on a journey intended to end at a place in Great Britain other than London, at the time when officers become authorised¹⁴ to begin to carry out controls; and
- 2454 (c) in any other case, when they cross the frontier¹⁵.

951. Removal of goods from the Isle of Man to the United Kingdom.

Goods¹, other than:

- 2455 (1) goods imported into or produced in the Isle of Man which are of a class or description chargeable with customs or excise duty under the law of the United Kingdom and which have not borne a corresponding duty under the law of the Isle of Man²;
- 2456 (2) goods which were imported into the Isle of Man in contravention of any prohibition or restriction and which are of a class or description the importation of which into the United Kingdom is for the time being subject to a corresponding prohibition or restriction³;
- 2457 (3) any explosives⁴ on the unloading or landing of which any restriction is for the time being in force under the Explosives Act 1875⁵; or
- 2458 (4) any explosives the importation of which into the United Kingdom is prohibited by the Manufacture and Storage of Explosives Regulations 2005⁶, removed to the United Kingdom from the Isle of Man are deemed for the purposes of the customs and excise Acts not to be imported into the United Kingdom⁷.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 910 note 4 ante.

2 Isle of Man Act 1979 s 8(2)(a). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante. The goods referred to in s 8(2)(a) do not include goods which have been wholly or partly exempted from duty under any Isle of Man equivalent to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 48 (see PARA 974 post) or the Customs and Excise (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13 (as amended) (see PARA 875 ante); but, where any such exemption was subject to conditions required to be complied with after importation of the goods into the Isle of Man and the goods are removed to the United Kingdom, the customs and excise Acts apply to the goods as if they had been imported into the United Kingdom when they were imported into the Isle of Man and as if corresponding conditions had then been imposed under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 48 or the Customs and Excise (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 13 (as amended) or under the Community instrument in question: Isle of Man Act 1979 s 8(3) (amended by the Finance Act 1984 s 15(7)(a)). For these purposes, 'the customs and excise Acts' has the same meaning as in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 (see PARA 413 note 1 ante): Isle of Man Act 1979 s 14(3). For the meaning of 'Community instrument' see PARA 5 note 4 ante.

For the purposes of s 8(2)(a), goods of any class or description are to be treated as having borne a corresponding duty under the law of the Isle of Man if they have borne duty under that law at a rate not less than that at which duty was then chargeable under the law of the United Kingdom in respect of goods of that class or description; and, where goods have borne duty under the law of the Isle of Man at a lower rate, the duty charged on their importation into the United Kingdom is to be reduced by an amount equal to the duty borne under that law: s 8(4).

NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(4) CONTROL OF IMPORTATION/(ii) Report Inwards; Unloading/A. REPORT INWARDS/(A) Obligation to make a Report; Power to make Regulations/952. Report inwards.

(ii) Report Inwards; Unloading

A. REPORT INWARDS

(A) OBLIGATION TO MAKE A REPORT; POWER TO MAKE REGULATIONS

952. Report inwards.

Report must be made in such form and manner and containing such particulars as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may direct of every ship¹ and aircraft²:

- 2459 (1) arriving at a port³ from any place outside the United Kingdom⁴ or carrying any goods⁵ brought in that ship from some place outside the United Kingdom and not yet cleared on importation⁶;
- 2460 (2) arriving⁷ at any place in the United Kingdom from any place or area outside the United Kingdom or carrying passengers or goods taken on board that aircraft at a place outside the United Kingdom, being passengers or goods either bound for a destination in the United Kingdom and not already cleared at a customs and excise airport⁸ or bound for a destination outside the United Kingdom⁹.

The Commissioners may make regulations prescribing the procedure for making such a report¹⁰.

If the person by whom the report should be made fails to make report as so required, he is liable to a penalty¹¹; and any goods required to be reported which are not duly reported may be detained by any officer until so reported or until the omission is explained to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, and may in the meantime be deposited in a Queen's warehouse¹².

The person making the report must, at the time of making it, answer all such questions relating to the ship, or aircraft, to the goods carried therein, to the crew and to the voyage or flight, as may be put to him by the proper officer¹³; and, if he refuses to answer, he is liable to a penalty¹⁴.

If, at any time after a ship or aircraft carrying goods brought therein from any place outside the United Kingdom arrives in or over United Kingdom waters¹⁵, and, before report has been made in accordance with the above provisions, bulk is broken or any alteration is made in the stowage of any goods carried so as to facilitate the unloading of any part thereof before due report has been made or any part of the goods is staved, destroyed or thrown overboard or any container¹⁶ is opened, and the matter is not explained to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, the master¹⁷ of the ship or commander¹⁸ of the aircraft is liable to a penalty¹⁹.

As to the giving of directions see PARA 1171 post. The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 35(1) (as so amended) has effect as if any through train entering the United Kingdom through the Channel Tunnel were a ship arriving at a port from a place outside the United Kingdom: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 5(1) (amended by SI 1993/1813). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante. As to the application of these provisions to hovercraft see PARA 897 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'port' see PARA 893 note 10 ante. As from a day to be appointed, the words 'arriving at a port' are replaced by the words 'arriving, or expected to arrive, at a port': Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 35(2) (amended by the Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006 s 35, as from a day to be appointed under s 62(1)). At the date at which this volume states the law, no order had been made bringing this amendment into force.

4 For these purposes, references to a place, area or destination outside the United Kingdom do not include references to a place, area or destination in the Isle of Man; and in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 35(3)(b)(i) (see head (2) in the text) the reference to a destination in the United Kingdom includes a reference to a destination in the Isle of Man: s 35(9) (added by the Isle of Man Act 1979 s 13, Sch 1 para 6).

5 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

6 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 35(2).

7 As from a day to be appointed, after the word 'arriving' there is added the phrase ', or expected to arrive,': Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 35(3) (amended by the Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006 s 35, as from a day to be appointed under s 62(1)). 953. Procedure for ship's report.

The procedure for making report of a ship, other than a pleasure craft, is as follows¹.

The forms directed by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs² must be completed by the master or, where the Commissioners so permit, a person authorised by him³. The forms duly completed must be delivered by the master or a person authorised by him:

- 2461 (1) in the case of a ship boarded by an officer, to the officer immediately, if so requested by him;
- 2462 (2) in any other case, to the proper place designated at the port of arrival within three hours of the ship having reached its place of loading or unloading or on the expiration of 24 hours following the arrival of the ship within the limits of that port if by then the ship has not reached a place of loading or unloading⁴.

The master must ensure that a copy of each of the forms is retained on board for inspection by an officer as long as the ship remains within the limits of the port⁵. At the request of an officer either the master or any person authorised by him must furnish the officer with an additional copy of any such form⁶.

The Commissioners may relax all or any of the above requirements as they see fit in relation to any ship arriving at any port in the United Kingdom⁷.

⁷ Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, reg 6 (substituted by SI 1986/1819). The arrival of a ship in a port from a place outside the member states must be reported. Vessels arriving from within the European Union do not have to report if they are an authorised regular shipping service vessel. An authorised regular shipping service vessel is a vessel that only operates between European Union ports (other than freeport/freezones) on a regular, previously authorised, scheduled service. All customs authorities in each European Union port of call are required to approve the service, and vessels must carry a valid certificate from the customs authority. All other vessels arriving at a United Kingdom port from a port in another member state must report their arrival: see HM Revenue and Customs Notice 69 Report and Clearance by Ships' Masters (May 2004) PARA 2.2.

Procedure for ship arriving at a port.

954. Procedure for ship arriving at a port.

On the arrival of a ship, other than a pleasure craft, at a port¹, the master must:

- 2463 (1) where a boarding station has been appointed at that port, immediately bring the ship to at that boarding station;
- 2464 (2) thereafter, or where no boarding station has been appointed at that port, bring the ship as quickly up to the proper mooring or unloading place as the nature of the port will permit without touching at any other place except as may be necessary for the safe navigation of the ship².

The ship must not be moved from such mooring or unloading place except directly to some other mooring or unloading place and unless the proper officer³ has been informed of such movement⁴.

¹ A ship is deemed to have arrived at a port when it comes within the limits of that port: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 5(8); and PARA 950 ante.

² Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, regs 1(2), 7(1). Nothing in reg 7 affects the provisions of any regulations made under the powers conferred by the enactments relating to public health in force respectively in England and Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland with respect to ships which are to be taken to mooring stations within the meaning of those regulations: reg 7(1) proviso. As to the reporting of pleasure craft see PARA 955 post.

³ For the meaning of 'proper officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante.

⁴ Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, reg 7(2).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(4) CONTROL OF IMPORTATION/(ii) Report Inwards; Unloading/A. REPORT INWARDS/(B) Reports to be made in respect of Different Modes of Transport/955. Arrival and report of pleasure craft.

955. Arrival and report of pleasure craft.

The following provisions apply to a pleasure craft¹ which arrives² in the United Kingdom from a place outside the customs territory of the Community³ or from Mount Athos (Hellenic Republic), the Aland Islands, the Canary Islands (Kingdom of Spain), the Channel Islands or the overseas departments of the French Republic, that is to say Guadeloupe, Martinique, Réunion, St Pierre and Miquelon and French Guiana⁴.

The person responsible⁵ must cause a yellow flag (the signal flag for 'Q' in the International Code for Signals) to be flown on a vessel which it is intended is to arrive as a pleasure craft, at all times between the crossing of the limits of a port in the United Kingdom and the making of report⁶ of that vessel⁷.

No person may⁸, after the arrival of the pleasure craft in the United Kingdom, move the vessel until report has been duly⁹ made¹⁰; nor may any person who is on board a pleasure craft at the time of its arrival in the United Kingdom disembark from the vessel until report of the vessel has been duly made¹¹, save that such a person may disembark for the purpose of giving notification of arrival¹² and may remain away from the vessel for as long as is reasonable in connection with that purpose¹³. Where, however, a person giving notification of arrival is told that an officer is not to board the vessel:

2465 (1) the vessel may¹⁴ be moved as soon as the person giving such notification has been told¹⁵; and 2466 (2) persons may¹⁶ disembark as soon as the person giving such notification has been so told¹⁷.

The procedure for making report of a pleasure craft is as follows¹⁸. The person responsible, or a person acting on his behalf, must notify arrival of the vessel to an officer, either in person or by telephone¹⁹; but, where an officer boards a vessel after its arrival and before notification of arrival has been given, such notification is not required with effect from the moment of such boarding²⁰. Notification of arrival, where it is required, must be given as soon as practicable after the arrival of the vessel²¹. Where a person giving notification of arrival is told that an officer is to board the vessel, the person responsible must, when the officer boards, deliver to the officer the prescribed form²², duly completed²³. Where a person giving notification of arrival is told that an officer is not to board the vessel, the person responsible must put the prescribed form, duly completed, in a customs and excise post box where one is provided for that purpose or deliver it to an officer, or to the customs and excise office for the port of arrival²⁴. Where an officer boards the vessel after its arrival but before notification of arrival has been given, the person responsible must deliver the prescribed form, duly completed, to the officer who has boarded²⁵.

1 For these purposes, 'pleasure craft' means a vessel which, at the time of its arrival (see note 2 infra) in the United Kingdom, is being used for private recreational purposes: Pleasure Craft (Arrival and Report) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1406, reg 2. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'arrival' means the anchoring, berthing or mooring of a vessel within the limits of a port; and 'arrive' and cognate expressions are to be construed accordingly: ibid reg 2.

3 For the meaning of 'the customs territory of the Community' see PARA 21 ante.

4 Pleasure Craft (Arrival and Report) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1406, reg 3, Schedule. See also HM Revenue and Customs Notice 8 Sailing your Pleasure Craft to and from the United Kingdom (December 2002).

5 For these purposes, 'the person responsible' means the person on board a vessel under whose command or subject to whose personal direction it has arrived or is intended to arrive as a pleasure craft: Pleasure Craft (Arrival and Report) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1406, reg 2.

6 Ie in accordance with ibid reg 6: see the text and notes 18-25 infra.

9 See note 6 supra.

10 Pleasure Craft (Arrival and Report) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1406, reg 5(1). Nothing in reg 5 affects any Act or subordinate legislation relating to public health, having effect in the United Kingdom or any part thereof: Pleasure Craft (Arrival and Report) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1406, reg 5(5). For these purposes, 'Act' and 'subordinate legislation' have the same respective meanings as in the Interpretation Act 1978 (see STATUTES vol 44(1) (Reissue) PARA 1381): Pleasure Craft (Arrival and Report) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1406, reg 5(5).

11 Ie subject to ibid reg 5(4): see the text and notes 16-17 infra.

12 See note 6 supra.

13 Pleasure Craft (Arrival and Report) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1406, reg 5(2). See also note 10 supra.

14 Ie by way of exception to ibid reg 5(1): see the text and notes 5-10 supra.

15 Ibid reg 5(3). See also note 10 supra.

16 Ie by way of exception to ibid reg 5(2): see the text and notes 11-13 supra.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(4) CONTROL OF IMPORTATION/(ii) Report Inwards; Unloading/A. REPORT INWARDS/(B) Reports to be made in respect of Different Modes of Transport/956. Arrival of aircraft.

956. Arrival of aircraft.

Save as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ otherwise permit, the commander of an aircraft arriving in the United Kingdom of which report is required² must immediately:

- 2467 (1) take the aircraft or cause it to be taken to the examination station at the customs and excise airport at which the aircraft has arrived;
- 2468 (2) make report of the aircraft by delivering to the proper officer in such form as the Commissioners direct a general declaration, particulars of the goods on board the aircraft and a list in duplicate of the stores on board the aircraft;
- 2469 (3) produce to the proper officer such other documents relating to the flight as the officer may require;
- 2470 (4) produce to the proper officer all goods in the aircraft except such as are to be carried on to another customs and excise airport or to a foreign destination and are permitted by the proper officer to remain in the aircraft;
- 2471 (5) unload all goods in the aircraft except such as are to be carried on to another customs and excise airport or to a foreign destination and are permitted by the proper officer to remain in the aircraft; and
- 2472 (6) unless the proper officer otherwise permits, deposit all goods unloaded from the aircraft in a transit shed at the customs and excise airport³.

If, through circumstances over which the commander has no control, an aircraft is prevented from being taken to the examination station as required by head (1) above, the commander must:

- 2473 (a) immediately make report of the aircraft as required by head (2) above; and
- 2474 (b) remove all goods in the aircraft to a transit shed or other place as required by the proper officer⁴.

With the exception of the requirement contained in head (1) above, any act required to be so performed by the commander of an aircraft may, subject to such conditions as the Commissioners see fit, be carried out on his behalf by a responsible person authorised for the purpose by the owner of the aircraft⁵.

¹ As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

² I.e. by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 35(1) (as amended): see PARA 952 ante. For these purposes, 'aircraft' includes all balloons, kites, gliders, airships and flying machines: Aircraft (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1259, reg 2. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

³ Aircraft (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1259, reg 4(1). The Commissioners and the proper officer must exercise their powers under reg 4, regs 5 and 6 (see PARA 959 post), reg 7 (see PARA 1020 post) and reg 8 (see PARA 1021 post) so as to secure that the obligations imposed by regs 4-8 do not, except in a case falling within reg 9(2) (as added), prevent, restrict or delay the movement between different member states of any goods or ship entering or leaving the United Kingdom: reg 9(1) (added by SI 1992/3095). The cases so mentioned are those where it appears to the Commissioners or the proper officer that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the movement in question is not in fact between different member states or that compliance with an obligation imposed by the Aircraft (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1259, regs 4-8 is required for purposes connected with: (1) securing the collection of any Community customs duty or giving effect to any Community legislation relating to any such duty; (2) the enforcement of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force by virtue of any Community legislation with respect to the movement of goods into or out of the member states; or (3) the enforcement of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force by virtue of any enactment with respect to the importation or exportation of goods into or out of the United Kingdom: reg 9(2) (added by SI 1992/3095).

The provisions of the Aircraft (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1259, reg 4(1)(e), (f) (see heads (5)-(6) in the text) do not have effect for or in respect of any goods imported into the United Kingdom from a place outside the customs territory of the Community or which are moving under the procedure specified in EC Council Regulation 2913/92 (OJ L302, 19.10.92, p 1) (the 'Community Customs Code') art 165 (see PARA 113 ante): Customs Controls on Importation of Goods Regulations 1991, SI 1991/2724, reg 7, Sch 3 (amended by SI 1992/3095; SI 1993/3014). Power to regulate unloading, removal etc of imported goods.

B. UNLOADING IMPORTS

(A) POWER TO MAKE REGULATIONS; PENALTIES

957. Power to regulate unloading, removal etc of imported goods.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may make regulations:

- 2475 (1) prescribing the procedure to be followed by a ship arriving at a port², an aircraft arriving at a customs and excise airport³, or a person conveying goods⁴ into Northern Ireland by land⁵;
- 2476 (2) regulating the unloading, landing, movement and removal of goods on their importation⁶, and different regulations may be made with respect to importation by sea, air or land respectively⁷.

If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation so made or with any direction given by the Commissioners or the proper officer⁸ in pursuance of any such regulation, he is liable to a penalty⁹; and any goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture¹⁰.

1 As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 For the meaning of 'ship' see PARA 897 note 10 ante. For the meaning of 'port' see PARA 893 note 10 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 42(1)(a). As to the application of these provisions to hovercraft see PARA 897 ante. For the meaning of references to goods imported by land, or conveyed into Northern Ireland by land, see s 2(4); and PARA 897 ante. In s 42(1)(a) the reference to a ship arriving at a port is to be construed as including a reference to a vehicle arriving at a place which is a customs approved area either in France or through the Channel Tunnel from France: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 6 (amended by SI 1993/1813). Unloading, landing and removal of goods imported by sea.

(B) PROCEDURES IN RESPECT OF DIFFERENT MODES OF TRANSPORT

958. Unloading, landing and removal of goods imported by sea.

Goods imported by sea in a ship, other than a pleasure craft, must not be landed except at an approved wharf¹, and must not be unloaded, landed or removed from the place of landing or from a transit shed²:

- 2477 (1) outside such hours as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may appoint³;
- 2478 (2) without the authority of the proper officer⁴;
- 2479 (3) until report of the importing ship has been made, save as permitted by the Commissioners⁵;
- 2480 (4) until due entry of the goods has been made, save as permitted by the Commissioners⁶; or
- 2481 (5) on a Sunday or a holiday, save as permitted by the Commissioners⁷.

Goods unloaded from an importing ship into another ship for landing at an approved wharf must not, without the permission of the proper officer, be again removed into another ship before being so landed, but must forthwith be taken to and landed at that wharf⁸.

1 For the meaning of 'approved wharf' see PARA 936 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'transit shed' see PARA 940 ante.

3 Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, reg 8(a). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. Regulation 8(a), reg 8(c) (as amended) (see the text and note 5 infra) and reg 8(d), (e) (see the text and notes 6-7 infra) do not apply in relation to whales and fresh fish, including shellfish, of British taking brought by British ships: reg 8 proviso (i). The Commissioners and the proper officer must exercise their powers under reg 8 (as amended), reg 9 (see the text and note 8 infra), reg 10 (see PARA 1017 post) and reg 11 (see PARA 1019 post) so as to secure that the obligations imposed by regs 8-11 (as amended) do not, except in a case falling within reg 12(2) (as added), prevent, restrict or delay the movement between different member states of any goods or ship entering or leaving the United Kingdom: reg 12(1) (added by SI 1992/3095). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante. The cases so mentioned are those where it appears to the Commissioners or the proper officer that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the movement in question is not in fact between different member states or that compliance with an obligation imposed by regs 8-11 (as amended) is required for purposes connected with: (1) securing the collection of any Community customs duty or giving effect to any Community legislation relating to any such duty; (2) the enforcement of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force by virtue of any Community legislation with respect to the movement of goods into or out of the member states; or (3) the enforcement of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force by virtue of any enactment with respect to the importation or exportation of goods into or out of the United Kingdom: Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, reg 12(2) (added by SI 1992/3095).

The Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, reg 8 and reg 9 (see the text and note 8 infra) do not have effect for or in respect of any goods imported into the United Kingdom from a place outside the customs territory of the Community or which are moving under the procedure specified in EC Council Regulation 2913/92 (OJ L302, 19.10.92, p 1) (the 'Community Customs Code') art 165 (see PARA 113 ante): Customs Controls on Importation of Goods Regulations 1991, SI 1991/2724, reg 7, Sch 3 (amended by SI 1992/3095; SI 1993/3014). Unloading of goods imported by air.

959. Unloading of goods imported by air.

No person is to unload, or permit the unloading of, any goods imported by air from the importing airport:

- 2482 (1) except during such hours as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may approve for the purpose;
- 2483 (2) without the authority of the proper officer²; and
- 2484 (3) unless the unloading is done for the purpose of a removal to a transit shed³ or other place as required by the proper officer in circumstances where the commander⁴ is prevented through circumstances over which he has no control from taking the aircraft to the examination station⁵, at any place other than the examination station or such other place as the Commissioners may permit⁶.

Save as the Commissioners may otherwise permit, no person is to remove or permit to be removed goods imported by air from an examination station or from such other place as the Commissioners may permit⁷:

- 2485 (a) except to a transit shed;
- 2486 (b) unless, in the case of goods duly entered⁸, the proper officer authorises the removal from the examination station or from the other place mentioned above; or
- 2487 (c) except in accordance with any special permission granted by the Commissioners and in compliance with any conditions attached to the grant of such permission⁹.

Save as the Commissioners may otherwise permit, goods imported by air situated in a transit shed or at any other place to which they were removed as required by the proper officer¹⁰ must not be removed therefrom: (i) until, in the case of goods of which entry is required¹¹, the entry is made; and (ii) without the authority of the proper officer¹².

A. INTRODUCTION

962. In general.

Goods may in general be imported only on production of an entry of the goods¹; and the entry must be made by an authorised importer or by an authorised agent of the importer². Unless deferment provisions apply³, any duty payable must be paid on entry⁴. The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may make directions for goods to be delivered before an entry has been completed⁵. If an entry is not completed within prescribed time limits, the goods may be required to be stored in a Queen's warehouse and subsequently sold⁶.

1 See PARA 963 et seq post. Special provision is made for the entry of surplus stores: see PARA 967 post.

2 See PARA 963 post.

3 See PARA 976 et seq post.

B. ENTRIES

963. Authorisations to make entries.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may, if they think fit, authorise any person to make initial, supplementary or postponed entries² and suspend or cancel the authorisation of any such person where it appears to them that he has failed to comply with any requirement imposed on him by or under the provisions relating to the control of importation³ or that there is other reasonable cause for suspension or cancellation⁴. The Commissioners may give directions imposing such requirements as they think fit on any person so authorised or varying any such requirements previously imposed⁵.

If any person without reasonable excuse contravenes any requirement so imposed, he is liable to a penalty⁶.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(4) CONTROL OF IMPORTATION/(iii) Entries; Payment of Duty on Importation/B. ENTRIES/964. Initial and supplementary entries.

964. Initial and supplementary entries.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may:

- 2488 (1) give such directions as they think fit for enabling an entry of goods¹ to consist of an initial entry and a supplementary entry where the importer² is authorised for these purposes in accordance with the directions; and
- 2489 (2) include in the directions such supplementary provision in connection with entries consisting of initial and supplementary entries as they think fit³, and an importer who so makes an initial entry must complete the entry by delivering the supplementary entry within such time as the Commissioners may direct⁴.

A direction⁵ may:

- 2490 (a) provide that, where the importer is not authorised for these purposes but a person who is so authorised is appointed as his agent for the purpose of entering the goods, the entry may consist of an initial entry made by the person so appointed and a supplementary entry so made; and
- 2491 (b) make such supplementary provision in connection with entries consisting of initial and supplementary entries made as mentioned in head (a) above as the Commissioners think fit⁶, and a person who so makes an initial entry on behalf of an importer must complete the entry by delivering the supplementary entry within such time as the Commissioners may direct⁷.

Where an initial entry so made⁸ has been accepted and the importer has given security by deposit of money or otherwise to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for payment of the unpaid duty or an initial entry so made⁹ has been accepted and the person making the entry on the importer's behalf has given such security as is mentioned in head (a) above, the goods may be delivered without payment of any duty chargeable in respect of the goods; but any such duty must be paid within such time as the Commissioners may direct¹⁰.

If any person without reasonable excuse contravenes any requirement imposed by or under the above provisions, he is liable to a penalty¹¹.

1 I.e. an entry under the Customs Controls on Importation of Goods Regulations 1991, SI 1991/2724, reg 5 (as amended): see PARAS 82 note 7, 85 note 8 ante. For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'importer', in relation to any goods at any time between their importation and the time when they are delivered out of charge, includes any owner or other person for the time being possessed of or beneficially interested in the goods and, in relation to goods imported by means of a pipeline, includes the owner of the pipeline: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1). For the meaning of 'pipeline' see PARA 562 note 1 ante. See also R v Collins [1987] Crim LR 256, CA (minibus driver who brought into the United Kingdom for his own use the maximum duty-free allowances to which his passengers would have been entitled held to be an importer).

Anything required by the Customs and Excise Acts 1979 to be done by the importer of any goods may, subject to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 166(1) (see PARA 904 ante), except where the Commissioners otherwise require, be done on his behalf by an agent: s 166(2). For the meaning of 'the Customs and Excise Acts 1979' see PARA 398 note 2 ante.

As to the giving of directions see PARA 1171 post. For the purposes of the customs and excise Acts, an entry of goods is to be taken to have been delivered when an initial entry of the goods has been delivered: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 37A(4) (as so added). For the meaning of 'the customs and excise Acts' see PARA 413 note 1 ante. See also HM Revenue and Customs Notice 702 Imports (October 2006); HM Revenue and Customs Notice 760 Customs Freight Simplified Procedures (February 2005). Local import control enables clearance to occur at the importer's premises; and the period entry procedures enable a simplified entry to be made on importation and more details to be provided later by computer.

965. Postponed entry.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may, if they think fit, direct that, where:

- 2492 (1) such goods¹ as may be specified in the direction are imported by an importer² authorised for these purposes;
- 2493 (2) the importer has delivered a document relating to the goods to the proper officer³, in such form and manner, containing such particulars and accompanied by such documents as the Commissioners may direct; and
- 2494 (3) the document has been accepted by the proper officer, the goods may be delivered before an entry of them has been delivered or any duty chargeable in respect of them has been paid⁴. The Commissioners may, if they think fit, direct that, where:

- 2495 (a) such goods as may be specified in the direction are imported by an importer authorised for these purposes;
- 2496 (b) the goods have been removed from the place of importation to a place approved by the Commissioners for the clearance out of charge of such goods; and
- 2497 (c) the specified conditions⁵ have been satisfied,

the goods may be delivered before an entry of them has been delivered or any duty chargeable in respect of them has been paid⁶. No goods are to be delivered under these provisions⁷ unless the importer gives security by deposit of money or otherwise to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for the payment of any duty chargeable in respect of the goods which is unpaid⁸. Where goods of which no entry has been made have been delivered under these provisions⁹, the importer must deliver an entry of the goods¹⁰ within such time as the Commissioners may direct¹¹.

The Commissioners may, if they think fit, direct that, where:

- 2498 (i) such goods as may be specified in the direction are imported by an importer who is not authorised for these purposes;
- 2499 (ii) a person who is authorised for these purposes is appointed as his agent for the purpose of entering the goods;
- 2500 (iii) the person so appointed has delivered a document relating to the goods to the proper officer, in such form and manner, containing such particulars and accompanied by such documents as the Commissioners may direct; and
- 2501 (iv) the document has been accepted by the proper officer, the goods may be delivered before an entry of them has been delivered or any duty chargeable in respect of them has been paid¹². The Commissioners may, if they think fit, direct that, where:

- 2502 (A) such goods as may be specified in the direction are imported by an importer who is not authorised for these purposes;
- 2503 (B) a person who is authorised for these purposes is appointed as his agent for the purpose of entering the goods;

- 2504 (c) the goods have been removed from the place of importation to a place approved by the Commissioners for the clearance out of charge of such goods; and 2505 (d) the specified conditions¹³ have been satisfied,

the goods may be delivered before an entry of them has been delivered or any duty chargeable in respect of them has been paid¹⁴. No goods are to be delivered under these provisions¹⁵ unless the person appointed as the agent of the importer for the purpose of entering the goods gives security by deposit of money or otherwise to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for the payment of any duty chargeable in respect of the goods which is unpaid¹⁶. Where goods of which no entry has been made have been delivered under these provisions¹⁷, the person appointed as the agent of the importer for the purpose of entering the goods must deliver an entry of the goods¹⁸ within such time as the Commissioners may direct¹⁹.

If any person without reasonable excuse contravenes any requirement imposed by or under the above provisions, he is liable to a penalty²⁰.

4 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 37B(1) (s 37B added by the Finance Act 1984 s 9, Sch 5 para 2). As to the giving of directions see PARA 1171 post. For the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(2)(a) (as substituted) (see PARA 971 head (1) post), such an entry is to be taken to have been accepted: (1) in the case of goods delivered by virtue of a direction under s 37B(1) (as added) or s 37B(1A) (as added) (see the text and note 12 infra), on the date on which the document mentioned therein was accepted; and (2) in the case of goods delivered by virtue of a direction under s 37B(2) (as added) (see the text and notes 5-6 infra), on the date on which particulars of the goods were entered as mentioned in s 37B(3)(b) (as added) (see note 5 head (2) infra); and (3) in the case of goods delivered by virtue of a direction under s 37B(3A) (as added) (see the text and notes 13-14 infra), on the date on which particulars of the goods were entered as mentioned in s 37B(3B)(b) (as added) (see note 13 head (2) infra): s 37B(7) (as so added; and amended by the Finance Act 1990 s 7, Sch 3 paras 1, 3).

5 The conditions so specified are that: (1) on the arrival of the goods at the approved place the importer delivers to the proper officer a notice of the arrival of the goods in such form and containing such particulars as may be required by the directions; (2) within such time as may be so required the importer enters such particulars of the goods and such other information as may be so required in a record maintained by him at such place as the proper officer may require; and (3) the goods are kept secure in the approved place for such period as may be required by the directions: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 37B(3) (as added: see note 4 supra). The Commissioners may direct that the condition mentioned in s 37B(3)(a) (as added) (see head (1) supra) is not to apply in relation to any goods specified in the direction; and such a direction may substitute another condition: s 37B(4) (as so added; and amended by the Finance Act 1990 Sch 3 para 3).

966. Correction and cancellation of entry.

Where goods¹ have been entered for home use or for free circulation, the importer² may correct any of the particulars contained in an entry of the goods after it has been accepted if:

- 2506 (1) the goods have not been cleared from customs and excise charge;
- 2507 (2) he has not been notified by an officer³ that the goods are to be examined; and
- 2508 (3) the entry has not been found by an officer to be incorrect⁴.

The proper officer⁵ may permit or require any correction so allowed to be made by the delivery of a substituted entry⁶.

An entry of goods⁷ may at the request of the importer be cancelled at any time before the goods are cleared from customs and excise charge if the importer proves to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that the entry was delivered by mistake or that the goods cannot be cleared for free circulation⁸.

With the permission of the proper officer¹, surplus stores² of any ship³ or aircraft:

2509 (1) if intended for private use and in quantities which do not appear to him to be excessive, may be entered and otherwise treated as if they were goods imported⁴ in the ship or aircraft; or 2510 (2) in any other case, may be entered for warehousing⁵ notwithstanding that they could not lawfully be imported as merchandise⁶.

However, goods entered for warehousing by virtue of head (2) above must not, except with the sanction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁷, be further entered, or be removed from the warehouse⁸, otherwise than for use as stores⁹.

968. Removal of uncleared goods to Queen's warehouse.

Where in the case of any imported goods¹:

- 2511 (1) entry² has not been made thereof by the expiration of the relevant period³; or
- 2512 (2) at the expiration of 21 clear days from the date when they were presented at the proper⁴ office of Revenue and Customs they have not been produced for examination and clearance and the failure to produce them is attributable to an act or omission for which the importer⁵ is responsible; or
- 2513 (3) being goods imported by sea and not being in large quantity, they are at any time after the arrival of the importing ship at the port⁶ at which they are to be unloaded the only goods remaining to be unloaded from that ship at that port, the proper officer⁷ may cause the goods to be deposited in a Queen's warehouse⁸.

Where any small package or consignment of goods is imported, the proper officer may at any time after the relevant date cause that package or consignment to be deposited in a Queen's warehouse to await entry⁹.

If any goods so deposited in a Queen's warehouse by the proper officer are not cleared by the importer, then¹⁰:

- 2514 (a) in the case of goods which are in the opinion of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs of a perishable nature, forthwith; or
- 2515 (b) in any other case, within three months after they have been so deposited or such longer time as the Commissioners may in any case allow, the Commissioners may sell them¹¹.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 As to the meaning of references to an entry on the importation of goods see PARA 915 note 3 ante.

3 For these purposes, 'the relevant period' means a period of, in the case of goods imported by air, seven or, in any other case, 14 clear days from the relevant date; and 'the relevant date' means, subject to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 40(5), the date when report was made of the importing ship, aircraft or vehicle or of the goods under s 35 (as amended) (see PARA 952 ante), or, where no such report was made, the date when it should properly have been made: s 40(4). Where any restriction is placed upon the unloading of goods from any ship or aircraft by virtue of any enactment relating to the prevention of epidemic and infectious diseases, then, in relation to that ship or aircraft, 'the relevant date' means the date of the removal of the restriction: s 40(5). C. PAYMENT OF DUTY

(A) IN GENERAL

970. Imported goods.

No imported goods¹ are to be delivered or removed² on importation until the importer³ has paid to the proper officer⁴ any duty chargeable thereon; and that duty must be paid, in the case of goods of which entry is made⁵, on making the entry⁶. Where, however, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs so direct, that prohibition does not apply if and so long as the importer or his agent pays to, and keeps deposited with, the Commissioners a sum by way of standing deposit sufficient in their opinion to cover any duty which may become payable in respect of goods entered by that importer or agent, and if the importer or agent complies with such other conditions as the Commissioners may impose⁷.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 The same as permitted by or under the customs and excise Acts or the European Communities Act 1972 s 2(2) or any Community regulation or other instrument having the force of law. For the meaning of 'the customs and excise Acts' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

6 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(1). Nothing in the provisions of s 43(1), s 43(2) (as amended) (see PARA 971 post) or s 43(6) (as substituted) (see PARA 971 post) or in any exception to any of those provisions made by or under any of ss 44-48 (see PARA 971 et seq post) has effect for the purposes of any duty of excise chargeable on any goods for which: (1) the excise duty point is fixed by regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 1 (see PARA 650 ante); and (2) the applicable rate of duty is determined in accordance with s 1(2) (see PARA 650 ante): Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(2D) (added by the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 1(5), Sch 1 para 2(b)). For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'excise duty point' has the meaning given by the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 1 (see PARA 650 ante): Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1) (amended by the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 1(5), Sch 1 para 1).

In its application to goods contained in postal packets the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(1) does not apply: Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 5(d) (substituted by SI 1986/1019). As to postal packets see PARA 1032 et seq post.

Without prejudice to the Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152, reg 5 (see PARA 982 post), for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43 (as amended) excise duty is deemed to have been paid at the time when deferment was granted: see the Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152, reg 11(a) (as amended); and PARA 982 note 15 post.

In addition to the above exceptions, the Commissioners may allow goods to be delivered upon the giving of security where it is impractical immediately to ascertain whether any or what duty is payable: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 119 (as amended); and PARA 975 post. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

Time by reference to which duty is to be calculated.

971. Time by reference to which duty is to be calculated.

The duties of customs or excise and the rates thereof chargeable on imported goods¹:

- 2516 (1) if entry is made thereof, except where the entry is for warehousing², or if they are declared³, are those in force with respect to such goods at the time when the entry is accepted or the declaration is made⁴;
- 2517 (2) if entry or, in the case of goods entered by bill of sight, perfect entry⁵ is made thereof for warehousing, are to be ascertained in accordance with warehousing regulations⁶;
- 2518 (3) if no entry is made thereof and the goods are not declared⁷, are:
- 150 14. (a) as respects Community customs duties, those in force with respect to such goods at the time of their entry into the customs territory of the Community⁸; and
- 15. (b) as respects other duties, those in force with respect to such goods at the time of their importation⁹.
- 151

Where the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs require a duty of customs to be paid because of a failure to comply with a condition or other obligation imposed under the provisions relating to relief from payment of duty¹⁰, not being a condition or obligation required to be complied with before the goods were allowed to be removed or delivered, the duty must be charged as if entry of the goods had been accepted at the time when the non-compliance occurred¹¹.

Where any duties of customs are chargeable in respect of waste or debris resulting from the destruction of imported goods in free circulation, those duties and their rates are those in force at the time when the goods were destroyed¹².

Any goods brought or coming into the United Kingdom¹³ by sea otherwise than as cargo, stores or baggage carried in a ship¹⁴ are chargeable with the like duty, if any, as would be applicable to those goods if they had been imported as merchandise¹⁵.

Any goods which are re-imported into the United Kingdom after exportation from the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man, whether they were manufactured or produced in or outside the United Kingdom and whether or not any duty was paid thereon at a previous importation, are to be treated¹⁶ for the purpose of charging duty:

- 2519 (i) as if they were being imported for the first time; and
- 2520 (ii) in the case of goods manufactured or produced in the United Kingdom, as if they had not been so manufactured or produced¹⁷.

Where entry of goods is made otherwise than for warehousing and there is a reduction in the rate of duty of customs¹⁸ or excise chargeable on the goods between the time mentioned in head (1) above and the time when the goods are cleared from customs and excise charge, the rate of the duty chargeable on the goods is, if the importer so requests, that in force at the time when the goods are cleared from customs and excise charge, unless clearance of the goods has been delayed by reason of any act or omission for which the importer is responsible¹⁹.

Where a substituted entry is delivered under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 38(2) (repealed) or s 38B(2) (as added) (see PARA 966 ante), the entry referred to in s 43(2)(a) (as substituted) is the original entry: s 43(9) (added by the Finance Act 1981 Sch 6 para 7(4)). The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(2) (as amended) is subject to s 43(2A)-(2D) (as added) (see the text and notes 9-12 infra): s 43(2) (amended by the Customs Duty Regulations 1982, SI 1982/1324, reg 2(1), (2); and the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 1(5), Sch 1 para 2(a)).

Where, in accordance with approval given by the Commissioners, entry of goods is made by any method involving the use of a computer, the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(2) (as amended) has effect as if the reference in s 43(2)(a) (as substituted) to the time of the delivery of the entry were a reference to the time when particulars contained in the entry are accepted by the computer: s 43(4). Section 43(4) is prospectively repealed from such day as the Commissioners may by statutory instrument appoint: see the Finance Act 1981 s 139, Sch 19 Pt I. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

5 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'perfect entry' means an entry made in accordance with the Customs Controls on Importation of Goods Regulations 1991, SI 1991/2724, reg 5 (see PARAS 82 note 7, 85 note 8 ante) or warehousing regulations, as the case may require: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1) (amended by the Customs and Excise (Single Market etc) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3095, reg 10(1), Sch 1 para 2). The definition of 'perfect entry' is prospectively repealed as from a day to be appointed by the Finance Act 1981 Sch 19 Pt I. At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed. For the meaning of 'warehousing regulations' see PARA 669 ante.

6 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(2)(b). As from a day to be appointed by statutory instrument made by the Commissioners, this provision is amended so as to remove the reference to perfect entry: see s 43(2)(b) (prospectively amended by the Finance Act 1981 Sch 19 Pt I). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

9 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(2)(c) (substituted by the Customs Duty Regulations 1982, SI 1982/1324, reg 2(1), (3)). As respects goods which have been unlawfully removed from customs charge, the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(2)(c) (as substituted) has effect with respect to any duties of customs as if they had entered the customs territory of the Community, or, as the case may be, had been imported at the time of their removal: s 43(2C) (added by the Customs Duty Regulations 1982, SI 1982/1324, reg 2(1), (4)).

In its application to goods contained in postal packets the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43(2)(c) (as substituted) applies with the substitution for s 43(2)(c)(i), (ii) (as substituted) (see heads (3)(a), (3)(b) in the text) of the words 'those in force at the time when, the packet containing the goods having been presented to the proper officer of customs and excise, the amount of duty appearing to be due is assessed by him': Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 5(d) (substituted by SI 1986/1019). 975. Delivery of imported goods on giving of security for duty.

Where it is impracticable immediately to ascertain whether any or what duty is payable in respect of any imported goods¹ which are entered for home use or for free circulation, whether on importation² or from warehouse or free zone³, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁴ may, if they think fit and notwithstanding any other provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979⁵, allow those goods to be delivered upon the importer⁶ giving security by deposit of money or otherwise to their satisfaction for payment of any amount unpaid which may be payable by way of duty⁷. The Commissioners may so treat goods as entered for home use notwithstanding that the entry does not contain all the particulars required for perfect entry⁸ if it contains as many of those particulars as are then known to the importer, and, in that event, the importer must supply the remaining particulars as soon as may be to the Commissioners⁹.

Where goods are allowed to be delivered under the above provisions, the Commissioners must, when they have determined the amount of duty which in their opinion is payable, give to the importer a notice specifying that amount¹⁰. On the giving of such a notice the amount specified in the notice or, where any amount has been duly deposited¹¹, any difference between those amounts must forthwith be paid or repaid as the case may require¹². If the importer disputes the correctness of the amount specified in a notice so given to him, he may at any time within three months of the date of the notice make a requirement for reference to arbitration or an application¹³ to the court¹⁴. No requirement or application may, however, be so made until any sum falling to be paid by the importer¹⁵ has been paid; and, where any sum so falls to be paid, no interest is to be paid¹⁶ in respect of any period before that sum is paid¹⁷.

(B) DEFERMENT OF CUSTOMS DUTY

976. Power to make regulations for the payment of customs duty to be deferred.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may by regulations provide for the payment of customs duty to be deferred in such cases as may be specified by the regulations and subject to such conditions as may be imposed by or under the regulations; and duty of which payment is deferred under the regulations is to be treated, for such purposes as may be specified thereby, as if it had been paid¹. Such regulations may make different provision for goods² of different descriptions or for goods of the same description in different circumstances³.

As to the regulations made under this provision see the Customs and Excise (Deferred Payment) (RAF Airfields and Offshore Installations) (No 2) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1898 (see PARA 985 post). By virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b), the Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1976, SI 1976/1223 (amended by SI 1978/1725) (see PARAS 977-979 post) have effect as if so made. As to the making of regulations see PARA 1170 post; and as to the payment of duty on imported goods see PARA 970 et seq ante. See also HM Revenue and Customs Notice 101 Deferring Duty, VAT and Other Charges (May 2004). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(4) CONTROL OF IMPORTATION/(iii) Entries; Payment of Duty on Importation/C. PAYMENT OF DUTY/(B) Deferment of Customs Duty/977. Approval.

977. Approval.

A person who wishes to be granted deferment¹ in respect of customs duty² must apply to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs in such form as they may determine, furnish security for payment on payment day³ of the amount of customs duty in respect of which he seeks deferment, and make arrangements with the Commissioners for the payment of that duty on payment day⁴.

If satisfied with such security and arrangements, the Commissioners must in writing approve⁵ the applicant with respect to an amount of customs duty not exceeding that for which he has furnished security; but such approval may be limited to the deferment of customs duty otherwise payable⁶ on the making of entry with any named collection⁷. The Commissioners may for reasonable cause at any time vary or revoke any approval so granted⁸.

A person to whom approval has been so granted must forthwith notify the Commissioners of any change in the particulars furnished, the security given or the arrangements for payment provided for⁹ in the above provisions¹⁰.

1 I.e. a person who wishes to be approved for the purposes of the Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1976, SI 1976/1223 (as amended). For these purposes, 'deferment' means deferment of payment of customs duty granted under the Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1976, SI 1976/1223 (as amended); and 'deferred' is to be construed accordingly: reg 2(1).

2 The Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1976, SI 1976/1223 (as amended) apply in the case of customs duty payable, apart from those regulations, on the making of entry of goods chargeable therewith: reg 3 (amended by SI 1978/1725). See also HM Revenue and Customs Notice 101 Deferring Duty, VAT and Other Charges (May 2004).

3 For these purposes, 'payment day' means the fifteenth day of the month next following that in which the amount of duty deferred is entered into the Commissioners' accounts or, in the case of import entries scheduled periodically, the fifteenth day of the period following that in which deferment is granted, save that, where that day in either case falls on a non-working day, it is the next working day thereafter: Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1976, SI 1976/1223 reg 2(1) (amended by SI 1978/1725). 'Period' means a period commencing on the sixteenth day of any month and ending on the fifteenth day of the month next following: Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1976, SI 1976/1223, reg 2(1).

4 Ibid reg 4(1) (amended by SI 1978/1725). The Commissioners require the security to take the form of a bank or insurance company guarantee: see HM Revenue and Customs Notice 101 Deferring Duty, VAT and Other Charges (May 2004) PARA 5.1. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

5 For these purposes, 'approved' means approved by the Commissioners to apply for deferment of payment of duty on behalf of himself or another; and 'approve' and 'approval' are to be construed accordingly: Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1976, SI 1976/1223, reg 2(1) (amended by SI 1978/1725).

6 I.e. apart from the Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1976, SI 1976/1223 (as amended).

7 Ibid reg 4(2). Any approval granted by a collector under the Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1972, SI 1972/1739 (revoked) before 1 September 1976 has effect as if granted under the Customs Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1976, SI 1976/1223 (as amended): reg 2(4).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(4) CONTROL OF IMPORTATION/(iii) Entries; Payment of Duty on Importation/C. PAYMENT OF DUTY/(B) Deferment of Customs Duty/979. Payment.

979. Payment.

On each payment day¹ an approved² person must pay to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs in accordance with the relevant arrangements³ the total amount of customs duty⁴ of which he has been granted deferment until that payment day⁵.

If, at any time after entry has been made, the Commissioners are satisfied that:

- 2521 (1) the full amount of customs duty payable has not been shown on the entry or periodic schedule, then, save as the Commissioners otherwise allow, the balance must forthwith be paid by the person making entry of the goods and no deferment in respect thereof is permitted;
- 2522 (2) customs duty in excess of the amount payable has been shown on the entry or periodic schedule, the Commissioners must repay the excess, but the total amount shown must nevertheless be paid on payment day⁶.

(C) DEFERMENT OF EXCISE DUTY

980. Approved persons.

A person who wishes to be granted excise duty deferment¹ must apply to be approved for excise duty deferment purposes². When so approving a person, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³ may:

- 2523 (1) specify the maximum amount of excise duty which may be deferred by that person at any time under that approval⁴;
- 2524 (2) limit the approval to deferment in respect of goods which are at specified prices⁵.

A person may be so approved separately in respect of different places⁶.

The Commissioners may for reasonable cause at any time vary or revoke any approval so granted⁷.

The Commissioners may make approval of a person or any grant of deferment of duty subject to any condition or requirement; and conditions or requirements may be added to or varied at any time by the Commissioners⁸.

A person who is so approved for the purpose of applying for deferment of excise duty must provide such security for that duty in such form and manner and in such amount as the Commissioners may require⁹.

Any person who has applied to be approved or has been so approved for excise duty deferment purposes must notify the Commissioners immediately of any change in circumstances which materially affects any application for approval or deferment of duty or any security given by him¹⁰.

1 le under the Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152, made under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 93 (as amended) (see PARA 669 ante) and s 127A (as added and amended) (see PARA 1102 post), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 13 (as amended) (see PARA 417 ante), s 15 (as amended) (see PARA 419 ante), s 56 (as amended) (see PARA 483 ante) and s 62(5) (see PARA 504 ante), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 21 (as amended) (see PARA 570 ante) and s 24 (as amended) (see PARA 575 ante), and the European Communities Act 1972 s 2 (as amended).

Nothing in the Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152 (as amended) is to be taken to remove any obligation placed upon any person to comply with the requirements imposed by or under any other regulations relating to the goods in respect of which payment of duty is deferred under the Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152 (as amended) except in so far as those other regulations relate to the date for payment of duty and deferment of that payment is granted under the Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152 (as amended): reg 12. Goods to which the deferment provisions apply.

981. Goods to which the deferment provisions apply.

The Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992¹ apply to goods on which excise duty would, but for the deferment granted thereby, be payable on or after 1 January 1993, being goods of any of the following descriptions:

- 2525 (1) wine², made-wine³, cider, spirits⁴, biofuels⁵, hydrocarbon oils⁶; and
- 2526 (2) beer imported by a registered excise dealer and shipper⁷.

² For these purposes, 'wine' includes composite goods containing wine on which goods excise duty is chargeable: ibid reg 2.

³ For these purposes, 'made-wine' includes composite goods containing made-wine on which goods excise duty is chargeable: ibid reg 2.

⁴ For these purposes, 'spirits' includes composite goods containing spirits on which goods excise duty is chargeable: ibid reg 2.

⁶ For these purposes, 'hydrocarbon oils' means goods, except biofuels and road fuel gas, chargeable with excise duty by virtue of the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 (see PARA 508 et seq ante), and includes composite goods containing hydrocarbon oils on which goods excise duty is chargeable: Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152, reg 2 (amended by SI 2004/2065).

⁷ Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152, reg 3 (amended by SI 2004/2065). For these purposes, 'imported by a registered excise dealer and shipper' includes any importation where goods are moved under the instructions of a registered excise dealer and shipper or are, in accordance with registered excise dealers and shippers regulations, deemed to be so moved: Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152, reg 2. Unless the context otherwise requires, 'registered excise dealer and shipper' means a revenue trader approved and registered by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 100G (as added) (see PARA 647 ante): s 1(1) (amended by the Finance Act 1991 s 11(1)). Unless the context otherwise requires, 'registered excise dealers and shippers regulations' means regulations under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 100G (as added) (see PARA 647 ante): s 1(1) (amended by the Finance Act 1991 s 11(1)). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(4) CONTROL OF IMPORTATION/(iii) Entries; Payment of Duty on Importation/C. PAYMENT OF DUTY/(C) Deferment of Excise Duty/982. Deferment.

982. Deferment.

Deferment of excise duty is to be granted upon the giving of notice by an approved person¹ that he wishes excise duty in respect of any goods² to be deferred until a day ('payment day'), provided that the notice is given in such form and manner and contains such particulars as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may require and provided that the relevant requirements³ are complied with⁴.

On each payment day an approved person must pay to the Commissioners the total amount of excise duty of which he has been granted deferment until that payment day⁵.

Payment day is:

- 2527 (1) in the case of beer imported by a registered excise dealer and shipper⁶, the twenty-fifth day of the month following the month in which the duty would otherwise⁷ be payable;
- 2528 (2) in the case of any goods other than beer imported by a registered excise dealer and shipper, the fifteenth day of the month following the month in which the duty on those goods would otherwise⁸ be payable;
- 2529 (3) in the case of biofuels⁹ on which the duty would otherwise¹⁰ be payable, on or after the fifteenth day of one month and not later than the fourteenth day of the next month, the last business day¹¹ of that next month;
- 2530 (4) in the case of hydrocarbon oils¹² delivered for home use from a refinery or other premises used for the production of hydrocarbon oil or from an excise warehouse¹³ on or after the fifteenth day of one month and not later than the fourteenth of the next month, the last business day of that next month; and
- 2531 (5) in any other case, where the duty on those goods would otherwise¹⁴ be payable on or after the fifteenth day of one month and not later than the fourteenth day of the next month, either the twenty-ninth day of that next month or, where that next month has only 28 days, the twenty-eighth day of that month; provided that, where the payment day would, if determined in accordance with heads (1) to (5) above, fall on a day on which the Bank of England is closed, the payment day is, in the case of head (2) above, the next business day following that day and, in any other case, the last business day preceding that day¹⁵.

1 For these purposes, 'approved person' means a person approved by the Commissioners under the Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152, reg 4 (see PARA 980 ante); reg 2. As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante.

983. Set-offs.

An approved person¹ must set off all sums to which he is entitled as rebate under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979², all sums of which he is entitled to repayment³, all sums to which he is entitled as relief⁴ and such other sums as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may allow against excise duty required to be paid by him⁵ on payment day⁶. An approved person must not set off those sums unless on or before payment day he submits to the Commissioners a claim for set-off in such form and manner and containing such particulars as they may require⁷.

Rebate may not be so set off at a payment day earlier than that on which duty which has been deferred⁸, in respect of which the rebate exists, would have been due⁹.

984. Adjustments.

If a notice has been given by an approved person¹ that he wishes excise duty to be deferred² or any other document has been submitted to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³ in respect of excise duty deferment and the Commissioners are satisfied that:

2532 (1) the full amount of excise duty payable has not been shown, then, save as the Commissioners may otherwise allow, the balance of excise duty must be paid forthwith⁴;

2533 (2) excise duty in excess of the amount payable has been shown other than by reason of a set-off⁵, the Commissioners must repay or give credit for that excess, but the total amount shown must nonetheless be paid on payment day⁶.

(D) DEFERMENT OF DUTY RELATING TO RAF AIRFIELDS AND OFFSHORE INSTALLATIONS

985. RAF airfields and offshore installations.

A passenger of an aircraft entering the United Kingdom from an offshore gas or oil installation or arriving at a Royal Air Force airfield is to be granted deferment of any customs or excise duties payable immediately on goods contained in his baggage or carried with him, subject to the following conditions:

- 2534 (1) directions made by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ as to the form and manner of his declaration of the goods must be complied with;
- 2535 (2) he must pay to the Commissioners any duty so deferred by the fifteenth day of the month following his arrival from the installation or at the airfield but, where an earlier time is specified in a notice of demand served on him by the Commissioners, he must pay such duty by such earlier time; and
- 2536 (3) the owner or operator of the gas or oil installation must provide the Commissioners with such security as the Commissioners consider adequate for these purposes².

In order, solely, to enable the passenger to remove the goods without payment of duty, duty so deferred is to be treated as paid at the time the goods are landed³.

PAYMENT OF DUTY/(E) Deferment of Duty on the Temporary Importation of Vehicles, Aircraft and related Spare Parts/986. Commercial vehicles and aircraft delivered without payment of duty.

(E) DEFERMENT OF DUTY ON THE TEMPORARY IMPORTATION OF VEHICLES, AIRCRAFT AND RELATED SPARE PARTS

986. Commercial vehicles and aircraft delivered without payment of duty.

If any vehicle¹ or aircraft² is imported into any part of the United Kingdom³ other than the Isle of Man and the importer satisfies the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that:

- 2537 (1) his principal place of business⁴ is outside the United Kingdom;
- 2538 (2) the vehicle or aircraft is registered outside the United Kingdom;
- 2539 (3) the vehicle or aircraft is owned and operated by a person whose principal place of business is outside the United Kingdom;
- 2540 (4) the importation is taking place in the course of a journey which has begun and will end outside the United Kingdom;
- 2541 (5) the purpose of the journey is to use the vehicle or aircraft either for the transport of passengers for remuneration or for the industrial or commercial transport of goods from or to a place outside the United Kingdom or for such other purpose as the Commissioners may in special circumstances allow; and
- 2542 (6) the relevant provisions⁵ and such other conditions as may be imposed by the Commissioners are and will be complied with, such vehicle or aircraft may be delivered without payment of duty; and duty is not payable so long as the Commissioners continue to be so satisfied⁶. No vehicle or aircraft may, however, be so delivered without payment of duty if the vehicle or aircraft is principally kept in the United Kingdom⁷ or if the importer principally keeps in the United Kingdom⁸ any vehicle or aircraft so delivered⁹.

1 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'vehicle' means any motor road vehicle, including a trailer, which is designed for the transport of persons for remuneration or for the industrial or commercial transport of goods and also includes any accessories or component parts of such vehicle required for and imported in, or forming part of, such vehicle, but does not include any accessories or component parts imported separately: Temporary Importation (Commercial Vehicles and Aircraft) Regulations 1961, SI 1961/1523, reg 10.

2 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'aircraft' means any aeroplane, airship, balloon, flying machine or glider which is designed for the transport of persons for remuneration or the industrial or commercial transport of goods and also includes any accessories or component parts of any aircraft required for and imported in, or forming part of, such aircraft but does not include any accessories or component parts imported separately: ibid reg 10. In Customs and Excise Comrs v Addie (20 May 1982, unreported), 'aircraft' was held to extend to any aircraft and not just a commercial aircraft.

3 For these purposes, 'United Kingdom' means the United Kingdom including the Isle of Man: Temporary Importation (Commercial Vehicles and Aircraft) Regulations 1961, SI 1961/1523, reg 10. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' generally see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

4 For these purposes, the principal place of business of a person is deemed to be the place from which, in the opinion of the Commissioners, the control of the business is exercised: ibid reg 9(a). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

5 le the provisions of ibid regs 2-9: see PARA 987 et seq post.

6 Ibid reg 1. The Temporary Importation (Commercial Vehicles and Aircraft) Regulations 1961, SI 1961/1523, were made in exercise of the power conferred by the Customs and Excise Act 1952 s 40 (repealed); and they now have effect as if made under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 48 (see PARA 974 ante).

7 For these purposes, a vehicle or aircraft is deemed not to be principally kept in the United Kingdom if during the two years immediately preceding the date of importation of the vehicle or aircraft it has been present in the United Kingdom for less than either a total of 365 days or such greater number of days as the Commissioners may in special circumstances allow: Temporary Importation (Commercial Vehicles and Aircraft) Regulations 1961, SI 1961/1523, reg 9(b).

8 For these purposes, an importer is deemed not to keep a vehicle or aircraft principally in the United Kingdom if he has kept in the United Kingdom during the two years immediately preceding the date of importation of the vehicle or aircraft in question any other vehicle or aircraft which has been delivered without payment of duty under the Temporary Importation (Commercial Vehicles and Aircraft) Regulations 1961, SI 1961/1523 (see PARA 987 et seq post) or under the Commercial Vehicles (Temporary Importation) Regulations 1952, SI 1952/2222 (revoked) for an aggregate period of less than either a total of 365 days or such greater number of days as the Commissioners may in special circumstances allow: Temporary Importation (Commercial Vehicles and Aircraft) Regulations 1961, SI 1961/1523, reg 9(c).

PAYMENT OF DUTY/(E) Deferment of Duty on the Temporary Importation of Vehicles, Aircraft and related Spare Parts/987. Items to be produced or provided by importer.

987. Items to be produced or provided by importer.

The importer must at the time of importation:

- 2543 (1) produce the vehicle¹ or aircraft² to the officer³ for inspection;
- 2544 (2) produce to the officer all documents⁴ in his possession which relate to the ownership or foreign registration of the vehicle or aircraft or which in the opinion of the officer might affect the entitlement to delivery of the vehicle or aircraft without payment of duty;
- 2545 (3) if, and as, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs require, give security for payment of the duty and for compliance with the relevant provisions:
- 152 16. (a) by producing a carnet⁵ for the vehicle or aircraft issued either to the importer by name, or to another person whose principal place of business⁶ is outside the United Kingdom;
- 17. (b) by entering into a bond with sureties acceptable to the officer; or
- 18. (c) by depositing such sum of money or giving such other security as the officer may require;
- 153 2546 (4) furnish to the officer such documents in such form and containing such particulars as the officer may require⁷.

1 For the meaning of 'vehicle' see PARA 986 note 1 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'aircraft' see PARA 986 note 2 ante.

3 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'officer' means the proper officer of Revenue and Customs: Temporary Importation (Commercial Vehicles and Aircraft) Regulations 1961, SI 1961/1523, reg 10 (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(2), (7)). For the meaning of 'proper officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'document' for these purposes see PARA 1172 post.

5 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'carnet' means a carnet de passages en douane or a triptyque which is issued by an association belonging to the Fédération Internationale de l'Automobile, the Alliance Internationale de Tourisme or the Fédération Aéronautique Internationale, and which is covered by a guarantee given to the Commissioners by an approved association established in the United Kingdom: Temporary Importation (Commercial Vehicles and Aircraft) Regulations 1961, SI 1961/1523, reg 10. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' for these purposes see PARA 986 note 3 ante. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

6 For the meaning of 'principal place of business' see PARA 986 note 4 ante.

PAYMENT OF DUTY/(E) Deferment of Duty on the Temporary Importation of Vehicles, Aircraft and related Spare Parts/988. Restrictions on use of vehicle or aircraft.

988. Restrictions on use of vehicle or aircraft.

Save as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may allow, the vehicle or aircraft² while in the United Kingdom³:

- 2547 (1) must not be, or be offered to be, lent, sold, pledged, hired, given away, exchanged or otherwise disposed of, and must not be used for the purpose of picking up passengers⁴ or goods at any place within the United Kingdom for conveyance to another place within the United Kingdom;
- 2548 (2) must be operated and used only by or on behalf of the owner or operator of the vehicle or aircraft or other person in charge thereof at the time of its importation or by other persons whose principal place of business⁵ is outside the United Kingdom who are expressly authorised in writing by the owner or operator of the vehicle or aircraft to operate and use the vehicle or aircraft;
- 2549 (3) must not be operated or used by, or in the service of, any other person and, in particular, any person whose principal place of business is in the United Kingdom⁶.

PAYMENT OF DUTY/(E) Deferment of Duty on the Temporary Importation of Vehicles, Aircraft and related Spare Parts/989. Re-exportation.

989. Re-exportation.

The vehicle¹ or aircraft² must be re-exported from the United Kingdom³:

- 2550 (1) in the case of a vehicle or aircraft delivered on importation on production of a carnet⁴, before the expiration of the period of validity of the carnet; or
- 2551 (2) before the expiration of three months from the date of importation; or
- 2552 (3) as soon as the purpose of the journey⁵ has been served, whichever is the earliest date, or in any case within such period as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may allow⁶.

The importer must at the time of re-exportation:

- 2553 (a) produce the vehicle or aircraft and any relevant import documents to the officer⁷; and
- 2554 (b) give such additional information and make such declaration relating to the vehicle or aircraft and the circumstances of its use in the United Kingdom as the officer may require⁸.

PAYMENT OF DUTY/(E) Deferment of Duty on the Temporary Importation of Vehicles, Aircraft and related Spare Parts/990. Spare parts and accessories of vehicles.

990. Spare parts and accessories of vehicles.

If any spare parts or accessories of a vehicle¹ are imported into any part of the United Kingdom other than the Isle of Man by or on behalf of a person whose principal place of business is outside the United Kingdom², and the importer satisfies the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that:

- 2555 (1) the spare parts or accessories are imported solely for the purpose of being incorporated in, or used with, a vehicle which has been delivered without payment of duty³ and will be re-exported in, or with, the vehicle before the expiration of the specified period⁴ which is applicable to that vehicle; and
- 2556 (2) the relevant requirements⁵ and such other conditions as may be imposed by the Commissioners are and will be complied with, such spare parts or accessories may be delivered without payment of duty; and duty is not payable so long as the Commissioners continue to be so satisfied⁶.

991. Restrictions on use of spare parts or accessories of vehicles.

The importer must:

- 2557 (1) at the time of importation of the spare parts or accessories, if the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ so require, deposit, in accordance with the officer's² directions, such sum of money for securing the duty and compliance with the relevant requirements³, and produce such documents and give such information, as the officer may require;
 - 2558 (2) use the spare parts or accessories solely for incorporation in, or with, the vehicle⁴;
 - 2559 (3) re-export the spare parts or accessories in, or with, the vehicle before the expiration of the specified period⁵ which is applicable to the vehicle; and
 - 2560 (4) at the time of re-exportation, unless the Commissioners otherwise permit, produce to the officer all used or defective parts or accessories as have been displaced during the incorporation in, or use with, the vehicle by the imported spare parts or accessories and:
- 154
- 19. (a) re-export such displaced parts or accessories; or
 - 20. (b) destroy them under such conditions as the Commissioners may specify; or
 - 21. (c) if the Commissioners so permit, abandon them to the Crown⁶.

993. Forfeiture of goods improperly imported.

Where:

- 2563 (1) except as provided by or under the Customs and Excise Acts 1979¹, any imported goods², being goods chargeable on their importation with customs or excise duty, are, without payment of that duty:
- 156
22. (a) unshipped in any port³;
23. (b) unloaded from any aircraft in the United Kingdom⁴;
24. (c) unloaded from any vehicle in, or otherwise brought across the boundary⁵ into, Northern Ireland; or
25. (d) removed from their place of importation or from any approved wharf⁶, examination station⁷ or transit shed⁸; or
- 157
- 2564 (2) any goods are imported, landed or unloaded⁹ contrary to any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force with respect thereto under or by virtue of any enactment; or
- 2565 (3) any goods, being goods chargeable with any duty or goods the importation of which is for the time being prohibited or restricted by or under any enactment, are found, whether before or after the unloading thereof, to have been concealed in any manner on board any ship¹⁰ or aircraft or, while in Northern Ireland, in any vehicle; or
- 2566 (4) any goods are imported concealed in a container¹¹ holding goods of a different description; or
- 2567 (5) any imported goods are found, whether before or after delivery, not to correspond with the entry¹² made thereof; or
- 2568 (6) any imported goods are concealed or packed in any manner appearing to be intended to deceive an officer¹³, those goods are liable to forfeiture¹⁴.

Where, however, any goods, the importation of which is for the time being prohibited or restricted by or under any enactment, are on their importation:

- 2569 (i) reported as intended for exportation in the same ship, aircraft or vehicle; or
- 2570 (ii) entered for transit or transshipment¹⁵; or
- 2571 (iii) entered to be warehoused¹⁶ for exportation or for use as stores¹⁷, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may, if they see fit, permit the goods to be dealt with accordingly¹⁸.

Goods infringing an intellectual property right which correspond to the description of goods contained in a decision granting an application for action¹⁹ are, during the period specified in the decision, liable to forfeiture in specified²⁰ situations²¹.

The following provisions apply to goods¹ of the following descriptions, that is to say:

- 2572 (1) goods chargeable with a duty which has not been paid; and
- 2573 (2) goods the importation, landing or unloading of which is for the time being prohibited or restricted by or under any enactment².

If any person with intent to defraud Her Majesty of any such duty or to evade³ any such prohibition or restriction as is mentioned in head (2) above:

- 2574 (a) unships or lands in any port or unloads from any aircraft in the United Kingdom⁴ or from any vehicle⁵ in Northern Ireland any such goods, or assists or is otherwise concerned in such unshipping, landing or unloading; or
- 2575 (b) removes from their place of importation or from any approved wharf⁶, examination station⁷, transit shed⁸ or customs and excise station⁹ any such goods or assists or is otherwise concerned in such removal, he is guilty of an offence and may be arrested¹⁰. If any person imports¹¹ or is concerned in importing any goods contrary to any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force under or by virtue of any enactment with respect to those goods, whether or not the goods are unloaded, and does so with intent to evade the prohibition or restriction, he is guilty of an offence and may be arrested¹². A person guilty of an offence under the above provisions¹³ is liable to a penalty¹⁴.

If any person:

- 2576 (i) imports or causes to be imported any goods concealed in a container¹⁵ holding goods of a different description; or
- 2577 (ii) directly or indirectly imports or causes to be imported or entered¹⁶ any goods found, whether before or after delivery, not to correspond with the entry made thereof, he is liable to a penalty¹⁷.

In any case where a person would, apart from this provision, be guilty of:

- 2578 (A) an offence under the above provisions in connection with the importation of goods contrary to a prohibition or restriction; and he is not guilty of the offence mentioned in head (A) above¹⁸.
- 2579 (B) a corresponding offence under the enactment or other instrument imposing the prohibition or restriction, being an offence for which a fine or other penalty is expressly provided by that enactment or other instrument,

Such a person is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding seven years or a penalty of any amount, or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a penalty of the prescribed sum or of three times the value of the goods, whichever is the greater, or to both: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 50(4) (as so amended). As to valuation of the goods see PARA 1185 post.

In the case of an offence under s 50(2) or (3) (as amended) (see the text and notes 3-12 supra) in connection with a prohibition or restriction on importation having effect by virtue of the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971 s 3 (see MEDICINAL PRODUCTS AND DRUGS vol 30(2) (Reissue) PARA 248), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 50(4) (as amended) has effect subject to the modifications specified in Sch 1 (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46; and by the Controlled Drugs (Penalties) Act 1985 s 1(2)): Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 50(5).

In the case of an offence under s 50(2) or (3) (as amended) committed in Great Britain in connection with a prohibition or restriction on the importation of any weapon or ammunition that is of a kind mentioned in the Firearms Act 1968 s 5(1)(a), (ab), (aba), (ac), (ad), (ae), (af) or (c) or (1A)(a) (as added and amended) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 661), or any such offence committed in connection with the prohibition contained in the Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 s 20 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARA 551), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s

50(4)(b) has effect as if for the words 'seven years' there were substituted the words 'ten years': s 50(5A) (added by the Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 s 23(1)(b); and substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 293(1), (2)).

In the case of an offence under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 50(2) or (3) (as amended) in connection with the prohibition contained in the Import of Seal Skins Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2686, reg 2 (prohibition on the commercial importation of raw, tanned or dressed fur-skins of relevant seals, including fur-skins of such seals assembled in plates, crosses or similar forms, and articles made wholly or partly of fur-skins of relevant seals: see ANIMALS vol 2 (2008) PARA 1084), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 50(4) (as amended) has effect as if: (1) s 50(4)(a) provided for a person to be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both; and (2) in s 50(4)(b) for the words 'seven years' there were substituted the words 'two years': s 50(5B) (added by the Import of Seal Skins Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2686, reg 4(1)(b)). 995. Special provisions as to proof in Northern Ireland.

If goods¹ of any class or description chargeable with duty on their importation from the Republic of Ireland are found in the possession² or control of any person in Northern Ireland, any officer³ or any person having by law in Northern Ireland the powers of an officer may require that person to furnish proof that the goods have not been imported from the Republic of Ireland or that the duty chargeable on their importation has been paid⁴.

If proof of any matter is required to be so furnished in relation to any goods but is not furnished to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁵, the goods are deemed, for the purposes of proceedings under the customs and excise Acts⁶, to have been unlawfully imported from the Republic of Ireland without payment of duty, unless the contrary is proved⁷.

997. Copyright.

The owner of the copyright in a published literary, dramatic or musical work may give notice in writing to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that he is the owner of the copyright in the work and that he requests the Commissioners, for a period specified in the notice, to treat as prohibited goods printed copies of the work which are infringing copies¹.

The owner of the copyright in a sound recording or film may give notice in writing to the Commissioners that he is the owner of the copyright in the work, that infringing copies of the work are expected to arrive in the United Kingdom at a time and a place specified in the notice, and that he requests the Commissioners to treat the copies as prohibited goods².

Where such a notice is in force, the importation of goods to which the notice relates, otherwise than by a person for his private and domestic use, is prohibited; but a person is not by reason of the prohibition liable to any penalty other than forfeiture of the goods³.

(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION

(i) In general

A. TIME OF EXPORTATION

999. Time of exportation.

For the purposes of the customs and excise Acts¹, the time of exportation of any goods from the United Kingdom² is deemed to be³:

2580 (1) where the goods are exported by sea or air, the time when the goods are shipped⁴ for exportation;

2581 (2) where the goods are exported by land, the time when they are cleared by the proper officer⁵ at the last customs and excise station⁶ on their way to the boundary⁷.

In the case of goods of a class or description with respect to the exportation of which any prohibition or restriction is for the time being in force under or by virtue of any enactment which are exported by sea or air, the time of exportation is deemed to be the time when the exporting ship or aircraft departs from the last port⁸ or customs and excise airport⁹ at which it is cleared before departing for a destination outside the United Kingdom¹⁰.

Goods exported by means of a pipeline¹¹ are treated as exported at the time when they are charged into that pipeline for exportation¹².

A ship is deemed to have departed from a port at the time when the ship leaves the limits of that port¹³.

Where any goods are exported through the Channel Tunnel, the time of exportation of any goods so exported is deemed to be the time when they are loaded onto the exporting vehicle¹⁴. However, in the case of goods of a class or description with respect to the exportation of which any prohibition or restriction is for the time being in force under or by virtue of any enactment and which are exported by vehicle through the Channel Tunnel, the time of exportation is deemed to be the time when the exporting vehicle departs from the last customs approved area¹⁵ at which goods were loaded onto it for exportation¹⁶.

1000. Operative date for Community purposes.

The operative date for determining whether any, and if so what, levy or other charge provided for under any Community provision governing the exportation of goods¹ is due in respect of the goods and for applying any other such provision including, in particular, any provision whereby any refund or relief is due in respect of the goods is² such date as is:

- 2582 (1) in a case where an entry or a document relating to the goods³ is delivered, the date of acceptance of the entry or document;
- 2583 (2) in the case of goods particulars of which are entered in a record⁴, the day entry is made;
- 2584 (3) in the case of goods in relation to which substituted requirements are imposed⁵, such date as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may specify;
- 2585 (4) in any other case, the date on which the goods are shipped or exported by land or, if that date cannot be established to the Commissioners' satisfaction, such date as they may specify⁶.

At the time when the proper officer⁷ accepts an entry⁸, he may direct that the operative date for these purposes is to be the date on which the entry was furnished by the exporter⁹ to the loader¹⁰.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. As to the application of these provisions to hovercraft see PARA 897 ante; and as to the application of these provisions to pipelines see PARA 898 ante.

Where a substituted entry is delivered under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 54(2) (as substituted) (see PARA 1007 post) or s 55(3) (as substituted) (see PARA 1008 post), the entry referred to in s 58D(2)(a) (as substituted) (see head (1) in the text) and s 58D(3) (as substituted) (see the text and notes 7-10 infra) is the original entry: s 58D(4) (as so added).

In s 58D (as added and amended) any reference to goods shipped or shipped for exportation is to be construed as including a reference to goods loaded onto a vehicle for exportation through the Channel Tunnel: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 9 (amended by SI 1993/1813).

7 For the meaning of 'proper officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante.

8 Ie in pursuance of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 57(1) (as substituted): see PARA 1010 post.

9 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'exporter', in relation to goods for exportation or for use as stores, includes the shipper of the goods and any person performing in relation to an aircraft functions corresponding with those of a shipper: ibid s 1(1). Anything required by the Customs and Excise Acts 1979 to be done by the exporter of any goods may, subject to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 166(1) (see PARA 904 ante) and except where the Commissioners otherwise require, be done on his behalf by an agent: s 166(2). B. MEANING OF 'DUTIABLE OR RESTRICTED GOODS'

1001. Meaning of 'dutiable or restricted goods'.

'Dutiable or restricted goods' are¹ goods² of the following descriptions, that is to say:

- 2586 (1) goods from warehouse³, other than goods which have been kept, without being warehoused, in a warehouse⁴;
- 2587 (2) transit goods⁵;
- 2588 (3) any other goods chargeable with any duty which has not been paid;
- 2589 (4) drawback goods⁶;
- 2590 (5) goods with respect to the exportation of which any restriction is for the time being in force under or by virtue of any enactment⁷;
- 2591 (6) any goods required by or under any provision of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979, other than a provision relating to the control of exportation⁸, or by or under a provision of any other Act, to be entered before exportation or before shipment⁹ for exportation or as stores¹⁰;
- 2592 (7) goods incorporating or resulting from the use of inward processing goods¹¹ or any goods which, following a determination by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, are to be treated for customs purposes as inward processing goods in substitution for such goods¹².

C. REMOVAL OF GOODS TO THE ISLE OF MAN

1002. Removal of goods from the United Kingdom to the Isle of Man.

Goods¹ removed to the Isle of Man from the United Kingdom are deemed² for the purposes of the customs and excise Acts³ not to be exported from the United Kingdom⁴.

Where goods imported into or produced in the United Kingdom have not borne customs or excise duty and would be chargeable with customs or excise duty if imported into the Isle of Man, the goods are not to be removed from the United Kingdom to the Isle of Man until:

- 2593 (1) they have been cleared for that purpose by the proper officer⁵; and
- 2594 (2) security has been given to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs for the due delivery of the goods at some port, airport or place of security in the Isle of Man approved for customs and excise purposes under the law of the Isle of Man, but head (2) above does not apply if the goods are reported on arrival in the United Kingdom for removal to the Isle of Man in the same ship⁶ or aircraft and in continuance of the same voyage or flight⁷.

Any goods removed from the United Kingdom contrary to the above provisions are liable to forfeiture⁸; and any person concerned in the removal of the goods is liable to a penalty⁹.

D. GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

1003. General requirements.

Except in the case of Community transit goods¹, unless reliance can be placed on simplification procedures², an entry outward is required before goods may be exported³. This is generally provided by the exporter, although the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may direct that it be furnished by the person transporting the goods⁴.

A ship is permitted to leave port, an aircraft is permitted to leave an airport and a vehicle is permitted to depart from a place which is a customs approved area on a journey through the Channel Tunnel to an eventual destination outside the member states only if a clearance outwards is obtained⁵. Restrictions are also imposed on the loading of goods onto ships travelling outside the member states. In general, before loading commences, an entry outward and a certificate of the clearance inward or coastwise of the ship must be given to the proper officer and the prescribed conditions relating to loading must be complied with⁶. Certain dutiable and restricted goods cannot be exported in ships of less than 40 tons register⁷. Restrictions are also placed on the loading of goods or the boarding of passengers on aircraft⁸. In addition, a manifest describing the cargo in a ship must generally be given to the proper officer within 14 days after the clearance outwards of a ship⁹. Special provisions apply to explosives¹⁰ and stores¹¹.

E. POWER TO MAKE REGULATIONS

1004. General power to make regulations as to exportation etc.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may make regulations:

- 2595 (1) regulating with respect to ships¹ and aircraft respectively the loading and making waterborne for loading of goods² for exportation or as stores³ and the embarking of passengers for a destination outside the United Kingdom and the Isle of Man;
- 2596 (2) prescribing the procedure to be followed and the documents to be produced and information to be furnished by any person conveying goods out of Northern Ireland by land;
- 2597 (3) requiring delivery of a manifest containing such particulars as the Commissioners may direct of all cargo carried in an exporting ship and, if the Commissioners so direct, such other documents relating to the cargo as are specified in the direction;
- 2598 (4) requiring delivery of a certificate of the fuel shipped in any ship departing from a port⁴ for a place outside the United Kingdom and the Isle of Man⁵.

If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation so made, he is liable to a penalty; and any goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture⁶.

As to the making of regulations see PARA 1170 post.

Any decision which is made under or for the purposes of any regulations under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 66 (as amended) and is: (1) a decision as to whether or not any permission is to be given for the purpose of dispensing with any of the requirements of any such regulations; (2) a decision consisting in the imposition or variation of any such requirement in exercise of any power conferred by any such regulations; or (3) a decision as to whether or not any approval, authority or permission is to be given or granted for the purpose of determining the manner in which any requirement imposed by or under any such regulations is to be performed, is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see the Finance Act 1994 ss 14(1)(d), (2)-(7), 15, 16 (as amended), Sch 5 para 2(3); and PARAS 1240, 1245, 1252 et seq post.

In the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 66(1) (as amended) the reference to aircraft is to be construed as including a reference to vehicles leaving the United Kingdom through the Channel Tunnel: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 15.

6 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 66(2) (amended by the Finance Act 1981 s 10(2), (4), Sch 7 para 5; and by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). Such a person is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of level 4 on the standard scale, or, in the case of a contravention of or a failure to comply with a regulation made under head (2) in the text, a penalty of level 5 on the standard scale: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 66(2) (as so amended). As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post; and as to forfeiture see PARA 1155 et seq post.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION/(i) In general/E. POWER TO MAKE REGULATIONS/1005. Regulations imposing restrictions on putting export goods alongside for loading.

1005. Regulations imposing restrictions on putting export goods alongside for loading.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may make regulations:

- 2599 (1) prohibiting, as from such date as is specified in the regulations, the putting of any goods which are required to be entered outwards before shipment¹ for exportation² alongside any ship³ or aircraft for loading for exportation, except under a written authority in that behalf obtained in accordance with, and in such form as is specified in, the regulations; and
- 2600 (2) requiring any person putting goods alongside a ship or aircraft under one or more such authorities to indorse the authority or each of the authorities with such particulars as are specified in the regulations, and to deliver the indorsed authority or authorities, together with a written statement of the number of authorities delivered, to the proper officer⁴ within such period as is so specified⁵.

Such regulations may make different provision for different circumstances⁶. The Commissioners may relax any requirement so imposed as they think fit in relation to any goods⁷.

Any person who contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation so made is liable to a penalty⁸.

1 For the meaning of 'shipment' see PARA 428 note 19 ante.

2 le under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 53 (as substituted and amended): see PARA 1006 post. For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'ship' see PARA 897 note 10 ante.

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 59(1), (2) (s 59(1) amended by the Finance Act 1981 s 10(2), (4), Sch 7 para 3). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. At the date at which this volume states the law no such regulations had been made. As to the application of these provisions to hovercraft see PARA 897 ante; as to the application of these provisions to pipelines see PARA 898 ante; and as to the application of these provisions to certain Crown aircraft see PARA 899 ante.

Section 59 (as amended) does not come into force until such day as the Commissioners may appoint by order made by statutory instrument: s 59(7). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made.

For these purposes, in construing the references to shipment for exportation and to loading for exportation, regard is to be had to the Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 9 (as amended) (see PARA 1000 note 6 ante); and accordingly references in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 59(2) to a ship or aircraft are to be construed as including references to a vehicle: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 12A (added by SI 1993/1813).

6 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 59(2). See also note 5 supra. The Commissioners may relax any requirement imposed under s 59(2) as they think fit in relation to any goods: s 59(5). Without prejudice to s 3 (see PARA 898 ante), s 59(2) applies to the charging of goods into a pipeline for exportation as it applies to the putting of goods alongside a ship or aircraft for loading for exportation: s 59(4). For the meaning of 'pipeline' see PARA 562 note 1 ante.

7 Ibid s 59(3). See also note 5 supra.

8 Ibid s 59(6) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). See also note 5 supra. Such a person is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of level 3 on the standard scale: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 59(6) (as so amended). MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION/(ii) Entry Outward; Authentication of Community Customs Documents/A. ENTRY OUTWARD/1006. Entry outwards of goods.

(ii) Entry Outward; Authentication of Community Customs Documents

A. ENTRY OUTWARD

1006. Entry outwards of goods.

Before any goods¹, other than Community transit goods², are exported or shipped as stores³ for use on a voyage or flight to an eventual destination outside the United Kingdom⁴ and the Isle of Man, there must⁵ be delivered by the exporter⁶ to the proper officer⁷ an entry outwards of the goods in such form and manner, containing such particulars and accompanied by such documents as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may direct⁸.

Except with the permission of the Commissioners, no entry is to be delivered before the goods have been presented to the proper officer⁹.

Where the Commissioners permit an entry to be delivered before presentation of the goods, the goods must be presented to the proper officer within such time as the Commissioners may allow; and, if the goods are not so presented, the entry is to be treated as not having been delivered¹⁰.

Goods may be treated as presented to the proper officer if notice is given, in such form and manner as the Commissioners may direct, to the proper officer of the presence of the goods at a place designated by him¹¹.

An entry in respect of dutiable or restricted goods¹² is not to be accepted unless security is given to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that the goods will, within such time as the Commissioners think reasonable, be exported and discharged at the destination for which they are entered or which is otherwise specified by the exporter or, in the case of goods for use as stores, that they will be duly so used or otherwise accounted for to the satisfaction of the Commissioners¹³.

Acceptance of an entry by the proper officer must be signified in such manner as the Commissioners may direct; and, once acceptance of an entry in respect of any goods has been signified, the goods must not be removed from the place where they were at the time of acceptance without the permission of the proper officer¹⁴.

The Commissioners may relax all or any of the requirements imposed by the above provisions as they think fit in relation to any goods and, if they do so, may impose substituted requirements¹⁵.

If any dutiable or restricted goods of which entry is required under the above provisions are shipped for exportation or as stores or are waterborne for such shipment before entry has been delivered and accepted, the goods are liable to forfeiture; and, where the shipping or making waterborne is done with fraudulent intent¹⁶, any person concerned therein with knowledge¹⁷ of that intent is guilty of an offence and liable to a penalty, and may be arrested¹⁸.

If any goods which are not dutiable or restricted goods and of which entry is required under the above provisions are exported or shipped for exportation or as stores before entry has been delivered and accepted, the exporter is liable to a penalty¹⁹.

Any person who removes any goods in contravention of the above provisions²⁰ or contravenes or fails to comply with any requirement imposed on him²¹ is liable to a penalty²².

If any dutiable or restricted goods are found not to correspond with any entry in respect of them delivered under the above provisions, they are liable to forfeiture²³.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'Community transit goods':

.7 (1) in relation to imported goods, means: (a) goods which have been imported under the internal or external Community transit procedure (see PARA 108 et seq ante) for transit through the United Kingdom with a view to exportation where the importation was and the transit and exportation are to be part of one Community transit operation; or (b) goods which have, at the port or airport at which they were imported, been placed under the internal or external Community transit procedure for transit through the United Kingdom with a view to exportation where the transit and exportation are to be part of one Community transit operation;

.8 (2) in relation to goods for exportation, means: (a) goods which have been imported as mentioned in head (1)(a) supra and are to be exported as part of the Community transit operation in the course of which they were imported; or (b) goods which have, under the internal or external Community transit procedure, transited the United Kingdom from the port or airport at which they were imported and are to be exported as part of the Community transit operation which commenced at that port or airport, and for the purposes of head (1)(a) supra the Isle of Man is to be treated as if it were part of the United Kingdom: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1) (amended by the Isle of Man Act 1979 s 13, Sch 1 para 2). For the meaning of 'port' see PARA 893 note 10 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'shipped' see PARA 428 note 19 ante. For the meaning of 'stores' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

1007. Acceptance of incomplete entry.

The proper officer¹ may, if he thinks fit, accept an entry which does not in every respect comply with the provisions relating to the entry of outward goods²; but he must not do so in a case in which the goods have not been presented³.

Where an entry is so accepted, the exporter⁴ must, within such time as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may allow, deliver to the proper officer such of the particulars or documents as were required to be, but were not, contained in or delivered with the entry or, if the proper officer so permits, deliver to him a substituted entry complying in all respects with the provisions relating to the entry of outward goods⁵. If any person fails to comply with that requirement, he is liable to a penalty⁶.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION/(ii) Entry Outward; Authentication of Community Customs Documents/A. ENTRY OUTWARD/1008. Correction and cancellation of entry.

1008. Correction and cancellation of entry.

The exporter¹ may correct any of the particulars contained in an entry of goods² after it has been accepted if:

- 2601 (1) the appropriate authority³ has not been given for the removal of the goods; and
- 2602 (2) the exporter has not been notified by an officer⁴ that the goods are to be examined; and
- 2603 (3) the entry has not been found by an officer to be incorrect⁵.

Particulars in an entry may be corrected after the giving of such authority as is mentioned in head (1) above if they relate to a matter which can be established in the absence of the goods⁶. The proper officer may permit or require any correction so allowed to be made by the delivery of a substituted entry⁷.

An entry which has been accepted may be cancelled at the request of the exporter if he delivers to the proper officer all copies of the entry and such other documents delivered to him on or in connection with the entry as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may require and shows to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that:

- 2604 (a) the goods are in the United Kingdom and the arrangements for exporting them have been cancelled; and
- 2605 (b) any payment to which he is entitled from the Commissioners or under a Community instrument⁸ by virtue of exporting the goods has been repaid or will not be paid⁹.

An entry must not, however, be so cancelled: (i) in a case where the exporter is informed by an officer that the goods are to be examined, until the examination has taken place; and (ii) until the exporter has complied with any requirements imposed by the Commissioners as to the movement of the goods in respect of which the entry was made to such places as they may specify¹⁰.

Where an entry in respect of goods which are not dutiable or restricted goods¹¹ is so cancelled, the exporter must, within such period as may be specified by directions given by the Commissioners, furnish them with such information and such documents relating to the goods as may be specified in the directions¹². Any person who contravenes or fails to comply with that requirement is liable to a penalty¹³.

1009. Failure to export.

Where any goods¹ in respect of which an entry has been accepted have not been shipped or exported by land, an officer² may by notice given to the exporter³ require the goods to be exported within such time as is specified in the notice; and, if the notice is not complied with, the entry is treated as cancelled⁴.

Where, in the case of any such goods as are mentioned above which are due to be loaded into a ship⁵ or aircraft specified in the entry or by the person having charge of them at the port⁶ or customs and excise airport⁷ of intended shipment⁸, no notice has been so served and the goods have not been shipped by the time the ship or aircraft departs from the port or airport at which it has been cleared by the proper officer⁹, then: (1) the entry is treated as cancelled at that time; and (2) if the goods are dutiable or restricted goods¹⁰, they are liable to forfeiture unless notice of the failure to export them is given to the proper officer immediately after that time¹¹.

Where an entry in respect of dutiable or restricted goods is treated as cancelled under these provisions:

- 2606 (a) if the exporter would have been entitled to a payment of any sum from the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or under a Community instrument¹² by virtue of exporting the goods, he must take such steps as the Commissioners may direct to ensure that the sum is not paid to him or, if it has already been paid, he must, unless the Commissioners agree to his retaining it, repay it within seven days or such longer period as the Commissioners may allow;
- 2607 (b) the exporter must, within such period as may be specified by directions given by the Commissioners, furnish them with such information and such documents as may be specified in the directions; and
- 2608 (c) if the goods have not been forfeited under head (2) above, they must be warehoused¹³ or, if the Commissioners so require, must be moved to such place as the Commissioners may specify¹⁴, and any person who contravenes or fails to comply with that requirement is liable to a penalty, and the goods are liable to forfeiture¹⁵.

Where an entry in respect of goods which are not dutiable or restricted goods is so treated as cancelled, the exporter must, within such period as may be specified by directions given by the Commissioners, furnish them with such information and such documents relating to the goods as may be specified in the directions¹⁶. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION/(ii) Entry Outward; Authentication of Community Customs Documents/A. ENTRY OUTWARD/1010. Delivery of entry by owner of exporting ship, aircraft or train.

1010. Delivery of entry by owner of exporting ship, aircraft or train.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may direct that any entry required to be delivered in respect of any goods² which are to be shipped or exported in a ship³ or aircraft and the documents which are required to accompany it must, instead of being delivered by the exporter⁴, be delivered by the loader (that is to say the owner of the ship or aircraft or a person appointed by him); and such delivery is treated⁵ as delivery by the exporter⁶.

The proper officer⁷ must not accept an entry which is delivered in pursuance of the above provisions unless the goods in respect of which the entry is made are under the control of the loader at the time of the delivery⁸.

Directions under the above provisions may impose on the loader requirements as to:

- 2609 (1) the place, time and manner in which entries and any documents required⁹ are to be delivered;
- 2610 (2) the production to the proper officer of such documents as may be specified in the directions; and
- 2611 (3) the information to be supplied to the proper officer and the form and manner in which the information is to be supplied¹⁰.

Directions under the above provisions may also:

- 2612 (a) require that the goods in respect of which the entry is to be made are not to be loaded into the ship or aircraft in which they are to be exported without the authority of the proper officer¹¹;
- 2613 (b) authorise an officer to relax all or any of the requirements imposed by the directions and, if he does so, to impose substituted requirements¹².

If a person without reasonable excuse fails to comply with any requirement imposed on him under the above provisions, he is liable to a penalty¹³.

1011. Simplified entry procedure.

If the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ think fit so to direct, goods which are not dutiable or restricted goods² may be shipped for exportation without entry³ if:

- 2614 (1) the exporter⁴ is registered in a register of exporters maintained by the Commissioners for these purposes; and
- 2615 (2) before the goods are shipped, the conditions mentioned below are satisfied⁵.

The Commissioners may for these purposes: (a) enter in a register maintained by them any person applying for registration and appearing to them to be concerned in the exportation of goods and to satisfy such requirements for registration as they may think fit to impose; (b) give directions imposing requirements on registered persons including, in particular, requirements as to the keeping of records and accounts and the giving of access to them; (c) assign to registered persons numbers for use under these provisions; and (d) suspend or cancel the registration of any person if it appears to them that he has failed to comply with any direction so given⁶ or to deliver a specification of the goods⁷ or that there is other reasonable cause for suspension or cancellation⁸.

The conditions referred to in head (2) above are:

- 2616 (i) that the goods are presented to the proper officer⁹;
- 2617 (ii) that the exporter delivers to the proper officer and the proper officer accepts such document relating to the goods as the directions may require bearing an indorsement which contains a number assigned to the exporter under these provisions; and
- 2618 (iii) that the exporter complies with such other requirements as the directions may impose, and goods may be treated as presented to the proper officer if notice is given, in such form and manner as the Commissioners may direct, to the proper officer of the presence of the goods at a place designated by him¹⁰.

The document referred to in head (ii) above must be delivered in such manner as the directions may require, and acceptance of that document by the proper officer must be signified in such manner as the Commissioners may direct; and, once acceptance of a document relating to any goods has been signified, the goods must not be removed from the place where they were at the time of acceptance without the permission of the proper officer¹¹.

Directions under the above provisions may contain provision enabling the Commissioners to exclude shipments¹² of goods from their operation in such cases as the Commissioners think fit by giving notice to that effect in accordance with the directions¹³.

The Commissioners may relax any requirement imposed under the above provisions as they think fit in relation to any goods and, if they do so, may impose substituted requirements¹⁴.

If any person without reasonable excuse fails to comply with a requirement imposed on him by or under the above provisions, he is liable to a penalty¹⁵.

If any person, for the purpose of enabling goods to be shipped in accordance with the above provisions, furnishes any documents bearing a number assigned thereunder which is not one for the time being assigned to him or to another person who has consented to his furnishing the document bearing that number, he is liable to a penalty¹⁶.

1012. Local export control.

If the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs think fit so to direct, goods¹ may be shipped for exportation or exported by land without entry² if the exporter³ is registered in a register maintained by the Commissioners for these purposes and the following conditions are satisfied:

- 2619 (1) that, before the goods are removed from the approved premises, the exporter delivers to the proper officer⁴, at such time and place as he may require, a notice of the intention to remove the goods, being a notice in such form and containing such particulars as may be required by the directions and on such day as the proper officer may appoint, not being earlier than the day that notice is delivered or later than the day the goods are removed, the exporter enters such particulars of the goods and of such other matters as may be required by the directions in a record maintained by him at such place as the proper officer may require; and
- 2620 (2) that, before the goods are shipped for exportation or exported by land, the exporter delivers to the proper officer such document relating to the goods as the directions may require bearing an indorsement which contains a number assigned to the exporter under these provisions and complies with such other requirements as the directions may impose⁵.

The Commissioners may for these purposes: (a) maintain a register of exporters whose premises are approved by the Commissioners⁶ for the examination of goods intended for export; (b) enter in the register any such persons applying for registration who satisfy such requirements for registration as the Commissioners may think fit to impose; (c) give directions imposing requirements on registered persons including, in particular, requirements as to the keeping of records and accounts and the giving of access to them; (d) assign to registered persons numbers for use under these provisions; and (e) suspend or cancel the registration of any person if it appears to them that he has failed to comply with any direction so given or with the relevant statutory requirements⁷ or that there is other reasonable cause for suspension or cancellation⁸.

The directions may impose requirements as to:

- 2621 (i) the manner in which the notice referred to in head (1) above is to be delivered and the form it should take;
- 2622 (ii) the manner and form in which the record referred to in head (1) above should be maintained; and
- 2623 (iii) the place at which and the manner in which the document referred to in head (2) above should be delivered, and the conditions mentioned in heads (1) and (2) above are not to be treated as satisfied unless any requirements which are so imposed are complied with⁹.

The Commissioners may, in addition to any exporter within head (a) above, enter in the register any person who applies to them to be registered and satisfies them that the exporter is a company under the applicant's control or that the exporter has agreed to the registration of the applicant in addition to the exporter¹⁰.

Where both an exporter and another person are so registered, the proper officer must direct which of them is to do the things mentioned in heads (1) and (2) above and deliver a specification of the goods¹¹; and the registration of both of them may be cancelled or suspended under head (e) above if it appears to the Commissioners that either of them has failed as mentioned in that head¹².

The Commissioners may relax any requirement imposed under the above provisions as they think fit in relation to any goods and, if they do so, may impose substituted requirements¹³.

The Commissioners may¹⁴ direct that, in relation to goods of a description specified in the directions which are shipped for exportation or exported by land by an exporter of a description so specified, head (a) above is to have effect subject to certain modifications¹⁵.

If any person without reasonable excuse fails to comply with a requirement imposed on him by or under the above provisions, he is liable to a penalty¹⁶.

If any person for the purpose of enabling goods to be shipped in accordance with the above provisions furnishes any documents bearing a number assigned thereunder which is not one for the time being assigned to him or to another person who has consented to his furnishing the document bearing that number, he is liable to a penalty¹⁷.

3 For the meaning of 'exporter', in relation to goods for exportation or use as stores, see PARA 1000 note 9 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'proper officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante.

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 58A(1), (3) (s 58A added by the Finance Act 1981 s 10(2), (4), Sch 7 Pt I; and the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 58A(1), (3) amended by the Finance Act 1987 s 8(1), (2)). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. As to the application of these provisions to hovercraft see PARA 897 ante; and as to the application of these provisions to pipelines see PARA 898 ante. As to the giving of directions see PARA 1171 post.

Subject to such modifications as may be specified in the directions, the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 58A (as added and amended) and s 58D (as added and amended) (see PARA 1000 ante) apply in relation to goods which, for the purposes of any Community regulation relating to export refunds or monetary compensatory amounts, are treated as exports as if the supply of the goods were their exportation or, as the case may require, their shipping for exportation: s 58A(1) (as so added and amended). Section 56 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 1009 ante) applies in relation to goods in respect of which particulars have been entered in a record under s 58A(3)(a) (as added) (see head (1) in the text) as it applies in relation to goods in respect of which an entry has been accepted: s 58A(8) (as so added). The local export control procedure enables an exporter to clear goods at his own premises. Its legal basis in Community law is EC Council Regulation 2913/92 (OJ L302, 19.10.92, p 1) (the 'Community Customs Code') art 76 (see PARA 96 ante) and its implementing provisions in EC Commission Regulation 2454/93 (OJ L253, 11.10.93 p 1) arts 253, 264, 265, 283-289. No right of review or appeal is given in relation to decisions under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 58A (as added and amended), although there is such a right in relation to the Community provisions.

For these purposes, references to a person registered under s 58A (as added and amended) do not include references to a person whose registration is for the time being suspended; and, for the purposes of s 58B(6) (as added and amended) (see the text and note 17 infra), a person whose registration is for the time being suspended is to be regarded as not having any number assigned to him: s 58B(7) (s 58B added by the Finance Act 1981 Sch 7 Pt I).

In its application to goods contained in a postal packet, the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 58A (as added and amended) is subject to the modification that for references to 'shipped for exportation or exported by land' and 'shipped' there are to be substituted references to 'posted in the United Kingdom for transmission to any place outside it': Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg

15 Ibid s 58A(7A) (added by the Finance Act 1987 s 8(3)). The modifications are that the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 58A(3)(a) (as added) (see head (1) in the text) is to have effect as if it provided for the following condition, namely that, before the goods are removed from the approved premises, the exporter delivers to the proper officer, at such place as he may require, a notice of the intention to remove the goods, being a notice in such form and containing such particulars as may be required by the directions, and at the time that notice is delivered or immediately thereafter the exporter enters such particulars of the goods and of such other matters as may be required by the directions in a record maintained by him at such place as the proper officer may require, and the proper officer informs the exporter that he consents to the removal of the goods: s 58A(7A) (as so added).

16 Ibid s 58B(5) (as added (see note 5 supra); and amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). Such a person is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of level 4 on the standard scale: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 58B(5) (as so added and amended). As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION/(ii) Entry Outward; Authentication of Community Customs Documents/B. SIMPLIFIED PROCEDURES/1013. Delivery of specification.

1013. Delivery of specification.

Where¹ goods² have been shipped for exportation or exported by land without entry³, the exporter⁴ must deliver to the proper officer⁵ a specification of the goods containing, as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may direct, either the particulars that would have been required to be contained in the entry or such other particulars as may be so directed⁶. The specification may, if the Commissioners permit, be a single specification relating to the goods exported during a particular period and must be delivered at such place and manner and by such time as the Commissioners may allow⁷.

If any person fails to deliver a specification in accordance with the above provisions or delivers a specification which is incorrect and does not correct it within a period of 14 days following delivery, he is liable to a penalty⁸.

In connection with any arrangements approved by the Commissioners for recording particulars of exported goods by computer, they may relax the above requirements⁹ by suspending the obligation to deliver the specifications there mentioned on condition that:

- 2624 (1) the particulars which should otherwise be contained in the specifications, or such of those particulars as the Commissioners may specify, are recorded by computer in accordance with the arrangements; and
- 2625 (2) the particulars so recorded are subsequently delivered to the proper officer within such time as the Commissioners may specify, but subject to such other conditions as they may impose¹⁰.

Goods¹ which are to be exported by means of a pipeline² are to be treated³ as having been presented to the proper officer⁴ when notice of the goods to be exported has been given to the proper officer and accepted by him⁵. Such notice must be given by such person and in such form and manner and must contain such particulars as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may direct⁶.

A ship or aircraft departing from the United Kingdom⁷ which:

- 2626 (1) is within the definition of dutiable or restricted goods⁸; or
- 2627 (2) is a ship built, or aircraft manufactured, in the United Kingdom departing for the first time for a voyage or flight to a place outside the United Kingdom for the purpose of its delivery to a consignee outside the United Kingdom, is to be treated⁹ both as goods shipped for exportation and as the exporting ship or aircraft and, in the case of a ship or aircraft within head (2) above, the owner¹⁰ of the ship or aircraft or, where the owner is outside the United Kingdom, the builder of the ship or the manufacturer of the aircraft is deemed to be the exporter¹¹.

Authentication of Community customs documents.

C. AUTHENTICATION OF COMMUNITY CUSTOMS DOCUMENTS

1015. Authentication of Community customs documents.

In such cases as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may direct, an officer must not authenticate any Community customs document² unless:

- 2628 (1) there is presented with the document an entry relating to the goods³ in question and complying with the statutory requirements⁴ or a document relating to the goods and complying with the statutory requirements⁵ or a document to be used instead of an entry or such a document by virtue of substituted requirements imposed by the Commissioners⁶; and
- 2629 (2) the officer marks the Community customs document and the entry or other document referred to in head (1) above with a registration number allocated by the Commissioners for that purpose⁷.

A person who has obtained an authenticated Community customs document in respect of any goods must surrender it at the office at which it was obtained, together with the entry or other document marked under head (2) above ('the marked export document'), unless:

- 2630 (a) the goods are shipped, or cleared by the proper officer⁸ for export by land, before the end of such period as may be specified by directions given by the Commissioners; and
- 2631 (b) the marked export document is delivered to the proper officer as required by or under the provisions mentioned in head (1) above⁹, and, if a person without reasonable excuse fails to comply with those requirements, he is liable to a penalty¹⁰.

The proper officer may, on an application made to him before the end of the period mentioned in head (a) above, permit the retention of the authenticated Community customs document and the marked export document¹¹.

The proper officer may at any time require a person who has obtained an authenticated Community customs document in respect of any goods to surrender to him that document and the marked export document¹²; and, if a person without reasonable excuse fails to comply with a requirement so imposed, he is liable to a penalty¹³.

1 As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 For the meaning of 'officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante. For these purposes, 'Community customs document' means a document which, in accordance with any Community instrument or any agreement permitted under such an instrument or in accordance with any arrangements made between the Commissioners and any other customs authority: (1) is used to indicate whether or not the goods are Community goods or are subject to duty at a preferential rate in any country with which the Community has an agreement of association; and (2) is required to be authenticated by the customs authorities of the member state from which they are exported: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 58E(6) (s 58E added by the Finance Act 1981 s 10(2), (4), Sch 7 Pt l). 'Community goods' means: (a) goods which satisfy the conditions laid down in the Treaty establishing the European Community (Rome, 25 March 1957; TS 1 (1973); Cmnd 5179) (the 'EC Treaty') arts 9, 10 (now renumbered as arts 23, 24); and (b) goods to which the Treaty establishing the European Coal and Steel Community (Paris, 18 April 1951; TS 16 (1979); Cmnd 7461) applies and which under the terms of that Treaty are in free circulation within the European Coal and Steel Community: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 58E(7) (as so added). Goods to be loaded for exportation to place outside the member states.

(iii) Loading of Goods; Manifests; Embarkation of Passengers; Clearance Outwards

A. SHIPS

1016. Goods to be loaded for exportation to place outside the member states.

Where a ship¹ is to load any goods² at a port³ for exportation to a place outside the member states⁴ or as stores⁵ for use on a voyage to an eventual destination outside those states, the master⁶ of the ship must, before any goods are taken on board that ship at that port, other than goods for exportation loaded in accordance with a stiffening order⁷ issued by the proper officer⁸, deliver to the proper officer:

- 2632 (1) an entry outwards of the ship in such form and manner and containing such particulars as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may direct; and
- 2633 (2) a certificate from the proper officer of the clearance inwards or coastwise⁹ of the ship of its last voyage with cargo; and
- 2634 (3) if the ship has already loaded goods at some other port for exportation or as stores for use as aforesaid or has been cleared in ballast from some other port, the clearance outwards of the ship from that other port¹⁰.

If, on the arrival at any port of a ship carrying goods coastwise from one place in the United Kingdom to another such place, it is desired that the ship should proceed with those goods or any of them to a place outside the member states, entry outwards must be made of that ship, whether or not any other goods are to be loaded at that port, and of any of those goods which are dutiable or restricted goods¹¹ as if the goods were to be loaded for exportation at that port, but any such entry may, subject to such conditions as the Commissioners see fit to impose, be made without the goods being first discharged¹².

A ship may be entered outwards from a port under these provisions notwithstanding that, before departing for any place outside the United Kingdom, the ship is to go to another port¹³; but a ship carrying cargo brought in that ship from some place outside the United Kingdom and intended to be discharged in the United Kingdom may only be so entered outwards subject to such conditions as the Commissioners see fit to impose¹⁴.

If, when a ship is required by these provisions to be entered outwards from any port, any goods are taken on board that ship at that port, except in accordance with such a stiffening order as is mentioned above, before the ship is so entered, the goods are liable to forfeiture; and the master of the ship is liable to a penalty¹⁵. Where goods are so taken on board a ship or made waterborne for that purpose with fraudulent intent, any person concerned therein with knowledge of that intent may be arrested and is liable to a penalty¹⁶.

No person is to load into a ship, other than a pleasure craft, or make waterborne for loading any goods for exportation or stores:

- 2635 (1) outside such hours as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may appoint;
- 2636 (2) except at an approved wharf²;
- 2637 (3) without the authority of the proper officer³, save as permitted by him;
- 2638 (4) before entry outwards of the ship; or
- 2639 (5) on a Sunday or a holiday, save as permitted by the Commissioners⁴.

1 As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 For the meaning of 'approved wharf' see PARA 936 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'proper officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante.

4 Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, regs 1(2), 10(2). As to the manner in which the Commissioners and the proper officer must exercise their powers see PARA 958 note 3 ante. The Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, Pt III (regs 10-12) (as amended) were made in exercise of the power conferred by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 66(1)(a), (c): see PARA 1004 heads (1), (3) ante. As to the penalty for breach see PARA 1004 ante.

The Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, reg 10(2)(c) (see head (3) in the text) does not apply to a loader if, in relation to the goods due to be loaded by him, he is acting under a direction of the Commissioners pursuant to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 57(4) or (5) (as substituted) (see PARA 1010 ante): Ship's Report, Importation and Exportation by Sea Regulations 1981, SI 1981/1260, reg 10(3). For these purposes, 'loader' means the owner of the ship into which goods are to be shipped, or a person appointed by him, except that, where the ship is subject to charter by demise, 'loader' means the charterer or a person appointed by him: reg 10(1)(a). As to charters by demise see CARRIAGE AND CARRIERS vol 7 (2008) PARA 210 et seq.

Where the goods are said to be moving under the external or internal Community transit procedure, the proper officer may withhold his authority required by reg 10(2)(c) until the person applying for his authority either produces to him the Community transit document or, instead of it, furnishes him with a loading pass which satisfies him that the goods are being moved under one of the aforementioned procedures: reg 10(4). 'Community transit document' means a document which is being used in accordance with a Community regulation governing Community transit requiring, amongst other matters or conditions, that the goods which are to be moved under the external or internal Community transit procedure (see PARA 108 et seq ante) be covered by that document: reg 10(1)(b).

Goods to be exported through the Channel Tunnel must not be loaded onto the exporting vehicle, except at a customs approved area: see PARA 960 ante.

Additional restrictions as to certain export goods.

1018. Additional restrictions as to certain export goods.

No person is to export any dutiable or restricted goods, being¹:

- 2640 (1) goods from warehouse², other than goods which have been kept, without being warehoused, in a warehouse³;
- 2641 (2) transit goods⁴;
- 2642 (3) any other goods chargeable with any duty which has not been paid;
- 2643 (4) drawback goods⁵, or enter any such goods for exportation, in any ship⁶ of less than 40 tons register⁷.

The above provisions do not apply to hovercraft⁸, but dutiable or restricted goods are only to be exported in a hovercraft if it is of a class or description for the time being approved by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs and subject to such conditions and restrictions as they may impose⁹; and a person contravening or failing to comply therewith, or with any condition or restriction imposed thereunder, is liable to a penalty¹⁰.

Any goods shipped or entered contrary to the above provisions are liable to forfeiture¹¹.

1019. Manifests.

In the case of an exporting ship, the manifest due to be delivered¹ must:

- 2644 (1) contain such particulars as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs direct of all goods shipped as cargo into the exporting ship which has been cleared outwards;
- 2645 (2) be accompanied by such other documents relating to the cargo as the Commissioners direct; and
- 2646 (3) be accompanied by a declaration, made by the person discharging the obligation to deliver the manifest, that the manifest contains a true account of the cargo of the exporting ship which has been cleared outwards².

The owner or master of every exporting ship, or in the case of the exporting ship being subject to a charter by demise at the time of its clearance outwards, the charterer or master of that ship must by himself or his agent deliver a manifest to the proper officer³ within 14 days after the clearance outwards of the ship⁴.

Where, as a consequence of an application, containing such particulars as the Commissioners may require, by the owner of a ship to be used as an exporting ship, or in the case where such a ship will be subject to a charter by demise at the time of a clearance outwards of it, by the person who will be the charterer at the time, the Commissioners permit him in their discretion to be subject to the following provisions⁵, the obligation to deliver a manifest⁶ does not apply in respect of the clearance outwards of such ship occurring on or after the day appointed by the Commissioners for these purposes and not later than any terminating day⁷. In the case of the clearance outwards of an exporting ship which occurs on or after the day appointed by the Commissioners for these purposes and not later than any terminating day, the person permitted by the Commissioners to be subject to these provisions must by himself or his agent deliver a manifest to the proper officer within seven days, or such longer period as may be permitted by the Commissioners, after a demand for it is made by the proper officer on him within six months after such clearance outwards⁸.

Loading of goods on a departing aircraft.

1020. Loading of goods on a departing aircraft.

No person is to load on an aircraft¹ about to depart on a flight to an eventual destination outside the United Kingdom² and the Isle of Man goods for exportation or importation or as stores:

- 2647 (1) except at the examination station at a customs and excise airport³, or such other place as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may permit⁴; and
- 2648 (2) without the authority of the proper officer, save as may be permitted by him⁵.

Where the goods are said to be moving under the external or internal Community transit procedure⁶, the proper officer may withhold his authority required by head (2) above until the person applying for his authority either produces to him the Community transit document⁷ or, instead of it, furnishes him with a loading pass⁸ which satisfies him that the goods are being moved under one of the aforementioned procedures⁹.

Clearance outwards of ships, aircraft and vehicles travelling through the Channel Tunnel.

C. CLEARANCE OUTWARDS

1022. Clearance outwards of ships, aircraft and vehicles travelling through the Channel Tunnel.

Save as permitted by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹, no ship² or aircraft is to depart from any port or customs and excise airport³ from which it commences, or at which it touches during, a voyage or flight to an eventual destination outside the member states and the Isle of Man until clearance of the ship or aircraft for that departure has been obtained from the proper officer⁴ at that port or airport⁵.

The Commissioners may give directions:

- 2649 (1) as to the procedure for obtaining clearance under these provisions;
- 2650 (2) as to the documents to be produced and the information to be furnished by any person applying for such clearance⁶.

Where clearance is so sought for any ship which is in ballast or has on board no goods⁷ other than stores⁸, the baggage⁹ of passengers carried in that ship, chalk, slate, or empty returned containers¹⁰ upon which no freight or profit is earned, the proper officer, in granting clearance thereof, must, on the application of the master¹¹, clear the ship as in ballast¹².

Any officer may board any ship which is cleared outwards from a port at any time while the ship is in United Kingdom waters¹³ and require the production of the ship's clearance; and, if the master refuses to produce it or to answer such questions as the officer may put to him concerning the ship, cargo and intended voyage, he is liable to a penalty¹⁴.

Every ship departing from a port must, if so required for the purpose of disembarking an officer¹⁵ or of further examination, bring to at the boarding station¹⁶; and, if any ship fails to comply with any such requirement, the master is liable to a penalty¹⁷.

If any ship or aircraft required to be cleared under these provisions departs from any port or customs and excise airport without a valid clearance, the master or commander¹⁸ is liable to a penalty¹⁹.

If, where any aircraft is required to obtain clearance from any customs and excise airport under these provisions, any goods are loaded, or are waterborne for loading, into that aircraft at that airport before application for clearance has been made, the goods are liable to forfeiture; and, where the loading or making waterborne is done with fraudulent intent²⁰, any person concerned therein with knowledge²¹ of that intent is guilty of an offence and liable to a penalty, and may be arrested²².

Power to refuse or cancel clearance of ships, aircraft and trains departing to France through the Channel Tunnel.

1023. Power to refuse or cancel clearance of ships, aircraft and trains departing to France through the Channel Tunnel.

For the purpose of the detention thereof in pursuance of any power or duty conferred or imposed by or under any enactment, or for the purpose of securing compliance with any provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979¹ or of any other enactment or of any instrument made thereunder, being a provision relating to the importation or exportation of goods²:

- 2651 (1) the proper officer³ may at any time refuse clearance of any ship⁴ or aircraft; and
- 2652 (2) where clearance has been granted to a ship or aircraft, any officer may at any time while the ship is within the limits of any port⁵ or the aircraft is at any customs and excise airport⁶ demand that the clearance is to be returned to him⁷.

Any such demand may be made either orally or in writing on the master⁸ of the ship or commander⁹ of the aircraft, and, if made in writing, may be served:

- 2653 (a) by delivering it to him personally;
- 2654 (b) by leaving it at his last known place of abode; or
- 2655 (c) by leaving it on board the ship or aircraft with the person appearing to be in charge or command thereof¹⁰.

Where a demand for the return of a clearance is so made: (i) the clearance forthwith becomes void; and (ii) if the demand is not complied with, the master of the ship or the commander of the aircraft is liable to a penalty¹¹.

4 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 75(1) (amended by the Manufacture and Storage of Explosives Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1082, reg 28(1), Sch 5 para 16). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. As to the application of these provisions to hovercraft see PARA 897 ante; and as to the application of these provisions to certain Crown aircraft see PARA 899 ante. In the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 75(1) (as amended) the reference to goods loaded into a ship for exportation is to be construed as including a reference to goods loaded onto a vehicle for exportation through the Channel Tunnel: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 17.

5 Ie without prejudice to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 53 (as substituted) (see PARA 1006 ante) and s 60 (as amended) (see PARA 1018 ante).

6 For the meaning of 'exporter', in relation to goods for exportation or use as stores, see PARA 1000 note 9 ante.

7 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 75(2) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). The exporter or shipper is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of level 3 on the standard scale: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 75(2) (as so amended). As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post; and as to forfeiture see PARA 1155 et seq post.

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTAIN GOODS/1025. Provisions as to stores.

1025. Provisions as to stores.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may give directions:

- 2656 (1) as to the quantity of any goods¹ which may be carried in any ship² or aircraft as stores³ for use on a voyage or flight to an eventual destination outside the United Kingdom⁴;
- 2657 (2) as to the descriptions of vessel⁵ on which goods carried as stores may be used in port⁶ without payment of duty⁷;
- 2658 (3) as to the quantity of any goods which may be carried as stores for use in port as mentioned in head (2) above and as to the time within which such goods or any specified quantities of them may be so used; and
- 2659 (4) as to the authorisation to be obtained for the supply and carriage of, and the procedure to be followed in supplying, any goods as stores for use as mentioned in head (1) or head (2) above, whether or not any duty is chargeable or has been paid, or any drawback⁸ is payable, in respect of those goods⁹.

Goods are not to be permitted¹⁰ to be shipped as stores without payment of duty or on drawback except in a ship of not less than 40 tons register¹¹ or in an aircraft departing for a voyage or flight to a country outside the United Kingdom¹². The Commissioners may, however, in such cases and subject to such conditions and restrictions as they see fit, permit goods to be so shipped in:

- 2660 (a) any ship departing from the United Kingdom, being either a ship of not less than 40 tons register departing for a voyage to a country outside the United Kingdom or a ship of less than 40 tons register; or
- 2661 (b) any aircraft departing from the United Kingdom for a flight to a country outside the United Kingdom¹³.

If any goods shipped or carried as stores for use on a voyage or flight to an eventual destination outside the United Kingdom or for use in port without payment of duty are without the authority of the proper officer¹⁴ landed or unloaded at any place in the United Kingdom:

- 2662 (i) the goods are liable to forfeiture; and
- 2663 (ii) the master¹⁵ or commander¹⁶ and the owner of the ship or aircraft are each liable to a penalty¹⁷, and the proper officer may lock up, mark, seal or otherwise secure any goods entered, shipped or carried as stores for such use or any place or container¹⁸ in which such goods are kept or held¹⁹.

If any ship or aircraft which has departed from any port or customs and excise airport²⁰ for a destination outside the United Kingdom carrying stores fails to reach the destination for which it was cleared outwards and returns to any place within the United Kingdom, then:

- 2664 (A) if the failure was not due to stress of weather, mechanical defect or any other unavoidable cause and any deficiency is discovered in the said goods; or 2665 (B) if the failure was due to any such cause as is mentioned in head (A) above and any deficiency is discovered in those goods which, in the opinion of the Commissioners, exceeds the quantity which might fairly have been consumed having regard to the length of time between the ship's or aircraft's departure and return, the master of the ship or the commander of the aircraft is liable to a penalty, and must also pay on the deficiency or, as the case may be, on the excess deficiency any duty chargeable on the importation of such goods²¹. Any duty, other than excise duty, so payable is recoverable summarily as a civil debt²². No amount of excise duty is so payable unless the Commissioners have assessed that amount as being excise duty due from the master of the ship or the commander of the aircraft and notified him or his representative²³ accordingly²⁴; and an amount of excise duty assessed as being so due is recoverable²⁵ summarily as a civil debt²⁶.

E. OBLIGATIONS TO PROVIDE INFORMATION

1026. Information, documentation etc as to export goods.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may give directions:

- 2666 (1) imposing on persons specified in the directions requirements as to the giving of information with respect to, or the furnishing of documents¹ in connection with, goods² exported, or intended to be exported, in any such vehicle³ or container⁴ as is specified in the directions, or by such other means, or in accordance with any such commercial procedure, as is so specified⁵;
- 2667 (2) providing that, before any goods are shipped for exportation⁶, a number identifying the goods in compliance with the directions is to be given in accordance with the directions by and to such persons as are specified in the directions⁷.

The Commissioners may relax any requirement imposed under head (1) or head (2) above as they think fit in relation to any goods⁸.

Any person who contravenes or fails to comply with any direction given under head (1) or head (2) above is liable to a penalty⁹.

1 For the meaning of 'document' for these purposes see PARA 1172 post.

2 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

(iv) Prohibitions and Offences

A. PROHIBITIONS

1027. General power to regulate exports.

The Secretary of State may by order make provision for or in connection with the imposition of export controls in relation to goods of any description¹. For this purpose, 'export controls', in relation to any goods, means the prohibition or regulation of their exportation from the United Kingdom or their shipment as stores². Goods may be described in the order wholly or partly by reference to the uses to which the goods, or any information recorded on or derived from them, may be put³. Export controls may be imposed in relation to the removal from the United Kingdom of vehicles, vessels and aircraft (as an exportation of goods), whether or not they are moving under their own power or carrying goods or passengers⁴.

1 See the Export Control Act 2002 s 1(1); and TRADE AND INDUSTRY vol 97 (2010) PARA 811 et seq. In exercise of this power the Secretary of State has made the Export of Goods, Transfer of Technology and Provision of Technical Assistance (Control) Order 2003, SI 2003/2764 (amended by SI 2004/1050; SI 2004/2561; SI 2005/468); the Export of Objects of Cultural Interest (Control) Order 2003, SI 2003/2759; the Export Control (Libya Embargo) Order 2004, SI 2004/2741; the Export Control (Iraq and Ivory Coast) Order 2005, SI 2005/232; the Export Control (Uzbekistan) Order 2005, SI 2005/3257; the Export Control (Bosnia and Herzegovina) Order 2006, SI 2006/300; the Export Control Order 2006, SI 2006/1331 (amended by SI 2006/2271); the Export Control (Security and Para-military Goods) Order 2006, SI 2006/1696; and the Export of Radioactive Sources (Control) Order 2006, SI 2006/1846. UPDATE

NOTE 1--SI 2003/2764 (as amended), SI 2004/2741, SI 2006/300, SI 2006/1331 (as amended), SI 2006/1696 replaced: Export Control Order 2008, SI 2008/3231 (amended by SI 2009/1305, SI 2009/1852, SI 2009/2151, SI 2009/2748, SI 2009/2969, SI 2010/615). SI 2003/2759 amended: SI 2009/2164. SI 2005/3257 revoked: SI 2010/615. SI 2006/1846 amended: SI 2009/585. See also Export Control (Burma) Order 2008, SI 2008/1098.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION/(iv) Prohibitions and Offences/B. OFFENCES/1028. Offences in relation to exportation of goods.

B. OFFENCES

1028. Offences in relation to exportation of goods.

If any goods which have been loaded or retained on board any ship¹ or aircraft for exportation are not exported to and discharged at a place outside the United Kingdom but are unloaded in the United Kingdom², then, unless:

- 2668 (1) the unloading was authorised by the proper officer³; and
- 2669 (2) except where that officer otherwise permits, any duty chargeable and unpaid on the goods is paid and any drawback or allowance⁴ paid in respect thereof is repaid, the master⁵ of the ship or the commander⁶ of the aircraft and any person concerned in the unshipping, relanding, landing, unloading or carrying of the goods from the ship or aircraft without such authority, payment or repayment are each guilty of an offence⁷.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may impose such conditions as they see fit with respect to any goods so loaded or retained which are permitted to be unloaded in the United Kingdom⁸. If any person contravenes or fails to comply with, or is concerned in any contravention of or failure to comply with, any condition so imposed, he is guilty of an offence⁹.

Where any goods so loaded or retained or brought to a customs and excise station¹⁰ for exportation by land are:

- 2670 (a) goods from warehouse¹¹, other than goods which have been kept, without being warehoused, in a warehouse¹²;
- 2671 (b) transit goods¹³;
- 2672 (c) other goods chargeable with a duty which has not been paid; or
- 2673 (d) drawback goods¹⁴, then, if any container¹⁵ in which the goods are held is without the authority of the proper officer opened, or any mark, letter or device on any such container or on any lot of the goods is without that authority cancelled, obliterated or altered, every person concerned in the opening, cancellation, obliteration or alteration is guilty of an offence¹⁶.

Any person guilty of an offence under the above provisions is liable to a penalty¹⁷; and any goods in respect of which an offence under those provisions is committed are liable to forfeiture¹⁸.

2 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'proper officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante.

4 As to drawback and allowances see PARA 1109 et seq post.

5 For the meaning of 'master', in relation to a ship, see PARA 863 note 5 ante.

6 For the meaning of 'commander', in relation to an aircraft, see PARA 863 note 6 ante.

7 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 67(1). As to the application of these provisions to hovercraft see PARA 897 ante; and as to the application of these provisions to certain Crown aircraft see PARA 899 ante. Without prejudice to the Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152, reg 5 (see PARA 982 ante), for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 67(1)(b) (see head (1) in the text) excise duty is deemed to have been paid at the time when deferment was granted: see the Excise Duties (Deferred Payment) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3152, reg 11(a) (as amended); and PARA 982 note 15 ante.

The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 67(1) has effect as if goods which have been loaded or retained on any vehicle for exportation through the Channel Tunnel were goods loaded or retained on an aircraft for exportation; and the references to the aircraft and to the commander of the aircraft are to be construed respectively as including references to the vehicle and to the train manager: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 16 (amended by SI 1993/1813).

The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 67(1), so far as it is applicable, applies to goods supplied to Her Majesty's ships or to the Admiralty in accordance with the Duty-free Supplies for the Royal Navy Regulations 1954, SI 1954/1406 (see PARA 874 ante), as if it were adapted to provide that if any goods supplied to any of Her Majesty's ships or to the Admiralty in accordance with regulations made under the Customs and Excise (General Reliefs) Act 1979 s 12 (see PARA 873 ante) are relanded, unloaded or carried from any of Her Majesty's ships or removed from a naval establishment, naval victualling yard, depot or sub-depot in the United Kingdom, except to another of Her Majesty's ships or to another such establishment, yard, depot or sub-depot as aforementioned, for use therein in accordance with regulations made under s 12, then, unless such relanding, unloading, carriage or removal was authorised by the proper officer and, except where that officer otherwise permits, unless any duty chargeable and unpaid on the goods is paid and any drawback or allowance paid in respect thereof is repaid, any person concerned in the relanding, unloading, carriage or removal of the goods from the ship, naval establishment, naval victualling yard, depot or sub-depot without such authority, payment or repayment is guilty of an offence under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 67(1): Duty-free Supplies for the Royal Navy Regulations 1954, SI 1954/1406, reg 9(b); Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2) (b).

8 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 67(2). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. Section 67(2), so far as it is applicable, applies to goods supplied to Her Majesty's ships or to the Admiralty in accordance with the Duty-free Supplies for the Royal Navy Regulations 1954, SI 1954/1406, as if, instead of referring to goods so loaded or retained which are permitted to be unloaded in the United Kingdom, it referred to goods supplied to any of Her Majesty's ships or to the Admiralty in accordance with the regulations which are permitted to be relanded, unloaded, carried or removed: Duty-free Supplies for the Royal Navy Regulations 1954, SI 1954/1406, reg 9(c); Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b).

16 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 67(4). Section 67(4), so far as it is applicable, applies to goods supplied to Her Majesty's ships or to the Admiralty in accordance with the Duty-free Supplies for the Royal Navy Regulations 1954, SI 1954/1406, as if, instead of referring to goods loaded or retained or brought to a customs and excise station for exportation by land, it referred to goods supplied to any of Her Majesty's ships or to the Admiralty in accordance with the regulations: Duty-free Supplies for the Royal Navy Regulations 1954, SI 1954/1406, reg 9(d); Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b).

17 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 67(5) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). Such a person is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of three times the value of the goods or level 3 on the standard scale, whichever is the greater: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 67(5) (as so amended). As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to valuation of the goods see PARA 1185 post. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION/(iv) Prohibitions and Offences/B. OFFENCES/1029. Offences in relation to exportation of prohibited or restricted goods.

1029. Offences in relation to exportation of prohibited or restricted goods.

If any goods¹ are:

- 2674 (1) exported or shipped as stores; or
- 2675 (2) brought to any place in the United Kingdom for the purpose of being exported or shipped as stores², and the exportation or shipment³ is or would be contrary to any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force with respect to those goods under or by virtue of any enactment, the goods are liable to forfeiture; and the exporter⁴ or intending exporter of the goods and any agent of his concerned in the exportation or shipment or intended exportation or shipment are each liable to a penalty⁵.

Any person knowingly concerned in the exportation or shipment as stores, or in the attempted exportation or shipment as stores, of any goods with intent to evade⁶ any such prohibition or restriction as is mentioned above is guilty of an offence and liable to a penalty, and may be arrested⁷.

If, by virtue of any such restriction as is mentioned above, any goods may be exported only when consigned to a particular place or person and any goods so consigned are delivered to some other place or person, the ship⁸, aircraft or vehicle⁹ in which they were exported are liable to forfeiture unless it is proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that both the owner of the ship, aircraft or vehicle and the master¹⁰ of the ship, commander¹¹ of the aircraft or person in charge of the vehicle: (a) took all reasonable steps to secure that the goods were delivered to the particular place to which or person to whom they were consigned; and (b) did not connive at or, except under duress, consent to the delivery of the goods to that other place or person¹².

In any case where a person would otherwise be guilty of:

- 2676 (i) an offence under the above provisions¹³; and
- 2677 (ii) a corresponding offence under the enactment or instrument imposing the prohibition or restriction in question, being an offence for which a fine or other penalty is expressly provided by that enactment or other instrument, he is not guilty of the offence mentioned in head (i) above¹⁴.

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(1) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). Such a person is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of three times the value of the goods or level 3 on the standard scale, whichever is the greater: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(1) (as so amended). As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to valuation of the goods see PARA 1185 post. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post; and as to forfeiture see PARA 1155 et seq post. As to the application of these provisions to hovercraft see PARA 897 ante. Where a person is convicted of an offence contrary to s 68 (as amended) or the Criminal Justice (International Co-operation) Act 1990 s 13(5) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 773) as a result of the application of the Controlled Drugs (Substances Useful for Manufacture) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1285, reg 3 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 773), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(1) (as amended) has effect as if after the word 'greater' there were added the words 'but not exceeding the statutory maximum': Controlled Drugs (Substances Useful for Manufacture) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1285, reg 6(a). As to the statutory maximum see PARA 539 note 15 ante.

6 The question whether a person was knowingly concerned in the exportation of goods with intent to evade a prohibition is to be treated as one question and, notwithstanding the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 154(2)(f) (see PARA 1205 head (6) post), the burden of proving the requisite knowledge and intent remains on the prosecution: see Garrett v Arthur Churchill (Glass) Ltd [1970] 1 QB 92, [1969] 2 All ER 1141 (where it was held that a person could be concerned with an item's export by handing it to another person with a view to its export). The point at issue is the state of the accused's mind up to the time of the unlawful exportation or attempt: see R v Redfern and Dunlop Ltd (Aircraft Tyres Division) (1992) 13 Cr App Rep (S) 709, CA. As to the requirement of knowledge see PARA 1006 note 17 ante. In R v Hurford-Jones (1977) 65 Cr App Rep 263, CA, the word 'evade' was held to mean 'get around' and did not connote dishonesty or fraud.

7 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(2), (3) (s 68(2) amended by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 114(1); and the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(3) amended by the Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 s 23(2)(a); and by the Finance Act 1988 s 12(1)(a), (6)). Such a person is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding seven years or a penalty of any amount, or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a penalty of the prescribed sum or of three times the value of the goods, whichever is the greater, or to both: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(3) (as so amended). For the meaning of 'the prescribed sum' see PARA 423 note 9 ante. As to the arrest of persons see PARA 1152 post.

In the case of an offence under s 68(2) (as amended) in connection with a prohibition or restriction on exportation having effect by virtue of the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971 s 3 (see MEDICINAL PRODUCTS AND DRUGS vol 30(2) (Reissue) PARA 248), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(3) (as amended) has effect subject to the modifications specified in Sch 1 (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46; and by the Controlled Drugs (Penalties) Act 1985 s 1(2)): Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(4). For the purposes of s 68 (as amended), any scheduled substance is deemed to be exported contrary to a restriction for the time being in force with respect to it under the Criminal Justice (International Co-operation) Act 1990 if it is exported without the requisite notification having been given: see s 13(2).

In the case of an offence under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(2) or (3) committed in Great Britain in connection with a prohibition or restriction on the exportation of any weapon or ammunition that is of a kind mentioned in the Firearms Act 1968 s 5(1)(a), (ab), (aba), (ac), (ad), (ae), (af) or (c) or (1A)(a) (as amended) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 661), and any such offence committed in connection with the prohibition contained in the Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 s 21 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARA 551), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(3)(b) (as amended) has effect as if for the words 'seven years' there were substituted the words 'ten years': s 68(4A) (added by the Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 s 23(2)(b); and substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 293(1), (3)).

Where a person is convicted of an offence contrary to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68 (as amended) or the Criminal Justice (International Co-operation) Act 1990 s 13(5) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 773) as a result of the application of the Controlled Drugs (Substances Useful for Manufacture) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1285, reg 3 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 773), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(3)(a) has effect as if after the word 'greater' there were added the words 'but not exceeding the statutory maximum' and for the words 'six months' there were substituted the words 'three months' (Controlled Drugs (Substances Useful for Manufacture) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1285, reg 6(b)), and the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68(3)(b) (as amended) has effect as if for the words 'seven years' there were substituted the words 'two years' (Controlled Drugs (Substances Useful for Manufacture) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1285, reg 6(c)).

In the case of any person who is guilty of any offence related to any prohibition or restriction under the Export of Radioactive Sources (Control) Order 2006, SI 2006/1846, art 3, the maximum penalty for the intentional breach of the control on export is set at 10 years, the maximum penalty permitted under the Export Control Act 2002 s 7(1): Export of Radioactive Sources (Control) Order 2006, SI 2006/1846, art 12. See further, the Export of Goods, Transfer of Technology and Provision of Technical Assistance (Control) Order 2003, SI 2003/2764, art 21(6) (substituted by SI 2006/1696).

NOTE 7--SI 2003/2764 (as amended) replaced: Export Control Order 2008, SI 2008/3231 (see PARA 1027).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION/(iv) Prohibitions and Offences/B. OFFENCES/1030. Offences in relation to agricultural levies.

1030. Offences in relation to agricultural levies.

If any person is, in relation to any goods¹, in any way knowingly concerned in any fraudulent evasion or attempt at evasion of any agricultural levy² chargeable on the export of the goods, he is guilty³ of an offence⁴ and liable to a penalty, and may be arrested⁵. Any goods in respect of which an offence under the above provisions is committed are liable to forfeiture⁶.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'agricultural levy' has the same meaning as in the European Communities Act 1972 s 6 (as amended); and the provisions of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68A (as added) apply notwithstanding that any such levy may be payable to the Secretary of State, the Scottish Ministers, the National Assembly for Wales or (in relation to Northern Ireland) the Department of Agriculture and Rural Development, as the case may be: s 68A(4) (added by the Finance Act 1982 s 11(2); and amended by the Intervention Board for Agricultural Produce (Abolition) Regulations 2001, SI 2001/3686, reg 6(7)(a)). As to the abolition of agricultural levies see the Uruguay Round Agreement on Agriculture (Marrakesh, 15 April 1994; Cm 2559; Misc 17 (1994); OJ L336, 23.12.94, p 22).

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68A(2) (as added (see note 4 supra); and substituted by the Finance Act 1988 s 12(2), (6)). Such a person is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding seven years or a penalty of any amount, or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a penalty of the prescribed sum or of three times the value of the goods, whichever is the greater, or to both: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68A(2) (as so added and substituted). For the meaning of 'the prescribed sum' see PARA 423 note 9 ante. As to valuation of the goods see PARA 1185 post. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post; and as to the arrest of persons see PARA 1152 post.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(5) CONTROL OF EXPORTATION/(iv) Prohibitions and Offences/B. OFFENCES/1031. Special provisions as to proof in Northern Ireland.

1031. Special provisions as to proof in Northern Ireland.

If goods¹ of any class or description chargeable with agricultural levies on their exportation from the United Kingdom² are found in the possession or control of any person within the prescribed area³ in Northern Ireland, any officer⁴ or any person having by law in Northern Ireland the powers of an officer may require that person to furnish proof either:

- 2678 (1) that the goods are not intended for such exportation; or
- 2679 (2) that the goods are intended for such exportation and any entry required to be made or security required to be given in connection with that exportation has been or will be made or given⁵.

If proof of any matter is required to be so furnished in relation to any goods but is not so furnished, the goods are liable to forfeiture⁶.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'agricultural levy' has the same meaning as in the European Communities Act 1972 s 6 (as amended): Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 68B(3) (s 68B added by the Finance Act 1983 s 8). As to the abolition of agricultural levies see the Uruguay Round Agreement on Agriculture (Marrakesh, 15 April 1994; Cm 2559; Misc 17 (1994); OJ L336, 23.12.94, p 22). (6) POSTAL PACKETS

1032. Application of customs or excise enactments to postal packets.

The enactments for the time being in force in relation to customs or excise apply in relation to goods contained in postal packets¹ which are brought into or sent out of the United Kingdom by post from or to any place outside the United Kingdom as they apply in relation to goods otherwise imported, exported or removed into or out of the United Kingdom from or to any such place².

The Treasury, on the recommendation of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs and the Secretary of State, may make regulations:

- 2680 (1) for specifying the postal packets to which the above provisions apply;
- 2681 (2) for making modifications or exceptions in the application of such enactments to such packets;
- 2682 (3) for enabling persons engaged in the business of a postal operator³ to perform for the purposes of such enactments and otherwise all or any of the duties of the importer, exporter or person removing the goods;
- 2683 (4) for carrying into effect any arrangement with the government or postal administration of any country or territory outside the United Kingdom with respect to foreign postal packets⁴;
- 2684 (5) for securing the observance of such enactments; and
- 2685 (6) without prejudice to any liability of any person under those enactments, for punishing any contravention of the regulations⁵.

1 le postal packets to which the Postal Services Act 2000 s 105 applies: see PARA 1033 post. In the Postal Services Act 2000, 'postal packet' means means a letter, parcel, packet or other article transmissible by post: s 125(1).

2 Ibid s 105(1). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

3 'Postal operator' means a person who provides the service of conveying postal packets from one place to another by post or any of the incidental services of receiving, collecting, sorting and delivering such packets: ibid s 125(1).

4 For these purposes, 'foreign postal packet' means any postal packet either posted in the United Kingdom and sent to a place outside the United Kingdom, or posted in a place outside the United Kingdom and sent to a place within the United Kingdom, or in transit through the United Kingdom to a place outside the United Kingdom: s 105(5).

5 Ibid s 105(2) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)). At the date at which this volume states the law, no such regulations had been made under this power but, by virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b), the Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260 (amended by SI 1986/1019; SI 1992/3224; SI 2001/1149), have effect as if so made: see PARA 1033 et seq post. As to the modifications made to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 in relation to postal packets see PARAS 705 note 3, 950 note 10, 968 note 8, 970 note 6, 993 note 14, 999 note 7, 1006 note 8, 1009 note 4, 1011 note 5, 1012 note 5, 1013 note 6 ante, 1048 note 8, 1156 note 2, 1160 note 5 post. As to the Treasury see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) PARAS 512-517. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

Nothing in the Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260 (as amended) authorises the sending or bringing of any article out of or into the United Kingdom by post contrary to any provisions of the Postal Services Act 2000 (see POST OFFICE) which are applicable thereto: Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 18 (amended by SI 2001/1149). Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(6) POSTAL PACKETS/1033. Postal packets to which the customs or excise enactments apply.

1033. Postal packets to which the customs or excise enactments apply.

The provisions of the Postal Services Act 2000 relating to the application of the customs and excise enactments¹ apply to all postal packets², other than postcards, which are posted in the United Kingdom for transmission to any place outside it or which are brought by post into the United Kingdom³.

² For these purposes, 'postal packet' means a letter, parcel, packet or other article transmissible by post, conveyed by a universal service provider (within the meaning of the Postal Services Act 2000: see POST OFFICE) in connection with the provision of a universal postal service (within the meaning of that Act: see POST OFFICE): Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 2(1) (definition added by SI 2001/1149).

UPDATE

1033 Postal packets to which the customs or excise enactments apply

TEXT AND NOTES--The 2000 Act s 105 applies to all postal packets which are posted in the United Kingdom for transmission to any place outside it or which are brought by post into the United Kingdom, carried by a postal operator providing postal services which is not a universal service provider in connection with the provision of a universal postal service: postal Packets (Revenue and Customs) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/2195, reg 2.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(6) POSTAL PACKETS/1034. Restrictions on the import of dutiable goods by post.

1034. Restrictions on the import of dutiable goods by post.

Dutiable goods¹ must not be brought by post into the United Kingdom from a place situated outside the United Kingdom and the Isle of Man for delivery in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man except in a postal packet².

1 For these purposes, 'dutiable goods' has the meaning given by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1) (see PARA 941 note 5 ante) but includes goods chargeable with VAT and goods subject to any other charge on importation: Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 2(1).

2 Ibid reg 6 (amended by SI 2001/1149). For the meaning of 'postal packet' see PARA 1033 note 2 ante. As to the postal packets to which these provisions apply see PARA 1033 ante; and as to forfeiture for breach of reg 6 (as amended) see PARA 1041 post. See also HM Revenue and Customs Notice 143 A Guide for International Post Users (August 2005); HM Revenue and Customs Notice 144 Trade Imports by Post: How to Complete Customs Documents (April 2002). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(6) POSTAL PACKETS/1035. Customs declarations on import.

1035. Customs declarations on import.

Every postal packet brought into the United Kingdom¹ containing dutiable goods² must have affixed to it, or be accompanied by, a customs declaration fully stating the nature, quantity and value of the goods which it contains or of which it consists, and such other particulars as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or the postal operator³ may require⁴. The Commissioners may, however, at the request of the postal operator, relax these requirements by allowing the bringing in by post into the United Kingdom of any number of postal packets accompanied by a single customs declaration containing the particulars described above if they are brought in together, sent by or on behalf of the same person and addressed to a single addressee⁵.

Every postal packet brought into the United Kingdom the value of which exceeds £270, must in addition to the requirements above, bear on the outside the top portion of a green label in the prescribed⁶ form⁷. However, any such postal packet which contains any article of value and is brought into the United Kingdom by a registered post service may have the customs declaration enclosed in it⁸.

Every postal packet brought into the United Kingdom the value of which does not exceed £270 must either:

- 2686 (1) bear on the outside a green label in the prescribed form, in which the declaration as to the description, net weight and value of the contents must be fully and correctly completed; or
- 2687 (2) bear on the outside the top portion of a green label in the prescribed form and, in addition, have attached to it a full and correct customs declaration of the kind prescribed⁹ above¹⁰;

but any such postal packet which contains any article of value and is brought into the United Kingdom by registered post service may have the customs declaration enclosed in it¹¹.

The above provisions do not apply to a postal packet or mail bag which:

- 2688 (a) contains only Community goods and, having been posted elsewhere in the territory of the Community, is brought by post to the United Kingdom for delivery there, or is posted in the United Kingdom for delivery elsewhere in the territory of the Community; or
- 2689 (b) is posted in a place situated outside the United Kingdom for delivery in another place so situated¹².

¹ For the meaning of 'postal packet' see PARA 1033 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

² For the meaning of 'dutiable goods' see PARA 1034 note 1 ante.

³ As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. 'Postal operator' has the same meaning as in the Postal Services Act 2000 (see PARA 1032 note 3 ante): Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 2(1).

4 Ibid regs 2(1), 7(1) (reg 2(1) amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7); Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 7 substituted by SI 2001/1149). As to the postal packets to which these provisions apply see PARA 1033 ante; as to forfeiture for breach of the Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 7 (as substituted) see PARA 1041 post; and as to the Community provisions relating to postal declarations which take precedence see PARA 95 ante. See also HM Revenue and Customs Notice 143 A Guide for International Post Users (August 2005); HM Revenue and Customs Notice 144 Trade Imports by Post: How to Complete Customs Documents (April 2002).

5 Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 7(2) (as substituted: see note 4 supra).

6 For these purposes, 'prescribed' means prescribed by the provisions of the Universal Postal Convention (Lausanne, 5 July 1974; TS 57 (1976); Cmnd 5988) and detailed regulations made thereunder which are for the time being in force: Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 2.

10 Ibid reg 7(4) (as substituted: see note 4 supra).

11 Ibid reg 7(6) (as substituted: see note 4 supra).

12 Ibid reg 9(2) (substituted by SI 1992/3224).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(6) POSTAL PACKETS/1036. Customs declarations on export.

1036. Customs declarations on export.

Every postal packet posted in the United Kingdom¹ for transmission to any place outside it containing dutiable goods² must have affixed to it, or be accompanied by, a customs declaration fully stating the nature, quantity and value of the goods which it contains or of which it consists, and such other particulars as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or the postal operator³ may require⁴. The Commissioners may, however, at the request of the postal operator, relax these requirements by allowing the exportation by post of any number of postal packets accompanied by a single customs declaration containing the particulars described above if they are brought in together, sent by or on behalf of the same person and addressed to a single addressee⁵.

Every postal packet posted in the United Kingdom for transmission to any place outside it, the value of which exceeds £270, must bear on the outside the top portion of a green label in the prescribed⁶ form and, in addition, must have attached to it, or, if the postal administration of the country of destination so requires, enclosed in it, a full and correct customs declaration of the kind described above⁷. However, any such postal packet which contains any article of value and is exported by registered post service may have the customs declaration enclosed in it if the sender so prefers⁸.

Every postal packet posted in the United Kingdom for transmission to any place outside it the value of which does not exceed £270 must:

- 2690 (1) bear on the outside a green label in the prescribed form, in which the declaration as to the description, net weight and value of the contents must be fully and correctly completed; or, if the sender so prefers,
- 2691 (2) bear on the outside the top portion of a green label in the prescribed form and, in addition, have attached to it or, if the postal administration of the country of destination so requires, enclosed in it, a full and correct customs declaration of the kind prescribed⁹ above¹⁰;

but any such postal packet which contains any article of value and is exported by registered post service may have the customs declaration referred to above enclosed in it if the sender so prefers¹¹.

The above provisions do not apply to a postal packet or mail bag which:

- 2692 (a) contains only Community goods and, having been posted elsewhere in the territory of the Community, is brought by post to the United Kingdom for delivery there, or is posted in the United Kingdom for delivery elsewhere in the territory of the Community; or
- 2693 (b) is posted in a place situated outside the United Kingdom for delivery in another place so situated¹².

1037. Additional requirements for mail bags containing postal packets.

Every mail bag containing postal packets¹ containing or consisting of goods which are dutiable² in the country of destination, brought by post into the United Kingdom or posted in the United Kingdom for transmission to any place outside it by a universal service provider³ in connection with the provision of a universal postal service⁴, must have affixed to the bag label a green label in the prescribed⁵ form⁶.

The above provisions do not apply to a postal packet or mail bag which:

- 2694 (1) contains only Community goods and, having been posted elsewhere in the territory of the Community, is brought by post to the United Kingdom for delivery there, or is posted in the United Kingdom for delivery elsewhere in the territory of the Community; or
- 2695 (2) is posted in a place situated outside the United Kingdom for delivery in another place so situated⁷.

1038. Export by post of goods without payment of duty or on drawback or repayment of duty.

Every postal packet containing goods to be exported by post without payment of any duty of customs or excise¹ to which they are subject, or on drawback or repayment of such duty, must², on its removal to the post office³:

2696 (1) be accompanied by such shipping bill, declaration or other document containing such particulars as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may require; and 2697 (2) have affixed to its outer cover in the form and manner so required a label having printed thereon the words 'Exported by Post under Revenue and Customs Control', or be distinguished in such other manner as may be so required⁴.

1 For these purposes, 'duty' and 'duty of customs or excise' include VAT and any other charge on imported goods: Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 2(1).

1039. Powers and duties of the proper officer of postal operator.

The proper¹ officer of the postal operator² is authorised to perform, in relation to any postal packet or the goods which it contains, such of the duties required by virtue of the customs and excise Acts³ to be performed by the importer⁴ or exporter⁵ of goods as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may require⁶.

In such cases or classes of case as the Commissioners may so require, the proper officer of the postal operator must produce to the proper officer of Revenue and Customs postal packets arriving in the United Kingdom or about to be dispatched from the United Kingdom and, if the proper officer of Revenue and Customs so requires, must open for customs examination any packets so produced⁷.

On accepting any outgoing packet which has affixed to its outer cover in the form and manner so required a label having printed thereon the words 'Exported by Post under Revenue and Customs Control' or is distinguished in such other manner as may be so required⁸, the proper officer of the postal operator must indorse a certificate of the posting of the packet on the appropriate document and must give it to the sender⁹.

On delivering a postal packet, the proper officer of the postal operator may demand payment of any duty¹⁰ or other sum due to the Commissioners in respect of it; and any sum so received must be paid over to the Commissioners by the postal operator¹¹. If payment is not made of any duty so demanded, the postal operator may, with the agreement of the Commissioners, dispose of the goods contained in the packet as it thinks fit¹²; but, if any amount so demanded, but not paid, is an amount other than duty, the postal operator must deliver the packet to the proper officer of Revenue and Customs¹³.

1 For these purposes, 'proper', in relation to an officer, means appointed or authorised by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs to perform any duty in relation to a postal packet: Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 2(1). 1040. Requirements to make entry or an account.

If goods are brought by post into the United Kingdom¹, and an officer of Revenue and Customs sends to the addressee of the packet in which they are contained, or to any other person who is for the time being the importer² of the goods, a notice requiring entry to be made³ of them or requiring a full and accurate account of them to be delivered to the proper⁴ officer of Revenue and Customs but entry is not made or such account is not delivered within 28 days of the date of such notice or within such longer period as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁵ may allow, then, unless the Commissioners have required the packet to be delivered to them on the grounds that any goods contained in it are liable to forfeiture⁶, the postal operator⁷ must:

- 2698 (1) return the goods to the sender of the packet in which they were contained, or otherwise export them from the United Kingdom in accordance with any request or indication appearing on the packet; or
- 2699 (2) deliver the goods to the proper officer of Revenue and Customs; or
- 2700 (3) with the permission of the Commissioners, and under the supervision of the proper officer of Revenue and Customs, destroy them⁸.

Where goods have been delivered to him in accordance with head (2) above, the proper officer of Revenue and Customs may cause the goods to be deposited in a Queen's warehouse⁹.

1042. Power to detain packets containing contraband.

A postal operator¹ may detain any postal packet² if he suspects that it may contain relevant goods, and forward any packet so detained to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³. 'Relevant goods' are: (1) any goods chargeable with any duty charged on imported goods (whether a customs or an excise duty) which has not been paid or secured; or (2) any goods in the course of importation, exportation or removal into or out of the United Kingdom contrary to any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force by virtue of any enactment⁴.

The Commissioners may open and examine any postal packet so forwarded to them: (a) in the presence of the person to whom the packet is addressed; or (b) where the address on the packet is outside the United Kingdom, or where the Commissioners have left at the address on the packet notice requiring the attendance of the person concerned or forwarded such notice by post to that address, and the addressee fails to attend, in the absence of that person⁵.

If the Commissioners find any relevant goods on so opening and examining a postal packet, they may detain the packet and its contents for the purpose of taking proceedings in relation to them⁶. If the Commissioners do not find any relevant goods on opening and examining a postal packet, they must deliver the packet to the addressee upon his paying any postage and other sums chargeable on it or, if he is absent, forward the packet to him by post⁷.

(7) FREE ZONES

1043. Designation of free zones.

Under the Community Customs Code member states may designate parts of the customs territory of the Community¹ as free zones². Such zones are areas separated from the rest of that territory in which:

- 2701 (1) non-Community goods³ are considered, for the purpose of import duties⁴ and commercial policy import measures⁵, as not being on Community customs territory, provided that they are not released for free circulation⁶ or placed under another customs procedure⁷ or used or consumed under conditions other than those provided for in customs regulations;
- 2702 (2) Community goods for which such provision is made under Community legislation governing specific fields qualify, by virtue of being placed in a free zone or free warehouse, for measures normally attaching to the export of goods⁸.

In the United Kingdom the power to designate areas as free zones has been given to the Treasury which may by order designate any area in the United Kingdom as a special area for customs purposes⁹. An area so designated is known as a 'free zone'¹⁰.

Such an order:

- 2703 (a) has effect for such period as is specified in the order;
- 2704 (b) may be made so as to take effect, in relation to the area or any part of the area designated by a previous order so made, on the expiry of the period specified in the previous order;
- 2705 (c) must appoint one or more persons as the responsible authority or authorities for the free zone;
- 2706 (d) may impose on any responsible authority such conditions or restrictions as may be specified; and
- 2707 (e) may be revoked if the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs are satisfied that there has been a failure to comply with any condition or restriction¹¹.

The Treasury may by order: (i) from time to time vary the conditions or restrictions imposed by a designation order or, with the agreement of the responsible authority, the area designated; or (ii) appoint one or more persons as the responsible authority or authorities for a free zone either in addition to or in substitution for any person appointed as such by a designation order¹².

1045. Records relating to importation and exportation.

Every person who is concerned, in whatever capacity, in the importation or exportation of goods¹, other than customs goods², of which for that purpose an entry is required³ or an entry or specification is required⁴ must keep such records as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may require⁵. The Commissioners may require any records so kept to be preserved for such period not exceeding four years as they may require⁶. The duty so to preserve records may be discharged by the preservation of the information contained therein by such means as the Commissioners may approve; and, where that information is so preserved, a copy of any document forming part of the records is admissible, subject to the following provisions, in evidence in any proceedings, whether civil or criminal, to the same extent as the records themselves⁷. The Commissioners may, as a condition of an approval so given of any means of preserving information, impose such reasonable requirements as appear to them necessary for securing that the information will be as readily available to them as if the records themselves had been preserved⁸. The Commissioners may at any time for reasonable cause revoke or vary the conditions of any approval so given⁹.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(8) RECORDS TO BE KEPT AND INFORMATION TO BE PROVIDED BY IMPORTERS OR EXPORTERS OF GOODS OTHER THAN CUSTOMS GOODS/1046. Records relating to firearms.

1046. Records relating to firearms.

Every person who is concerned, in whatever capacity, in the importation or exportation of weapons or firearms¹, not being customs goods², must keep such records as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³ may⁴ require⁵.

1 le within the meaning of EC Council Directive 91/477 (OJ L256, 13.9.91, p 51). For these purposes, 'weapon' means any firearm as defined in heads (1)-(4) infra and weapons other than firearms as defined in national legislation (art 1(1), Annex I Pt I); and 'firearm' means any object which falls into one of the categories in heads (1)-(4) infra, unless it meets the definition but is excluded for one of the reasons listed in Annex I Pt III (see heads (i)-(iii) infra) (art 1(1), Annex I Pt IIA):

- .9 (1) category A (prohibited firearms): (a) explosive military missiles and launchers; (b) automatic firearms; (c) firearms disguised as other objects; (d) ammunition with penetrating, explosive or incendiary projectiles, and the projectiles for such ammunition; (e) pistol and revolver ammunition with expanding projectiles and the projectiles for such ammunition, except in the case of weapons for hunting or for target shooting, for persons entitled to use them;
- .10 (2) category B (firearms subject to authorisation): (a) semi-automatic or repeating short firearms; (b) single-shot firearms with centre-fire percussion; (c) single-shot short firearms with rimfire percussion whose overall length is less than 28 centimetres; (d) semi-automatic long firearms whose magazine and chamber can together hold more than three rounds; (e) semi-automatic long firearms whose magazine and chamber cannot together hold more than three rounds, where the loading device is removable or where it is not certain that the weapon cannot be converted, with ordinary tools, into a weapon whose magazine and chamber can together hold more than three rounds; (f) repeating and semi-automatic long firearms with smooth-bore barrels not exceeding 60 centimetres in length; (g) semi-automatic firearms for civilian use which resemble weapons with automatic mechanisms;
- .11 (3) category C (firearms subject to declaration): (a) repeating long firearms other than those listed in head (2)(f) supra; (b) long firearms with single-shot rifled barrels; (c) semi-automatic long firearms other than those in heads (2)(d)-(2)(f) supra; (d) single-shot short firearms with rimfire percussion whose overall length is not less than 28 centimetres;
- .12 (4) category D (other firearms): single-shot long firearms with smooth-bore barrels; and any essential component of the firearms listed in heads (1)-(4) supra, ie the breach-closing mechanism, the chamber and the barrel of a firearm which, being separate objects, are included in the category of the firearms on which they are or are intended to be mounted (Annex I Pts IIA, IIB).

Objects which correspond to the definition of a 'firearm' are not, however, included in that definition if: (i) they have been rendered permanently unfit for use by the application of technical procedures which are guaranteed by an official body or recognised by such a body; (ii) they are designed for alarm, signalling, life-saving, animal slaughter or harpoon fishing or for industrial or technical purposes, provided that they can be used for the stated purpose only; (iii) they are regarded as antique weapons or reproductions of such where these have not been included in the categories listed in heads (1)-(4) supra and are subject to national laws: Annex I Pt III.

For the purposes of heads (1)-(4) supra, 'short firearm' means a firearm with a barrel not exceeding 30 centimetres or whose overall length does not exceed 60 centimetres; 'long firearm' means any firearm other than a short firearm; 'automatic firearm' means a firearm which reloads automatically each time a round is fired and can fire more than one round with one pull on the trigger; 'semi-automatic firearm' means a firearm which reloads automatically each time a round is fired and can fire only one round with one pull on the trigger; 'repeating firearm' means a firearm which, after a round has been fired, is designed to be reloaded from a magazine or cylinder by means of a manually-operated action; 'single-shot firearm' means a firearm with no magazine which is loaded before each shot by the manual insertion of a round into the chamber or a loading recess at the breech of the barrel; 'ammunition with penetrating projectiles' means ammunition for military use where the projectile is jacketed and has a penetrating hard core; 'ammunition with explosive projectiles' means ammunition for military use where the projectile contains a charge which explodes on impact; and 'ammunition with incendiary projectiles' means ammunition for military use where the projectile contains a chemical mixture which bursts into flame on contact with the air or on impact: Annex I Pt IV.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(8) RECORDS TO BE KEPT AND INFORMATION TO BE PROVIDED BY IMPORTERS OR EXPORTERS OF GOODS OTHER THAN CUSTOMS GOODS/1048. Information in relation to goods imported or exported.

1048. Information in relation to goods imported or exported.

An officer¹ may require any person:

- 2708 (1) concerned with the shipment² for carriage coastwise³ of goods⁴ of which for that purpose an entry is required⁵ or an entry or specification is required⁶; or
- 2709 (2) concerned in the carriage, unloading, landing or loading of goods which are being or have been imported or exported, to furnish in such form as the officer may require any information relating to the goods and to produce and allow the officer to inspect and take extracts from or make copies of any invoice, bill of lading or other book or document⁷ whatsoever relating to the goods⁸. If any person without reasonable cause fails to comply with a requirement so imposed on him, he is liable to a penalty⁹.

Where any prohibition or restriction to which these provisions apply, that is to say, any prohibition or restriction under or by virtue of any enactment with respect to:

- 2710 (a) the exportation of goods to any particular destination; or
- 2711 (b) the exportation of goods of any particular class or description to any particular destination, is for the time being in force, then, if any person about to ship for exportation or to export any goods or, as the case may be, any goods of that class or description, in the course of making entry thereof before shipment or exportation makes a declaration as to the ultimate destination thereof, and the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs have reason to suspect that the declaration is untrue in any material particular, the goods may be detained until the Commissioners are satisfied as to the truth of the declaration, and, if they are not so satisfied, the goods are liable to forfeiture¹⁰.

Any person concerned in the exportation of any goods which are subject to any prohibition or restriction to which the above provisions¹¹ apply, must, if so required by the Commissioners, satisfy the Commissioners that those goods have not reached any destination other than that mentioned in the entry delivered in respect of the goods¹². If any person so required to satisfy the Commissioners fails to do so, then, unless he proves:

- 2712 (i) that he did not consent to or connive at the goods reaching any destination other than that mentioned in the entry delivered in respect of the goods; and
- 2713 (ii) that he took all reasonable steps to secure that the ultimate destination of the goods was not other than that so mentioned, he is liable to a penalty¹³.

1049. Information powers.

Every person who is concerned, in whatever capacity, in the importation or exportation of goods¹, other than customs goods², for which for that purpose an entry is required³ or an entry or specification is required⁴ must:

- 2714 (1) furnish to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁵, within such time and in such form as they may reasonably require, such information relating to the goods or to the importation or exportation as the Commissioners may reasonably specify; and
- 2715 (2) if so required by an officer⁶, produce or cause to be produced for inspection by the officer at the principal place of business of the person upon whom the demand is made or at such other place as the officer may reasonably require, and at such time as the officer may reasonably require, any documents relating to the goods or to the importation or exportation⁷.

Where an officer has power so to require the production of any documents from any such person, he has the like power to require production of the documents concerned from any other person who appears to the officer to be in possession of them; but, where any such other person claims a lien on any document produced by him, the production is without prejudice to the lien⁸. An officer may take copies of, or make extracts from, any document so produced⁹.

If it appears to him to be necessary to do so, an officer may, at a reasonable time and for a reasonable period, remove any document so produced¹⁰ and must, on request, provide a receipt for any document so removed; and, where a lien is claimed on a document so produced¹¹, such removal of the document is not to be regarded as breaking the lien¹². Where a document so removed by an officer is reasonably required for the proper conduct of a business, the officer must, as soon as practicable, provide a copy of the document, free of charge, to the person by whom it was produced or caused to be produced¹³.

Where any documents removed under the powers conferred by the above provisions are lost or damaged, the Commissioners are liable to compensate their owner for any expenses reasonably incurred by him in replacing or repairing the documents¹⁴.

If any person fails to comply with a requirement under the above provisions, he is liable to a penalty¹⁵.

Power to require information or production of documents where origin of goods exported is evidenced under Community law or practice.

1053. Power to require information or production of documents where origin of goods exported is evidenced under Community law or practice.

Where, on the exportation of any goods from the United Kingdom¹, there has been furnished for the purpose of any Community requirement or practice any certificate or other evidence as to the origin of those goods, or as to payments made or relief from duty allowed in any country or territory, then, for the purpose of verifying or investigating that certificate or evidence, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or an officer² may require the exporter³, or any other person appearing to the Commissioners or officer to have been concerned in any way with the goods, or with any goods from which, directly or indirectly, they have been produced or manufactured, or to have been concerned with the obtaining or furnishing of the certificate or evidence:

- 2722 (1) to furnish such information, in such form and within such time, as the Commissioners or officer may specify in the requirement; or
- 2723 (2) to produce for inspection, and to allow the taking of copies or extracts from, such invoices, bills of lading, books or documents⁴ as may be so specified⁵.

Any person who, without reasonable cause, fails to comply with a requirement imposed on him under the above provisions is liable to a penalty⁶.

(9) REGULATION OF THE MOVEMENT OF GOODS ON WHICH DUTY HAS NOT BEEN PAID IN CONTROL AREAS

(i) Power to make Regulations; Penalties

1054. Control of movement of goods to and from inland clearance depot etc.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may by regulations impose conditions and restrictions as respects:

- 2724 (1) the movement of imported goods¹ between the place of importation and a place approved by the Commissioners for the clearance out of charge of such goods, a free zone² or the place of exportation of such goods;
- 2725 (2) the movement of goods between a free zone and a place approved by the Commissioners for the clearance out of charge of such goods, such a place and a free zone and a free zone and another free zone;
- 2726 (3) the movement of goods intended for export between a place approved by the Commissioners for the examination of such goods or a place designated³ by the proper officer⁴ and the place of exportation⁵.

Such regulations may, in particular:

- 2727 (a) require the goods to be moved within such period and by such route as may be specified by or under the regulations;
- 2728 (b) require the goods to be carried in a vehicle⁶ or container⁷ complying with such requirements and secured in such manner as may be so specified;
- 2729 (c) prohibit, except in such circumstances as may be so specified, any unloading or loading of the vehicle or container or any interference with its security⁸.

Any documents⁹ required to be made or produced as a result of regulations so made must be made or produced in such form and manner and contain such particulars as the Commissioners may direct; but the Commissioners may relax any requirement imposed under the regulations that any specific document be made or produced and, if they do so, may impose substituted requirements¹⁰.

If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation so made¹¹ or any requirement imposed by or under any such regulation or a direction so made¹² or any requirement so imposed, that person and the person then in charge of the goods are each liable to a penalty; and any goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture¹³.

Restrictions on the movement of goods.

(ii) Control of the Movement of Goods

1055. Restrictions on the movement of goods.

No imported goods not yet cleared from customs and excise charge are to be moved¹ between their place of importation² and either an approved place³ or a free zone and, in the case of transit goods, between their place of importation and a place of exportation⁴, unless the movement is authorised by the proper officer⁵ upon application made to him⁶.

No goods are to be moved⁷ between:

- 2730 (1) a free zone and a place approved for the clearance out of charge of such goods;
- 2731 (2) such a place and a free zone; and
- 2732 (3) a free zone and another free zone, unless the movement is authorised by the proper officer upon application made to him⁸.

No goods intended for export and made available at an approved place or a place designated by the proper officer for the purposes of examination are to be moved⁹ between any such place and a place of exportation, unless the movement is authorised by the proper officer upon application made to him¹⁰.

Save as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may otherwise allow, the applications referred to above must be made in writing on a document obtained from or approved by the Commissioners for that purpose and must be made:

- 2733 (a) in the case of imported goods, by the importer or the person in charge of the goods;
- 2734 (b) in the case of goods intended for export, by the exporter or the person in charge of the goods; and
- 2735 (c) in any other case, by the proprietor of the goods or the person in charge of the goods¹¹.

Requirement for removal document.

1058. Requirement for removal document.

Before any removal¹ commences, the person by whom, or on whose behalf, the goods are being moved must be in possession of a removal document².

1 For these purposes, 'removal' means a movement of goods which is authorised under the Control of Movement of Goods Regulations 1984, SI 1984/1176; and 'remove' and 'removed' are to be construed accordingly: reg 3.

2 Ibid reg 11. For these purposes, 'removal document' means a document to be obtained from or approved by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs made in such form and containing such particulars as the Commissioners may direct under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 31(2A) (as added) (see PARA 1054 ante) and, for the purpose of the Control of Movement of Goods Regulations 1984, SI 1984/1176, reg 16 (see PARA 1061 post), includes a copy of the application referred to in regs 5-7 (see PARA 1055 ante) stamped by the proper officer: reg 3. Specification of vehicles and routes.

1059. Specification of vehicles and routes.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may, in respect of any class or description of goods, require that vehicles or containers in which goods of a particular class or description are removed are to be of a type specified by them for the removal¹ of such goods².

No person is to remove any goods in respect of which a requirement has been so imposed unless the vehicle or container in which they are carried conforms to such requirement³. The proper officer, upon application made to him by the person in charge of the goods to be removed, may, however, for the purposes of the removal in question, relax any requirement so imposed⁴.

Vehicles and containers proceeding under a removal must be moved by such routes as the Commissioners may specify⁵.

Security of goods, vehicle and containers.

1060. Security of goods, vehicle and containers.

Before any goods are removed¹, they or the vehicle or container carrying them must be secured or identified by any such seals, locks or marks as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may specify².

Where in the United Kingdom seals, locks or marks are affixed for any customs or excise purpose in order to secure or identify the goods to be removed or the vehicles or containers carrying the goods, they must be so affixed by the proper officer or by such other person as the Commissioners may authorise³.

Save:

- 2736 (1) where authorisation has been given by the proper officer⁴; or
- 2737 (2) in accordance with any general or special permission given by the Commissioners; or
- 2738 (3) in an emergency in order to safeguard the goods or to protect life or property, no person may at any time during a removal:

- 2739 (a) wilfully break, open or remove any seal, lock or mark affixed for any customs or excise purpose on any goods or to a vehicle or container; or
- 2740 (b) load or unload or assist in the loading or unloading of a vehicle or container⁵.

Completion of removals, time limits and accidents.

1061. Completion of removals, time limits and accidents.

Save as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs otherwise allow, the person in charge of goods proceeding under a removal¹ must complete the removal by producing the goods, together with the vehicle or container in which they are carried if such vehicle or container has been secured or identified, and delivering a removal document² to the proper officer³ at the approved place⁴ or, in the case of goods intended for export, at the place of exportation⁵.

The Commissioners may allow the removal of goods intended for export to be completed by the person in charge of the goods placing them, together with any container in which they are carried if such container has been secured or identified, under the control of the loader⁶ and delivering the removal document to him⁷.

The person in charge of goods proceeding under a removal must complete the removal within such period as the Commissioners may specify⁸.

Where, as a result of an accident or other occurrence arising during a removal, a vehicle or container is delayed or diverted from a specified route, the person in charge of the goods must as soon as practicable give sufficient notification of the accident or occurrence as required by the Commissioners to the local office of Revenue and Customs⁹.

(iii) Commissioners' Powers to make Directions

1062. Control of movement of uncleared goods within or between port or airport and other places.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may from time to time give general or special directions as to the manner in which, and the conditions under which, goods¹ chargeable with any duty which has not been paid, drawback goods² and any other goods which have not been cleared out of charge, or any class or description of such goods, may be moved within the limits of any port³ or customs and excise airport⁴ or between any port or customs and excise airport and any other place⁵. Any directions so given may require that any such goods are to be moved only:

- 2741 (1) by persons licensed by the Commissioners for that purpose;
- 2742 (2) in such ships⁶, aircraft or vehicles⁷ or by such other means as may be approved by the Commissioners for that purpose; and any such licence or approval may be granted for such period and subject to such conditions and restrictions as the Commissioners think fit and may be revoked at any time by the Commissioners⁸.

Any person contravening or failing to comply with any direction given or condition or restriction imposed, or the terms of any licence granted, by the Commissioners under the above provisions is liable to a penalty⁹.

Any ship for the time being engaged in the trade of carrying goods¹ coastwise between places in the United Kingdom² or between a place in the United Kingdom and a place in the Isle of Man is³, for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979⁴, a coasting ship⁵.

No goods not yet entered on importation⁶ and no goods for exportation are to be carried⁷ in a ship engaged in the trade of carrying goods coastwise⁸.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may from time to time give directions as to what trade by water between places in the United Kingdom or between a place in the United Kingdom and a place in the Isle of Man is or is not to be deemed to be carrying goods coastwise⁹.

1064. Coasting trade; exceptional provisions.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may, subject to such conditions and restrictions as they see fit to impose, permit a ship¹ to carry goods² coastwise notwithstanding that the ship is carrying goods brought therein from some place outside the United Kingdom³ and not yet entered on importation⁴; but a ship so permitted to carry goods coastwise is not, for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979⁵, a coasting ship⁶.

The Commissioners may, subject to such conditions and restrictions as they see fit to impose, permit goods brought by an importing ship to some place in the United Kingdom but consigned to and intended to be delivered at some other such place to be transhipped⁷ before due entry of the goods has been made to another ship for carriage coastwise to that other place⁸.

Where any ship has begun to load goods at any place in the United Kingdom for exportation or as stores⁹ for use on a voyage to an eventual destination outside the United Kingdom and is to go to any other such place to complete loading, the Commissioners may, subject to such conditions as they see fit to impose, permit that ship to carry other goods coastwise until it has completed its loading¹⁰.

If, where any goods are so permitted to be carried coastwise in any ship, the goods are loaded, unloaded, carried or otherwise dealt with contrary to any condition or restriction imposed by the Commissioners, the goods are liable to forfeiture; and the master¹¹ of the ship is liable to a penalty¹².

1065. Clearance of coasting ship and transire.

Subject to the following provisions and save as permitted by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹, before any coasting ship departs from any port², the master³ thereof must deliver to the proper officer⁴ an account in such form and manner and containing such particulars as the Commissioners may direct; and that account, when signed by the proper officer, is the transire, that is to say, the clearance of the ship from that port and the pass for any goods to which the account relates⁵.

The Commissioners may, subject to such conditions as they see fit to impose, grant a general transire in respect of any coasting ship and any goods⁶ carried therein⁷. Any such general transire may be revoked by the proper officer by notice in writing delivered to the master or the owner of the ship or to any member of the crew on board the ship⁸.

If a coasting ship departs from any port without a correct account having been delivered, except as permitted by the Commissioners or under and in compliance with any conditions imposed on the grant of a general transire, the master is liable to a penalty⁹.

1066. Additional powers of officers in relation to coasting ships.

The proper officer¹ may examine any goods² carried or to be carried in a coasting ship³ at any time while they are on board the ship or at any place in the United Kingdom to which the goods have been brought for shipment⁴ in, or at which they have been unloaded from, the ship⁵. For the purpose of so examining any goods, the proper officer may require any container⁶ to be opened or unpacked; and any such opening or unpacking and any repacking must be done by or at the expense of the proprietor⁷ of the goods⁸.

The proper officer:

- 2743 (1) may board and search a coasting ship at any time during its voyage;
- 2744 (2) may at any time require any document which should properly be on board a coasting ship to be produced or brought to him for examination; and, if the master⁹ of the ship fails to produce or bring any such document to the proper officer when required, he is liable to a penalty¹⁰.

1067. Power to make regulations as to carriage of goods coastwise etc.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may make regulations as to the carriage of goods² coastwise:

- 2745 (1) regulating the loading and unloading and the making waterborne for loading of the goods;
- 2746 (2) requiring the keeping and production by the master³ of a coasting ship⁴ of such record of the cargo carried in that ship as may be prescribed by the regulations⁵.

If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation so made, he is liable to a penalty; and any goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture⁶.

1068. Carriage of goods coastwise.

No person is to unload goods from any ship arriving coastwise or load or make waterborne for loading goods for carriage coastwise:

- 2747 (1) outside such hours as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may appoint;
- 2748 (2) except at an approved wharf;
- 2749 (3) without the authority of the proper officer of customs and excise; or
- 2750 (4) on a Sunday or a holiday, save as permitted by the Commissioners¹.

Within 24 hours after the arrival at the port or place of discharge of any ship² carrying goods coastwise, and before any goods are unloaded, the master must, by himself or his agent, deliver to the collector or other proper officer the transire or other prescribed document giving particulars of the goods carried in the ship³.

No person is to unload any imported goods which have been transhipped and carried coastwise⁴ before due entry thereof⁵ has been made, except where the goods are unloaded for deposit in a transit shed and duly deposited therein⁶.

The master of every coasting ship must keep or cause to be kept a cargo book, must produce the same on demand to any officer, and must permit him to make any note therein⁷.

The master must enter in the cargo book the names of the ship, the master and the port to which the ship belongs, and, unless the Commissioners otherwise direct, must enter therein:

- 2751 (a) the name of the port to which the ship is bound on each voyage;
- 2752 (b) at every port of loading, the name of such port and an account of all goods there taken on board, stating:

158

- 26. (i) the description of the packages and the quantities and descriptions of the goods therein;
- 27. (ii) the quantities and descriptions of any goods stowed loose;
- 28. (iii) which of any such goods are foreign; and
- 29. (iv) the names of the respective shippers and consignees;

159

- 2753 (c) at every port of unloading, the name of such port, an account of all goods delivered out of the ship stating the particulars specified in heads (b)(i) to (b)(iv) above and the date of such delivery; and
- 2754 (d) the respective times of departure⁸ from every port of loading and of arrival at every port of unloading⁹.

1069. Offences in connection with carriage of goods coastwise.

If, in the case of any coasting ship¹:

- 2755 (1) any goods² are taken on board or removed therefrom at sea or at any place outside the United Kingdom³; or
- 2756 (2) except for some unavoidable cause, the ship touches at any place outside the United Kingdom or deviates from its voyage; or
- 2757 (3) the ship touches at any place outside the United Kingdom and the master⁴ does not report that fact in writing to the proper officer⁵ at the first port⁶ at which the ship arrives thereafter, the master of the ship is liable to a penalty⁷.

Any goods which are shipped and carried coastwise, or which, having been carried coastwise, are unloaded in any place in the United Kingdom, otherwise than in accordance with the statutory provisions⁸, or which are brought to any place for the purpose of being so shipped and carried coastwise, are liable to forfeiture⁹.

If any goods:

- 2758 (a) are carried coastwise or shipped as stores¹⁰ in a coasting ship contrary to any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force with respect thereto under or by virtue of any enactment; or
- 2759 (b) are brought to any place in the United Kingdom for the purpose of being so carried or shipped, those goods are liable to forfeiture; and the shipper or intending shipper of the goods is liable to a penalty¹¹. In any case where a person would otherwise be guilty of:

- 2760 (i) such an offence¹²; and
- 2761 (ii) a corresponding offence under the enactment or other instrument imposing the prohibition or restriction in question, being an offence for which a fine or other penalty is expressly provided by that enactment or other instrument,

(ii) Small Craft and Hovercraft

1070. Power to regulate small craft.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may make general regulations with respect to ships not exceeding 100 tons register² and hovercraft³, of whatever size ('small ships'); and any such regulations may, in particular, make provision as to the purposes for which and the limits within which such ships may be used⁴. Different provision may be made by such regulations for different classes or descriptions of small ships⁵.

The Commissioners may, in respect of any small ship, grant a licence exempting that ship from all or any of the provisions of any regulations so made⁶. Any such licence may be granted for such period, for such purposes and subject to such conditions and restrictions as the Commissioners see fit, and may be revoked at any time by the Commissioners⁷.

Any small ship which, except under and in accordance with the terms of a licence so granted, is used contrary to any regulation so made, and any ship granted such a licence which is found not to have that licence on board, is liable to forfeiture⁸.

Every boat belonging to a British ship⁹ and every other vessel¹⁰ not exceeding 100 tons register, not being a fishing vessel registered under Part II of the Merchant Shipping Act 1995¹¹, and every hovercraft, must be marked in such manner as the Commissioners may direct; and any such boat, vessel or hovercraft which is not so marked is liable to forfeiture¹².

(11) PREVENTION OF SMUGGLING

1071. Power to haul up revenue vessels, patrol coasts etc.

The person in command or charge of any vessel¹ in the service of Her Majesty which is engaged in the prevention of smuggling² may haul up and leave that vessel on any part of the coast or of the shore or bank of any river or creek and may moor that vessel at any place below high water mark on any part of the coast or of any such shore or bank³.

Any officer⁴ and any person acting in aid of an officer or otherwise duly engaged in the prevention of smuggling may for that purpose patrol upon and pass freely along and over any part of the coast or of the shore or bank of any river or creek, over any railway or aerodrome⁵ or land adjoining any aerodrome, and over any land in Northern Ireland within the prescribed area⁶.

Nothing in the above provisions authorises the use of or entry into any garden or pleasure ground⁷.

- 2762 (1) at any time while the goods are in the United Kingdom or within the limits of any port³ or on passage between ports in the United Kingdom or between a port in the United Kingdom and a port in the Isle of Man, the seal, lock or mark is wilfully⁴ and prematurely removed or tampered with by any person; or
- 2763 (2) at any time before the seal, lock or mark is lawfully removed, any of the goods are wilfully removed by any person, that person and the person then in charge of the goods⁵ are each liable to a penalty⁶.

Where, in pursuance of any Community requirement or practice⁷ which relates to the movement of goods between countries or of any international agreement to which the United Kingdom is a party and which so relates:

- 2764 (a) a seal, lock or mark is used, whether in the United Kingdom or elsewhere, to secure or identify any goods for customs or excise purposes; and
- 2765 (b) at any time while the goods are in the United Kingdom, the seal, lock or mark is wilfully and prematurely removed or tampered with by any person, 1076. Forfeiture of ship jettisoning cargo etc.

If any part of the cargo of a ship¹ is thrown overboard or is staved or destroyed to prevent seizure:

- 2769 (1) while the ship is in United Kingdom waters²; or
- 2770 (2) where the ship, having been properly summoned to bring to by any vessel³ in the service of Her Majesty, fails so to do and chase is given, at any time during the chase, the ship is liable to forfeiture⁴.

For these purposes, a ship is deemed to have been properly summoned to bring to if the vessel making the summons did so by means of an international signal code or other recognised means and while flying its proper ensign and, in the case of a ship which is not a British ship⁵, if, at the time when the summons was made, the ship was in United Kingdom waters⁶.

(12) ENFORCEMENT POWERS RELATING TO CUSTOMS DUTIES

(i) In general

1079. Application of provisions.

The following provisions relating to enforcement powers¹ apply to any person carrying on a trade or business² which consists of or includes any of the following activities:

- 2771 (1) importing or exporting any goods³ of a class or description subject to a duty of customs⁴, whether or not in fact chargeable with that duty;
- 2772 (2) producing, manufacturing or applying a process to them;
- 2773 (3) buying, selling or dealing in them;
- 2774 (4) handling or storing them;
- 2775 (5) financing or facilitating any activity mentioned in heads (1) to (4) above⁵.

1 Ie the Finance Act 1994 Pt I Ch III (ss 20-27) (as amended).

2 For these purposes, any reference to the business of a person to whom ibid Pt I Ch III (as amended) applies is a reference to the trade or business carried on by him as mentioned in s 20(1): s 20(3)(b).

3 For these purposes, 'goods' has the same meaning as in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 (see PARA 413 note 1 ante): see the Finance Act 1994 s 20(4).

4 For these purposes, 'duty of customs' includes any agricultural levy: ibid s 20(2). As to the abolition of agricultural levies see the Uruguay Round Agreement on Agriculture (Marrakesh, 15 April 1994; Cm 2559; Misc 17 (1994); OJ L336, 23.12.94, p 22).

5 Finance Act 1994 s 20(1). Part I Ch III has effect and is to be construed as if it were contained in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979: Finance Act 1994 s 20(4). In consequence of the provision made by ss 21-27 (see PARA 1080 et seq post), any power under: (1) the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 75A (as added and amended) (see PARA 1045 ante), s 75B (as added) (see PARA 1046 ante) or s 75C (as added and amended) (see PARA 1047 ante) to require a person importing or exporting goods to keep or preserve records; or (2) s 77A (as added and amended) (see PARA 1049 ante), s 77B (as added) (see PARA 1050 ante) or s 77C (as added and amended) (see PARA 1051 ante) to require a person to furnish information or produce documents relating to imported or exported goods, ceases to be exercisable in relation to a person to the extent that the goods are customs goods: Finance Act 1994 s 20(5). For these purposes, 'customs goods' means any goods mentioned in s 20(1)(a) (see head (1) in the text): s 20(3)(a).

(ii) Keeping Records

1080. Requirements about keeping records.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may by regulations require any person to whom these provisions apply¹:

- 2776 (1) to keep such records as may be prescribed in the regulations; and
- 2777 (2) to preserve those records for such period not exceeding four years as may be prescribed in the regulations or for such lesser period as the Commissioners may require².

The Commissioners may also require any person who is not carrying on a trade or business³ which consists of or includes the importation or exportation of customs goods⁴ and is concerned in some other capacity in such importation or exportation:

- 2778 (a) to keep such records as they may specify; and
- 2779 (b) to preserve those records for such period not exceeding four years as they may specify⁵.

A duty imposed under head (2) or head (b) above to preserve records may be discharged by the preservation of the information contained in them by such means as the Commissioners may approve⁶. On so giving their approval, the Commissioners may impose such reasonable requirements as appear to them necessary for securing that the information will be as readily available to them as if the records themselves had been preserved⁷.

Such regulations may make different provision for different cases and may be framed by reference to such records as may be specified in any notice published by the Commissioners in pursuance of the regulations and not withdrawn by a further notice⁸.

Any person who fails to comply with a requirement imposed by virtue of the above provisions is liable to a penalty⁹.

1081. Customs trader's records to be kept and preserved.

A customs trader¹ who receives, prepares, maintains or issues a record consisting of²:

- 2780 (1) an order;
- 2781 (2) an invoice;
- 2782 (3) a delivery note;
- 2783 (4) a credit note;
- 2784 (5) a debit note;
- 2785 (6) a record³ relating to an importation or an exportation;
- 2786 (7) a statement of account;
- 2787 (8) a record of payment or of receipt;
- 2788 (9) a journal or ledger;
- 2789 (10) a profit and loss account, trading account, management account, management report or balance sheet;
- 2790 (11) an internal or an external auditor's report;
- 2791 (12) a record relating to any drawback, remission, repayment or reimbursement of, or relief from, duty⁴;
- 2792 (13) a record required by or under the customs and excise Acts⁵;
- 2793 (14) a stock record;
- 2794 (15) any other record⁶ maintained for a trading or business purpose, relating to a business must:

- 2795 (a) in the case of a received record, keep and preserve it;
- 2796 (b) in the case of an issued record, keep and preserve a copy of it; and
- 2797 (c) in the case of a record that is prepared or maintained and which has not been received or which is not issued, preserve it⁷.

1 For these purposes, 'customs trader' means any person carrying on a trade or business which consists of or includes any of the activities mentioned in the Finance Act 1994 s 20(1) (see PARA 1079 heads (1)-(5) ante): Customs Traders (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1203, reg 2(1).

2 For these purposes, the items listed include anything in any form that it may take when the information, to which the item relates, is received, or, as the case may be, when that information is dealt with for the purpose of preparing, maintaining or issuing an item, and which it may take subsequently whilst it is being preserved by the revenue trader who received it or, as the case may be, prepared or maintained it or issued it: ibid regs 2(2), 3, Sch 1, note 1. 'Anything' includes: (1) an item described in Sch 2, ie: (a) a drawing, graph, map or plan; (b) a photocopy; (c) a disc, soundtrack, tape or other device in which sounds or other data, not being visual images, are recorded so as to be capable, with or without the aid of some other equipment, of being reproduced therefrom; (d) any film, microfilm, negative, tape or other device in which one or more visual images are recorded so as to be capable (as aforesaid) of being reproduced therefrom; (e) or a transcript or reproduction, containing information which is expressly or impliedly described in Sch 1 paras 1-15 or which is obtained for a purpose described therein; and (2) anything which is commonly called or referred to as an account or report: Sch 1, note 2, Sch 4 paras 1-5. 'Form' includes documentary or other written form: Sch 1, note 3.

3 As to the meaning of 'record' see ibid Sch 1, notes 4, 6, 7.

4 For these purposes, 'duty' means any duty of customs and includes any agricultural levy of the European Community: ibid Sch 1, note 5. As to the abolition of agricultural levies see the Uruguay Round Agreement on Agriculture (Marrakesh, 15 April 1994; Cm 2559; Misc 17 (1994); OJ L336, 23.12.94, p 22).

5 For the meaning of 'the customs and excise Acts' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

Records of supplementary and simplified declarations by customs traders.

1082. Records of supplementary and simplified declarations by customs traders.

A customs trader¹ required to furnish a supplementary declaration² must keep and preserve a copy of every such supplementary declaration made by him or on his behalf and a copy of every simplified declaration³ so made⁴. Such a trader may instead keep and preserve a record of all the information set out in those declarations⁵. In cases where the declarations are made using a data-processing technique⁶, the information must consist of all data sent by him or on his behalf for that purpose⁷.

1 For the meaning of 'customs trader' see PARA 1081 note 1 ante.

2 I.e. a declaration required to be made by EC Council Regulation 2913/92 (OJ L302, 19.10.92, p 1) (the 'Community Customs Code') art 76(2): see PARA 96 ante.

3 For these purposes, 'simplified declaration' means a declaration within the meaning of EC Commission Regulation 2454/93 (OJ L253, 11.10.93, p 1) art 253(2) (see PARA 96 ante): Customs Traders (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1203, reg 4(4).

4 Ibid reg 4(1).

5 Ibid reg 4(2).

6 For these purposes, 'data-processing technique' has the meaning given by EC Commission Regulation 2454/93 (OJ L253, 11.10.93, p 1) art 4a (as added) (see PARA 87 note 4 ante): Customs Traders (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1203, reg 4(4).

Furnishing of information and production of documents.

(iii) Furnishing of Information; Production of Documents

1088. Furnishing of information and production of documents.

Every person to whom these provisions apply¹ must:

- 2802 (1) furnish the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, within such time and in such form as they may reasonably require, with such information relating to his business² as they may reasonably specify³;
- 2803 (2) if required to do so by an officer⁴, produce or cause to be produced for inspection by the officer at that person's principal place of business or at such other place as the officer may reasonably require and at such time as the officer may reasonably require any documents⁵ which relate to his business⁶.

Where it appears to an officer that any documents which relate to a business of a person to whom these provisions apply⁷ are in the possession of another person, the officer may require that other person, at such time and place as the officer may reasonably require, to produce those documents or cause them to be produced⁸.

Every person who is not carrying on a trade or business which consists of or includes the importation or exportation of customs goods⁹ and is concerned in some other capacity in such importation or exportation¹⁰ must:

- 2804 (a) furnish the Commissioners, within such time and in such form as they may reasonably require, with such information relating to the importation or exportation of customs goods in which he is concerned as they may reasonably specify¹¹;
- 2805 (b) if required to do so by an officer, produce or cause to be produced for inspection by the officer at such time and place as the officer may reasonably require, any documents which relate to the importation or exportation of customs goods in which he is concerned¹².

An officer may take copies of, or make extracts from, any document produced under the above provisions¹³.

If it appears to an officer to be necessary to do so, he may, at a reasonable time and for a reasonable period, remove any document produced under the above provisions¹⁴. Where a document is so removed:

- 2806 (i) if the person from whom the document is removed so requests, he must be given a record of what was removed;
- 2807 (ii) if the document is reasonably required for the proper conduct of any business, the person by whom the document was produced or caused to be produced must be provided as soon as practicable with a copy of the document free of charge;

2808 (iii) if the document is lost or damaged, the Commissioners are liable to compensate the owner of it for any expenses reasonably incurred by him in replacing or repairing it¹⁵.

If a person claims a lien on any document produced by him¹⁶, the production of the document is without prejudice to the lien and the removal of the document is not to be regarded as breaking the lien¹⁷.

Any person who fails to comply with a requirement imposed under the above provisions is liable to a penalty¹⁸.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(12) ENFORCEMENT POWERS RELATING TO CUSTOMS DUTIES/(iii) Furnishing of Information; Production of Documents/1091. Procedure when documents removed.

1091. Procedure when documents removed.

An officer¹ who removes any document² in exercise of a power conferred on him³ must, if so requested by a person showing himself to be the occupier of premises from which it is removed or to have had custody or control of it immediately before the removal, provide that person with a record of what he removed⁴. The officer must provide the record within a reasonable time from the making of the request for it⁵.

If a request for permission to be granted access to any document which has been removed by an officer and is retained by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs for the purposes of investigating an offence is made to the officer in charge of the investigation⁶ by a person who had custody or control of the document immediately before it was so removed or by someone acting on behalf of such a person, the officer must allow the person who made the request access to it under the supervision of an officer⁷.

If a request for a photograph or copy of any such document is made to the officer in charge of the investigation by a person who had custody or control of the document immediately before it was so removed, or by someone acting on behalf of such a person, the officer must allow the person who made the request access to it under the supervision of an officer for the purpose of photographing it or copying it, or photograph or copy it, or cause it to be photographed or copied⁸. Where any document is so photographed or copied, the photograph or copy must be supplied to the person who made the request⁹. The photograph or copy must be supplied within a reasonable time from the making of the request¹⁰.

There is no duty under the above provisions to grant access to, or to supply a photograph or copy of, any document if the officer in charge of the investigation for the purposes of which it was removed has reasonable grounds for believing that to do so would prejudice:

- 2814 (1) that investigation;
- 2815 (2) the investigation of an offence other than the offence for the purposes of which the document was removed; or
- 2816 (3) any criminal proceedings which may be brought as a result of the investigation of which he is in charge or any such investigation as is mentioned in head (2) above¹¹.

Where, on an application by way of complaint in the case of a failure to comply with any of the above provisions by the occupier of the premises from which the document in question was removed or by the person who had custody or control of it immediately before it was so removed and, in any other case, by the person who has such custody or control, a magistrates' court is satisfied that a person has failed to comply with a requirement imposed on him under the above provisions, it may order that person to comply with the requirement within such time and in such manner as may be specified in the order¹².

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may make regulations¹ applying in cases where any question as to the duties of customs chargeable on any goods² depends on the use to be made of them³.

In cases in which a Community instrument⁴ makes provision for the purpose of securing that the relevant use is made of the goods, regulations so made may make provision for any matter which under the instrument is required or authorised to be dealt with by the authorities of member states or which otherwise arises out of the instrument; and in other cases regulations so made may make such provision for that purpose as appears to the Commissioners to be necessary or expedient⁵.

1093. General requirements.

Save as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may otherwise allow, an authorised person¹ must allocate a serial number to each consignment of end-use goods² imported or received by him³.

An authorised person must keep records containing particulars of importation, receipt, disposal and use by him of end-use goods, and must provide such other information as the Commissioners may require to check the use to which end-use goods have been put⁴. The records required to be so kept by an authorised person must be produced for inspection by the proper officer⁵ at any reasonable time and must be preserved for a period of one year from the date on which the end-use goods to which they refer were either put to the prescribed use⁶ or transferred to another person⁷.

An authorised person must permit the proper officer at any reasonable time to examine and take account of end-use goods imported or received by him and must provide such assistance as the officer may require for those purposes⁸.

Where an authorised person transfers end-use goods to another person before those goods have been put to the prescribed use, he must notify the proper officer without delay of such transfer in such form and manner as the Commissioners may require⁹.

Save as the Commissioners may otherwise allow, an authorised person must without delay notify the proper officer in writing of the date of arrival of:

- 2817 (1) end-use goods at his premises;
- 2818 (2) particulars of any end-use goods lost or damaged in transit;
- 2819 (3) completion of the prescribed use;
- 2820 (4) particulars of any end-use goods which he has not put to the prescribed use within the prescribed periods¹⁰ from the making of entry or removal from warehouse or the date of receipt thereof;
- 2821 (5) particulars of any end-use goods which he cannot put to the prescribed use on account of reasons relating to his circumstances or to the goods and, in the case of goods of a specified description, economic reasons justified to the satisfaction of the Commissioners; and
- 2822 (6) the delivery of end-use goods to a vessel not berthed at his premises¹¹.

Save as the Commissioners may otherwise allow, an authorised person must each year on a date agreed with the proper officer take stock of all end-use goods at his premises and must forthwith furnish a return thereof to the proper officer¹². The return of stock so required must include:

- 2823 (a) the consignment serial number¹³ for each consignment or part thereof of end-use goods; and
- 2824 (b) the quantity and description of the goods to which each consignment serial number relates¹⁴; and every return so required must be dated and signed by the authorised person as being correct and complete¹⁵.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(i) Quantification of Duty on Imported Goods/A. DETERMINATION OF CUSTOMS DUTY BY END-USE/1094. Goods covered by the Treaty establishing the European Coal and Steel Community.

1094. Goods covered by the Treaty establishing the European Coal and Steel Community.

No person is to import or receive end-use goods¹ covered by the Treaty establishing the European Coal and Steel Community² ('ECSC goods') except under or in accordance with an authorisation in that behalf issued to him by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³; and the Commissioners may limit the period of validity of an authorisation so given⁴. The Commissioners may revoke the authorisation of any authorised person who does not observe, or fails to comply with, any obligation or condition imposed⁵ on him⁶.

An authorised person may transfer end-use goods before they have been put to the prescribed use⁷, provided that the transferee is also an authorised person; and the transferee is responsible for the observance of all obligations and conditions imposed⁸ as from the date of transfer⁹.

An authorised person must put end-use goods to their prescribed use within one year, or, in the case of goods of a prescribed description¹⁰, five years, from the making of entry, or removal from warehouse, or, if he is not the importer, the date of receipt thereof from another authorised trader, or within such further period as the Commissioners may allow on account of unavoidable accident, force majeure or reasons inherent in the processing of the goods within such periods¹¹.

Except with the approval of the proper officer¹², an authorised person must not:

- 2825 (1) deliver end-use goods of a prescribed description¹³ to a vessel not berthed at his premises; or
- 2826 (2) export end-use goods outside the European Coal and Steel Community; or
- 2827 (3) destroy end-use goods; or
- 2828 (4) otherwise put end-use goods to a use which is not prescribed¹⁴.

Where an authorised person is unable to put end-use goods, other than goods of a prescribed description¹⁵, to the prescribed use on account of reasons relating to his circumstances or to the goods, the Commissioners may permit him to export such goods outside the Community¹⁶ or to destroy them under the supervision of the proper officer¹⁷. Where such goods are permitted to be exported or destroyed, the uncollected import duties¹⁸ are not payable¹⁹. Where such goods are permitted to be destroyed, import duties are chargeable on any products resulting from the destruction thereof at the rates applicable thereto on the date of destruction²⁰.

In the case of goods of a prescribed description²¹, the Commissioners may permit an authorised person:

- 2829 (a) to export such goods outside the Community or to put them to a use other than that prescribed if they consider such permission justified by economic reasons; and
- 2830 (b) to destroy such goods where he is unable to put them to the prescribed use on account of reasons relating to his circumstances or to the goods²².

Where such goods: (i) are permitted to be destroyed, import duties are chargeable on any products resulting from the destruction thereof at the rates applicable thereto on the date of destruction; and (ii) are permitted to be exported, the uncollected import duties are not payable²³.

An authorised person must pay immediately upon demand the amount of uncollected import duties payable on end-use goods when:

- 2831 (A) such goods have not been put to the prescribed use within the required period; or
- 2832 (B) his authorisation is revoked before such goods have been put to the prescribed use; or
- 2833 (C) such goods are transferred to an unauthorised person; or
- 2834 (D) except in specified cases²⁴, such goods are put to a use other than that prescribed²⁵.

Waste and scrap necessarily resulting from the normal working or processing of end-use goods together with losses resulting from natural causes are to be regarded as goods which have been put to the prescribed use²⁶.

The Commissioners, where satisfied that it is necessary, may permit an authorised person to store end-use goods in common with other goods of the same kind and quality and having the same technical and physical characteristics; and in such cases his obligations in respect of end-use goods will be complied with when he has put to the prescribed use a quantity of the goods so stored which is equivalent to the quantity of the end-use goods²⁷.

UPDATE

1094 Goods covered by the Treaty establishing the European Coal and Steel Community

TEXT AND NOTES 2, 3, 10, 16--By virtue of art 97, the ECSC Treaty has now expired. Since 24 July 2002, the sectors previously covered by this Treaty, and the procedural rules and other secondary legislation derived from it, have been subject to the rules of the EC Treaty as well as the procedural rules and other secondary legislation derived from the EC Treaty.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. Frozen beef.

1095. Frozen beef.

Save as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may otherwise allow, an importer of certain types of frozen beef must allocate a serial number to each consignment of such beef imported or received by him¹.

An importer or processor of such beef must keep records containing particulars of importation, receipt and processing by him thereof, and must provide such other information as may be necessary to prove that the beef has been processed into the prescribed product within the prescribed period². The records required to be so kept by an importer or processor of such beef must be produced for inspection by the proper officer³ at any reasonable time and must be preserved for a period of one year from the date on which the beef to which they relate was either processed into the prescribed product or transferred to another person⁴.

An importer or processor of such beef must permit the proper officer at any reasonable time to examine and take account of the beef and products derived therefrom at his premises and must provide such assistance as the officer may require for those purposes⁵.

Save as the Commissioners may otherwise allow, an importer or processor of such beef must notify the proper officer without delay and in such form and manner as the Commissioners may require of:

- 2835 (1) the arrival of such beef at his premises;
- 2836 (2) completion of processing of such beef into the prescribed products; and
- 2837 (3) the quantity of such beef which has not been processed into the prescribed products within the prescribed period⁶.

1 Import Duties (End-Use Goods) Regulations 1977, SI 1977/2042, reg 23. Part IV (regs 22-26) applies for the implementation of the system of control provided by EC Council Regulation 597/77 (OJ L76, 24.3.77, p 1) (repealed: see now EC Council Regulation 1977/95 (OJ L191, 12.8.95, p 8)) in relation to certain types of frozen beef intended for processing in respect of which total or partial suspension of levy has been claimed; and 'beef' is to be construed accordingly: Import Duties (End-Use Goods) Regulations 1977, SI 1977/2042, reg 22. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

Charge of excise duty on manufactured or composite imported articles.

B. EXCISE DUTY ON COMPOSITE IMPORTED GOODS

1096. Charge of excise duty on manufactured or composite imported articles.

If any imported goods¹ contain as a part or ingredient thereof any article chargeable with excise duty, excise duty is chargeable on the goods in respect of each such article according to the quantity thereof appearing to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs to be used in the manufacture or preparation of the goods².

Where, in the opinion of the Treasury, it is necessary for the protection of the revenue, such imported goods are chargeable with the amount of excise duty with which they would be chargeable if they consisted wholly of the chargeable article or, if the goods contain more than one such article, of that one of the chargeable articles which will yield the highest amount of excise duty³.

The above provisions do not apply where other provision is made by any other enactment relating to excise duties on imported goods⁴.

Any rebate which can be allowed by law on any article when separately charged must be allowed in charging goods under the above provisions in respect of any quantity of that article used in the manufacture or preparation of the goods⁵.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante. As to the duty on imported goods see PARAS 970 et seq ante, 1097 et seq post.

2 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 126(1). Section 126(3), Sch 2 (see PARAS 1097, 1110 post) have effect with respect to the excise duties to be charged, and the excise drawbacks to be allowed, on imported composite goods containing a dutiable part or ingredient and with respect to rebates and drawbacks of excise duties charged in accordance with Sch 2: s 126(3). See also the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 11 (as amended) (imported goods not fit for human consumption: see PARA 413 ante); and the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 3 (hydrocarbon oil as ingredient of imported goods: see PARA 510 ante). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(i) Quantification of Duty on Imported Goods/B. EXCISE DUTY ON COMPOSITE IMPORTED GOODS/1097. Duties payable.

1097. Duties payable.

Where imported goods¹ of any class or description are chargeable² with a duty of excise in respect of any article contained in the goods as a part or ingredient of them and it appears to the Treasury, on the recommendation of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, that to charge the duty according to the quantity of the article used in the manufacture or preparation of the goods³ is inconvenient and of no material advantage to the revenue or to importers⁴ of goods of that class or description, then the Treasury may by order give a direction in relation to goods of that class or description under and in accordance with the following provisions⁵.

Such an order may direct that, in the case of goods of the class or description to which it applies, the duty is to be calculated in such of the following ways as may be provided by the order, that is to say:

2838 (1) at a rate specified in the order by reference to the weight, quantity or value of the goods; or 2839 (2) by reference to a quantity so specified of the article, and, where material, on the basis that the article is of such value, type or quality as may be so specified⁶.

If it appears to the Treasury, on the recommendation of the Commissioners, that, in the case of goods of any class or description, the net amounts payable in the absence of any such direction are insignificant, the order may direct that any such goods are to be treated for the purpose of the duty as not containing the article in respect of which the duty is chargeable⁷.

If it appears to the Treasury, on the recommendation of the Commissioners, that goods of any class or description are substantially of the same nature and use as if they consisted wholly of the article in respect of which the duty is chargeable, the order may direct that any such goods are to be treated for the purpose of the duty as consisting wholly of that article⁸. In making such an order, the Treasury must have regard to the quantity and, where material, the type or quality of the article in question appearing to them, on the advice of the Commissioners, to be ordinarily used in the manufacture or preparation of goods of the class or description to which the order applies which are imported into the United Kingdom⁹.

Where a direction given by the Treasury¹⁰ is in force as regards goods of any class or description and any article contained in them, and goods of that class or description are imported into the United Kingdom containing a quantity of that article such as, in the opinion of the Commissioners, to suggest that advantage is being taken of the direction for the purpose of evading duty chargeable on the article, the Commissioners may, notwithstanding the direction, require that on those goods the duty in question is to be calculated as if they consisted wholly of that article or, if the Commissioners see fit, is to be calculated according to the quantity of the article actually contained in the goods¹¹.

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 126(3), Sch 2 paras 1(1), 9. The power to make orders under Sch 2 is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of the House of Commons: Sch 2 para 8. As to the Treasury see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) PARAS 512-517. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. Nothing in Sch 1 para 1 or Sch 2 para 2 (see the text and notes 10-11 infra) affects the powers of the Treasury under s 126(2) (see PARA 1096 ante); and any goods as regards which a direction under s 126(2) is for the time being in force are deemed to be excepted from any order under Sch 2 para 1: Sch 2 paras 3, 9.

Where any order under Sch 2 para 1 or Sch 2 para 5 (see PARA 1110 post) directs that, for the purpose of any duty or of any drawback, goods are to be treated as not containing or as consisting wholly of a particular article, the goods are to be so treated also for the purpose of determining whether any other duty is chargeable or any other drawback may be allowed, as the case may be; but any duty or drawback which is charged or allowed must be calculated, notwithstanding the direction, by reference to the actual quantity and value of the goods and, except for the duty or drawback to which the direction relates, by reference to their actual composition: Sch 2 para 6.

Where a resolution passed by the House of Commons has statutory effect under the Provisional Collection of Taxes Act 1968 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 20) in relation to any duty of excise charged on imported goods, and any provision about that duty contained in an order under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 Sch 2 para 1 is expressed to be made in view of the resolution, then that provision may be varied or revoked retrospectively by an order made not later than one month after the resolution ceases to have statutory effect, and that order may include provision for repayment of any duty overpaid or for other matters arising from its having retrospective effect; but no such order has retrospective effect for the purpose of increasing the duty chargeable on any goods: Sch 2 para 7.

C. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS RELATING TO CUSTOMS AND EXCISE DUTIES ON IMPORTED GOODS

1098. Power to impose restrictions where duty depends on certain matters other than use.

Where any question as to the duties of customs or excise chargeable on any imported goods¹ depends on any matter, other than the use to be made of the goods, not reasonably ascertainable from an examination of the goods, and that question is not in law conclusively determined by the production of any certificate or other document, then, on the importation of those goods, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may impose such conditions as they see fit for the prevention of abuse or the protection of the revenue, including conditions requiring security for the observance of any conditions so imposed².

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS RELATING TO CUSTOMS AND EXCISE DUTIES ON IMPORTED GOODS/1099. Regulations for determining origin of goods.

1099. Regulations for determining origin of goods.

The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision for determining, for the purposes of any duty of customs or excise, the origin of any goods¹ in cases where it does not fall to be determined under a Community regulation or any Act or other instrument having the force of law².

Such regulations may make provision as to the evidence which is to be required or is to be sufficient for the purpose of showing that goods are of a particular origin and make different provision for different purposes and in relation to goods of different descriptions³.

Subject to the provisions of any regulations so made, where in connection with a duty of customs or excise chargeable on any goods any question arises as to the origin of the goods, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may require the importer⁴ of the goods to furnish to them, in such form as they may prescribe, proof of any statement made to them as to any fact necessary to determine that question; and, if such proof is not furnished to their satisfaction, the question may be determined without regard to that statement⁵.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 120(1). In exercise of the power so conferred the Secretary of State made the Origin of Goods (Petroleum Products) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1 (amended by SI 1992/3289), but revoked these by the Origin of Goods (Petroleum Products) (Revocation) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2266. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(i) Quantification of Duty on Imported Goods/C. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS RELATING TO CUSTOMS AND EXCISE DUTIES ON IMPORTED GOODS/1100. Valuation of goods for purpose of ad valorem duties.

1100. Valuation of goods for purpose of ad valorem duties.

For the purposes of any duty for the time being chargeable on any imported goods¹ by reference to their value, whether a Community customs duty² or not, the value of the goods is to be taken according to the rules applicable in the case of Community customs duties; and duty must be paid on that value³. In relation to an importation in the course of trade within the Communities, the value of any imported goods for the above purposes must, however, be determined on the basis of a delivery to the buyer at the port⁴ or place of importation into the United Kingdom⁵.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may make regulations for the purpose of giving effect to the above provisions, and, in particular, for requiring any importer⁶ or other person concerned with the importation of goods to furnish to the Commissioners, in such form as they may require, such information as is in their opinion necessary for a proper valuation of the goods and to produce any books of account or other documents of whatever nature relating to the purchase, importation or sale of the goods by that person⁷. If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation so made, he is liable to a penalty⁸.

The importer⁹ of any goods liable to duty under any enactment under which a duty of customs is chargeable on any goods by reference to their value must at the time of making entry, or within such period thereafter as the Commissioners may in special cases allow, produce a declaration in respect of the goods duly completed in such form as the Commissioners may require, and must give such further particulars as the Commissioners may think necessary for a proper valuation of the goods in such form as the Commissioners may direct¹⁰. The importer must produce at his premises or elsewhere, as the Commissioners may appoint, to an officer¹¹ upon demand any books of account or other documents of whatever nature relating to the purchase, importation or sale of the goods¹².

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante. As to the duty on imported goods see PARA 970 et seq ante.

2 For these purposes, 'Community customs duty' means, in relation to any goods, such duty of customs as may from time to time be fixed for those goods by directly applicable Community provision as the duty chargeable on importation into member states: European Communities Act 1972 s 1(2), Sch 1 Pt II; Interpretation Act 1978 ss 5, 22, Sch 1, Sch 2 para 4(1)(b). As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post.

9 For these purposes, 'importer' includes an agent of the importer making entry and any other person concerned with the importation of the goods into the United Kingdom: Import Duties (Valuation of Goods) Regulations 1935, SR & O 1935/689, reg 4(2).

10 Ibid reg 1. Nothing in the Import Duties (Valuation of Goods) Regulations 1935, SR & O 1935/689, affects the powers of the Commissioners or of their officers (see note 11 infra) under any Act relating to customs: Import Duties (Valuation of Goods) Regulations 1935, SR & O 1935/689, reg 3.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS RELATING TO CUSTOMS AND EXCISE DUTIES ON IMPORTED GOODS/1101. Forfeiture for breach of certain conditions.

1101. Forfeiture for breach of certain conditions.

Where:

- 2840 (1) any imported goods¹ have been relieved from customs or excise duty chargeable on their importation or have been charged with duty at a reduced rate; and
- 2841 (2) any condition or other obligation required to be complied with in connection with the relief or with the charge of duty at that rate is not complied with, the goods are liable to forfeiture².

The above provisions apply whether or not any undertaking or security has been given for compliance with the condition or obligation or for the payment of the duty payable apart therefrom; and the forfeiture of any goods under the above provisions does not affect any liability of any person who has given any such undertaking or security³.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(ii) General Provisions relating to Excise Duties/1102. Deferred payment of excise duty on goods.

(ii) General Provisions relating to Excise Duties

1102. Deferred payment of excise duty on goods.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may by regulations make provision for the payment, in accordance, where any requirement to pay the duty takes effect, with that requirement, of any excise duty on goods¹ of a prescribed² kind to be deferred, in prescribed cases, subject to such conditions or requirements as may be imposed by the regulations or, where the regulations so provide, by the Commissioners³.

Any duty payment of which is deferred under the regulations is to be treated, for prescribed purposes, as it if had been paid⁴.

Where:

2842 (1) any excise duty to which an application for deferment of duty made under the regulations relates is payable on goods on their removal from an excise warehouse⁵; and

2843 (2) the Commissioners are not satisfied that the conditions⁶ in relation to the warehouse have been complied with by the occupier⁷ of the warehouse or that the warehousing regulations⁸ have been complied with by the occupier or by the proprietor⁹ of the goods, the Commissioners may, notwithstanding any provision of the regulations, refuse the application or refuse it in so far as it relates to those goods; but nothing in this provision is to be taken to prejudice the power of the Commissioners to prescribe the cases in which excise duty may be deferred¹⁰.

Regulations under the above provisions may make different provision for goods of different descriptions or for goods of the same description in different circumstances¹¹.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'prescribed' means prescribed by regulations made under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 127A (as added): s 127A(5) (s 27A added by the Finance Act 1983 s 6).

1103. Restriction of delivery of goods.

During any period not exceeding three months specified at any time by order of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs for these purposes, the Commissioners may refuse to allow the removal for home use on payment of duty, or the sending out for home use after the charging of duty, of goods¹ of any class or description chargeable with a duty of excise, notwithstanding payment of that duty, in quantities exceeding those which appear to the Commissioners to be reasonable in the circumstances².

Where the Commissioners have during any such period so exercised their powers with respect to goods of any class or description, then, in the case of any such goods which are removed or sent out for home use after the end of that period, the duties of excise and the rates thereof chargeable on those goods are, notwithstanding any other provision of the customs and excise Acts³ relating to the determination of those duties and rates, those in force at the date of the removal or sending out of the goods⁴.

Repayment of duty where goods returned or destroyed by importer.

(iv) Remittance and Repayment of Duty

1106. Repayment of duty where goods returned or destroyed by importer.

Subject to such conditions as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see fit to impose, where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners:

2844 (1) that goods¹ were imported in pursuance of a contract of sale and that the description, quality, state or condition of the goods was not in accordance with the contract or that the goods were damaged in transit; and

2845 (2) that the importer² with the consent of the seller either returned the goods unused to the seller and for that purpose complied with the statutory provisions³ as to entry⁴ in like manner as if they had been dutiable or restricted goods⁵ or destroyed the goods unused, the importer is entitled to obtain from the Commissioners repayment of any excise duty paid on the importation of the goods⁶.

Nothing in the above provisions applies to goods imported on approval, or on sale or return, or on other similar terms⁷.

1107. Power to remit or repay duty on denatured goods.

Where any goods¹, other than spirits²:

2846 (1) which have been imported but not yet cleared for any purpose for which they may be entered on importation³; or

2847 (2) which are chargeable with a duty the requirement to pay which has not yet taken effect⁴, have by reason of their state or condition ceased to be worth the full duty chargeable thereon and have been denatured in such manner as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may direct and in accordance with such conditions as they see fit to impose, the Commissioners may remit or repay the whole or part of any duty chargeable or paid thereon, or waive repayment of the whole or part of any drawback⁵ paid on their warehousing, upon the delivery of the goods for use for such purposes as the Commissioners may allow⁶.

Where any goods chargeable with duty have gone into home use after having been denatured by mixture with some other substance, any person who separates the goods from that other substance is guilty of an offence and liable to a penalty, and may be arrested; and the goods are liable to forfeiture⁷.

1108. Power to remit or repay duty on goods lost or destroyed etc.

Where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ that any goods chargeable with any duty have been lost or destroyed by unavoidable accident²:

- 2848 (1) after importation but before clearance for any purpose for which they might be entered on importation³; or
- 2849 (2) in the case of goods chargeable with a duty of excise⁴ on their manufacture or production or on their removal from the place of their manufacture or production, at any time before their removal from that place; or
- 2850 (3) while in a warehouse⁵ or Queen's warehouse⁶; or
- 2851 (4) at any time while that duty is otherwise lawfully unpaid, except when payment of that duty has become due but has been allowed by the Commissioners to be deferred⁷; or
- 2852 (5) at any time after drawback⁸ of that duty has been paid, the Commissioners may remit or repay any duty chargeable or paid thereon or waive repayment of any drawback paid on their warehousing⁹.

The Commissioners may, at the request of the proprietor¹⁰ of the goods in question and subject to compliance with such conditions as the Commissioners see fit to impose, permit the destruction of, and waive payment of duty or repayment of drawback on:

- 2853 (a) any part of any warehoused goods which becomes damaged or surplus by reason of the carrying out of any permitted operation on those goods in warehouse, and any refuse resulting from any such operation; and
- 2854 (b) any imported goods not yet cleared for any purpose for which they might be entered on importation or any warehoused goods, being in either case goods which have by reason of their state or condition ceased to be worth the full duty chargeable thereon¹¹.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(v) Drawback/A. IN GENERAL/1109. Power to provide for drawback of excise duty.

(v) Drawback

A. IN GENERAL

1109. Power to provide for drawback of excise duty.

A drawback is a repayment of excise duty previously paid on goods or on articles incorporated into goods or used in the manufacture of goods when the goods are exported, warehoused for export or destroyed.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may, in relation to any duties of excise, by regulations make provision conferring an entitlement to drawback of duty in prescribed¹ cases where the Commissioners are satisfied that goods² chargeable with duty have not been, and will not be, consumed in the United Kingdom³.

The power of the Commissioners so to make regulations includes power:

- 2855 (1) to provide for, or for the imposition of, the conditions to which an entitlement to drawback under the regulations is to be subject;
- 2856 (2) to provide for the determination of the person on whom any such entitlement is conferred;
- 2857 (3) to make different provision for different cases, including different provision for different duties and different goods; and
- 2858 (4) to make such incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provision as the Commissioners think necessary or expedient⁴.

The power of the Commissioners so to make regulations includes⁵ power, in relation to any drawback of duty to which any person is entitled by virtue of regulations under these provisions:

- 2859 (a) to provide for entitlement to the drawback to be cancelled at any time after it has been conferred if there is a contravention⁶ of any of the conditions to which it is subject or in such other circumstances as may be prescribed; and
- 2860 (b) to provide for such persons as may be prescribed to be liable to the Commissioners for sums paid or credited to any person in respect of any drawback that has been cancelled in accordance with any such regulations⁷.

The power of the Commissioners to make regulations under the above provisions is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament⁸.

¹ For these purposes, 'prescribed' means prescribed by regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (as amended): s 2(5).

² For these purposes, 'goods' has the same meaning as in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 (see PARA 413 note 1 ante): Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2(5).

3 Ibid s 2(1), (5) (s 2(5) amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante. As to the regulations made see the Excise Goods (Holding, Movement, Warehousing and REDS) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3135 (amended by SI 1993/1228) (see PARA 651 et seq ante), the Beer Regulations 1993, SI 1993/1228 (amended by SI 1995/3059) (see PARA 432 et seq ante), the Excise Goods (Drawback) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1046 (see PARA 1113 et seq post), the Tobacco Products Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1712 (see PARA 587 et seq ante) and the Excise Duty Points (Etc) (New Member States) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1003 (amended by SI 2006/3159). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

As from a day to be appointed, the Commissioners are also empowered to make provision by regulations conferring an entitlement to drawback of duty, in prescribed cases, on the shipment as stores, or warehousing in an excise warehouse for use as stores, of goods chargeable with duty: Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2(1) (prospectively amended by the Finance Act 1999 s 11(1), (4)). 'Excise warehouse', 'goods', 'shipment', 'stores' and 'warehousing' have the same meanings as in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 (see PARA 413 note 1 ante): Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2(5) (prospectively amended by the Finance Act 1999 s 11(2), (4)). At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed.

5 Ie without prejudice to ibid s 2(2)(d): see head (4) in the text.

6 For these purposes, 'contravention' includes a failure to comply: ibid s 1(7).

7 Ibid s 2(3). Any decision of the Commissioners under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (as amended) to assess any person to excise duty is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see the Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(ba) (as added and amended), s 14(2)-(7), s 15, s 16 (as amended); and PARAS 1240, 1247, 1252 et seq post.

The Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2(3) is prospectively amended by the Finance Act 1998 ss 20, 165, Sch 2 para 6(1), (2), Sch 27 Pt I(5), with the effect that head (b) in the text is deleted. The amendment is to take effect on such day as the Commissioners of may by order made by statutory instrument appoint: see the Finance Act 1998 Sch 2 para 12. As from a day to be so appointed, the following provisions apply. If entitlement to drawback is cancelled under any provision contained in regulations made under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 (prospectively amended), the Commissioners may: (1) assess as being excise duty due from the prescribed person an amount equal to sums paid or credited to any person in respect of the drawback; and (2) notify the prescribed person or his representative accordingly: s 2(3A) (prospectively added by the Finance Act 1998 Sch 2 para 6(3)). For these purposes, the reference to the prescribed person is to such person as may be prescribed for the purposes of the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2(3A) (as added) by regulations under s 2 (as amended): s 2(3B) (prospectively added by the Finance Act 1998 Sch 2 para 6(3)). At the date at which this volume states the law, no orders had been made bringing these amendments into force.

Where a direction is given¹ as regards imported goods² of any class or description, the Treasury may by order provide that, for the purpose of allowing any drawback of excise duties, there is, in such cases and subject to such conditions, if any, as may be specified in the order, to be treated as paid on imported goods of that class or description the same duties as would be chargeable apart from the direction³.

Where, in the case of imported goods of any class or description which contain as a part or ingredient any article chargeable with a duty of excise, drawback of the duty may be allowed in respect of the article according to the quantity contained in the goods or the quantity used in their preparation or manufacture, and it appears to the Treasury on the recommendation of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that to allow the drawback according to that quantity is inconvenient and of no material advantage to the revenue or to the persons entitled to the drawback, the Treasury may by order give the like directions as to the manner in which the drawback is to be calculated, or in which the goods are to be treated for the purposes of the drawback, as they may⁴ give in relation to charging duty⁵.

1111. Goods damaged or destroyed after shipment.

Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that:

- 2861 (1) any goods¹, after being duly shipped for exportation, have been destroyed by accident on board the exporting ship² or aircraft, any amount payable in respect of the goods by way of drawback, allowance or repayment of duty is payable in the same manner as if the goods had been exported to their destination³;
- 2862 (2) any goods, after being duly shipped for exportation, have been materially damaged by accident on board the exporting ship or aircraft, and the goods are, with the consent of and in accordance with any conditions imposed by the Commissioners, relanded or unloaded again in or brought back into the United Kingdom and either abandoned to the Commissioners or destroyed, any amount payable in respect of the goods by way of drawback, allowance or repayment of duty must be paid as if they had been duly exported and not so relanded, unloaded or brought back⁴.

Notwithstanding any provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979⁵ or any other Act relating to the re-importation of exported goods, the person to whom any amount is payable or has been paid under head (2) above may not be required to pay any duty in respect of any goods relanded, unloaded or brought back under that head⁶.

3 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 134(1). As to offences in connection with claims for drawback see PARA 1124 post; and as to the application of these provisions to certain Crown aircraft see PARA 899 ante. Any decision as to the conditions subject to which any drawback is allowed or payable under s 134 is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see the Finance Act 1994 ss 14(1)(d), (2)-(7), 15, 16 (as amended), Sch 5 para 2(1)(q); and PARAS 1240, 1245, 1252 et seq post.

The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 134 has effect as if goods which have been loaded onto a vehicle for exportation through the Channel Tunnel were goods which had been shipped for exportation and as if such vehicle were an exporting ship: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 20.

1112. Extension of drawback.

Without prejudice to any other provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979¹ or any other Act:

2863 (1) where drawback is allowable on the shipment² of any goods³ as stores⁴, the like drawback must, subject to such conditions and restrictions as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁵ see fit to impose, be allowed on the warehousing⁶ in an excise warehouse⁷ of those goods for use as stores⁸;

2864 (2) where drawback would be payable on the exportation of any goods, or on the warehousing of any goods for exportation, then, subject to such conditions and restrictions as the Commissioners see fit, the like drawback is payable on the shipment of any such goods as stores or, as the case may be, on their warehousing in an excise warehouse for use as stores⁹.

B. ENTITLEMENT TO DRAWBACK

1113. Eligible goods.

A claim for drawback¹ may only be made in relation to eligible goods². Goods are eligible goods if duty³ has been paid and has not been remitted, repaid or drawn back and those goods have been exported, warehoused for export or destroyed⁴.

Goods are not eligible goods if they are destroyed:

- 2865 (1) accidentally, unless:
 - 30. (a) the goods were being removed to a warehouse⁵ for export;
 - 31. (b) the goods were being exported and destruction took place within the United Kingdom but after leaving the premises at which they were available for inspection before export; or
 - 32. (c) the goods were destroyed by, or as a result of, civil commotion, riot, terrorism, war, explosion, earthquake or any other fortuitous event, provided that, in the opinion of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, it would not have been reasonable to insure against the risk of destruction by or as a result that event; or
- 161 2866 (2) otherwise than accidentally, unless that destruction was a planned destruction⁶.

In the case of dispatch⁷, chewing tobacco is not eligible goods⁸.

1 For these purposes, 'drawback' means drawback of duty (see note 3 infra); and cognate expressions are to be construed accordingly: Excise Goods (Drawback) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1046, reg 4.

2 Ibid regs 4, 5(1). The Excise Goods (Drawback) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1046, apply to goods chargeable with a duty of excise, provided that those goods have not been, and will not be, consumed in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man: reg 3.

3 For these purposes, 'duty' means duty of excise: ibid reg 4.

4 Ibid reg 5(2). In R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Bottlestop Ltd (14 May 1997, unreported) and R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Lacara Ltd (19 October 1998, unreported), unsuccessful attempts were made to seek judicial review of the Commissioners' refusal to agree drawback on the basis that they were not satisfied that the duty had been paid. In Lacara Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) Excise Decision 66 (unreported) the tribunal dismissed an appeal on the basis that the Commissioners had perfectly properly not decided whether or not to allow a claim. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

5 For these purposes, 'warehouse' means excise warehouse: Excise Goods (Drawback) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1046, reg 4. For the meaning of 'excise warehouse' see PARA 407 note 10 ante.

1114. Eligible claimants.

A claim for drawback¹ may only be made by an eligible claimant². A claimant is an eligible claimant if he is a revenue trader³:

- 2867 (1) in the course of whose business the export, removal to warehouse⁴ for export or, as the case may be, destruction took place; and 2868 (2) in the case of planned destruction⁵ who, except as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may otherwise allow, paid the duty⁶ to be drawn back, and whose business is not wholly or mainly the destruction of goods on which duty has been charged⁷.

TEXT AND NOTES--A revenue trader who is entitled to drawback under the Cider and Perry Regulations 1989, SI 1989/1355, reg 25 (see PARA 502, 503), the Wine and Made-wine Regulations 1989, SI 1989/1356, reg 25 (see PARA 477, 478), or the Beer Regulations 1993, SI 1993/1228, reg 26 (see PARA 456), must make the claim for drawback in accordance with those regulations and not in accordance with SI 1995/1046: reg 6(3) (added by SI 2008/1885).

C. CONDITIONS OF DRAWBACK

1115. General conditions.

Every eligible claimant¹ must²:

- 2869 (1) save as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may otherwise allow, comply with the prescribed conditions³; and
- 2870 (2) in addition to those conditions, comply with such other conditions as the Commissioners see fit to impose in a notice published by them and not withdrawn by a further notice⁴.

If the Commissioners consider it necessary for the protection of the revenue, they may, by a notice delivered to a revenue trader⁵, require him to comply with such additional conditions as they think fit to impose⁶.

No claim for drawback⁷ is to be made unless, taken together with any other claim being made at the same time, the total amount of duty⁸ to be drawn back is at least £500⁹; but, if:

- 2871 (a) during the six months immediately preceding the date upon which the claim for drawback is made the amounts of drawback which could be claimed by the eligible claimant amount in total to less than £500; and
- 2872 (b) the eligible claimant has not made any other claim for drawback during that period, that provision operates as if the reference to at least £500 were a reference to at least £50¹⁰.

No claim for drawback is to be made if the event giving rise to the claim occurred more than three years after the duty on the goods in question was paid¹¹.

1116. Conditions to be complied with before export.

Where an eligible claimant¹ intends to claim drawback² on eligible goods³ warehoused for export, he must comply with the following conditions:

- 2873 (1) before removal to warehouse⁴, he must deliver to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs at such address as they may specify⁵ a notice in writing stating that he intends to claim drawback and containing the following particulars:
- 162
- 33. (a) his name and address;
 - 34. (b) the address of the premises at which the goods may be inspected prior to their removal to warehouse;
 - 35. (c) the description of the goods, including their nature and quantity;
 - 36. (d) the amount of duty⁶ paid in respect of the goods; and
 - 37. (e) the address of the warehouse to which the goods are being removed⁷;
- 163
- 2874 (2) before removal to warehouse, he must draw up a document ('warehousing advice note') in such form and containing such particulars as the Commissioners may require⁸;
- 2875 (3) before removal to warehouse, the goods and the warehousing advice note must be available for inspection by the Commissioners, at any reasonable time, for not less than two clear business days⁹ following the day on which the notice mentioned in head (1) above was received by the Commissioners¹⁰; and
- 2876 (4) he must ensure that, when the goods are removed to warehouse, they are accompanied by two copies of the warehousing advice note¹¹.

Where an eligible claimant intends to claim drawback after export, he must, before export, comply with the following conditions:

- 2877 (i) he must deliver to the Commissioners at such address as they may specify a notice in writing stating that he intends to claim drawback and containing the following particulars:
- 164
- 38. (A) his name and address;
 - 39. (B) the address of the premises at which the goods may be inspected prior to their export;
 - 40. (C) the description of the goods, including their nature and quantity;
 - 41. (D) the amount of duty paid in respect of the goods; and
 - 42. (E) the address of the premises to which the goods are being exported¹²;
- 165
- 2878 (ii) if the export is a dispatch¹³, he must complete an accompanying document¹⁴;
- 2879 (iii) if the export is not a dispatch, he must complete a single administrative document¹⁵; and
- 2880 (iv) the goods and the accompanying document or single administrative document must be available for inspection by the Commissioners, at any reasonable time, for not less than two clear business days following the day on which the notice mentioned in head (i) above was received by the Commissioners¹⁶.

1119. Planned destructions.

'Planned destruction' means the destruction of goods which, by reason of faulty manufacture or subsequent deterioration or contamination, were at the time of their destruction not of satisfactory quality¹, provided that, save as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may otherwise allow, that destruction was carried out in accordance with the following provisions².

The conditions to be complied with before destruction are:

- 2888 (1) the eligible claimant³ must deliver to the Commissioners at such address as they may specify notice in writing of his intention to carry out a planned destruction of the goods⁴;
- 2889 (2) a notice delivered in accordance with head (1) above must contain the following particulars:
- 168 45. (a) the name and address of the eligible claimant;
- 46. (b) the address of the premises at which the goods to be destroyed may be inspected prior to their removal to their destruction;
- 47. (c) the description of the goods to be destroyed, including their nature and amount;
- 48. (d) the amount of duty paid in respect of the goods;
- 49. (e) the date and time when the destruction will take place; and
- 50. (f) the method of destruction which is to be employed⁵;
- 169 2890 (3) the goods must be available for inspection by the Commissioners at any reasonable time for not less than two clear business days⁶ following the day on which the notice mentioned in head (1) above was received by the Commissioners, provided that, if the place where the goods are available for inspection is different from the address mentioned in head (2)(a) above, for the reference to two clear business days there is to be substituted a reference to five clear business days⁷.

The conditions to be complied with at the time of destruction are:

- 2891 (i) destruction must take place on the day and at the time appointed⁸;
- 2892 (ii) destruction must take place at the address mentioned in head (2)(b) above, provided that the Commissioners may, on the application of the eligible claimant, permit, subject to such conditions as they deem necessary or expedient, destruction to take place at a different address⁹;
- 2893 (iii) the eligible claimant must permit the Commissioners to attend the destruction¹⁰;
- 2894 (iv) the goods must be destroyed in accordance with the method specified in the notice mentioned in head (1) above, save that, if the Commissioners give notice that such method is not in their opinion satisfactory, the goods must be destroyed in accordance with such other method as the Commissioners may approve¹¹.

'Planned destruction' also includes denaturing to the satisfaction of the Commissioners¹².

1 For these purposes, 'satisfactory quality' has the meaning given in the Sale of Goods Act 1979 s 14 (as amended) (see SALE OF GOODS AND SUPPLY OF SERVICES): Excise Goods (Drawback) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/1046, reg 4.

1120. Claims for drawback.

Any claim for drawback must be made in such form and manner and contain such particulars as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may direct¹. Where drawback has been claimed in the case of any goods², the following provisions apply in relation to the claim³.

No drawback is to be paid until the person entitled thereto or his agent has made a declaration in such form and manner and containing such particulars as the Commissioners may direct that the conditions on which the drawback is payable have been fulfilled⁴.

The Commissioners may require any person who has been concerned at any stage with the goods or article:

- 2895 (1) to furnish such information as may be reasonably necessary to enable the Commissioners to determine whether duty has been duly paid and not drawn back and for enabling a calculation to be made of the amount of drawback payable; and
- 2896 (2) to produce any book of account or other document of whatever nature relating to the goods or article⁵; and, if any person fails to comply with any requirement so made, he is liable to a penalty⁶.

1121. Payment of claim.

No drawbacks¹ are payable unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that the goods are eligible goods².

Where the Commissioners are satisfied that duty³ may be drawn back⁴, they may⁵ set off the amount due against any other debt then due to them from the eligible claimant⁶.

If the Commissioners are not satisfied that the amount of duty claimed may be drawn back but are satisfied that some lesser amount of duty may be drawn back, they may, in such circumstances as they see fit, permit the drawback of that lesser sum⁷.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(v) Drawback/F. OFFENCES/1124. Offences in connection with claims for drawback etc.

F. OFFENCES

1124. Offences in connection with claims for drawback etc.

If any person:

- 2897 (1) with intent to defraud Her Majesty, obtains or attempts to obtain, or does anything whereby there might be obtained by any person, any amount by way of drawback, allowance, remission or repayment of, or any rebate¹ from, any duty in respect of any goods² which is not lawfully payable or allowable in respect thereof or is greater than the amount so payable or allowable; or
- 2898 (2) without intent to defraud Her Majesty, does any of the things mentioned in head (1) above, he is guilty of an offence³. A person guilty of such an offence is liable to a penalty⁴.

Any goods in respect of which an offence under head (1) or head (2) above is committed is liable to forfeiture; but, in the case of a claim for drawback, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may, if they see fit, instead of seizing the goods either refuse to allow any drawback thereon or allow only such drawback as they consider proper⁵.

If, in the case of any goods upon which a claim for drawback, allowance, remission or repayment of duty has been made, it is found that those goods do not correspond with any entry made thereof in connection with that claim, the goods are liable⁶ to forfeiture; and any person by whom any such entry or claim was made is liable to a penalty⁷.

If any person who is not an eligible claimant⁸ makes a claim for drawback⁹, his conduct attracts a civil penalty under the Finance Act 1994¹⁰, which is to be calculated by reference to the amount of the drawback claimed¹¹.

If any eligible claimant makes a claim for drawback in respect of goods that are not eligible goods¹², his conduct attracts a civil penalty under the Finance Act 1994¹³, which must be calculated by reference to the amount of the drawback claimed¹⁴.

3 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 136(1), (1A) (s 136(1) substituted, and s 136(1A) added, by the Finance Act 1988 s 12(3), (6)). Where a person, whether or not the person assessed, has been convicted of an offence under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 136(1) (as substituted), the conviction for that offence may be relied on by the Commissioners to extend the period for making an assessment to 20 years: see the Finance Act 1994 s 12(4), (5), (7) (as amended); and PARAS 1231-1232 post.

Without prejudice to the European Communities Act 1972 s 6(5) (as amended) (which provides for the application of certain enactments, including Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 136 (as amended)), if the Commissioners are charged or entrusted with the performance of certain duties in relation to the payment of refunds or allowances on goods exported or to be exported from the United Kingdom: (1) references in s 136 (as amended) to amounts by way of drawback include amounts payable by or on behalf of the Secretary of State, the Scottish Ministers, the National Assembly for Wales or (in relation to Northern Ireland) the Department of Agriculture and Rural Development by virtue of Community arrangements to which the European Communities Act 1972 s 6(3) (as amended) applies; and (2) in relation to such amounts, the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 136(3) (see the text to note 5 infra) has effect with the omission of the words from 'but in the case' onwards: s 136(6) (substituted by the Intervention Board for Agricultural Produce (Abolition) Regulations 2001, SI 2001/3686, reg 6(7)(b)). 4 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 136(2) (substituted by the Finance Act 1988 s 12(3), (6)). A person guilty of an offence under head (1) in the text is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding seven years or a penalty of any amount, or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a penalty of the prescribed sum or of three times the value of the goods, whichever is the greater, or to both; and a person guilty of an offence under head (2) in the text is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of level 3 on the standard scale or three times the amount which was or might have been improperly obtained or allowed, whichever is the greater: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 136(2) (as so substituted). 7 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 136(4). Such a person is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of three times the amount claimed or level 3 on the standard scale, whichever is the greater: see s 136(4).

Section 136(4) applies in the case of any goods upon which a claim for drawback, allowance, remission or repayment of duty has been made where it is found that the goods, if sold for home use, would realise less than the amount claimed as it applies where the finding specified in s 136(4) is made, except that it does not apply by virtue of this provision to any claim under: (1) s 123 (as amended) (see PARA 1106 ante) or s 134(2) (see PARA 1111 ante); or (2) the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 46 (as substituted and amended) (see PARA 455 ante), s 61 (as amended) (see PARA 476 ante) or s 64 (as amended) (see PARA 501 ante): Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 136(5).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(vi) Overpaid Excise Duty/A. IN GENERAL/1125. Recovery of overpaid excise duty.

(vi) Overpaid Excise Duty

A. IN GENERAL

1125. Recovery of overpaid excise duty.

Where a person pays to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs an amount by way of excise duty which is not due to them, the Commissioners are liable to repay that amount¹. The Commissioners are not required to make any such repayment unless a claim is made to them in such form, and supported by such documentary evidence, as may be prescribed by them by regulations; and such regulations may make different provision for different cases².

It is a defence to a claim for repayment that the repayment would unjustly enrich the claimant³.

The Commissioners are not liable, on a claim made under the above provisions, to repay any amount paid to them more than three years before the making of the claim⁴.

Except as provided by the above provisions, the Commissioners are not liable to repay an amount paid to them by way of excise duty by reason of the fact that it was not due to them⁵.

¹ Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A(1) (s 137A added by the Finance Act 1995 s 20(1), (5)). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. Any decision of the Commissioners on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (as added and amended) for repayment of excise duty is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see the Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(bb) (as added), s 14(2)-(7), s 15, s 16 (as amended); and PARAS 1240, 1247, 1252 et seq post. The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (as added and amended) does not apply in a case where the Commissioners are either entitled or required to repay an amount under the Finance Act 2001 s 15, Sch 3 (see PARAS 1126-1127 post): Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A(6) (added by the Finance Act 2001 s 15, Sch 3 para 15).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(vi) Overpaid Excise Duty/A. IN GENERAL/1126. Payments by Commissioners in cases of error or delay.

1126. Payments by Commissioners in cases of error or delay.

Where, owing to an error on the part of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, any specified event¹ occurs, and either: (1) a person pays to the Commissioners an amount by way of excise duty which would not have been paid but for the error; or (2) the person refused² pays for goods an amount which includes an amount which represents a payment by way of excise duty which would not have been so included but for the error, then:

2899 (a) if head (1) above applies, the Commissioners may pay to the person refused³ an amount equal to the duty which would not have been paid; and 2900 (b) if head (2) above applies, the Commissioners may pay to the person refused an amount which appears to them to be equal to the payment by way of excise duty⁴.

Where a person is entitled to use rebated heavy oil⁵ in particular circumstances and owing to an error on the part of the Commissioners he is unable to use such oil in those circumstances and instead uses unrebated heavy oil, the Commissioners may pay to that person an amount equal to the rebate which would have been allowable⁶ if: (i) the heavy oil used by him in those circumstances had (at the time of that use) been delivered for home use; and (ii) the other conditions on allowing rebate had been satisfied at that time⁷.

No payment may be made to any person in accordance with these provisions unless he makes a claim in such form and manner, and containing such matters, as the Commissioners may impose by regulations, and he satisfies such conditions as may be so imposed⁸.

1 The specified events are: (1) that a person is refused authorisation for the purposes of the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8(1) (as substituted) (see PARA 414 ante) or s 10(1) (as amended) (see PARA 416 ante); (2) that a person is refused a direction for the purposes of s 11(1) (as amended) (see PARA 413 ante); (3) that a person is refused approval for the purposes of the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 9(1) (see PARA 533 ante) or s 14(1) (as amended) (see PARA 541 ante); or (4) that a person is refused consent for the purposes of s 10(1) (see PARA 534 ante): Finance Act 2001 s 15, Sch 3 para 1(2) (s 15 amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)).

2 I.e. the person refused an authorisation, direction, approval or consent: Finance Act 2001 Sch 3 para 1(7).

3 Although there is no reference to the person 'refused' in Sch 3 para 1(1) of the Queen's Printer's copy of the Finance Act 2001 (corresponding to head (1) in the text), the word is used in Sch 3 para 1(5) (corresponding to head (a) of the text). The definition of 'person refused' in note 2 supra implies an omission from the first-mentioned provision.

4 Ibid Sch 3 paras 1(1)-(6), 21. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

5 I.e. heavy oil on the delivery of which for home use a rebate has been allowed under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 11 (as amended) (see PARA 535 ante): Finance Act 2001 Sch 3 para 2(5). Unrebated heavy oil is other heavy oil: Sch 2 para 2(5).

6 I.e. under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 11 (as amended): see PARA 535 ante.

7 Finance Act 2001 Sch 3 para 2.

8 Ibid Sch 3 para 3. The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument (subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament), and such regulations may make different provision for different purposes, and incidental, supplemental, saving or transitional provisions: Sch 3 para 22.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(vi) Overpaid Excise Duty/A. IN GENERAL/1127. Interest payable by the Commissioners.

1127. Interest payable by the Commissioners.

If a person makes a claim for an amount to which he is entitled by way of repayment or drawback in respect of excise duty paid to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, and the Commissioners fail to authorise it within the period of 30 days starting with the day on which they receive the claim ('the allowable period')¹, they must pay interest on that amount from the day after that period ends until the day when they authorise the repayment or drawback (the 'applicable period')². If instead of making a repayment, the Commissioners set off the amount in question against an assessment, which is later withdrawn and the repayment or drawback authorised, the Commissioners must pay interest to the person on that amount for the period ('the applicable period') which starts with the earlier of: (1) the day the amount is set off; and (2) the day after the end of the period of 30 days starting with the day on which the Commissioners receive the claim, and ends with the day on which authorisation is given³.

If: (a) owing to an error on the part of the Commissioners a person pays to them an amount by way of excise duty; (b) the person is entitled to obtain repayment of that amount; (c) he makes a claim at any time for the repayment, and the repayment is authorised by the Commissioners; and (d) he makes a claim for interest under this provision before the end of the period of three years starting with the day on which such authorisation is given, the Commissioners must pay interest to him on that amount for the period which starts with the day on which the payment is received by the Commissioners and ends with the day on which authorisation is given ('the applicable period')⁴.

If: (i) a person pays to the Commissioners an amount by way of excise duty; (ii) he is entitled to obtain an amount by way of repayment, remission, rebate or drawback in respect of that duty; and (iii) owing to an error on the part of the Commissioners he fails to claim that amount when he would otherwise have done so, then provided that that person makes such a claim (at any time) which is authorised by the Commissioners, he may make a claim for interest on that amount within the period of three years starting with the day on which the authorisation was given⁵. In such a case, the Commissioners must pay interest on that amount for the applicable period, that is, the period beginning with the day on which (apart from the error) the Commissioners might reasonably have been expected to authorise the repayment, remission, rebate or drawback, and ending with the day on which authorisation was actually given⁶.

If, owing to an error on the part of the Commissioners, authorisation of a repayment, remission, rebate or drawback to which a person is entitled is delayed, then if interest is not otherwise payable⁷ by the Commissioners, and the person makes a claim for interest before the end of the period of three years starting with the day when authorisation is actually given, the Commissioners must pay interest on the amount for the applicable period, that is, the period which starts with the day on which, apart from the error, the Commissioners might reasonably have been expected to give the necessary authorisation, and ends with the day on which authorisation is actually given⁸.

If a person makes a claim for a payment⁹ and the Commissioners authorise it, then if he makes a claim within three years starting with the day on which that authorisation is given, the Commissioners must pay interest to the person on the amount concerned for the applicable period, in this case the period which starts on the day on which the relevant condition¹⁰ is satisfied in relation to that person, and ends with the day on which authorisation is given¹¹.

A claim for interest under any of the above provisions¹² must be made in such form and manner, and contain such matters, as the Commissioners may prescribe by regulations, and if a person makes a claim under one provision for interest on an amount, he may not make a claim under another provision for interest on the same amount¹³.

If a person ('the appellant') appeals to a tribunal¹⁴ in relation to an assessment to excise duty and pays, or gives cash security¹⁵ for, the whole or any part of that duty, and the tribunal finds that the whole or any part of the amount paid or secured is not due, the Commissioners must repay to the appellant an amount equal to so much of the duty as is found not to be due, or so much of the cash security as relates to the duty found not to be due, plus interest thereon for the period which starts with the day on which the duty was paid or cash security given, and ends with the day on which the Commissioners authorise repayment¹⁶.

1 Finance Act 2001 s 15, Sch 3 para 4(3) (s 15 amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)).

2 Finance Act 2001 Sch 4 para 4(1), (2), (4). In deciding the applicable period, any period by which the Commissioners' authorisation is delayed by circumstances beyond their control must be ignored; and account must be taken in particular for this purpose of: (1) any failure of any person to provide them with information requested by them to enable the existence and amount of the claimant's entitlement to a repayment or drawback to be determined; and (2) the making (in connection with the claim) of a claim to anything to which the claimant is not entitled: Sch 3 paras 4(5), 6(1), (2). In deciding for the purposes of head (1) supra whether a period of delay is referable to a failure by a person to provide information requested, the following period is taken to be so referable (except in so far as may be prescribed by the Commissioners by regulations): Sch 3 para 6(3). The period is that which: (a) starts with the day when the Commissioners request the person to provide information they reasonably consider relevant to the matter to be determined; and (b) ends with the earliest day on which it would be reasonable for them to conclude that they have received a complete answer to their request or all they need to answer it, or to conclude that it is unnecessary for them to be provided with information in answer to their request: Sch 3 para 6(4). As to the making of regulations see PARA 1126 note 8 ante. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

3 Ibid Sch 3 para 5. In determining the applicable period, the provisions of Sch 3 para 6 (see note 1 supra) apply: Sch 3 para 5(5).

4 Ibid Sch 3 para 7(1)-(3). In deciding the applicable period, any period by which the Commissioners' authorisation of the repayment, remission, rebate, drawback or payment is delayed by circumstances beyond their control must be ignored, and in applying this provision account must be taken in particular of: (1) any unreasonable delay in claiming repayment, remission, rebate drawback or payment; (2) any failure by any person to provide the Commissioners with information requested by them to enable the existence and amount of a claimant's entitlement to repayment, remission, rebate, drawback, payment or interest to be determined; and (3) the making, in connection with the claim, of a claim to which the claimant is not entitled: Sch 3 paras 7(4), 11(1), (2). In deciding for the purposes of head (2) supra whether a period of delay is referable to a failure by a person to provide information requested, the following period is taken to be so referable (except so far as may be prescribed by the Commissioners by regulations): Sch 3 para 11(3). The period is that which starts with the day when the Commissioners request the person to provide information they reasonably consider relevant to the matter to be determined, and ends with the earliest day when it would be reasonable for them to conclude that they have received a complete answer to their request, or all they need to answer it, or to conclude that it is unnecessary for them to be provided with information in answer to their request: Sch 3 para 11(4). 1127 Interest payable by the Commissioners

NOTE 16--The rate of interest is now that applicable under the Finance Act 1996 s 197: Finance Act 2001 Sch 3 para 14(4) (substituted by SI 2009/56).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(vi) Overpaid Excise Duty/A. IN GENERAL/1128. Disregard of business losses.

1128. Disregard of business losses.

Where:

- 2901 (1) there is an amount paid by way of relevant tax¹ which, apart from the unjust enrichment provision², would fall to be repaid under a relevant repayment provision³ to any person ('the taxpayer'); and
- 2902 (2) the whole or a part of the cost of the payment of that amount to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs has, for practical purposes, been borne by a person other than the taxpayer, then, where loss or damage has been or may be incurred by the taxpayer as a result of mistaken assumptions made in his case about the operation of any provisions relating to a relevant tax⁴, that loss or damage must be disregarded, except to the extent of the quantified amount⁵, in the making of any determination of whether or to what extent the repayment of an amount to the taxpayer would enrich him or of whether or to what extent any enrichment of the taxpayer would be unjust⁶.

1 For these purposes, 'relevant tax' means any duty of excise: Finance Act 1997 s 50(1), Sch 5 para 1(3).

2 For these purposes, 'the unjust enrichment provision' means the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A(3) (as added) (see PARA 1125 ante): Finance Act 1997 Sch 5 para 1(1)(a), (2).

3 For these purposes, 'relevant repayment provision' means the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (as added) (see PARA 1125 ante): Finance Act 1997 Sch 5 para 1(3).

4 For these purposes, the reference to provisions relating to a relevant tax is a reference to any provisions of: (1) any enactment, subordinate legislation or Community legislation, whether or not still in force, which relates to that tax or to any matter connected with it; or (2) any notice published by the Commissioners under or for the purposes of any such enactment or subordinate legislation: ibid Sch 5 para 2(4). 'Subordinate legislation' has the same meaning as in the Interpretation Act 1978 (see STATUTES vol 44(1) (Reissue) PARA 1381): Finance Act 1997 Sch 5 para 1(3). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

5 For these purposes, 'the quantified amount' means the amount, if any, which is shown by the taxpayer to constitute the amount that would appropriately compensate him for loss or damage shown by him to have resulted, for any business carried on by him, from the making of the mistaken assumptions: ibid Sch 5 para 2(3).

6 Ibid Sch 5 paras 1(3), 2(1), (2) (Sch 5 para 1(3) amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)). The Finance Act 1997 Sch 5 para 2 has effect for the purposes of making any repayment on or after 19 March 1997 (ie the day on which the Finance Act 1997 was passed), even if the claim for that repayment was made before that day: Sch 5 para 2(5). In cases where there is an infringement of a Community right, decisions of the European Court of Justice suggest that the onus is on the Commissioners to establish that unjust enrichment will occur because the overpayment has been passed on. If, however, the overpayment has in fact been passed on, those decisions suggest that the onus is then on the taxpayer to establish what damage he has suffered: see, in particular, Case 199/82 Amministrazione delle Finanze dello Stato v SpA San Giorgio [1983] ECR 3595, [1985] 2 CMLR 658, ECJ; Joined Cases 331, 376, 378/85 Les Fils de Jules Bianco SA v Directeur Général des Douanes et Droits Indirects [1988] ECR 1099, [1989] 3 CMLR 36, ECJ; Joined Cases C-192-218/95 Société Comateb v Directeur Général des Douanes et Droits Indirects [1997] ECR I-165, [1997] 2 CMLR 649, ECJ (all cited in PARA 312 note 8 ante).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(vi) Overpaid Excise Duty/A. IN GENERAL/1129. Reimbursement arrangements.

1129. Reimbursement arrangements.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may by regulations make provision for reimbursement arrangements¹ made by any person to be disregarded for the purposes of the unjust enrichment provision² except where the arrangements contain such provision as may be required by the regulations and are supported by such undertakings to comply with the provisions of the arrangements as may be required by the regulations to be given to the Commissioners³.

The provision that may be required by such regulations to be so contained in reimbursement arrangements includes⁴:

- 2903 (1) provision requiring a reimbursement for which the arrangements provide to be made within such period after the repayment to which it relates as may be specified in the regulations;
- 2904 (2) provision for the repayment of amounts to the Commissioners where those amounts are not reimbursed in accordance with the regulations;
- 2905 (3) provision requiring interest to be paid by the Commissioners on any amount repaid by them to be treated in the same way as that amount for the purposes of any requirement under the arrangements to make reimbursement or to repay the Commissioners;
- 2906 (4) provision requiring such records relating to the carrying out of the arrangements as may be described in the regulations to be kept and produced to the Commissioners, or to an officer of them⁵.

Such regulations may impose obligations on such persons as may be specified in the regulations:

- 2907 (a) to make the repayments to the Commissioners that they are required to make in pursuance of any provisions contained in any reimbursement arrangements by virtue of head (2) or head(3) above;
- 2908 (b) to comply with any requirements contained in any such arrangements by virtue of head (4) above⁶.

Where any obligation is so imposed by regulations, a contravention or failure to comply with that obligation attracts a civil penalty⁷ under the Finance Act 1994⁸.

Such regulations may make provision for the form and manner in which, and the times at which, undertakings are to be given to the Commissioners in accordance with the regulations; and any such provision may allow for those matters to be determined by the Commissioners in accordance with the regulations⁹.

Such regulations may contain any such incidental, supplementary, consequential or transitional provision as appears to the Commissioners to be necessary or expedient and may make different provision for different circumstances¹⁰.

Such regulations may have effect, irrespective of when the claim for repayment was made, for the purposes of the making of any repayment by the Commissioners after the time when the regulations are made; and, accordingly, such regulations may apply to arrangements made before that time¹¹.

Such regulations must be made by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of the House of Commons¹².

1 For these purposes, 'reimbursement arrangements' means any arrangements for the purposes of a claim under the relevant repayment provision which: (1) are made by any person for the purpose of securing that he is not unjustly enriched by the repayment of any amount in pursuance of the claim; and (2) provide for the reimbursement of persons who have, for practical purposes, borne the whole or any part of the cost of the original payment of that amount to the Commissioners: Finance Act 1997 s 50(1), Sch 5 para 3(2). For the meaning of 'relevant repayment provision' see PARA 1128 note 3 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'the unjust enrichment provision' see PARA 1128 note 2 ante.

3 Finance Act 1997 Sch 5 paras 1(3), 3(1) (Sch 5 para 1(3) amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)). 1130. Claims for recovery of overpaid excise duty.

Any claim for the recovery of overpaid excise duty¹ must be made in writing to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs² and must, by reference to such documentary evidence as is in the possession of the claimant, state the amount of the claim and the method by which that amount was calculated³.

1 le any claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (as added and amended): see PARA 1125 ante.

2 As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(vi) Overpaid Excise Duty/B. REVENUE TRADERS/1131. Reimbursement arrangements.

1131. Reimbursement arrangements.

Reimbursement arrangements¹ made by a claimant² for overpaid excise duty are to be disregarded³ for the purposes of a defence by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that repayment by them of an amount claimed would unjustly enrich the claimant⁴ except where they include the following provisions, that is to say that:

- 2909 (1) reimbursement for which the arrangements provide will be completed by no later than 90 days after the repayment to which it relates;
- 2910 (2) no deduction will be made from the relevant amount⁵ by way of fee or charge, howsoever expressed or effected;
- 2911 (3) reimbursement will be made only in cash or by cheque;
- 2912 (4) any part of the relevant amount that is not reimbursed by the time mentioned in head (1) above will be repaid by the claimant to the Commissioners;
- 2913 (5) any interest paid by the Commissioners on any relevant amount repaid by them will also be treated by the claimant in the same way as the relevant amount falls to be treated under heads (1) and (2) above;
- 2914 (6) the required records⁶ will be kept by the claimant and duly produced by him to the Commissioners, or to an officer of theirs⁷, and are supported by the relevant undertakings⁸.

The claimant must, without prior demand, make any repayment to the Commissioners that he is required to make by virtue of heads (4) and (5) above within 14 days of the expiration of the period of 90 days referred to in head (1) above⁹.

1 For these purposes, 'reimbursement arrangements' means any arrangements, whether made before, on or after 30 January 1998, for the purposes of a claim (see note 2 infra) which: (1) are made by a claimant for the purposes of securing that he is not unjustly enriched by the repayment of any amount in pursuance of the claim; (2) provide for the reimbursement of persons ('consumers') who have, for practical purposes, borne the whole or any part of the cost of the original payment of that amount to the Commissioners: Revenue Traders (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3150, reg 10 (added by SI 1998/62). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 For these purposes, 'claim' means a claim made, irrespective of when it was made, under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (as added and amended) (see PARA 1125 ante) for repayment of an amount paid to the Commissioners by way of excise duty which was not due to them; and 'claimed' and 'claimant' are to be construed accordingly: Revenue Traders (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3150, reg 10 (as added: see note 1 supra).

3 Ie without prejudice to ibid reg 17 (added by SI 1998/62). Reimbursement arrangements made by a claimant before 11 February 1998 are not to be disregarded for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A(3) (as added) if, not later than 11 March 1988, he: (1) included in those arrangements, if they were not already included, the provisions described in the Revenue Traders (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3150, reg 12 (as added); and (2) gave the undertakings described in reg 16 (as added) (see PARA 1132 post): reg 17 (as so added).

4 Ie for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A(3) (as added): see PARA 1125 ante.

5 For these purposes, 'relevant amount' means that part, which may be the whole, of the amount of a claim which the claimant has reimbursed or intends to reimburse to consumers: Revenue Traders (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3150, reg 10 (as added: see note 1 supra).

6 Ie the records described in ibid reg 14 (as added): see PARA 1133 post.

7 Ie in accordance with ibid reg 15 (as added): see PARA 1133 post.

8 Ibid regs 11(a), (b), 12(a)-(f) (added by SI 1998/62). As to the relevant undertakings see PARA 1132 post.

1132. Undertakings.

The relevant undertakings¹ must be given to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs² by the claimant³ no later than the time at which he makes the claim⁴ for which the reimbursement arrangements⁵ have been made⁶.

The undertakings must be in writing, must be signed and dated by the claimant, and must be to the effect that:

- 2915 (1) at the date of the undertakings he is able to identify the names and addresses of those consumers⁷ whom he has reimbursed or whom he intends to reimburse;
- 2916 (2) he will apply the whole of the relevant amount⁸ repaid to him, without any deduction by way of fee or charge or otherwise, to the reimbursement in cash or by cheque, of such consumers by not later than 90 days after his receipt of that amount, except in so far as he has already so reimbursed them;
- 2917 (3) he will apply any interest paid to him on the relevant amount repaid to him wholly to the reimbursement of such consumers by no later than 90 days after his receipt of that interest;
- 2918 (4) he will repay to the Commissioners without demand the whole or such part of the relevant amount repaid to him as he fails to apply in accordance with the undertakings mentioned in heads (2) and (3) above;
- 2919 (5) he will keep the required records⁹; and
- 2920 (6) he will comply with any notice given to him¹⁰ concerning the production of such records¹¹.

1133. Keeping and production of records.

The claimant¹ must keep records of the following matters:

- 2921 (1) the names and addresses of those consumers² whom he has reimbursed or whom he intends to reimburse;
- 2922 (2) the total amount reimbursed to each such consumer;
- 2923 (3) the amount of interest included in each total amount reimbursed to each consumer;
- 2924 (4) the date that each reimbursement is made³.

Where a claimant is given, either before or after, or both before and after, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁴ have paid the relevant amount⁵ to the claimant, a notice in writing, stating the place and time at which, and the date on which, the records are to be produced and signed and dated by the Commissioners, or by an officer of theirs, he must, in accordance with such notice, produce to the Commissioners the records which he is required so to keep⁶.

1134. Reimbursement arrangements.

Reimbursement arrangements¹ made by a claimant² for overpaid excise duty are to be disregarded³ for the purposes of a defence by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that repayment by them of an amount claimed would unjustly enrich the claimant⁴ except where they include the following provisions, that is to say that:

- 2925 (1) reimbursement for which the arrangements provide will be completed by no later than 90 days after the repayment to which it relates;
- 2926 (2) no deduction will be made from the relevant amount⁵ by way of fee or charge, howsoever expressed or effected;
- 2927 (3) reimbursement will be made only in cash or by cheque;
- 2928 (4) any part of the relevant amount that is not reimbursed by the time mentioned in head (1) above will be repaid by the claimant to the Commissioners;
- 2929 (5) any interest paid by the Commissioners on any relevant amount repaid by them will also be treated by the claimant in the same way as the relevant amount falls to be treated under heads (1) and (2) above;
- 2930 (6) the required records⁶ will be kept by the claimant and duly produced by him to the Commissioners, or to an officer of theirs⁷, and are supported by the relevant undertakings⁸.

The claimant must, without prior demand, make any repayment to the Commissioners that he is required to make by virtue of heads (4) and (5) above within 14 days of the expiration of the period of 90 days referred to in head (1) above⁹.

1 For these purposes, 'reimbursement arrangements' means any arrangements, whether made before, on or after 30 January 1998, for the purposes of a claim (see note 2 infra) which: (1) are made by a claimant for the purposes of securing that he is not unjustly enriched by the repayment of any amount in pursuance of the claim; (2) provide for the reimbursement of persons ('consumers') who have, for practical purposes, borne the whole or any part of the cost of the original payment of that amount to the Commissioners: Aircraft Operators (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1994, SI 1994/1737, reg 9 (added by SI 1998/63). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 For these purposes, 'claim' means a claim made, irrespective of when it was made, under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (as added and amended) (see PARA 1125 ante) for repayment of an amount paid to the Commissioners by way of excise duty which was not due to them; and 'claimed' and 'claimant' are to be construed accordingly: Aircraft Operators (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1994, SI 1994/1737, reg 9 (as added: see note 1 supra).

3 Ie without prejudice to ibid reg 16 (as added). Reimbursement arrangements made by a claimant before 11 February 1998 are not to be disregarded for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A(3) (as added) if, not later than 11 March 1988, he: (1) included in those arrangements, if they were not already included, the provisions described in the Aircraft Operators (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1994, SI 1994/1737, reg 11 (as added); and (2) gave the undertakings described in reg 15 (as added) (see PARA 1135 post): reg 16 (added by SI 1998/63).

4 Ie for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A(3) (as added): see PARA 1125 ante.

5 For these purposes, 'relevant amount' means that part, which may be the whole, of the amount of a claim which the claimant has reimbursed or intends to reimburse to consumers: Aircraft Operators (Accounts and Records) Regulations 1994, SI 1994/1737, reg 9 (as added: see note 1 supra).

6 I.e. the records described in ibid reg 13 (as added): see PARA 1136 post.

7 I.e. in accordance with ibid reg 14 (as added): see PARA 1136 post.

1135. Undertakings.

The relevant undertakings¹ must be given to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs² by the claimant³ no later than the time at which he makes the claim⁴ for which the reimbursement arrangements⁵ have been made⁶.

The undertakings must be in writing, must be signed and dated by the claimant, and must be to the effect that:

- 2931 (1) at the date of the undertakings he is able to identify the names and addresses of those consumers⁷ whom he has reimbursed or whom he intends to reimburse;
- 2932 (2) he will apply the whole of the relevant amount⁸ repaid to him, without any deduction by way of fee or charge or otherwise, to the reimbursement in cash or by cheque, of such consumers by not later than 90 days after his receipt of that amount, except in so far as he has already so reimbursed them;
- 2933 (3) he will apply any interest paid to him on the relevant amount repaid to him wholly to the reimbursement of such consumers by no later than 90 days after his receipt of that interest;
- 2934 (4) he will repay to the Commissioners without demand the whole or such part of the relevant amount repaid to him as he fails to apply in accordance with the undertakings mentioned in heads (2) and (3) above;
- 2935 (5) he will keep the required records⁹; and
- 2936 (6) he will comply with any notice given to him¹⁰ concerning the production of such records¹¹.

1138. Interest.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs have a statutory right, in the case of air passenger duty, to charge interest on unpaid customs or excise duty; and, in the case of air passenger duty, a duty to pay to the taxpayer interest on repayments of overpaid excise duty¹. In other cases, if proceedings are commenced for the recovery of duty, interest may be claimed² by the Commissioners in the normal way.

Where an assessment of air passenger duty due from any person:

- 2941 (1) is made and any of the prescribed conditions is fulfilled, the whole of the amount assessed carries interest at the applicable rate from the reckonable date until payment;
- 2942 (2) could have been made but before such an assessment was made the duty was paid (so that no such assessment was necessary), the whole of the amount paid carries interest at the applicable rate from the reckonable date until the date on which it was paid³.

The amount of any interest charged⁴ on arrears of customs duty (including any agricultural levy of the European Community) payable to the Commissioners may be recovered by them⁵. Such interest is to be charged on the amount in arrears at the applicable rate⁶ for the period which begins with the latest time for payment⁷ of that amount, and ends with the day before that on which payment is actually made⁸. Such interest is recoverable as if it were customs duty but is not itself subject to interest, and ceases to be recoverable from any person at any time more than three years after the latest time for payment of the amount on which it is charged, unless a written notice that arrears of customs duty attract interest was given to that person by the Commissioners at or after the time when that amount first became payable, and before the end of that three years⁹. Regulations made for these purposes¹⁰ may provide that, where the amount of interest computed in any case is less than a specified or determined minimum amount, it is to be taken to be that minimum amount¹¹, but the Commissioners have power to waive interest in certain cases¹².

NOTE 2--Supreme Court Act 1981 now cited as Senior Courts Act 1981: Constitutional Reform Act 2005 Sch 11 para 1 (in force 1 October 2009: SI 2009/1604).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(viii) Power to levy Distress/A. POWER TO MAKE REGULATIONS/1139. In general.

(viii) Power to levy Distress

A. POWER TO MAKE REGULATIONS

1139. In general.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may by regulations make provision:

- 2943 (1) for authorising distress to be levied on the goods and chattels of any person refusing or neglecting to pay any amount of duty of customs and excise (other than vehicle excise duty) or aggregates levy, due from him ('relevant tax') or any amount recoverable as if it were relevant tax due from him;
- 2944 (2) for the disposal of any goods or chattels on which distress is levied in pursuance of the regulations; and
- 2945 (3) for the imposition and recovery of costs, charges, expenses and fees in connection with anything done under the regulations¹.

The provision that may be contained in regulations so made includes, in particular:

- 2946 (a) provision for the levying of distress, by any person authorised to do so under the regulations, on goods or chattels located at any place whatever, including a public highway; and
- 2947 (b) provision authorising distress to be levied at any such time of the day or night, and on any such day of the week, as may be specified or described in the regulations².

Such regulations may make different provision for different cases and may contain any such incidental, supplemental, consequential or transitional provision as the Commissioners think fit³. The power so to make regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of the House of Commons⁴.

³ Ibid s 51(3). The transitional provision that may be contained in such regulations includes transitional provision in connection with the coming into force of the repeal by the Finance Act 1997 of any other power by regulations to make provision for or in connection with the levying of distress: s 51(3).

B. LEVYING DISTRESS

1140. Power to levy distress.

If upon written demand a person neglects or refuses to pay any duty of customs and excise (other than vehicle excise duty) or aggregates levy, due from him ('relevant tax'), an officer¹ may levy distress on the goods and chattels of that person and by warrant signed by him direct any authorised person² to levy such distress³.

Where a warrant has been signed, distress must be levied by or under the direction of, and in the presence of, the authorised person⁴.

Distress may be levied on any goods and chattels located at any place whatever, including on a public highway⁵.

1 For these purposes, 'officer' means, subject to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 8(2) (see PARA 904 ante), a person appointed by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs pursuant to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 2(1) (see PARA 901 ante): Distress for Customs and Excise Duties and Other Indirect Taxes Regulations 1997, SI 1997/1431, reg 2(1) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (2), (7)). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 For these purposes, 'authorised person' means a person acting under the authority of the Commissioners: Distress for Customs and Excise Duties and Other Indirect Taxes Regulations 1997, SI 1997/1431, reg 2(1).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(13) DUTIES AND DRAWBACK; GENERAL PROVISIONS/(viii) Power to levy Distress/B. LEVYING DISTRESS/1141. Restrictions on levying distress.

1141. Restrictions on levying distress.

Where an amount of any duty of customs and excise, other than vehicle excise duty, is due and the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may be required¹ to review a decision which, if that decision were varied or withdrawn, would cause the amount to be reduced or extinguished, no distress is to be levied before the expiry of the last day on which the person who is liable to pay the amount concerned is required² to serve a notice of appeal with respect to that decision³.

Nor is any distress to be levied on:

2948 (1) any of the following goods and chattels which are located in a dwelling house at which distress is being levied and are reasonably required for the domestic needs of any person residing in that dwelling house:

170

- 51. (a) beds and bedding;
- 52. (b) household linen;
- 53. (c) chairs and settees;
- 54. (d) tables;
- 55. (e) food;
- 56. (f) lights and light fittings;
- 57. (g) heating appliances;
- 58. (h) curtains;
- 59. (i) floor coverings;
- 60. (j) furniture, equipment and utensils used for cooking, storing or eating food;
- 61. (k) refrigerators;
- 62. (l) articles used for cleaning, mending or pressing clothes;
- 63. (m) articles used for cleaning the home;
- 64. (n) furniture used for storing clothing, bedding or household linen, articles used for cleaning the home or utensils used for cooking or eating food;
- 65. (o) articles used for safety in the home;
- 66. (p) toys for the use of any child within the household;
- 67. (q) medical aids and medical equipment;

171

2949 (2) any of the following items which at the time of levy are located in premises used for the purposes of any profession, trade or business:

172

- 68. (a) fire-fighting equipment for use on the premises;
- 69. (b) medical aids and medical equipment for use on the premises⁴.

1142. Time for levying distress.

A levy of distress must commence only during the period between 8 am and 8 pm on any day of the week but it may be continued thereafter outside that period until the levy is completed¹. Where, however, a person holds himself out as conducting any profession, trade or business during hours which are partly within and partly outside, or wholly outside, that period, a levy of distress may be commenced at any time during that period or during the hours of any day in which he holds himself out as conducting that profession, trade or business and it may be continued thereafter outside that period or those hours until the levy is completed².

1143. Costs.

A person in respect of whose goods and chattels a warrant has been signed is liable to pay to an officer¹ or authorised person² all costs, in connection with anything done, as duly³ determined⁴.

An authorised person may, after deducting and accounting for the amount of relevant tax⁵ to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, retain costs from any amount received⁶.

In the case of any dispute as to costs, the amount of those costs must be taxed by a district judge of the county court of the district where the distress was levied; and he may make such order as he thinks fit as to the costs of the taxation⁷.

1144. Sale.

If any person upon whose goods and chattels distress has been levied does not pay the amount of relevant tax¹ due together with costs² within five days of a levy, an officer³ or authorised person⁴ may sell the distress for payment of the amount of relevant tax and costs; and the officer or authorised person, after deducting and retaining the amount of relevant tax and costs, must restore any surplus to the owner of the goods upon which distress was levied⁵.

(14) GENERAL POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT

(i) Power of Search

1145. Power to examine and take account of goods.

Without prejudice to any other power conferred by the Customs and Excise Acts 1979¹, an officer² may examine and take account of any goods³:

- 2950 (1) which are imported; or
- 2951 (2) which are in a warehouse⁴ or Queen's warehouse⁵; or
- 2952 (3) which are in a free zone⁶; or
- 2953 (4) which have been loaded into any ship⁷ or aircraft at any place in the United Kingdom⁸ or the Isle of Man; or
- 2954 (5) which are entered for exportation or for use as stores⁹; or
- 2955 (6) which are brought to any place in the United Kingdom for exportation or for shipment¹⁰ for exportation or as stores; or
- 2956 (7) in the case of which any claim for drawback, allowance¹¹, rebate, remission or repayment of duty is made;

and he may for that purpose require any container¹² to be opened or unpacked¹³.

Any examination of goods by an officer under the Customs and Excise Acts 1979 must be made at such place as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs appoint for the purpose¹⁴.

In the case of such goods as the Commissioners may direct, and subject to such conditions as they see fit to impose, an officer may permit goods to be skipped on the quay or bulked, sorted, lotted, packed or repacked before account is taken thereof¹⁵.

Any opening, unpacking, weighing, measuring, repacking, bulking, sorting, lotting, marking, numbering, loading, unloading, carrying or landing of goods or their containers for the purposes of, or incidental to, the examination by an officer, removal or warehousing thereof must be done, and any facilities or assistance required for any such examination must be provided, by or at the expense of the proprietor¹⁶ of the goods¹⁷.

If any imported goods which an officer has power under the Customs and Excise Acts 1979 to examine are, without the authority of the proper officer¹⁸, removed from customs and excise charge before they have been examined, those goods are liable to forfeiture¹⁹; and, if any such goods are removed by a person with intent to defraud Her Majesty of any duty chargeable thereon or to evade any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force with respect thereto under or by virtue of any enactment, that person is guilty of an offence and liable to a penalty, and may be arrested²⁰.

Where²¹ an account is authorised or required to be taken of any goods for any purpose by an officer, the Commissioners may²², with the consent of the proprietor of the goods, accept as the account of those goods for that purpose an account taken by such other person as may be approved in that behalf by both the Commissioners and the proprietor of the goods²³.

UPDATE

1145 Power to examine and take account of goods

TEXT AND NOTES 1-13--An officer may, for any purpose specified in heads (1)-(7), also open or unpack any container and search it or anything in it, the Commissioners bearing the cost of his doing so: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 159(1), (4) (amended by Finance Act 2008 s 147).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(14) GENERAL POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT/(i) Power of Search/1146. Power to take samples.

1146. Power to take samples.

An officer¹ may at any time take samples of any goods²:

- 2957 (1) which he is empowered by the Customs and Excise Acts 1979³ to examine; or
- 2958 (2) which are on premises where goods chargeable with any duty are manufactured, prepared or subjected to any process; or
- 2959 (3) which, being dutiable goods⁴, are held by any person as stock for his business or as materials for manufacture or processing⁵.

Where an officer takes from any vessel, pipe or utensil on the premises of any of the following revenue traders⁶, that is to say, a distiller⁷, registered brewer⁸, producer of wine⁹, producer of made-wine¹⁰ or maker of cider¹¹, a sample of any product of, or of any materials for, the manufacture of that trader:

- 2960 (a) the trader may, if he wishes, stir up and mix together the contents of that vessel, pipe or utensil before the sample is taken; and
- 2961 (b) the sample taken by the officer is deemed to be representative of the whole contents of that vessel, pipe or utensil¹².

Any sample so taken must be disposed of and accounted for in such manner as the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may direct¹³.

Where any sample is so taken from any goods chargeable with a duty of customs or excise after that duty has been paid, other than:

- 2962 (i) a sample taken when goods are first entered on importation¹⁴; or
- 2963 (ii) a sample taken from goods in respect of which a claim for drawback, allowance¹⁵, rebate, remission or repayment of that duty is being made, and the sample so taken is to be retained, the officer taking it must, if so required by the person in possession of the goods, pay for the sample on behalf of the Commissioners such sum as reasonably represents the wholesale value thereof¹⁶.

1147. Power to search premises.

If there are reasonable grounds to suspect that anything liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts¹ is kept or concealed in any building or place, and is likely to be removed, destroyed or lost before a search warrant can be obtained and executed, an officer² having a writ of assistance³ is empowered:

- 2964 (1) to enter the building or place at any time, whether by day or night⁴, on any day, and search for, seize, and detain or remove any such thing; and
- 2965 (2) so far as is necessary for the purpose of such entry, search, seizure, detention or removal, to break open any door, window or container⁵ and force and remove any other impediment or obstruction⁶;

but an officer is not to exercise the power of entry so conferred on him by night unless he is accompanied by a constable⁷.

If a justice of the peace is satisfied by information upon oath given by an officer that there are reasonable grounds to suspect that anything liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts is kept or concealed in any building or place, he may by warrant under his hand authorise any officer, and any person accompanying an officer, to enter and search the building or place named in the warrant⁸. An officer or other person so authorised has power:

- 2966 (a) to enter the building or place at any time, whether by day or night, on any day, and search for, seize, and detain or remove any such thing; and
- 2967 (b) so far as is necessary for the purpose of such entry, search, seizure, detention or removal, to break open any door, window or container and force and remove any other impediment or obstruction⁹;

but a person other than a constable must not exercise the power of entry so conferred by night unless accompanied by a constable¹⁰.

Where there are reasonable grounds to suspect that any still, vessel, utensil, spirits¹¹ or materials for the manufacture of spirits is or are unlawfully kept or deposited in any building or place, heads (a) and (b) above apply in relation to any constable as they would apply in relation to an officer¹².

1149. Power to search vehicles, vessels or aircraft.

Without prejudice to any other power conferred by the Customs and Excise Acts 1979¹, where there are reasonable grounds to suspect that any vehicle² or vessel³ is or may be carrying any goods which are:

- 2968 (1) chargeable with any duty which has not been paid or secured; or
- 2969 (2) in the course of being unlawfully removed from or to any place; or
- 2970 (3) otherwise liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts⁴, any officer⁵ or constable or member of Her Majesty's armed forces⁶ or coastguard may stop and search that vehicle or vessel⁷.

If, when so required by any such officer, constable or member, the person in charge of any such vehicle or vessel refuses to stop or to permit the vehicle or vessel to be searched, he is liable to a penalty⁸.

1151. Power to search persons.

Where there are reasonable grounds to suspect¹ that any of the following persons:

- 2971 (1) any person who is on board or has landed from any ship² or aircraft;
- 2972 (2) any person entering or about to leave the United Kingdom³;
- 2973 (3) any person within the dock area of a port⁴;
- 2974 (4) any person at a customs and excise airport⁵;
- 2975 (5) any person in, entering or leaving any approved wharf or transit shed⁶ which is not in a port;
- 2976 (6) any person in, entering or leaving a free zone⁷; or
- 2977 (7) in Northern Ireland, any person travelling from or to any place which is on or beyond the boundary⁸,

('the suspect') is carrying any article which is chargeable with any duty which has not been paid or secured or with respect to the importation or exportation of which any prohibition or restriction is for the time being in force under or by virtue of any enactment, an officer⁹ may exercise the powers conferred by the following provisions¹⁰ and, if the suspect is not under arrest, may detain him for so long as may be necessary for the exercise of those powers and, where applicable, the exercise of the rights conferred¹¹ by the following provisions¹².

The officer may require the suspect:

- 2978 (a) to permit such a search of any article which he has with him; and
- 2979 (b) to submit to such searches of his person, whether rub-down¹³, strip¹⁴ or intimate¹⁵, as the officer may consider necessary or expedient; but no such requirement may be imposed under head (b) above without the officer informing the suspect of the effect¹⁶ of the following provisions¹⁷.

If the suspect is required to submit to a search of his person, he may require to be taken:

- 2980 (i) except in the case of a rub-down search, before a justice of the peace or a superior of the officer concerned; and
- 2981 (ii) in the excepted case, before such a superior; and the justice or superior must consider the grounds for suspicion and direct accordingly whether the suspect is to submit to the search¹⁸.

A rub-down or strip search must not be carried out except by a person of the same sex as the suspect; and an intimate search must not be carried out except by a suitably qualified person¹⁹.

A. POWER OF ARREST

1152. General power of arrest.

Any person who has committed, or whom there are reasonable grounds to suspect¹ of having committed, any offence for which he is liable to be arrested under the customs and excise Acts² may be arrested by any officer³ or any member of Her Majesty's armed forces⁴ or coastguard at any time within 20 years from the date of the commission of the offence⁵.

Where it was not practicable to arrest any person so liable at the time of the commission of the offence, or where any such person having been then or subsequently arrested for that offence has escaped, he may be arrested by any officer or any member of Her Majesty's armed forces or coastguard at any time and may be proceeded against in like manner as if the offence had been committed at the date when he was finally arrested⁶.

Where any person who is a member of the crew of any ship⁷ in Her Majesty's employment or service is arrested by an officer for an offence under the customs and excise Acts, the commanding officer of the ship must, if so required by the arresting officer, keep that person secured on board that ship until he can be brought before a court and must then deliver him up to the proper officer⁸.

Where any person has been arrested by a person who is not an officer⁹, the person arresting him must give notice of the arrest to an officer at the nearest convenient office of customs and excise¹⁰.

An authorised¹¹ officer of Revenue and Customs¹² may arrest a person without warrant if the officer reasonably suspects that the person has committed an offence of impersonation¹³, obstruction¹⁴ or assault¹⁵ under the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005, is committing such an offence, or is about to commit such an offence¹⁶.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(14) GENERAL POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT/(ii) Power of Arrest and Forfeiture/A. POWER OF ARREST/1154. Application of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984.

1154. Application of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984.

The Treasury may by order direct that any provision of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 which relates to investigations of offences conducted by police officers or to persons detained by the police is to apply, subject to such modifications as the order may specify, to investigations conducted by officers of Revenue and Customs¹ of offences which relate to assigned matters² or to persons detained by officers of Revenue and Customs³.

The order made provides that the provisions of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 which relate to investigations of offences conducted by police officers or to persons detained by the police⁴ apply, subject to certain modifications⁵, to investigations conducted by officers⁶ of Revenue and Customs of offences which relate to assigned matters⁷, and to persons detained by such officers⁸.

Nothing in the application of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 to customs and excise is to be construed as conferring on an officer any power:

- 2984 (1) to charge a person with any offence;
- 2985 (2) to release a person on bail;
- 2986 (3) to detain a person for an offence after he has been charged with that offence⁹.

Where in the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 a constable is given power to seize and retain any thing found upon a lawful search of a person or premises, an officer has the same power, notwithstanding that the thing found is not evidence of an offence in relation to an assigned matter¹⁰; and nothing in the application of the Act to customs and excise is to be construed to prevent any thing lawfully seized by a person under any enactment from being accepted and retained by an officer¹¹.

Where any provision of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 as applied to customs and excise confers a power on an officer and does not provide that the power may only be exercised with the consent of some other person other than an officer, the officer may use reasonable force, if necessary, in the exercise of the power¹².

¹ As to references to officers of Revenue and Customs see the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(2), (7); and PARA 900 ante.

² ie as defined in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1: see PARA 904 note 18 ante.

³ Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 114(2)(a) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(2), (7)). As to the Treasury see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) PARAS 512-517. The Treasury may also by order direct that, in relation to investigations of offences conducted by officers of Revenue and Customs the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 is to have effect as if s 14A (see note 5 infra) were added after s 14: s 114(2)(b). Nothing in any order under s 114(2) is to be taken to limit any powers exercisable under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 164 (as amended) (see PARA 1151 ante): Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 114(3). In exercise of the power so conferred the Treasury has made the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800 (amended by SI 1987/439; SI 1995/3217; SI 1996/1860; SI 2005/3389): see the text and notes 4-12 infra.

The Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 114 (as amended) does not apply to investigations in connection with a matter to which the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 7 (former Inland Revenue matters) applies: s 16, Sch 2 para 7(1).

In R v Nelson, R v Rose [1998] 2 Cr App Rep 399, CA, it was held that there was no conflict between the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 78(2) and the Code of Practice for the Detention, Treatment and Questioning of Persons by Police Officers para 10.1, made pursuant to the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 959), and that, if there were grounds for suspicion that an offence had been committed, a caution should be given.

4. In the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 ss 8, 9 and Sch 1, ss 15, 16, 17(1)(b), (2), (4), 18 (as modified), 19, 20, 21 (as modified), 22(1)-(4), 24(2) (as substituted and modified), 28, 29, 30(1)-(4)(a), (5)-(11), 31, 32(1)-(9) (as modified), 34(1)-(5), 35, 36 (as amended), 37 (as amended), 39 (as amended), 40, 41 (as amended), 42 (as amended), 43 (as amended), 44, 50 (as modified), 51(d), 54 (as amended), 55 (as modified), 56(1)-(9) (as amended), 57(1)-(9), 58(1)-(11) (as amended), 62 (as amended), 63 (as amended), 64(1)-(6) (as amended), 107 (as amended): see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 856 et seq.

Section 18(1) is to be modified so as to provide that an officer of Revenue and Customs may enter and search any premises occupied or controlled by a person who is under arrest for any indictable offence which relates to an assigned matter, as defined in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1 (as amended) (see PARA 904 note 18 ante), if he has reasonable grounds for suspecting that there is on the premises evidence, other than items subject to legal privilege, that relates: (1) to that offence; or (2) to some other indictable offence which is connected with or similar to that offence: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 7 (amended by SI 2005/3389; and by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(2)).

The Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 24(2) (as substituted) applies without prejudice to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 138(1) (as amended) (see PARA 1152 ante), the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 72(9) (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARAS 317-318), the Criminal Justice (International Co-operation) Act 1990 s 20, Sch 3 para 4 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 780) or any other enactment, including any enactment contained in subordinate legislation, for the time being in force which confers upon officers of Revenue and Customs the power to arrest or detain persons: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 12 (added by SI 1995/3217; and amended by SI 2005/3389; and by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(2)).

The Commissioners must keep on an annual basis the written records mentioned in the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 50(1): Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 8(1) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(2)). The Annual Report of the Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must contain information about the matters mentioned in the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 50(1) in respect of the period to which it relates: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 8(2) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(2)). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

The Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 55 has effect as if it related only to things such as are mentioned in s 55(1)(a): Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 9(1). The Annual Report of the Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must contain the information mentioned in the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 55(15) about searches made under s 55: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 9(2) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(2)).

The Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 77(3) is to be modified to the extent that the definition of 'independent person' is, in addition to the persons mentioned therein, also to include an officer or any other person acting under the authority of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 10.

5. In the modifications in the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 3(2), (3), 4-12, Sch 2 (as amended). The Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 has effect as if certain words and phrases were replaced by substitute words and phrases: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 3(2), Sch 2 Pt I (amended by SI 1987/439; and by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (2), (7)). Thus where the Act uses 'area', the substituted wording is 'collection'; for 'chief constable', the substituted wording is 'officer'; for 'constable', the substituted wording is 'officer'; for 'designated police station', the substituted wording is 'designated customs office'; for 'officer of a force maintained by a police authority', the substituted wording is 'officer'; for 'police area', the substituted wording is 'collection'; for 'police detention' (except in the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 118 and in s 39(1)(a) the second time the words occur), the substituted wording is 'customs detention'; for 'police force', the substituted wording is 'HM Commissioners for Revenue and Customs'; for 'police officer', the substituted wording is 'officer'; for 'police station', the substituted wording is 'customs office'; for 'rank', the substituted wording is 'title'; for 'station', the substituted wording is 'customs office'; for 'police', the substituted wording is 'HM Revenue and Customs': see the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, Sch 2 Pt I (as so amended).

Where in the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 any act or thing is to be done by a constable of a specified rank, that same act or thing must, in the application of that Act to customs and excise, be done by a specified officer of at least an equivalent title: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 3(3), Sch 2 Pt 2 (substituted by SI 1996/1860). Thus where the Act specifies a constable of the rank of sergeant, the act or thing must be done by an anti-smuggling officer in job band 2, a cargo team leader in job band 1, a cargo team member in job band 3, a drug dog unit team leader, an EFIT team member, an EVO in job band 2, an LVOIT officer in job band 1, a PSD team member in job band 1, a road fuel testing member, a special investigator in job band 1, or any other officer within job bands 5 or 6; where the Act specifies a constable of the rank of inspector, the act or thing must be done by an anti-smuggling team leader, a cargo team leader in job band 2, an EFIT team leader, an EVU team leader, an LVOIT officer in job band 2, a PSD team manager, a road fuel control officer, a specialist investigator in job band 2, a specialist investigator in job band 3, or any other officer within job bands 7 or 8; where the Act specifies a constable of the rank of superintendent, the act or thing must be done by an anti-smuggling manager, a cargo operational manager, an investigation team leader, a PSD operations manager, or any other officer within job band 9; and where the Act specifies a constable of the rank of chief inspector, the act or thing must be done by an anti-smuggling team leader, a cargo team leader in job band 2, an EFIT team leader, an EVU team leader, an LVOIT officer in job band 2, a PSD team manager, a road fuel control officer, a specialist investigator in job band 2, a specialist investigator in job band 3, or any other officer within job bands 7 or 8: see the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, Sch 2 Pt 2 (as so substituted). For these purposes, 'PSD' means 'Passenger Services Division'; 'EFIT' means 'Excise Fraud Investigation Team'; 'EVU' means 'Excise Verification Unit'; and 'LVOIT' means 'Local Value Added Tax Office Investigation Team': Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, Sch 2 Pt 2 (as so substituted). The job bands referred to above are set from time to time by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs: Sch 2 Pt 2 (as so substituted; and amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1)).

In its application by virtue of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 3, the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 has effect as if s 14A were added, providing that material in the possession of a person who acquired or created it in the course of any trade, business, profession or other occupation or for the purpose of any paid or unpaid office and which relates to an assigned matter, as defined in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1 (see PARA 904 note 18 ante), is neither excluded material nor special procedure material for the purposes of any enactment such as is mentioned in s 9(2) (see PARA 906 ante): Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 6.

6 For these purposes, 'officer' means a person commissioned by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs under the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 2 (see PARA 901 ante): Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 2(1) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)).

7 For these purposes, 'assigned matter' has the meaning given to it by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1 (as amended) (see PARA 904 note 18 ante): Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 2(1).

8 Ibid art 3(1), Sch 1 (amended by SI 1987/439; SI 1995/3217; SI 2005/3389). For these purposes, a person is in customs detention if: (1) he has been taken to a customs office after being arrested for an offence; or (2) he is arrested at a customs office after attending voluntarily at the office or accompanying an officer to it, and is detained there or is detained elsewhere in the charge of an officer; and nothing prevents a detained person from being transferred between customs detention and police detention: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 2(2). 'Customs office' means a place for the time being occupied by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs: art 2(1) (amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)).

9 Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 4.

10 Ibid art 5(1). The Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 21 (access and copying: see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 888) does not apply to any thing seized as liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 5(3). For these purposes, 'the customs and excise Acts' has the meaning given to it by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1 (as amended) (see PARA 413 note 1 ante): Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Customs and Excise) Order 1985, SI 1985/1800, art 2(1).

11 Ibid art 5(2).

12 Ibid art 11.

1154 Application of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984

TEXT AND NOTES--SI 1985/1800 replaced: Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (Application to Revenue and Customs) Order 2007, SI 2007/3175 (amended by SI 2010/360).

NOTE 3--Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 114 now as amended by Finance Act 2007 ss 82, 84(1), Sch 27 Pt 5(1).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(14) GENERAL POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT/(ii) Power of Arrest and Forfeiture/B. POWER OF FORFEITURE/1155. Provisions as to detention, seizure and condemnation of goods etc.

B. POWER OF FORFEITURE

1155. Provisions as to detention, seizure and condemnation of goods etc.

Any thing liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts¹ may be seized or detained by any officer² or constable or any member of Her Majesty's armed forces³ or coastguard⁴.

Where any thing is seized or detained as liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts by a person other than an officer, that person must⁵ either:

- 2987 (1) deliver that thing to the nearest convenient office of customs and excise;
or
- 2988 (2) if such delivery is not practicable, give to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs at the nearest convenient office of customs and excise notice in writing of the seizure or detention with full particulars of the thing seized or detained⁶.

Where the person seizing or detaining any thing as liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts is a constable and that thing is or may be required for use in connection with any proceedings to be brought otherwise than under those Acts, it may⁷ be retained in the custody of the police until either those proceedings are completed or it is decided that no such proceedings are to be brought⁸.

The following provisions apply in relation to things so retained in the custody of the police, that is to say:

- 2989 (a) notice in writing of the seizure or detention and of the intention to retain the thing in question in the custody of the police, together with full particulars as to that thing, must be given to the Commissioners at the nearest convenient office of customs and excise;
- 2990 (b) any officer must be permitted to examine that thing and take account thereof at any time while it remains in the custody of the police;
- 2991 (c) nothing in the Police (Property) Act 1897⁹ applies in relation to that thing¹⁰.

Any thing seized or detained under the customs and excise Acts must¹¹, pending the determination as to its forfeiture or disposal, be dealt with, and, if condemned or deemed to have been condemned or forfeited, must be disposed of in such manner as the Commissioners may direct¹².

If any person, not being an officer, by whom any thing is seized or detained or who has custody thereof after its seizure or detention fails to comply with any of the above requirements or with any direction of the Commissioners given thereunder, he is liable to a penalty¹³.

The above provisions¹⁴ apply in relation to any dutiable goods¹⁵ seized or detained by any person other than an officer notwithstanding that they were not so seized as liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts¹⁶.

1 For the meaning of 'the customs and excise Acts' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'armed forces' see PARA 925 note 1 ante.

4 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 139(1). As to notice of seizure see PARA 1156 post; and as to notice of claim see PARA 1157 post. Forfeiture proceedings are proceedings in rem and not in personam: Denton v John Lister Ltd [1971] 3 All ER 669, [1971] 1 WLR 1426, DC. For guidance see HM Revenue and Customs Notice 12A Goods and/or Vehicles Seized by Customs and Excise (April 2006). The function of a VAT and duties tribunal is not to determine criminal charges and as such forfeiture proceedings are not criminal proceedings: Gora v Customs and Excise Comrs; Dannatt v Customs and Excise Comrs [2003] EWCA Civ 525, [2004] QB 93, [2003] 3 WLR 160. The seizure of goods is not axiomatically invalid merely because it occurs as a result of an invalid check; the powers of seizure conferred by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 ss 49(1)(a) (see PARA 993 ante), s 139(1), s 141(1) (see PARA 1163 post) and Sch 3 (as amended) are not dependent on the exercise of any power to stop and search provided elsewhere, such as s 163 (as amended) (see PARA 1149 ante) and s 163A (as added) (see PARA 1150 ante). The power to seize is exercisable even when no search is necessary: R (on the application of Hoverspeed Ltd) v Customs and Excise Comrs [2002] EWCA Civ 1804, [2003] QB 1041, [2003] 2 All ER 553.

If the Commissioners seize goods as a result of a request made pursuant to the Trade Marks Act 1994 s 89 (see TRADE MARKS AND TRADE NAMES vol 48 (2007 Reissue) PARA 149) by the owner of the trade mark, the propriety of the seizure should be challenged using the statutory procedures and not by commencing proceedings against the trader at whose request the seizure occurred: CBS Inc v Blue Suede Music Ltd [1982] RPC 523.

The power conferred by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 139(1) to seize or detain any thing liable to forfeiture is to be taken to include a power for any officer or constable to seize or detain any such thing in a control zone in France or Belgium: Channel Tunnel (Customs and Excise) Order 1990, SI 1990/2167, art 4, Schedule para 20A (added by SI 1993/1813; amended by SI 1994/1405).

13 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 139(7) (amended by virtue of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 ss 38, 46). Such a person is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of level 2 on the standard scale: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 139(7) (as so amended). As to the standard scale see PARA 79 note 3 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(14) GENERAL POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT/(ii) Power of Arrest and Forfeiture/B. POWER OF FORFEITURE/1156. Notice of seizure.

1156. Notice of seizure.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs must give notice of the seizure of any thing as liable to forfeiture and of the grounds therefor to any person who to their knowledge was at the time of the seizure the owner¹ or one of the owners thereof². Notice need not, however, be so given if the seizure was made in the presence of:

- 2992 (1) the person whose offence or suspected offence occasioned the seizure; or
- 2993 (2) the owner or any of the owners of the thing seized or any servant or agent of his; or
- 2994 (3) in the case of anything seized in any ship³ or aircraft, the master⁴ or commander⁵.

Such a notice must be given in writing and is deemed to have been duly served on the person concerned:

- 2995 (a) if delivered to him personally; or
- 2996 (b) if addressed to him and left or forwarded by post to him at his usual or last known place of abode or business or, in the case of a body corporate, at its registered or principal office; or
- 2997 (c) where he has no address within the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man, or his address is unknown, by publication of notice of the seizure in the London, Edinburgh or Belfast Gazette⁶.

1 For the meaning of 'owner' see PARAS 708 note 6, 949 note 6 ante.

2 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 139(6), Sch 3 para 1(1). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. As to proof of seizure see PARA 1206 post. In relation to goods contained in a postal packet, Sch 3 para 1 applies, in the case of a thing brought by post into the United Kingdom, as if, instead of referring to any person who to their knowledge was at the time of seizure the owner or one of the owners thereof, it referred to any person who to their knowledge was at the time of the seizure the owner or one of the owners of the postal packet containing the thing, or who appears to them to be the sender of the postal packet containing the thing, or to whom the postal packet containing the thing was addressed: Postal Packets (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/260, reg 5(k). As to postal packets see PARA 1032 et seq ante. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'ship' see PARA 897 note 10 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'master', in relation to a ship, see PARA 863 note 5 ante.

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 Sch 3 para 1(2). For the meaning of 'commander', in relation to an aircraft, see PARA 863 note 6 ante. As to the application of these provisions to hovercraft see PARA 897 ante; and as to the application of these provisions to certain Crown aircraft see PARA 899 ante.

6 Ibid Sch 3 para 2 (amended by the Isle of Man Act 1979 s 13, Sch 1 para 23).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(14) GENERAL POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT/(ii) Power of Arrest and Forfeiture/B. POWER OF FORFEITURE/1157. Notice of claim.

1157. Notice of claim.

Any person claiming that any thing seized as liable to forfeiture is not so liable must, within one month of the date of the notice of seizure or, where no such notice has been served on him, within one month of the date of the seizure, give notice of his claim in writing to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹.

Any such notice must specify the name and address of the claimant² and, in the case of a claimant who is outside the United Kingdom and the Isle of Man, must specify the name and address of a solicitor in the United Kingdom³ who is authorised to accept service of process and to act on behalf of the claimant⁴. Service of process upon a solicitor⁵ so specified is deemed to be proper service upon the claimant⁶.

1 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 139(6), Sch 3 para 3. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. The test to be applied in determining whether a letter amounts to notice that goods are not liable to seizure is whether a reasonable person in the position of the commissioners would have understood it to be such, bearing in mind the factual circumstances as they would reasonably have been known to the commissioners: Gascoyne v Customs and Excise Comrs [2004] EWCA Civ 1162, [2005] Ch 215, [2005] 2 WLR 222.

2 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'claimant', in relation to proceedings for the condemnation of any thing as being forfeited, means a person claiming that the thing is not liable to forfeiture: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 1(1).

3 For the purposes of ibid Sch 3 para 4(1) (as amended) and Sch 3 para 4(2) (see the text and notes 5-6 infra), the reference to a solicitor includes a reference to a body corporate recognised by the Council of the Law Society under the Administration of Justice Act 1985 s 9 (as amended) (see LEGAL PROFESSIONS vol 65 (2008) PARA 688 et seq): Solicitors' Incorporated Practices Order 1991, SI 1991/2684, arts 2(1), 3, 4(a), Sch 1. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

4 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 Sch 3 para 4(1) (amended by the Isle of Man Act 1979 s 13, Sch 1 para 24). As to the special provisions which apply to companies, partnerships and groups of five or more persons see PARA 1161 post.

UPDATE

1157 Notice of claim

NOTE 1--As to the meaning of 'month' in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 Sch 3 para 3 see R (on the application of O'Connor Utilities Ltd) v HM Revenue and Customs [2009] EWHC 3704 (Admin), [2010] All ER (D) 07 (Mar). Gascoyne, cited, applied in Revenue and Customs Comrs v Jones [2010] UKUT 116 (TCC), [2010] All ER (D) 231 (Apr).

NOTE 3--SI 1991/2684 renamed the Solicitors' Recognised Bodies Order 1991: SI 2009/500. SI 1991/2684 art 3 amended: SI 2009/500.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(14) GENERAL POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT/(ii) Power of Arrest and Forfeiture/B. POWER OF FORFEITURE/1158. Power to deal with seizures before condemnation etc.

1158. Power to deal with seizures before condemnation etc.

Where any thing has been seized as liable to forfeiture, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may at any time if they see fit and notwithstanding that the thing has not yet been condemned, or is not yet deemed to have been condemned, as forfeited:

- 2998 (1) deliver it up to any claimant¹ upon his paying to the Commissioners such sum as they think proper, being a sum not exceeding that which in their opinion represents the value of the thing, including any duty or tax chargeable thereon which has not been paid;
- 2999 (2) if the thing seized is a living creature or is in the opinion of the Commissioners of a perishable nature, sell or destroy it².

If, where any thing is so delivered up, sold or destroyed, it is held in proceedings³ that the thing was not liable to forfeiture at the time of its seizure, the Commissioners must, subject to any deduction allowed under the following provisions, on demand by the claimant tender to him:

- 3000 (a) an amount equal to any sum paid by him under head (1) above; or
- 3001 (b) where they have sold the thing, an amount equal to the proceeds of sale;
- or
- 3002 (c) where they have destroyed the thing, an amount equal to the market value of the thing at the time of its seizure⁴.

Where the amount to be tendered under head (a), (b) or (c) above includes any sum on account of any duty or tax chargeable on the thing which had not been paid before its seizure, the Commissioners may deduct so much of that amount as represents that duty or tax⁵.

1160. Proceedings for condemnation by court.

Proceedings for condemnation are civil proceedings and may be instituted in England or Wales either in the High Court or in a magistrates' court¹.

Proceedings for the condemnation of any thing instituted in a magistrates' court in England or Wales may be so instituted:

- 3003 (1) in any such court having jurisdiction in the place where any offence in connection with that thing was committed or where any proceedings for such an offence are instituted; or
- 3004 (2) in any such court having jurisdiction in the place where the claimant² resides or, if the claimant has specified a solicitor³, in the place where that solicitor has his office; or
- 3005 (3) in any such court having jurisdiction in the place where that thing was found, detained or seized or to which it is first brought after being found, detained or seized⁴.

In any proceedings for condemnation instituted in England or Wales, the claimant or his solicitor must make oath that the thing seized was, or was to the best of his knowledge and belief, the property of the claimant at the time of the seizure⁵.

In any such proceedings instituted in the High Court, the claimant must give such security for the costs of the proceedings as may be determined by the court⁶.

If any of the above requirements is not complied with, the court must give judgment for the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁷.

In the case of any proceedings for condemnation instituted in a magistrates' court in England or Wales, without prejudice to any right to require the statement of a case for the opinion of the High Court, either party may appeal against the decision of that court to the Crown Court⁸.

Where an appeal, including an appeal by way of case stated, has been made against the decision of the court in any proceedings for the condemnation of any thing, that thing must be left, pending the final determination of the matter, with the Commissioners or at any convenient office of customs and excise⁹.

1164. Special provision as to forfeiture of larger ships.

Notwithstanding any other provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979¹, a ship² of 250 or more tons register³ is not liable to forfeiture under or by virtue of any provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979⁴, unless the offence in respect of or in connection with which the forfeiture is claimed:

3016 (1) was substantially the object of the voyage during which the offence was committed; or 3017 (2) was committed while the ship was under chase by a vessel⁵ in the service of Her Majesty after failing to bring to when properly summoned to do so⁶ by that vessel⁷.

The exemption from forfeiture of any ship under the above provisions does not affect any liability to forfeiture of goods⁸ carried therein⁹.

1165. Penalty in lieu of forfeiture of larger ship where responsible officer implicated in offence.

Where any ship¹ of 250 or more tons register² would otherwise³ be liable to forfeiture for or in connection with any offence under the customs and excise Acts⁴ and, in the opinion of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, a responsible officer⁵ of the ship is implicated either by his own act or by neglect⁶ in that offence, the Commissioners may fine that ship such sum not exceeding £50 as they see fit⁷.

Where any ship is so liable to a fine but the Commissioners consider that fine an inadequate penalty for the offence, they may take proceedings⁸, in like manner as they might otherwise⁹ have taken proceedings for the condemnation of the ship if notice of claim had been given in respect thereof, for the condemnation of the ship in such sum not exceeding £500 as the court may see fit¹⁰.

Where any fine is to be imposed or any proceedings are to be taken under the above provisions, the Commissioners may require such sum as they see fit, not exceeding £50 or, as the case may be, £500, to be deposited with them to await their final decision or, as the case may be, the decision of the court, and may detain the ship until that sum has been so deposited¹¹.

No claim lies against the Commissioners for damages in respect of the payment of any deposit or the detention of any ship under the above provisions¹².

For the meaning of 'master', in relation to a ship, see PARA 863 note 5 ante.

6 For these purposes, without prejudice to any other grounds upon which a responsible officer of any ship may be held to be implicated by neglect, he may be so held if goods not owned to by any member of the crew are discovered in a place under that officer's supervision in which they could not reasonably have been put if he had exercised proper care at the time of the loading of the ship or subsequently: ibid s 143(6)(b).

Where, in any proceedings for the condemnation of any thing seized as liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts¹, judgment is given for the claimant, the court may, if it sees fit, certify that there were reasonable grounds for the seizure².

Where any proceedings, whether civil or criminal, are brought against the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, a law officer of the Crown³ or any person authorised by or under the Customs and Excise Acts 1979⁴ to seize or detain any thing liable to forfeiture under the customs and excise Acts on account of the seizure or detention of any thing, and judgment is given for the claimant or prosecutor, then, if either:

- 3018 (1) a certificate relating to the seizure has been granted⁵; or
- 3019 (2) the court is satisfied that there were reasonable grounds for seizing or detaining that thing under the customs and excise Acts, the claimant or prosecutor is not entitled to recover any damages or costs and the defendant is not liable to any punishment⁶; but nothing in that provision affects any right of any person to the return of the thing seized or detained or to compensation in respect of any damage to the thing or in respect of the destruction thereof⁷.

(iii) Miscellaneous other Powers and Provisions

1167. Bonds and security.

Without prejudice to any express requirement as to security contained in the customs and excise Acts¹, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may, if they see fit, require any person to give security (or further security) by bond, guarantee or otherwise for the observance of any condition in connection with customs or excise².

Any bond, guarantee or other security taken for the purposes of any assigned matter³:

- 3020 (1) must be taken either on behalf of Her Majesty or on behalf of Her Majesty and the tax authorities of each member state other than the United Kingdom⁴; and
- 3021 (2) is valid notwithstanding that it is entered into by a person under full age⁵; and
- 3022 (3) may be cancelled at any time by or by order of the Commissioners⁶.

1 For the meaning of 'the customs and excise Acts' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 157(1) (amended by the Finance Act 2000 s 27(1), (2)). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. 'Condition in connection with excise' includes a condition in respect of excise duty charged, under the law of a member state other than the United Kingdom, on manufactured tobacco, alcohol or alcoholic beverages, or mineral oils (in each case as defined in EC Council Directive 92/12 (OJ L76, 23.3.92, p 1) (as amended): Customs and Excise Act 1979 s 157(1A) (added by the Finance Act 2000 s 27(3)).

Any decision of the Commissioners under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 157 (as amended) as to whether or not any person is to be required to give any security for the observance of any condition, as to the form or amount of, or the conditions of, any such security or as to the cancellation of any bond is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see the Finance Act 1994 ss 14(1)(d), (2)-(7), 15, 16 (as amended), Sch 5 para 2(1)(s); and PARAS 1240, 1245, 1252 et seq post.

3 For the meaning of 'assigned matter' see PARA 904 note 18 ante. For this purpose, 'assigned matter' includes any excise duty charged as mentioned in the Customs and Excise Act 1979 s 157(1A) (as added) (see note 2 supra): s 157(2) (amended by the Finance Act 2000 s 27(6)).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(14) GENERAL POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT/(iii) Miscellaneous other Powers and Provisions/1168. Power to require provision of facilities.

1168. Power to require provision of facilities.

A person to whom the following provisions apply, that is to say, a revenue trader¹ and any person required by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs under the Customs and Excise Acts 1979² to give security in respect of any premises or place to be used for the examination of goods³ by an officer⁴, must:

- 3023 (1) provide and maintain such appliances and afford such other facilities reasonably necessary to enable an officer to take any account or make any examination or search or to perform any other of his duties on the premises of that trader or at the bonded premises or place as the Commissioners may direct;
- 3024 (2) keep any appliances so provided in a convenient place approved by the proper officer⁵ for that purpose; and
- 3025 (3) allow the proper officer at any time to use anything so provided and give him any assistance necessary for the performance of his duties⁶.

Any person who contravenes or fails to comply with any of the above provisions is liable to a penalty⁷.

A person to whom these provisions apply must provide and maintain any fitting required for the purpose of affixing any lock which the proper officer may require to affix to the premises of that person or any part thereof or to any vessel, utensil or other apparatus whatsoever kept thereon, and in default: (a) the fitting may be provided, or any work necessary for its maintenance may be carried out, by the proper officer, and any expenses so incurred must be paid on demand by that person; and (b) if that person fails to pay those expenses on demand, he is, in addition, liable to a penalty⁸.

If any person to whom these provisions apply or any servant of his:

- 3026 (i) wilfully destroys or damages any such fitting as is mentioned above⁹ or any lock or key provided for use therewith, or any label or seal placed on any such lock;
or
- 3027 (ii) improperly obtains access to any place or article secured by any such lock;
or
- 3028 (iii) has any such fitting or any article intended to be secured by means thereof so constructed that that intention is defeated, he is liable to a penalty, and may be arrested¹⁰.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(14) GENERAL POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT/(iii) Miscellaneous other Powers and Provisions/1172. Power to inspect computer records etc.

1172. Power to inspect computer records etc.

Any provision made by or under any enactment which requires a person, in connection with any assigned matter¹:

- 3029 (1) to produce, furnish or deliver any document, or cause any document to be produced, furnished or delivered; or
- 3030 (2) to permit the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or a person authorised by them to inspect any document or to make or take extracts or copies of or remove any document, has effect as if any reference in that provision to a document were a reference to anything in which information of any description is recorded and any reference to a copy of a document were a reference to anything onto which information recorded in the document has been copied, by whatever means and whether directly or indirectly².

In connection with any assigned matter, a person authorised by the Commissioners to exercise the powers conferred by these provisions:

- 3031 (a) is entitled at any reasonable time to have access to, and inspect and check the operation of, any computer and any associated apparatus or material which is or has been in use in connection with any document within the meaning given by the above provisions³, which, in connection with any assigned matter, a person is or may be required by or under any enactment to produce, furnish or deliver, or cause to be produced, furnished or delivered or to permit the Commissioners or a person authorised by them to inspect, make or take extracts from or copies of or remove; and
- 3032 (b) may require the person by whom or on whose behalf the computer is or has been so used or any person having charge of, or otherwise concerned with the operation of, the computer, apparatus or material to afford him such reasonable assistance as he may require for the purposes of head (a) above⁴.

Any person who obstructs a person authorised under the above provisions in the exercise of his powers under head (a) above or without reasonable excuse fails to comply within a reasonable time with a requirement under head (b) above is liable to a penalty⁵.

¹ For these purposes, 'assigned matter' means any matter which is an assigned matter for the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 (see PARA 904 note 18 ante): Finance Act 1985 s 10(8).

An officer of Revenue and Customs or constable may seize any cash if he has reasonable grounds for suspecting that it is recoverable property¹ or intended by any person for use in unlawful conduct². An officer of Revenue and Customs or constable may also seize cash part of which he has reasonable grounds for suspecting to be recoverable property or intended by any person for use in unlawful conduct, if it is not reasonably practicable to seize only that part³. However, these provisions do not authorise the seizure of an amount of cash if it or, as the case may be, the part to which his suspicion relates, is less than the minimum amount⁴.

Any power which is conferred on the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or any officer or constable under any of the provisions of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 relating to:

- 3033 (1) the control of the movement of aircraft into and out of the United Kingdom¹;
- 3034 (2) the power to regulate movement by land into and out of Northern Ireland²;
- 3035 (3) officers' powers of boarding³;
- 3036 (4) officers' powers of access⁴;
- 3037 (5) officers' powers to detain ships⁵;
- 3038 (6) the power to prevent the flight of an aircraft⁶;
- 3039 (7) questions as to the baggage of a person entering or leaving the United Kingdom⁷;
- 3040 (8) powers of search⁸, is not exercisable in relation to any person or thing entering or leaving the United Kingdom⁹ so as to prevent, restrict or delay the movement of that person or thing between different member states, except in a case falling within the following provisions¹⁰.

The cases in which such a power may be exercised are those where it appears to the person on whom the power is conferred that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the movement in question is not in fact between different member states or that it is necessary to exercise the power for purposes connected with:

- 3041 (a) securing the collection of any Community customs duty¹¹ or giving effect to any Community legislation relating to any such duty;
- 3042 (b) the enforcement of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force by virtue of any Community legislation with respect to the movement of goods¹² into or out of the member states; or
- 3043 (c) the enforcement of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force by virtue of any enactment with respect to the importation or exportation of goods into or out of the United Kingdom¹³.

The Treasury may by order made by statutory instrument add any power conferred by any enactment contained in the customs and excise Acts¹⁴ to the powers to which the above provisions apply; and a statutory instrument containing such an order is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament¹⁵.

TEXT AND NOTES 11-13--The power may also be exercised where it is necessary to do so in order to ascertain whether the movement in question is or is not in fact between different member states: Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 4(1), (2), (1A) (s 4(1), (2) amended, s 4(1A) added, by Finance Act 2009 s 112).

(15) CRIMINAL OFFENCES; PENALTIES

(i) Offences and Penalties

A. IN GENERAL

1175. Cheating the public revenue.

It is an indictable offence at common law¹ for a person to practise a fraud on the public revenue². Any such offence is punishable by fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court³.

¹ Although the common law offence of cheating is in practice reserved for serious and unusual offences rather than conventional cases, the court should not be inhibited by any statutory provisions from imposing or upholding what would otherwise be a proper sentence: R v Mavji [1987] 2 All ER 758, [1987] 1 WLR 1388, CA.

² 1 Hawk PC 322; 2 East PC 821; R v Bembridge (1783) 3 Doug KB 327; R v Bradbury, R v Edlin (1920) [1956] 2 QB 262n (affd on another point [1921] 1 KB 562, CCA); R v Hudson [1956] 2 QB 252, [1956] 1 All ER 814, CCA. Offences of cheating the public revenue were expressly saved when the common law offence of cheating was abolished: see the Theft Act 1968 s 32(1)(a); and R v Redford (1988) 89 Cr App Rep 1, CA. A fraud on the public revenue is indictable even though the particular fraud might not have been indictable had it been a fraud on one individual by another: R v Bembridge supra, as explained in R v Hudson supra at 260 and 816. See also D Ormerod 'Cheating the Public Revenue' [1998] Crim LR 627.

The offence does not require any positive act of deception either by words or conduct, but may include any form of fraudulent conduct which results in diverting money from the revenue: R v Mavji [1987] 2 All ER 758, [1987] 1 WLR 1388, CA; R v Redford supra.

NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(15) CRIMINAL OFFENCES; PENALTIES/(i) Offences and Penalties/A. IN GENERAL/1176. Untrue declarations etc.

1176. Untrue declarations etc.

If any person either knowingly¹ or recklessly²:

- 3044 (1) makes or signs, or causes³ to be made or signed, or delivers or causes to be delivered to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or an officer⁴, any declaration, notice, certificate or other document⁵ whatsoever; or
- 3045 (2) makes any statement in answer to any question put to him by an officer which he is required by or under any enactment to answer, being a document or statement produced or made for any purpose of any assigned matter⁶, which is untrue⁷ in any material particular, he is guilty of an offence and liable⁸ to a penalty, and may be arrested; and any goods in relation to which the document or statement was made are liable to forfeiture⁹.

If any person:

- 3046 (a) makes or signs, or causes to be made or signed, or delivers or causes to be delivered to the Commissioners or an officer, any declaration, notice, certificate or other document whatsoever; or
- 3047 (b) makes any statement in answer to any question put to him by an officer which he is required by or under any enactment to answer, being a document or statement produced or made for any purpose of any assigned matter, which is untrue in any material particular, he is liable¹⁰ to a penalty¹¹.

Where, by reason of any such document or statement as is mentioned above¹², the full amount of any duty payable is not paid or any overpayment is made in respect of any drawback, allowance¹³, rebate or repayment of duty, the amount of the duty unpaid or of the overpayment is recoverable as a debt due to the Crown or may be summarily recovered as a civil debt¹⁴.

An amount of excise duty, or the amount of an overpayment in respect of any drawback, allowance, rebate or repayment of any excise duty, is not, however, so recoverable unless the Commissioners have assessed the amount of the duty or of the overpayment as being excise duty due from the person mentioned above¹⁵ and notified him or his representative¹⁶ accordingly¹⁷.

1 As to the requirement of knowledge see PARA 1006 note 17 ante.

2 A person is reckless if he does an act which in fact involves an obvious and serious risk of harmful consequences and either: (1) he fails to give any thought to the possibility of there being any such risk; or (2) having recognised that there is some risk involved, he nonetheless goes on to take it: R v Lawrence [1982] AC 510 at 527, [1981] 1 All ER 974 at 982, HL; Metropolitan Police Comr v Caldwell [1982] AC 341 at 354, sub nom R v Caldwell [1981] 1 All ER 961 at 967, HL, per Lord Diplock. A risk is 'obvious' if it is obvious to an ordinary prudent individual rather than obvious to the particular accused having regard to his age, mental capacity and experience: see Elliott v C (a minor) [1983] 2 All ER 1005, [1983] 1 WLR 939; R v Rogers (1984) 149 JP 89, sub nom R v R (Stephen Malcolm) 79 Cr App Rep 334, CA; and CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARAS 9, 11.

3 To 'cause' involves some degree of dominance of control or some express or positive mandate from the person 'causing': McLeod (or Houston) v Buchanan [1940] 2 All ER 179 at 187, HL, per Lord Wright; Shave v Rosner [1954] 2 QB 113, [1954] 2 All ER 280; Lovelace v DPP [1954] 3 All ER 481, [1954] 1 WLR 1468; Schulton (Great Britain) Ltd v Slough Borough Council [1967] 2 QB 471, [1967] 2 All ER 137; A-G of Hong Kong v Tse Hung-lit [1986] AC 876, [1986] 3 All ER 173, PC. A person cannot be said to have 'caused' another to do or omit to do something unless he either knows or deliberately chooses not to know what it is that the other is doing or failing to do: James & Son Ltd v Smees [1955] 1 QB 78, [1954] 3 All ER 273; Ross Hillman Ltd v Bond [1974] QB 435, [1974] 2 All ER 287; A-G of Hong Kong v Tse Hung-lit supra. For a corporation to be liable for 'causing', it must be shown that some person for whose criminal acts the corporation would be liable caused the commission of the offence. Unless the offence is one for which the corporation may be vicariously liable, knowledge on the part of an ordinary employee is not sufficient; it must be that of someone exercising a directing mind over the company's affairs: see James & Son Ltd v Smees supra; Ross Hillman v Bond supra; Tesco Supermarkets Ltd v Natrass [1972] AC 153, [1971] 2 All ER 127, HL; and CORPORATIONS vol 9(2) (2006 Reissue) PARA 1280; CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARA 59 et seq.

NOTE 9--SI 1992/2790 further amended: SI 2008/557, SI 2008/2847.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(15) CRIMINAL OFFENCES; PENALTIES/(i) Offences and Penalties/A. IN GENERAL/1177. Counterfeiting documents etc.

1177. Counterfeiting documents etc.

If any person:

- 3048 (1) counterfeits or falsifies any document¹ which is required by or under any enactment relating to an assigned matter² or which is used in the transaction of any business relating to an assigned matter; or
- 3049 (2) knowingly accepts, receives or uses any such document so counterfeited or falsified; or
- 3050 (3) alters any such document after it is officially issued; or
- 3051 (4) counterfeits any seal, signature, initials or other mark of, or used by, any officer³ for the verification of such a document or for the security of goods⁴ or for any other purpose relating to an assigned matter, he is guilty of an offence and liable to a penalty, and may be arrested⁵.

1 For the meaning of 'document' for these purposes see PARA 1172 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'assigned matter' see PARA 904 note 18 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'officer' see PARA 417 note 6 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

5 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 168(1), (2) (amended by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 114(1)). Such a person is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or a penalty of any amount, or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a penalty of the prescribed sum, or to both: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 168(2). For the meaning of 'the prescribed sum' see PARA 423 note 9 ante. As to legal proceedings see PARA 1197 et seq post; and as to the arrest of persons see PARA 1152 ante. Where a person, whether or not the person assessed, has been convicted of an offence under s 168(1) (as amended), the conviction for that offence may be relied on by the Commissioners to extend the period for making an assessment to 20 years: see the Finance Act 1994 s 12(4), (5), (7) (as amended); and PARAS 1231-1232 post. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 168 (as amended) does not apply in relation to a declaration, document or statement in respect of a function relating to a matter to which the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 7 (former Inland Revenue matters) applies: s 16, Sch 2 para 6.

Where, in connection with the collection of data relating to trading between member states under the system known as 'the Intrastat system', a person is convicted of an offence contrary to the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 168(1) (as amended), s 168(2) (as amended) has effect as if for the words 'six months' there were substituted the words 'three months': see the Statistics of Trade (Customs and Excise) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/2790, reg 12.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(15) CRIMINAL OFFENCES; PENALTIES/(i) Offences and Penalties/A. IN GENERAL/1178. Fraudulent evasion of duty etc.

1178. Fraudulent evasion of duty etc.

Without prejudice to any other provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979¹, if any person:

- 3052 (1) knowingly² acquires possession³ of any of the following goods⁴, that is to say:
- 174
70. (a) goods which have been unlawfully removed from a warehouse⁵ or Queen's warehouse⁶;
71. (b) goods which are chargeable with a duty which has not been paid⁷;
72. (c) goods with respect to the importation or exportation of which any prohibition or restriction is for the time being in force under or by virtue of any enactment; or
- 175
- 3053 (2) is in any way knowingly concerned in carrying, removing, depositing, harbouring, keeping or concealing or in any manner dealing with any such goods⁸, and does so with intent to defraud⁹ Her Majesty of any duty payable on the goods or to evade any such prohibition or restriction with respect to the goods, he is guilty of an offence and may be arrested¹⁰.

Without prejudice to any other provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979, if any person is, in relation to any goods, in any way knowingly concerned in any fraudulent evasion¹¹ or attempt at evasion:

- 3054 (i) of any duty chargeable on the goods;
- 3055 (ii) of any prohibition or restriction for the time being in force with respect to the goods under or by virtue of any enactment; or
- 3056 (iii) of any provision of the Customs and Excise Acts 1979 applicable to the goods, he is guilty of an offence and may be arrested¹².

A person guilty of an offence under the above provisions is liable to a penalty¹³.

In any case where a person would otherwise be guilty of:

- 3057 (A) an offence under the above provisions in connection with a prohibition or restriction; and
- 3058 (B) a corresponding offence under the enactment or other instrument imposing the prohibition or restriction, being an offence for which a fine or other penalty is expressly provided by that enactment or other instrument, he is not guilty of the offence mentioned in head (A) above¹⁴.

Where any person is guilty of an offence under the above provisions, the goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture¹⁵.

1 For the meaning of 'the Customs and Excise Acts 1979' see PARA 398 note 2 ante.

2 As to the requirement of knowledge see PARA 1006 note 17 ante.

3 Possession requires knowledge of the type of goods in issue: Warner v Metropolitan Police Comr [1969] 2 AC 256, [1968] 2 All ER 356, HL. The offence of knowingly acquiring possession may be committed at any time after the actual importation of the goods and at any place: R v Ardalan [1972] 2 All ER 257, [1972] 1 WLR 463, CA. It must, however, be established that the accused had knowledge that the goods were in fact imported before an offence can be committed: R v Watts, R v Stack (1979) 70 Cr App Rep 187, CA (dangerous drugs).

4 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'warehouse' see PARA 412 note 3 ante.

6 For the meaning of 'Queen's warehouse' see PARA 705 note 2 ante.

7 Goods are chargeable for this purpose, even though, by extra-statutory concession, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs do not collect duty on them on importation: R v Berry [1969] 2 QB 73, [1969] 1 All ER 689, CA. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

8 For these purposes, it is sufficient if the suspect knows that the goods are subject to the prohibition, even if he does not know the precise nature of the goods: R v Hussain [1969] 2 QB 567, [1969] 2 All ER 1117, CA. The word 'dealing' has a broad meaning: Schneider v Davidson [1960] 2 QB 106, [1959] 3 All ER 583. It is not necessary to prove that there has been an actual direct deception on an officer; it is sufficient if there has been dishonest conduct intended to deceive: A-G's Reference (No 1 of 1981) [1982] QB 848, [1982] 2 All ER 417, CA. In Geismar v Sun Alliance Ltd [1978] QB 383, [1977] 3 All ER 570, it was, however, held that payment of insurance money did not amount to 'dealing'.

9 For the meaning of 'to defraud' see PARA 1006 note 16 ante.

10 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(1) (amended by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 114(1)). As to the arrest of persons see PARA 1152 ante. Where a person, whether or not the person assessed, has been convicted of an offence under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(1) (as amended) and s 170(2) (as amended) (see the text and notes 11-12 infra), the conviction for that offence may be relied on by the Commissioners to extend the period for making an assessment to 20 years: see the Finance Act 1994 s 12(4), (5), (7) (as amended); and PARAS 1231-1232 post.

11 For these purposes, the word 'knowingly' is concerned with knowing that a fraudulent evasion is taking place. If, therefore, an accused knows that what is on foot is the evasion of a prohibition against importation and he knowingly takes part in that operation, that is sufficient to justify his conviction, even if he does not know precisely what kind of goods are being imported: see R v Hussain [1969] 2 QB 567, [1969] 2 All ER 1117, CA (approved in R v Forbes [2001] UKHL 40, [2002] 2 AC 512, [2001] 4 All ER 97); R v Hennessey (1978) 68 Cr App Rep 419, CA; R v Shivpuri [1987] AC 1, [1986] 2 All ER 334, HL; R v Ellis (1986) 84 Cr App Rep 235, CA. In R v Taaffe [1983] 2 All ER 625, [1983] 1 WLR 627, CA affd [1984] AC 539, [1984] 1 All ER 747, HL, it was held that the relevant mental element of the offence is actual knowledge, not merely belief which may or may not be right, that the goods being imported are goods subject to a prohibition, although it is not necessary to prove that the accused knew the precise nature of the goods. In R v Neal [1984] 3 All ER 156, CA, it was held that, in order to prove the offence, it is not necessary to establish that the accused was connected with the actual importation of the goods; it is sufficient to prove knowledge that the goods were imported, that such importation was prohibited, that the object of the operation was to evade the prohibition and that the accused dishonestly intended to help in that evasion. The mens rea requires specific intent to be knowingly concerned in any fraudulent evasion of a prohibition; recklessness is insufficient: see R v Panayi (No 2), R v Karte [1989] 1 WLR 187, CA. Acts done abroad to further the fraudulent evasion are punishable: see R v Wall [1974] 2 All ER 245, [1974] 1 WLR 930, CA; R v Jakeman (1982) 76 Cr App Rep 223, CA. A person may be convicted of being knowingly concerned in the fraudulent evasion of a prohibition; it is sufficient to show that he was a party to the importation of prohibited goods into the United Kingdom as a staging post for their onward transmission to another country: R v Smith (Donald) [1973] QB 924, [1973] 2 All ER 1161, CA. An offence can be committed even if the evasion is not successful: R v Green (Harry Rodney) [1976] QB 985, [1975] 3 All ER 1011, CA (where customs officers substituted peat for cannabis and an offence was committed in storing the peat); R v Caippara (1987) 87 Cr App Rep 316, CA. Nor is it necessary to prove acts of deceit had been practised in the presence of a customs officer; it is sufficient that there has been dishonest conduct deliberately intended to evade a prohibition or restriction: A-G's Reference (No 1 of 1981) [1982] QB 848, [1982] 2 All ER 417, CA; R v Latif, R v Shahzad [1996] 1 All ER 353, [1996] 1 WLR 104, HL. The unsolicited receipt of drugs followed by knowing retention is sufficient material to allow a jury to convict: R v Williams [1971] 2 All ER 444, [1971] 1 WLR 1029, CA; R v Mitchell [1992] Crim LR 594, CA. In MacNeil v HM Advocate 1986 JC 146, SCCR 288, it was held that a person could be concerned in the importation of goods only if he was involved in the enterprise in some way and it was not enough for him to be merely informed about what others were doing. There must be evidence that the accused played a part or held himself available to play some role. See also R v Caippara supra at 321 per May LJ. In relation to cases of conspiracy see R v Siracusa (1989) 90 Cr App Rep 340, CA; R v Patel (7 August 1991, unreported), CA. A person who believes that a substance is a controlled drug when it is not may be prosecuted for attempt: R v Shivpuri [1987] AC 1, [1986] 2 All ER 334, HL. The offence can be committed in the United Kingdom where goods enter the European Union in another member state, and are then transported to the United Kingdom: R v Sissen [2001] 1 WLR 902, [2000] All ER (D) 2193, CA. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

12 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(2) (amended by the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 s 114(1)). See also note 10 supra. Where goods normally subject to excise duty are moved under duty suspension arrangements, excise duty is usually paid in the country of destination. Where, however, the appropriate accompanying documents have been falsified, the duty suspension arrangement lapses and excise duty becomes immediately chargeable: R v Hayward [1999] Crim LR 71, CA. In R v Martin, R v White [1998] 2 Cr App Rep 385, CA, the offence created by the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(2) (as amended) was held to be an 'activity' offence so that a count was not necessarily bad for duplicity because it related to more than one offence. There is no difference in criminality between importing and exporting controlled drugs: R v Powell (2000) Times, 5 October, CA.

13 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(3) (amended by the Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 s 23(3)(a); the Finance Act 1988 s 12(1)(a), (6); and the Import of Seal Skins Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2686, reg 4(2)(a)). Such a person is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding seven years or a penalty of any amount, or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a penalty of the prescribed sum or of three times the value of the goods, whichever is the greater, or to both: see the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(3) (as so amended). In the case of an offence under s 170(2) (as amended) committed in Great Britain in connection with a prohibition or restriction on the importation or exportation of any weapon or ammunition that is of a kind mentioned in the Firearms Act 1968 s 5(1)(a), (ab), (aba), (ac), (ad), (ae), (af) or (c) or (1A)(a) (as amended) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(2) (2006 Reissue) PARAS 661, 663), or any such offence committed in connection with the prohibitions contained in the Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 ss 20, 21 (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(1) (2006 Reissue) PARA 551), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(3)(b) has effect as if for the words 'seven years' there were substituted the words 'ten years': s 170(4A) (added by the Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981 s 23(3)(b); and substituted by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 s 293(1), (4)).

In the case of an offence under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(1) or (2) (as amended) in connection with the prohibition contained in the Import of Seal Skins Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2686, reg 2 (prohibition on the commercial importation of raw, tanned or dressed fur-skins of relevant seals, including fur-skins of such seals assembled in plates, crosses or similar forms, and articles made wholly or partly of fur-skins of relevant seals: see ANIMALS vol 2 (2008) PARA 1084), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(3) (as amended) has effect as if: (1) s 170(3)(a) provided that a person is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both; and (2) in s 170(3)(b) for the words 'seven years' there were substituted the words 'two years': s 170(4B) (added by the Import of Seal Skins Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2686, reg 4(2)(b)). 1180. Taking preparatory steps for evasion of excise duty.

If any person is knowingly concerned in the taking of any steps with a view to the fraudulent evasion, whether by himself or another, of any duty of excise on any goods¹, he is liable to a penalty². Where any person is guilty of such an offence, the goods in respect of which the offence was committed are liable to forfeiture³.

NOTES--Certain functions under provisions mentioned in this paragraph are 'relevant functions' for the purposes of the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 s 4, Sch 3, see LOCAL GOVERNMENT vol 69 (2009) PARA 733.

1183. Serious offences against the law of other member states.

A person who, in the United Kingdom¹, assists in or induces any conduct² outside the United Kingdom which involves the commission of a serious offence against the law of another member state³ is guilty of an offence under the following provisions if:

- 3061 (1) the offence is one consisting in or including the contravention⁴ of provisions of the law of that member state which relates to any of the following matters:
- 176
- 73. (a) the determination, discharge or enforcement of any liability for a Community duty or tax⁵;
 - 74. (b) the operation of arrangements under which reliefs or exemptions from any such duty or tax are provided or sums in respect of any such duty or tax are repaid or refunded;
 - 75. (c) the making of payments in pursuance of Community arrangements made in connection with the regulation of the market for agricultural products and the enforcement of the conditions of any such payments;
 - 76. (d) the movement into or out of any member state⁶ of anything in relation to the movement of which any Community instrument imposes, or requires the imposition of, any prohibition or restriction; or
 - 77. (e) such other matters in relation to which provision is made by any Community instrument as the Secretary of State may by order specify⁷;
- 177
- 3062 (2) the offence involved is one consisting in or including the contravention of other provisions of that law so far as they have effect in relation to any of those matters; or
- 3063 (3) the conduct is such as to be calculated to have an effect in that member state in relation to any of those matters⁸.

A person guilty of such an offence is liable to a penalty⁹.

In any proceedings against any person for such an offence it is a defence for that person to show that the conduct in question would not have involved the commission of an offence against the law of the member state in question but for circumstances of which he had no knowledge and that he did not suspect or anticipate the existence of those circumstances and did not have reasonable grounds for doing so¹⁰.

For the purposes of any proceedings for such an offence, a certificate purporting to be issued by or on behalf of the government of another member state which contains a statement, in relation to such times as may be specified in the certificate:

- 3064 (i) that a specified offence existed against the law of that member state;
- 3065 (ii) that an offence against the law of that member state was a serious offence;
- 3066 (iii) that such an offence consists in or includes the contravention of particular provisions of the law of that member state;
- 3067 (iv) that specified provisions of the law of that member state relate to, or are capable of having an effect in relation to, particular matters;

- 3068 (v) that specified conduct involved the commission of a particular offence against the law of that member state; or
- 3069 (vi) that a particular effect in that member state in relation to any matter would result from specified conduct, is, in the case of a statement falling within heads (i) to (iv) above, conclusive of the matters stated and, in the other cases, evidence of the matters stated¹¹.

1 For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'conduct' includes acts, omissions and statements: Criminal Justice Act 1993 s 71(9). The question whether any conduct involves the commission of a serious offence (see note 3 infra) is to be determined according to the law in force in the member state in question at the time of the assistance or inducement: s 71(3)(b).

3 For these purposes, an offence against the law of a member state is a serious offence if provision is in force in that member state authorising the sentencing, in some or all cases, of a person convicted of that offence to imprisonment for a maximum term of 12 months: ibid s 71(3)(a). 'Another member state' means a member state other than the United Kingdom: s 71(9).

4 For these purposes, 'contravention' includes a failure to comply: ibid s 71(9).

5 For these purposes, 'Community duty or tax' means any of the following: (1) any Community customs duty; (2) an agricultural levy of the Community; (3) value added tax under the law of another member state; (4) any duty or tax on tobacco products, alcoholic liquors or hydrocarbon oils which, in another member state, corresponds to any excise duty; (5) any duty, tax or other charge not falling within heads (1)-(4) supra which is imposed by or in pursuance of any Community instrument on the movement of goods into or out of any member state: ibid s 71(9). For the meaning of 'Community instrument' see PARA 5 note 4 ante. As to the abolition of agricultural levies see the Uruguay Round Agreement on Agriculture (Marrakesh, 15 April 1994; Cm 2559; Misc 17 (1994); OJ L336, 23.12.94, p 22).

6 For these purposes, references, in relation to a Community instrument, to the movement of anything into or out of a member state include references to the movement of anything between member states and to the doing of anything which falls to be treated for the purposes of that instrument as involving the entry into, or departure from, the territory of the Community of any goods, within the meaning of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 (see PARA 413 note 1 ante): Criminal Justice Act 1993 s 71(10).

7 The power of the Secretary of State to make such an order is exercisable by statutory instrument; and no such order is to be made unless a draft of the order has been laid before, and approved by a resolution of, each House of Parliament: ibid s 71(8). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made.

8 Ibid s 71(1), (2). The Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 ss 145-152, 154 (as amended) (see PARAS 1188, 1197 et seq post) apply as if the Criminal Justice Act 1993 s 71 were contained in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979; and an offence under the Criminal Justice Act 1993 s 71 is to be treated for all purposes as an offence for which a person is liable to be arrested under the customs and excise Acts: Criminal Justice Act 1993 s 71(7). For these purposes, 'the customs and excise Acts' has the same meaning as in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 (see PARA 413 note 1 ante): Criminal Justice Act 1993 s 71(9). As to the arrest of persons see PARA 1152 ante.

9 Ibid s 71(6). Such a person is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding seven years or a penalty of any amount, or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a penalty of the statutory maximum, or to both: see s 71(6). As to the statutory maximum see PARA 539 note 15 ante.

10 Ibid s 71(4).

11 Ibid s 71(5).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(15) CRIMINAL OFFENCES; PENALTIES/(i) Offences and Penalties/B. OFFENCES BY BODIES CORPORATE/1184. Offences by bodies corporate.

B. OFFENCES BY BODIES CORPORATE

1184. Offences by bodies corporate.

Where an offence under any enactment relating to an assigned matter¹ which has been committed by a body corporate is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director², manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body corporate or any person purporting to act in any such capacity, he as well as the body corporate is guilty of that offence and is liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly³.

1 For the meaning of 'assigned matter' see PARA 904 note 18 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'director', in relation to any body corporate established by or under any enactment for the purpose of carrying on under national ownership any industry or part of an industry or undertaking, being a body corporate whose affairs are managed by the members thereof, means a member of that body corporate: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 171(4).

3 Ibid s 171(4). Section 171(4) does not apply to an offence which relates to a matter listed in the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 Sch 1 (former Inland Revenue matters): Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 171(4A) (added by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(6), Sch 4 paras 20, 28).

(ii) Quantification of Penalties

1185. Valuation of goods.

Where a penalty for an offence under any enactment relating to an assigned matter¹ is required to be fixed by reference to the value of any goods², that value is to be taken as the price which those goods might reasonably be expected to have fetched, after payment of any duty or tax chargeable thereon, if they had been sold in the open market at or about the date of the commission of the offence for which the penalty is imposed³.

1 For the meaning of 'assigned matter' see PARA 904 note 18 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante. In the case of goods the importation of which is prohibited, the value is to be determined by the price which a willing seller would accept from a willing buyer for the goods as landed at the port or airport assuming that there was an open market; and any invoices for the goods will provide a good guide: Byrne v Low [1972] 3 All ER 526, [1972] 1 WLR 1282, DC; and see Rolex Watch Co Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1956] 2 All ER 589, [1956] 1 WLR 612, CA; Salomon v Customs and Excise Comrs [1967] 2 QB 116, [1966] 3 All ER 871, CA.

1186. Calculation of duty on imported goods.

Where in any proceedings for an offence under the customs and excise Acts¹, any question arises as to the duty or the rate thereof chargeable on any imported goods², and it is not possible to ascertain the relevant time³ or the relevant excise duty point⁴, that duty or rate must be determined as if the goods had been imported without entry⁵ at the time when the proceedings were commenced or, as the case may be, as if the time when the proceedings were commenced was the relevant excise duty point⁶.

1 For the meaning of 'the customs and excise Acts' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

3 As specified in the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 43 (as amended): see PARA 970 ante.

1187. Saving for outlying enactments of certain general provisions as to offences.

Any act or omission in respect of which a pecuniary penalty, however described, is imposed by any of the outlying provisions of the customs and excise Acts¹ is an offence under that provision; and accordingly any reference² to an offence under the customs and excise Acts includes a reference to such an act or omission³.

Subject to any express provision made by the enactment in question, an offence under any of the outlying provisions of the customs and excise Acts:

- 3070 (1) where it is punishable with imprisonment for a term of two years, with or without a pecuniary penalty, is punishable either on summary conviction or on conviction on indictment;
- 3071 (2) in any other case, is punishable on summary conviction⁴.

1 For the purposes of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 156(2), (3) (as amended) (see the text and notes 2-4 infra) (which reproduces certain enactments not required as general provisions for the purposes of the enactments re-enacted in the Customs and Excise Acts 1979), 'the outlying provisions of the customs and excise Acts' means the provisions of the customs and excise Acts, as for the time being amended, which were passed before 1 April 1979, ie the commencement of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 (see PARA 896 ante), and are not re-enacted in the Customs and Excise Acts 1979 or the Betting and Gaming Duties Act 1981: Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 156(1) (amended by the Betting and Gaming Duties Act 1981 s 34(1), Sch 5 para 5(b)). 1188. Power of Commissioners to mitigate penalties etc.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may, as they see fit:

- 3072 (1) compound an offence (whether or not proceedings have been instituted in respect of it) and compound proceedings for the condemnation of any thing as being forfeited under the customs and excise Acts¹; or
- 3073 (2) restore, subject to such conditions, if any, as they think proper, any thing forfeited or seized under those Acts².

2 Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152 (amended by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 ss 50(6), 52(1), (2), Sch 4 paras 20, 26, Sch 5). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. Any decision of the Commissioners under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see head (2) in the text) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person, or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored, is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see the Finance Act 1994 ss 14(1)(d), (2)-(7), 15, 16 (as amended), Sch 5 para 2(1)(r); and PARAS 1240, 1245, 1252 et seq post. The availability of a right of appeal makes proceedings for judicial review no longer appropriate: see Allgemeine Gold- und Silberscheideanstalt v Customs and Excise Comrs [1980] QB 390, [1980] 2 All ER 138, CA; R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p MacNamara (17 March 1995, unreported). In R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Haworth (17 July 1985, unreported), a refusal to release goods was successfully challenged on the basis of unfairness because the applicant was denied a proper opportunity to present his case by not being told the criteria by reference to which a decision would be made and because the Commissioners had a policy of forfeiting goods on the existence of a mere suspicion. In R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Tsahl [1990] COD 230, the policy of forfeiting goods where there was a suspicion of smuggling was held to be reasonable; but the Commissioners were held to be acting unreasonably in failing to take account of subsequent falls in the price of the diamonds in question. See Alcatel Submarine Networks Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1999] V & DR 179 (Commissioners, when setting the restoration fee for seized goods, must ensure that it is a reasonable and proportionate requirement); Gascoyne v Customs and Excise Comrs [2004] EWCA Civ 1162, [2005] Ch 215 (policy of restoring confiscated vehicles only in exceptional circumstances reasonable); Dickinson v Customs and Excise Comrs [2003] EWHC 2358 (Ch), [2004] 1 WLR 1160, (2003) Times, 3 December (issue of private use can be raised in order to invoke discretionary review procedure). 1189. Application of penalties.

The balance of any sum paid or recovered on account of any penalty imposed under the customs and excise Acts¹, after paying any compensation or costs² to persons other than the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, must, notwithstanding any local or other special right or privilege of whatever origin, be accounted for and paid to the Commissioners or as they direct³.

1190. Conviction of more than one offence in same proceedings.

Where:

- 3074 (1) by any provision of any enactment relating to an assigned matter¹, a punishment is prescribed² for any offence thereunder or for any contravention of, or failure to comply with, any regulation, direction, condition or requirement made, given or imposed thereunder; and
- 3075 (2) any person is convicted in the same proceedings of more than one such offence, contravention or failure, that person is liable to that punishment for each such offence, contravention or failure of which he is so convicted³.

1191. Non-payment of penalties etc; maximum terms of imprisonment.

Where, in any proceedings for an offence under the customs and excise Acts¹, a magistrates' court in England or Wales, in addition to ordering the person convicted to pay a penalty for the offence:

- 3076 (1) orders him to be imprisoned for a term in respect of the same offence; and
- 3077 (2) further, whether at the same time or subsequently, orders him to be imprisoned for a term in respect of non-payment of that penalty or default of a sufficient distress to satisfy the amount of that penalty,

(iii) Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office

1192. The Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office.

The Attorney General must appoint an individual as Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions¹. The Director may, with the approval of the Minister for the Civil Service as to terms and conditions of service, appoint staff², and the Director and his staff may together be referred to as the Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office³.

The Director must have a ten year general qualification⁴. He holds and vacates office in accordance with the terms of his appointment (which may include provision for dismissal)⁵ and is paid such remuneration, expenses and other allowances as the Attorney General may determine with the approval of the Minister for the Civil Service⁶. In incurring expenditure the Director must comply with any directions given to him by the Attorney General with the consent of the Treasury⁷. Expenditure of the Director is to be paid out of money provided by Parliament⁸.

As soon as is reasonably practicable after the end of each financial year⁹ the Director must send to the Attorney General a report on the exercise of the Director's functions during that year¹⁰. A report must, in particular, give details of the nature and outcomes of prosecutions undertaken, the criteria used to determine whether to designate individuals to conduct certain proceedings¹¹, and the arrangements for training individuals so designated¹². Where the Attorney General receives a report from the Director, he must lay a copy before Parliament and arrange for it to be published¹³.

Service as the Director or a member of the Office is service in the civil service of the state¹⁴. The Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office is subject to inspection¹⁵ in the same manner as the Crown Prosecution Service¹⁶.

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(15) CRIMINAL OFFENCES; PENALTIES/(iii) Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office/1193. Functions of Director and prosecutors.

1193. Functions of Director and prosecutors.

The Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions¹: (1) may institute² and conduct criminal proceedings³ in England and Wales relating to a criminal investigation⁴ by the Revenue and Customs⁵; and (2) must take over the conduct of criminal proceedings instituted in England and Wales by the Revenue and Customs⁶. The Director must provide such advice as he thinks appropriate, to such persons as he thinks appropriate, in relation to a criminal investigation by the Revenue and Customs or criminal proceedings instituted in England and Wales relating to a criminal investigation by the Revenue and Customs⁷. The Attorney General may by order assign to the Director a function of: (a) instituting criminal proceedings; (b) assuming the conduct of criminal proceedings; or (c) providing legal advice⁸.

The Director may designate a member of the Revenue and Customs Prosecution Office⁹ (to be known as a 'revenue and customs prosecutor') to exercise any function of the Director under or by virtue of the above provisions¹⁰. An individual may be designated as a prosecutor only if he has a general qualification¹¹. A prosecutor must act in accordance with any instructions of the Director¹².

The Director must discharge his functions under the superintendence of the Attorney General¹³. The Director or an individual designated¹⁴ or appointed¹⁵ to conduct prosecutions must have regard to the Code for Crown Prosecutors issued¹⁶ by the Director of Public Prosecutions: (i) in determining whether proceedings for an offence should be instituted; (ii) in determining what charges should be preferred; (iii) in considering what representations to make to a magistrates' court about mode of trial; and (iv) in determining whether to discontinue¹⁷ proceedings¹⁸.

1 As to the appointment of the Director see PARA 1192 ante.

2 A power of the Director under an enactment to institute proceedings may be exercised to institute proceedings in England and Wales only: Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 36(4).

3 For these purposes, a reference to the institution of criminal proceedings is to be construed in accordance with the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985 s 15(2) (see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE vol 11(3) (2006 Reissue) PARA 1080): Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 35(5)(a).

4 For these purposes, 'criminal investigation' means any process: (1) for considering whether an offence has been committed; (2) for discovering by whom an offence has been committed; or (3) as a result of which an offence is alleged to have been committed: ibid s 35(5)(b).

5 For these purposes, a reference to the Revenue and Customs is a reference to: (1) the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs; (2) an officer of Revenue and Customs; and (3) a person acting on behalf of the Commissioners or an officer of Revenue and Customs: ibid s 35(3). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante; and for the meaning of 'officer of Revenue and Customs' see PARA 903 note 4 ante.

1194. Conduct of prosecutions on behalf of the Revenue and Customs Prosecution Office.

An individual who is not a member of the Revenue and Customs Prosecution Office¹ may be appointed by the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions² to exercise any statutory function of the Director³ in relation to: (1) specified criminal proceedings; or (2) a specified class or description of criminal proceedings⁴. An individual may be so appointed only if he has a general qualification⁵. An individual so appointed must act in accordance with any instructions of the Director or a prosecutor⁶.

The Director may designate a member of the Office: (a) to conduct summary bail applications⁷; and (b) to conduct other ancillary magistrates' criminal proceedings⁸. In carrying out a function for which he is so designated an individual has the same powers and rights of audience as a prosecutor⁹. An individual designated under these provisions must act in accordance with any instructions of the Director or a prosecutor¹⁰.

1195. Confidentiality.

The Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office¹ may not disclose information which:

- 3078 (1) is held by the Prosecutions Office in connection with any of its functions²; and
- 3079 (2) relates to a person whose identity is specified in the disclosure or can be deduced from it³, but this prohibition is subject to the following exceptions:

- 3080 (a) it does not apply to a disclosure which: (i) is made for the purposes of a function of the Prosecutions Office; and (ii) does not contravene any restriction imposed by the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions⁴;
- 3081 (b) it does not apply to a disclosure made to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs in connection with a function of the Revenue and Customs⁵;
- 3082 (c) it does not apply to a disclosure made for the purposes of a criminal investigation or criminal proceedings (whether or not within the United Kingdom);
- 3083 (d) it does not apply to a disclosure which in the opinion of the Director is desirable for the purpose of safeguarding national security;
- 3084 (e) it does not apply to a disclosure made in pursuance of an order of a court;
- 3085 (f) it does not apply to a disclosure made with the consent of each person to whom the information relates; and
- 3086 (g) it is subject to any other enactment⁶.

A person commits an offence if he contravenes the prohibition on disclosure of information⁷, and a person guilty of such an offence is liable to a penalty⁸. It is a defence for a person charged with such an offence of disclosing information to prove that he reasonably believed that the disclosure was lawful, or that the information had already and lawfully been made available to the public⁹. A prosecution for an offence under these provisions may be instituted in England and Wales only by the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions or with the consent of the Director of Public Prosecutions¹⁰.

1196 Disclosure of information to Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions

TEXT AND NOTE 3--2005 Act s 41(1) amended: Serious Crime Act 2007 Sch 8 para 168.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(15) CRIMINAL OFFENCES; PENALTIES/(iv) Conduct of Criminal Proceedings/1197. Institution of proceedings.

(iv) Conduct of Criminal Proceedings

1197. Institution of proceedings.

No proceedings for an offence under the customs and excise Acts¹ or for condemnation² may³ be instituted except by or with the consent of the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions, or by order of, or with the consent of, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁴.

Any proceedings under the customs and excise Acts instituted by order to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs in a magistrates' court must⁵ be commenced in the name of an officer of Revenue and Customs⁶.

Nothing in the above provisions prevents the institution of proceedings for an offence under the customs and excise Acts by order and in the name of a law officer of the Crown⁷ in any case in which he thinks it proper that proceedings should be so instituted⁸.

Notwithstanding anything in the above provisions, where any person has been arrested for any offence for which he is liable to be arrested under the customs and excise Acts, any court before which he is brought may proceed to deal with the case although the proceedings have not been instituted by order of the Commissioners or have not been commenced in accordance with these provisions⁹.

1198. Time limits for proceedings.

Except as otherwise provided in the customs and excise Acts¹, and notwithstanding anything in any other enactment, the following provisions apply in relation to proceedings for an offence under those Acts²:

- 3095 (1) proceedings for an indictable offence may not be commenced after the end of the period of 20 years beginning with the day on which the offence was committed³;
- 3096 (2) proceedings for a summary offence may not be commenced after the end of the period of three years beginning with that day but, subject thereto, may be commenced at any time within six months from the date on which sufficient evidence to warrant the proceedings came to the knowledge of the prosecuting authority⁴.

1199. Place of trial for offences.

Proceedings for an offence under the customs and excise Acts¹ may be commenced:

- 3097 (1) in any court having jurisdiction in the place where the person charged with the offence resides or is found; or
- 3098 (2) if any thing was detained or seized in connection with the offence, in any court having jurisdiction in the place where that thing was so detained or seized or was found or condemned as forfeited; or
- 3099 (3) in any court having jurisdiction anywhere in that part of the United Kingdom, namely England and Wales, Scotland or Northern Ireland, in which the place where the offence was committed is situated².

Where any such offence was committed at some place outside the area of any commission of the peace³, the place of the commission of the offence is deemed, for the purposes of the jurisdiction of any court, to be any place in the United Kingdom where the offender is found or to which he is first brought after the commission of the offence⁴.

Where, in England or Wales, a magistrates' court has begun to inquire into an information charging a person with an offence under the customs and excise Acts¹ as examining justices, the court must not proceed² to try the information summarily without the consent of:

- 3100 (1) the Attorney General, in a case where the proceedings were instituted by his order and in his name; or
- 3101 (2) the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, in any other case³.

In the case of proceedings in England or Wales, without prejudice to any right to require the statement of a case for the opinion of the High Court, the prosecutor may appeal to the Crown Court against any decision of a magistrates' court in proceedings for an offence under the customs and excise Acts⁴.

1201. Quantum of penalties imposed in legal proceedings.

Where liability for any offence under the customs and excise Acts¹ is incurred by two or more persons jointly, those persons are each liable for the full amount of any pecuniary penalty and may be proceeded against jointly or severally as the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions may see fit².

In any proceedings for an offence under the customs and excise Acts instituted in England or Wales, any court by which the matter is considered may mitigate any pecuniary penalty as it sees fit³.

In any proceedings for an offence or for the condemnation of any thing as being forfeited under the customs and excise Acts⁴, the fact that security has been given by bond or otherwise⁵ for the payment of any duty or for compliance with any condition in respect of the non-payment of which or non-compliance with which the proceedings are instituted is not a defence⁶.

(v) General Provisions relating to Proceedings

1202. Service of process.

Any summons or other process issued anywhere in the United Kingdom for the purpose of any proceedings under the customs and excise Acts¹ may be served on the person to whom it is addressed in any part of the United Kingdom without any further indorsement, and is deemed to have been duly served:

- 3102 (1) if delivered to him personally; or
- 3103 (2) if left at his last known place of abode or business or, in the case of a body corporate, at its registered or principal office; or
- 3104 (3) if left on board any vessel² or aircraft to which he may belong or have lately belonged³.

Any summons, notice, order or other document issued for the purposes of any proceedings under the customs and excise Acts, or of any appeal⁴ from the decision of the court in any such proceedings, may be served by an officer⁵.

The above provisions do not apply in relation to proceedings instituted in the High Court⁶.

1203. Evidence.

A document that purports to have been issued or signed by or with the authority of the Commissioners¹ is to be treated as having been so issued or signed unless the contrary is proved, and is admissible in any legal proceedings². A document that purports to have been issued by the Commissioners and which certifies any of the following matters (in addition to the matters provided for above) is to be treated as accurate unless the contrary is proved³. Those matters are:

- 3105 (1) that a specified person was appointed as a Commissioner on a specified date;
- 3106 (2) that a specified person was appointed as an officer of Revenue and Customs⁴ on a specified date;
- 3107 (3) that at a specified time or for a specified purpose (or both) a function⁵ was delegated to a specified Commissioner;
- 3108 (4) that at a specified time or for a specified purpose (or both) a function was delegated to a specified committee; and
- 3109 (5) that at a specified time or for a specified purpose (or both) a function was delegated to another specified person⁶.

A photographic or other copy of a document acquired by the Commissioners is, if certified by them to be an accurate copy, admissible in any legal proceedings to the same extent as the document itself⁷.

The provisions of the Documentary Evidence Act 1868 as to proof of documents⁸ apply to a Revenue and Customs document⁹ as they apply in relation to the documents specified therein¹⁰.

1 For these purposes, a reference to the Commissioners includes a reference to the former Commissioners of Inland Revenue and to the former Commissioners of Customs and Excise: Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 24(7)(b). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

1204. Proof of certain matters by averment.

An averment in any process in proceedings under the customs and excise Acts¹:

- 3110 (1) that those proceedings were instituted by the order of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs²; or
- 3111 (2) that any person is or was a Commissioner, officer³ or constable, or a member of Her Majesty's armed forces⁴ or coastguard; or
- 3112 (3) that any person is or was appointed or authorised by the Commissioners to discharge, or was engaged by the orders or with the concurrence of the Commissioners in the discharge of, any duty; or
- 3113 (4) that the Commissioners have or have not been satisfied as to any matter as to which they are required by any provision of those Acts to be satisfied; or
- 3114 (5) that any ship⁵ is a British ship⁶; or
- 3115 (6) that any goods⁷ thrown overboard, staved or destroyed were so dealt with in order to prevent or avoid the seizure of those goods, is, until the contrary is proved, sufficient evidence of the matter in question⁸.

- 3116 (1) any duty has been paid or secured in respect of any goods; or
- 3117 (2) any goods or other things whatsoever are of the description³ or nature alleged in the information, writ or other process; or
- 3118 (3) any goods have been lawfully imported or lawfully unloaded from any ship⁴ or aircraft⁵; or
- 3119 (4) any goods have been lawfully loaded into any ship or aircraft or lawfully exported or were lawfully water-borne; or
- 3120 (5) any goods were lawfully brought to any place for the purpose of being loaded into any ship or aircraft or exported; or
- 3121 (6) any goods are or were subject to any prohibition of, or restriction on, their importation or exportation, then, where those proceedings are brought by or against the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs⁶, a law officer of the Crown or an officer⁷, or against any other person in respect of anything purporting to have been done in pursuance of any power or duty conferred or imposed on him by or under the customs and excise Acts⁸, the burden of proof lies upon the other party to the proceedings⁹.

1 For the meaning of 'goods' see PARA 413 note 1 ante.

(16) CIVIL PENALTIES

(i) Conduct of Civil Proceedings

1207. Persons who may conduct civil proceedings.

An officer of Revenue and Customs or a person authorised by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ may conduct civil proceedings², in a magistrates' court, relating to a function³ of the Revenue and Customs⁴. A solicitor member of the Commissioners' staff⁵ may act as a solicitor in connection with civil proceedings relating to a function of the Revenue and Customs⁶. A court must grant any rights of audience necessary to enable a person to exercise a function under these provisions⁷.

1 For the meaning of 'officer of Revenue and Customs' see PARA 903 note 4 ante. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 For these purposes, a reference to civil proceedings is a reference to proceedings other than proceedings in respect of an offence: Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 25(5)(b). As to the conduct of criminal proceedings see CRIMINAL LAW, EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE.

3 For the meaning of 'function' see PARA 901 note 3 ante.

4 Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 25(1). For these purposes, a reference to a function of the Revenue and Customs is a reference to a function of: (1) the Commissioners; or (2) an officer of Revenue and Customs: s 25(5)(a).

5 For these purposes, the reference to a solicitor member of the Commissioners' staff, except in relation to Scotland, is a reference to a member of staff who has been admitted as a solicitor, whether or not he holds a practising certificate: ibid s 25(5)(e)(i). As to practising certificates see LEGAL PROFESSIONS vol 65 (2008) PARA 667 et seq.

(ii) Evasion of Excise Duty

1208. Penalty for evasion of excise duty.

In any case where:

- 3122 (1) any person engages in any conduct¹ for the purpose of evading any duty of excise²; and
- 3123 (2) his conduct involves dishonesty, whether or not such as to give rise to any criminal liability³, that person is liable to a penalty⁴ of an amount equal to the amount of duty evaded or, as the case may be, sought to be evaded⁵.

Where a person is so liable to a penalty, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or, on appeal, an appeal tribunal⁶ may reduce the penalty to such amount, including nil, as they think proper; and an appeal tribunal, on an appeal relating to a penalty so reduced by the Commissioners, may cancel the whole or any part of the reduction made by the Commissioners⁷.

Neither the insufficiency of the funds available to any person for paying any duty of excise or for paying the amount of the penalty nor the fact that there has, in the case in question or in that case taken with any other cases, been no or no significant loss of duty is a matter which the Commissioners or any appeal tribunal is entitled to take into account in so exercising their powers⁸.

Where, by reason of conduct falling within head (1) or head (2) above, a person is convicted of an offence, that conduct does not also give rise to liability to a penalty under the above provisions⁹.

Penalties are also imposed for the contravention of national and Community customs law and for the evasion of relevant duties and taxes¹⁰.

1 For these purposes, 'conduct' includes any act, omission or statement: Finance Act 1994 s 17(2).

2 For these purposes, references to a person's evading a duty of excise include references to his obtaining or securing, without his being entitled to it: (1) any repayment, rebate or drawback of duty; (2) any relief or exemption from, or any allowance against, duty; or (3) any deferral or other postponement of his liability to pay any duty or of the discharge by payment of any such liability; and also include references to his evading the cancellation of any entitlement to, or the withdrawal of, any such repayment, rebate, drawback, relief, exemption or allowance: ibid s 8(2).

An intention to pay in the future was held not to prevent evasion in Gold v Customs and Excise Comrs (1994) VAT Decision 11939, [1994] STI 698 and MH Wright v Customs and Excise Comrs (1993) VAT Decision 10760 (unreported) (VAT cases); but see McDivitt v Customs and Excise Comrs (1990) VAT Decision 5203, [1990] STI 873. Tribunal cases suggest that the Commissioners must prove the deliberate dishonesty to a high degree of probability: see Ghandi Tandoori Restaurant v Customs Excise Comrs [1989] VATTR 39; Parker v Customs and Excise Comrs [1989] VATTR 258; but cf 1st Indian Cavalry Club Ltd and Chowdhury v Customs and Excise Comrs [1998] STC 293, Ct of Sess (where it was held that there is only one standard of proof and that is the civil standard). As to the Commissioners' onus of proof see also Akrami v Customs and Excise Comrs [1999] V & DR 51.

3 As to criminal liability see eg the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 170(2); and PARA 1178 ante.

4 The penalty is not recoverable in criminal proceedings but by way of an assessment by the Commissioners under the Finance Act 1994 s 13: see PARA 1224 post. So much of any decision by the Commissioners that a person is liable to any such penalty, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in an assessment under s 13 (as amended) (see PARA 1224 post), is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see ss 14(1)(c), (2)-(7), 15, 16 (as amended); and PARAS 1240, 1244, 1252 et seq post. As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

5 Ibid s 8(1). As to the admissibility of statements and documents see PARA 1209 post. In relation to any such evasion of duty as is mentioned in s 8(2) (see note 2 supra), the reference in s 8(1) to the amount of duty evaded or sought to be evaded is to be construed as a reference to the amount of the repayment, rebate, drawback, relief, exemption or allowance or, as the case may be, the amount of the payment which, or the liability to make which, is deferred or otherwise postponed: s 8(3). The definition is only partial: see Customs and Excise Comrs v Stevenson [1996] STC 1096, CA.

The Finance Act 1994 Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19) applies in corresponding manner to events involving goods in a control zone in the same way that it applies to events involving goods in the United Kingdom: Channel Tunnel (Alcoholic Liquor and Tobacco Products) Order 2003, SI 2003/2758, art 4(a). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

6 For the meaning of 'appeal tribunal' see PARA 1255 note 1 post.

8 Finance Act 1994 s 8(5). While insufficiency of funds is not a ground for reducing the penalty, the reason for the insufficiency may be: cf Customs and Excise Comrs v Steptoe [1992] STC 757, CA; Customs and Excise Comrs v Salevon Ltd [1989] STC 907 (VAT cases).

1209. Admissibility of statements and documents.

Statements made or documents produced by or on behalf of a person are not inadmissible in:

- 3124 (1) any criminal proceedings against that person in respect of any offence in connection with or in relation to any duty of excise¹; or
- 3125 (2) any proceedings against that person for the recovery of any sum due from him in connection with or in relation to any duty of excise, by reason only that any of the following matters, that is to say:

- 3126 (a) that the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs² have power, in relation to any duty of excise, to assess an amount due by way of a civil penalty, instead of instituting criminal proceedings;
- 3127 (b) that it is the Commissioners' practice, without being able to give an undertaking as to whether they will make such an assessment in any case, to be influenced in determining whether to make such an assessment by the fact, where it is the case, that a person has made a full confession of any dishonest conduct to which he has been a party and has given full facilities for an investigation;
- 3128 (c) that the Commissioners or, on appeal, an appeal tribunal³ have power⁴ to reduce a penalty; and
- 3129 (d) that, in determining the extent of such a reduction in the case of any person, the Commissioners or tribunal will have regard to the extent of the co-operation which he has given to the Commissioners in their investigation, has been drawn to his attention and that he was, or may have been, induced by that matter having been brought to his attention to make the statements or produce the documents⁵.

UPDATE

1208-1209 Evasion of Excise Duty

Repealed: Finance Act 2008 Sch 40 para 21(d)(i). See now Finance Act 2007 Sch 24; and INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1712A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(16) CIVIL PENALTIES/(iii) Evasion of Taxes and Duties on Importation and Exportation/1210. Penalty for evasion.

(iii) Evasion of Taxes and Duties on Importation and Exportation

1210. Penalty for evasion.

In any case where a person engages in any conduct for the purpose of evading¹ any relevant tax or duty² and his conduct involves dishonesty (whether or not such as to give rise to any criminal liability), that person is liable to a penalty of an amount equal to the amount of the tax or duty evaded³ or, as the case may be, sought to be evaded⁴.

Where it appears to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that a body corporate is liable to a penalty under the above provisions, and that the conduct giving rise to the penalty is, in whole or in part, attributable to the dishonesty of a person who is, or at the material time was, a director or managing officer⁵ of the body corporate (a 'relevant officer'), the Commissioners may give notice in writing to the body corporate (or its representative⁶) and to the relevant officer (or his representative) stating:

- 3130 (1) the amount of the penalty charged ('the basic penalty'), and 3131 (2) that the Commissioners propose, in accordance with this provision, to recover from the relevant officer such portion (which may be the whole) of the basic penalty as is specified in the notice⁷.

1 Any reference in the Finance Act 2003 s 25 to a person's 'evading' any relevant tax or duty includes a reference to his obtaining or securing, without his being entitled to it: (1) any repayment, rebate or drawback of any relevant tax or duty; (2) any relief or exemption from, or any allowance against, any such tax or duty; or (3) any deferment or other postponement of his liability to pay any such tax or duty or of the discharge by payment of any such liability; and also includes a reference to his evading the cancellation of any entitlement to, or the withdrawal of, any such repayment, rebate, drawback, relief, exemption or allowance: s 25(4).

2 'Relevant tax or duty' means any of the following: customs duty, Community export duty, Community import duty, import VAT, customs duty of a preferential tariff country: ibid s 24(2). For the meaning of 'Customs duty' see PARA 1 ante. 'Community export duty' means any of the duties, charges or levies which are export duties within the Community Customs Code art 4(11) (as at 9 April 2003); and 'Community import duty' means any of the duties, charges or levies which are import duties within art 4(10) (as at 9 April 2003): Finance Act 2003 s 24(3). 'Import VAT' means value added tax chargeable by virtue of the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 1(1) (c) (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARAS 4, 113); and 'customs duty of a preferential tariff country' includes a reference to any charge imposed by such a country and having an equivalent effect to customs duty payable on the importation of goods into the territory of that country: Finance Act 2003 s 24(3). A 'preferential tariff country' means a country outside the European Community which is, or is a member of a group of countries which is, party to an agreement falling within the Community Customs Code art 20(3)(d): Finance Act 2003 s 24(3). See, however, note 4 infra. As to the Community Customs Code see PARA 20 ante.

3 In relation to any such evasion of any relevant tax or duty as is mentioned in note 1 supra, the reference to the amount of the tax or duty evaded or sought to be evaded is a reference to the amount of the repayment, rebate or drawback; the relief, exemption or allowance; or the payment which, or the liability to make which, is deferred or otherwise postponed, as the case may be: ibid s 25(5).

4 Ibid s 25(1). Where, by reason of conduct falling within s 25(1), a person is: (1) convicted of an offence; (2) given (and not had withdrawn) a demand notice in respect of a penalty to which he is liable under s 26 (see PARA 1211 post); or (3) liable to a penalty imposed on him under any other provision of the law relating to the relevant tax or duty concerned, that conduct does not also give rise to liability under s 25 in respect of that relevant tax or duty: s 25(6). For the meaning of 'demand notice' see PARA 1213 post. Section 25 does not apply to any customs duty of a preferential tariff country (see note 2 supra): s 25(3).

5 'Managing officer', in relation to a body corporate, means a manager, secretary or other similar officer of that body, or a person purporting to act in any such capacity or as a director: ibid s 28(5). Where the affairs of a body corporate are managed by its members, s 28 applies in relation to the conduct of a member in connection with his functions of management as if he were a director of the company: s 28(6).

6 'Representative' in relation to any person, means: (1) his personal representative; (2) his trustee in bankruptcy or interim or permanent trustee; (3) any receiver or liquidator appointed in relation to that person or any of his property, or any other person acting in a representative capacity in relation to that person: ibid s 24(3).

7 Ibid ss 24(3), 28(1), (2) (s 24(3) amended by virtue of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 s 50(1), (7)). If a notice is so given, the Finance Act 2003 Pt 3 (ss 25-41) applies in relation to the relevant officer as if he were personally liable under s 25 to a penalty which corresponds to that portion of the basic penalty specified in the notice; and the amount which may be recovered from the body corporate is limited to so much (if any) of the basic penalty as is not recoverable from the relevant officer, and the body corporate is treated as discharged from liability for so much of the basic penalty as is so recoverable: s 28(3), (4). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

Any notice to be given to any person for the purposes of Pt 3 may be given by sending it by post in a letter addressed to that person or to his representative at the last or usual residence or place of business of that person or representative: s 39.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(16) CIVIL PENALTIES/(iii) Evasion of Taxes and Duties on Importation and Exportation/1211. Penalty for contravention of relevant rule.

1211. Penalty for contravention of relevant rule.

In the case of any relevant tax or duty¹, a person of a prescribed² description engages in any conduct by which he contravenes³ a prescribed relevant rule⁴ or a relevant rule of a prescribed description, is liable to a penalty of a prescribed amount⁵.

However, a person is not liable to such a penalty if he satisfies the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or, on appeal, an appeal tribunal⁶ that there is a reasonable excuse for his conduct; but for this purpose none of the following is a reasonable excuse:

- 3132 (1) an insufficiency of funds available to any person for paying any relevant tax or duty or any penalty due;
- 3133 (2) that reliance was placed by any person on another to perform any task;
- 3134 (3) that the contravention is attributable, in whole or in part, to the conduct of a person on whom reliance to perform any task was placed⁷.

1 For the meaning of 'relevant tax or duty' see PARA 1210 note 3 ante.

2 'Prescribed' means specified in, or determined in accordance with, regulations made by the Treasury: Finance Act 2003 s 24(3). The power to prescribe a description of person includes power to prescribe any person (without further qualification) as such a description: s 28(3). As to the Treasury see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) PARAS 512-517.

Such regulations may make different provision for different cases and may make incidental, consequential, supplemental or transitional provision or savings: s 41(1). They must be made by statutory instrument, subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of the House of Commons: s 41(2), (3).

3 'Contravenes' includes failure to comply with: ibid s 24(3).

4 'Relevant rule', in relation to any relevant tax or duty, means any duty, obligation, requirement or condition imposed by or under: (1) the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 as it applies in relation to that tax or duty; (2) any other Act or statutory instrument, as it applies in relation to that tax or duty; (3) in the case of customs duty, Community export duty, or Community import duty, Community customs rules; (4) in the case of import VAT, Community customs rules as they apply in relation to import VAT; (5) any directly applicable Community legislation relating to the relevant tax or duty; (6) any relevant international rules applying in relation to the relevant tax or duty: Finance Act 2003 ss 24(3), 26(8). 'Community customs rules' means customs rules, as defined in the Community Customs Code art 1 (see PARA 20 ante); and 'relevant international rules' means international agreements, so far as applying in relation to a relevant tax or duty and having effect as part of the law of any part of the United Kingdom by virtue of any Act or statutory instrument, or any directly applicable Community legislation: Finance Act 2003 s 26(9). As to the Community Customs Code see PARA 20 ante. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

5 Finance Act 2003 s 26(1). Different penalties may be so prescribed for different cases or different circumstances, subject to a maximum of £2,500: s 26(4), (5). However, the Treasury may by order alter this maximum by statutory instrument, provided that a draft of that instrument is laid before, and approved by a resolution of, the House of Commons: s 26(6), (7). See the Customs (Contravention of a Relevant Rule) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/3113.

7 Finance Act 2003 ss 24(3), 27(1), (2). As to the Commissioners see PARA 1210 note 7 ante. A person is not liable to a penalty under s 26 in respect of any conduct, so far as relating to import VAT, if in respect of that conduct, he is liable to a penalty under any of the Value Added Tax Act 1994 ss 62-69A (see VALUE ADDED TAX), or would be so liable but for s 62(4), s 63(11), s 64(6), s 67(9), s 69(9) or s 69A(7): Finance Act 2003 s 27(4).

Where, by reason of conduct falling within s 26(1), a person is: (1) prosecuted for an offence; (2) given (and not had withdrawn) a demand notice in respect of a penalty to which he is liable under s 25 (see PARA 1210 ante); or (3) liable to a penalty imposed on him under any other provision of the law relating to the relevant tax or duty concerned, that conduct does not also give rise to liability under s 26 in respect of that relevant tax or duty: s 26(3). For the meaning of 'demand notice' see PARA 1213 post. As to the service of notices see PARA 1210 note 7 ante.

1211 Penalty for contravention of relevant rule

NOTE 5--SI 2003/3113 amended: SI 2009/3164.

NOTE 6--The appeal tribunal is now the First-tier Tribunal or, where determined by or under Tribunal Procedure Rules, the Upper Tribunal: Finance Act 2003 s 24(3) (amended by SI 2009/56).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(16) CIVIL PENALTIES/(iii) Evasion of Taxes and Duties on Importation and Exportation/1212. Reduction in penalties.

1212. Reduction in penalties.

Where a person is liable to a penalty¹, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs (whether originally or on review) or, on appeal, an appeal tribunal, may reduce the penalty to such an amount (including nil) as they think proper; and the Commissioners on a review, or an appeal tribunal on an appeal, relating to a penalty reduced by the Commissioners under these provisions, may cancel the whole or any part of that reduction². However, in exercising these powers, neither the Commissioners nor an appeal tribunal may take into account:

- 3135 (1) the insufficiency of the funds available to any person for paying any relevant tax or duty or the amount of the penalty;
- 3136 (2) the fact that there has, in the case in question or in that case taken with any other cases, been no or no significant loss of any relevant tax or duty;
- 3137 (3) the fact that the person liable to the penalty, or a person acting on his behalf, has acted in good faith³.

1213. Demands for penalties.

Where a person is liable to a penalty, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may give to that person or his representative¹ a notice in writing (a 'demand notice') demanding payment of the amount due by way of penalty; and an amount so demanded is recoverable as if it were an amount due from the person (or, as the case may be, the representative) as an amount of customs duty². However, a demand notice may not be given more than two years after there has come to the knowledge of the Commissioners evidence of facts sufficient in their opinion to justify the giving of such notice³.

¹ For the meaning of 'representative', see PARA 1210 note 6 ante.

² Finance Act 2003 s 30(1), (2). This is subject to any appeal under s 36 (see PARA 1214 post): s 30(2). An amount so demanded is not recoverable if or to the extent that the demand has subsequently been withdrawn, or the amount has been reduced under s 29 (see PARA 1212 ante): s 30(3). As to the Commissioners see PARA 1210 note 7 ante.

Where a demand notice is given demanding payment of an amount due by way of penalty under s 26 in respect of any conduct of a person, no proceedings may be brought against him for any offence constituted by that conduct (whether or not the demand notice is subsequently withdrawn): s 32.

1213 Demands for penalties

NOTE 2--Reference to Finance Act 2003 s 36 is now to s 33: s 30(2) (amended by SI 2009/56).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(16) CIVIL PENALTIES/(iii) Evasion of Taxes and Duties on Importation and Exportation/1214. Reviews and appeals.

1214. Reviews and appeals.

If, in the case of any relevant tax or duty¹, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs give a person or his representative² a notice informing him that they have decided that the person has engaged in conduct by which he contravenes a relevant rule³ and that he is in consequence liable to a penalty⁴, but that they do not propose to give a demand notice in respect of the penalty, that person or his representative may give written notice to the Commissioners requiring them to review that decision; and where the Commissioners give a demand notice⁵ to a person or his representative, that person or his representative may give written notice requiring them to review their decision as to the liability or as to the amount of the liability⁶.

The Commissioners are not required under the above provisions to review any decision unless the notice requiring it is given before the end of the period of 45 days beginning with the day on which the relevant notice⁷ is given; but the Commissioners have a discretion to extend this period⁸.

On any review under these provisions, the Commissioners may confirm, withdraw or vary the decision, and may take such further steps (if any) in consequence of any withdrawal or variation as they consider appropriate⁹.

An appeal lies to an appeal tribunal¹⁰ against any decision by the Commissioners on a review by:

- 3138 (1) the person who required the review in question;
- 3139 (2) where the person who required the review in question did so as the representative of another person, that other person; or
- 3140 (3) a representative of a person falling within head (1) or head (2) above¹¹.

The tribunal may quash or vary the decision, and may substitute its own decision for any decision so quashed¹².

2 For the meaning of 'representative' see PARA 1210 note 6 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'relevant rule' see PARA 1211 note 4 ante.

4 I.e. under the Finance Act 2003 s 26: see PARA 1211 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'demand notice' see PARA 1213 ante.

6 Finance Act 2003 ss 24(3), 33(1), (2). As to the Commissioners see PARA 1210 note 7 ante. Where the Commissioners give a notice under s 28 (see PARA 1210 ante) to a body corporate and to a relevant officer, s 33(2) does not apply to any demand notice given in respect of the liability of either of them to a penalty under these provisions in respect of the conduct in question. Instead: (1) where the demand notice is given to the relevant officer or his representative for a penalty which corresponds to the portion of the basic penalty specified under s 28, that officer or his representative may by notice in writing require the Commissioners to review: (a) the decision that the conduct of the body corporate is, in whole or in part, attributable to the relevant officer's dishonesty; or (b) their decision as to the portion of the basic penalty which the Commissioners seek to recover from that officer or his representative; and (2) where the demand notice is given to the body corporate or its representative for so much of the basic penalty as is not recoverable from the relevant officer by virtue of s 28(3), that body or its representative may by notice in writing require the Commissioners to review: (a) their decision that the body corporate is liable to a penalty under s 25; or (b) their decision as to the amount of the basic penalty as if it were the amount specified in the demand notice: s 33(3)-(5). As to the service of notices see PARA 1210 note 7 ante.

A person may not, under s 33, require a review of a decision under s 35 (see the text and note 9 infra): s 33(6).

7 The 'relevant notice' is: (1) in the case of a review by virtue of ibid s 33(1), the notice therein mentioned; or (2) in any other case, the demand notice in question: s 34(3).

8 Ibid s 34(1), (2), (4). A person may give notice under s 33 requiring a decision to be reviewed a second or subsequent time only if: (1) the grounds on which he requires that review are that the Commissioners did not, on any previous review, have the opportunity to consider any particular facts or matters; and (2) he does not, on the further review, require the Commissioners to consider any facts or matters which were considered on a previous review of the decision, except in so far as they are relevant to any issue to which the facts or matters not previously considered relate: s 34(5).

9 Ibid s 35(1)-(3). The decision must be given within the period of 45 days beginning with the day on which the review was required (if notice is given within the time limit) or from when the Commissioners agree to an extension of that limit: s 35(5). If no decision is given within that period, the decision is taken to have been confirmed, and an appeal lies accordingly: ss 35(4), 36(1).

10 For the meaning of 'appeal tribunal' see PARA 1211 note 6 ante.

11 Finance Act 2003 s 36(1), (2). The burden of proof as to the matters mentioned in s 25(1) or s 26(1) lies on the Commissioners, but it is otherwise for the appellant to show that the grounds on which the appeal is brought have been established: s 36(4).

12 Ibid s 36(3). The Value Added Tax Act 1994 ss 85, 87 (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARAS 348, 369) have effect as if any reference to s 83 included a reference to the Finance Act 2003 s 36, and any reference to VAT included a reference to any relevant tax or duty: s 37(1). The provision that may be made by rules under the Value Added Tax Act 1994 Sch 12 para 9 (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 349) includes provision for costs awarded against an appellant on an appeal by virtue of the Finance Act 2003 Pt 3 (ss 24-41) to be recoverable as if the amount awarded were an amount of customs duty which the appellant is required to pay: s 37(2).

UPDATE

1214 Reviews and appeals

TEXT AND NOTES--Detailed provisions relating to the offer and conduct of a review by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that are similar to those set out in PARA 1240 are contained in the Finance Act 2003 ss 33A-33F (added by SI 2009/56).

Subject to the Finance Act 2003 s 33F(3)-(7), an appeal must be made to the appeal tribunal before the end of the period of 30 days beginning with the date of the document notifying the decision to which the appeal relates or, if later, the end of the relevant period (ie the period of 30 days from the acceptance of Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs' offer of a review or from the appellant's request for a review): s 33F(1), (2). In a case where Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is required to undertake a review under s 33C, an appeal may not be made until the conclusion date; and must then be made within the period of 30 days beginning with that date; and where a review is requested under s 33D, an appeal may not be made unless Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs has decided not to undertake a review or, if a review is undertaken, until the conclusion date, and must then be made within the period of 30 days beginning with the date on which the decision was made or, as the case may be, with the conclusion date: s 33F(3), (4). Where no notice is given of the conclusions of a review by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, it is treated as having confirmed the decision and Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is then required to give notice of the conclusion which is treated as having been so reached: ss 33E(8), 33F(5). In such a case, an appeal may be made at any time from the end of the period of 45 days (or such longer period as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may allow) beginning with the date on which the offer of review was accepted, the request for review was made, or the decision not to review was taken, to the date 30 days after the conclusion date: s 33F(6). In each case, the appeal tribunal may extend the period: s 33F(6).

'Conclusion date' means the date of the document notifying the conclusion of the review: s 33F(7).

NOTE 6--References to review are now to appeal: Finance Act 2003 s 33 (amended by SI 2009/56). The powers of an appeal tribunal on an appeal under the Finance Act 2003 s 33 include power to quash or vary a decision and power to substitute the tribunal's own decision for any decision so quashed: s 33(6) (substituted by SI 2009/56). On an appeal under the Finance Act 2003 s 33 the burden of proof as to the matters mentioned in s 25(1) (see PARA 1210) or s 26(1) (see PARA 1211) lies on Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, but it is otherwise for the appellant to show that the grounds on which any such appeal is brought have been established: s 33(7) (substituted by SI 2009/56).

TEXT AND NOTES 8-12--Finance Act 2003 ss 34-36 repealed: SI 2009/56. The Value Added Tax Act 1994 has effect as if the reference to s 83 included a reference to the Finance Act 2003 s 33: s 37 (substituted by SI 2009/56).

1215. Evidence.

Statements made or documents produced by or on behalf of a person are not inadmissible in any criminal proceedings against that person in respect of any offence in connection with or in relation to any relevant tax or duty¹, or any proceedings against that person for the recovery of any sum due from him in connection with or in relation to any relevant tax or duty, by reason only that any of the specified matters has been drawn to his attention and that he was, or may have been, thereby induced to make the statements or produce the documents concerned².

The specified matters are:

- 3141 (1) that the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs have power, in relation to any relevant tax or duty, to demand by means of a written notice an amount by way of a civil penalty, instead of instituting criminal proceedings;
- 3142 (2) that it is the Commissioners' practice, without being able to give an undertaking as to whether they will make such a demand in any case, to be influenced in determining whether to make such a demand by the fact (where it is the case) that a person has made a full confession of any dishonest conduct to which he has been a party and has given full facilities for investigation;
- 3143 (3) that the Commissioners or, on appeal, an appeal tribunal, have power to reduce a penalty³;
- 3144 (4) that, in determining the extent of such a reduction in the case of any person, the Commissioners or the tribunal will have regard to the extent of the co-operation which he has given to the Commissioners in their investigation⁴.

¹ For the meaning of 'relevant tax or duty' see PARA 1210 note 2 ante. However, the term does not, for this purpose, include a reference to customs duty of a preferential tariff country: Finance Act 2003 s 38(3).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(16) CIVIL PENALTIES/(iii) Evasion of Taxes and Duties on Importation and Exportation/1216. Powers of Treasury to amend.

1216. Powers of Treasury to amend.

The Treasury¹ may by order amend the statutory provisions as to penalties for evading taxes and duties on importation and exportation² for the purpose of replacing any reference to a provision of the Community Customs Code³ or any instrument referred to in those provisions by virtue of such an order, with a reference to or (as the case may be) to a provision of, a different instrument⁴.

2 Ie the Finance Act 2003 Pt 3 (ss 25-41): see PARAS 1210-1215 ante.

3 As to the Community Customs Code see PARA 20 ante.

4 Finance Act 2003 s 24(5). A statutory instrument containing such an order may not be made unless a draft thereof has been laid before, and approved by a resolution of, the House of Commons: s 24(6). The power to make such an order includes power to make different provision for different cases and to make incidental, consequential, supplemental or transitional provision or savings: s 41(1).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(16) CIVIL PENALTIES/(iv) Contraventions of Statutory Requirements/1217. Penalty for contravention of export rule.

(iv) Contraventions of Statutory Requirements

1217. Penalty for contravention of export rule.

If a person engages in any conduct by which he contravenes¹ a specified relevant export rule he is liable to a penalty². 'Relevant export rule' means any Community imposed duty, obligation, requirement, or condition in relation to export³ imposed or implemented by or under any of the following provisions or combination of provisions in any case where Community export duty⁴ is not chargeable or payable in application of the rule:

- 3145 (1) Community customs rules⁵ in relation to export;
- 3146 (2) the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979, as it applies in implementation of Community customs rules in relation to export from the Community;
- 3147 (3) any other Act, or statutory instrument, as it applies in implementation of Community customs rules in relation to export from the Community;
- 3148 (4) any directly applicable Community legislation as it applies in application of Community customs rules in relation to export;
- 3149 (5) any relevant international rules⁶ applying in relation to export⁷.

A person is not liable to a penalty if he satisfies the Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs or, on appeal, an appeal tribunal that there is a reasonable excuse⁸ for his conduct⁹. Where, by reason of such conduct a person is prosecuted for an offence that conduct does not also give rise to liability to a penalty¹⁰. The Commissioners, or on appeal an appeal tribunal, have power to reduce a penalty¹¹.

Where a person is liable to a penalty, the Commissioners may give to that person or his representative a notice in writing (a 'demand notice') demanding payment of the amount due by way of penalty¹². The issue of a demand notice and the amount of penalty so demanded may be recovered as customs duty¹³. Where a demand notice has been given, that person may not also be prosecuted in respect of the same conduct¹⁴. The Commissioners may be required to review certain decisions¹⁵. An appeal lies to an appeal tribunal against any decision by the Commissioners on a review¹⁶.

1 'Contravene' includes fail to comply with: Export (Penalty) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/3102, reg 2.

2 Ibid reg 3(1). As to the relevant export rule a contravention of which gives rise to a penalty, the person whose conduct in contravening such a rule gives rise to liability, and the maximum penalty for contravention of such a rule for which a person is liable, see the Schedule: reg 3(2).

3 I.e. customs procedure within the meaning of EC Council Regulation 2913/92 (OJ L302, 19.10.92, p 1) (the 'Community Customs Code') art 4(16)(h): Export (Penalty) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/3102, reg 2.

4 I.e. any of the duties, charges or levies which are export duties within the meaning of EC Council Regulation 2913/92 (OJ L302, 19.10.92, p 1) (see the definition of 'export duties' in art 4(11); and PARA 81 note 6 ante): Export (Penalty) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/3102, reg 2.

For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 1 note 6 ante.

7 Ibid reg 2.

8 For these purposes, none of the following is a reasonable excuse: (1) an insufficiency of funds available to any person for paying any penalty due; (2) that reliance was placed by any person on another to perform any task; (3) that the contravention is attributable, in whole or in part, to the conduct of a person on whom reliance to perform any task was so placed: ibid reg 4(2).

9 Ibid reg 4(1). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

10 Ibid reg 4(3).

11 See ibid reg 5(1). In exercising this power, neither the Commissioners nor an appeal tribunal are entitled to take into account the insufficiency of the funds available to any person for paying the amount of the penalty or the fact that the person liable to the penalty, or a person acting on his behalf, has acted in good faith: reg 5(2), (3).

12 Ibid reg 6(1).

13 Ibid reg 6(2). An amount so demanded is not recoverable if or to the extent that the demand has subsequently been withdrawn, or the amount has been reduced under reg 5: reg 6(3). As to the giving of notice see reg 14.

There is a time bar of three years on the issue of a demand notice, or two years from the time when sufficient evidence came to the knowledge of the Commissioners: see reg 7.

UPDATE

1217 Penalty for contravention of export rule

NOTE 13--SI 2003/3102 reg 6(2) amended: SI 2009/56.

NOTES 15, 16--SI 2003/3102 regs 10-12 revoked: SI 2009/56. Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must offer a person a review of a decision that has been notified to the person if an appeal lies under SI 2003/3102 reg 9 in respect of the decision: see regs 9A-9F (added by SI 2009/56).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(16) CIVIL PENALTIES/(iv) Contraventions of Statutory Requirements/1218. Penalties for contraventions of statutory requirements.

1218. Penalties for contraventions of statutory requirements.

The following provisions apply to any conduct¹ in relation to which any enactment provides for the conduct to attract a penalty under the following provisions².

Any person to whose conduct these provisions apply is liable:

- 3150 (1) in the case of conduct in relation to which provision is made under the following provisions³, or by or under any other enactment, for the penalty attracted to be calculated by reference to an amount of, or an amount payable on account of, any duty of excise⁴, to a penalty of whichever is the greater of 5 per cent of that amount and £250; and
- 3151 (2) in any other case, to a penalty of £250⁵.

In the case of any conduct to which these provisions apply which is conduct in relation to which provision is made by the following provisions⁶ or any other enactment for that conduct to attract daily penalties, the person whose conduct it is:

- 3152 (a) is liable, in addition to an initial penalty⁷, to a penalty of £20 for every day, after the first, on which the conduct continues; but
- 3153 (b) is not liable, in respect of the continuation of that conduct, to further penalties under the above provisions⁸.

Where any conduct to which these provisions apply consists in a failure, in contravention⁹ of any subordinate legislation¹⁰, to pay any amount of any duty of excise or an amount payable on account of any such duty, then, in so far as that would not otherwise be the case: (i) the penalty attracted to that contravention is to be calculated by reference to the amount unpaid; and (ii) the contravention also attracts daily penalties¹¹.

Where:

- 3154 (A) a contravention of any provision made by or under any enactment consists in or involves a failure, before such time as may be specified in or determined in accordance with that provision, to send a return to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs showing the amount which any person is or may become required to pay by way of, or on account of, any duty of excise; and
- 3155 (B) that contravention attracts a penalty under the above provisions, that contravention also attracts daily penalties¹².

Where, by reason of any conduct to which these provisions apply, a person is convicted of an offence, that conduct does not also give rise to liability to a penalty under the above provisions¹³.

Conduct to which the above provisions apply does not, however, give rise¹⁴ to any liability to a penalty under the above provisions if the person whose conduct it is satisfies the Commissioners or, on appeal, an appeal tribunal¹⁵ that there is reasonable excuse¹⁶ for the conduct¹⁷.

Where it appears to the Commissioners or, on appeal, an appeal tribunal that there is no reasonable excuse for a continuation of conduct for which there was at first a reasonable excuse, liability for a penalty under the above provisions¹⁸ is to be determined as if the conduct began at the time when there ceased to be a reasonable excuse for its continuation¹⁹.

5 Finance Act 1994 s 9(2) (amended by the Finance Act 2000 s 28). If it appears to the Treasury that there has been a change in the value of money since 3 May 1994 (ie the date of the passing of the Finance Act 1994) or, as the case may be, the last occasion when the power conferred by s 9(7) was exercised, the Treasury may by order substitute for any sum for the time being specified in s 9(2) or s 9(3) (see the text and notes 6-8 infra) such other sum as appears to the Treasury to be justified by the change: s 9(7). The power so to make an order is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of the House of Commons but is not exercisable so as to vary the penalty for any conduct occurring before the coming into force of the order: s 9(8). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. As to the Treasury see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) PARAS 512-517.

6 Ie by ibid s 9(4) or (5): see the text and notes 9-12 infra.

7 Ie under ibid s 9(2): see the text and notes 3-5 supra.

8 Ibid s 9(3). Section 9(3) is subject to s 13(3), (4) (see PARA 1224 post): s 9(3). See also note 5 supra.

9 For these purposes, 'contravention' includes a failure to comply; and cognate expressions are to be construed accordingly: ibid s 17(2). A contravention consisting in a failure to do something at or before a particular time is to be taken to continue after that time until the thing is done; and references to the remedying of such a contravention are to be construed accordingly: s 17(3).

10 For these purposes, 'subordinate legislation' has the same meaning as in the Interpretation Act 1979 (see STATUTES vol 44(1) (Reissue) PARA 1381): Finance Act 1994 s 17(2).

11 Ibid s 9(4).

12 Ibid s 9(5). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

13 Ibid s 9(6).

14 Ie subject to ibid s 10(2) (see the text to notes 18-19 infra) and to any express provision to the contrary made in relation to any conduct to which s 9 (see the text and notes 1-13 supra) applies.

15 For the meaning of 'appeal tribunal' see PARA 1255 note 1 post.

16 For these purposes: (1) an insufficiency of funds for paying any duty or penalty due is not a reasonable excuse; and (2) where reliance is placed by any person on another to perform any task, then neither the fact of that reliance nor the fact that any conduct to which the Finance Act 1994 s 9 applies was attributable to the conduct of that other person is a reasonable excuse: s 10(3). As to what constitutes a reasonable excuse see Appropriate Technology Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1991] VATTR 226 (where the tribunal considered that a reasonable excuse existed if a reasonable, conscientious, business person who knew all the facts of the case, and who was alive to and accepted the need to comply with one's responsibilities in regard to the rendering of VAT returns, would consider that the taxpayer, in acting as it did in the circumstances in which it found itself, had acted with due care in the preparation of its return); Clean Car Co Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1991] VATTR 234; Fritz Bender Metals (UK) Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1991] VATTR 80; Merseyside Police Authority v Customs and Excise Comrs [1991] VATTR 152; Frank Galliers Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1993] STC 284 (where it was noted at 293 that the test in Appropriate Technology Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs supra may require modification); Nor-Clean Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1991] VATTR 239 (a trader may have a reasonable excuse for a one-off error even if the point would have been clear to a lay person if he investigated into it). While insufficiency of funds and reliance upon another do not constitute a reasonable excuse, the reason for the insufficiency or the reason why the other person acted as he did may do: cf Customs and Excise Comrs v Steptoe [1992] STC 757, CA; Customs and Excise Comrs v Salevon Ltd [1989] STC 907; Frank Galliers Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs supra (VAT cases); and see Tyler v Customs and Excise Comrs [2003] V & DR 358 (reasonable excuse where exercise of reasonable foresight and due diligence and of proper regard for illegality of taking in and using rebated fuel would not have avoided illegal conduct), applying Customs and Excise Comrs v Steptoe supra.

17 Finance Act 1994 s 10(1). Section 10 does not apply: (1) in relation to conduct attracting a penalty under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 114(2) (as amended) (see s 114(2) (as amended); and PARA 633 ante) or s 170A(2) (as added and amended) (see s 170A(1) (as added and amended); and PARA 1220 post); (2) in relation to conduct attracting a penalty by virtue of the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 22(1) (as amended) (see s 22(1A) (as added); and PARA 573 ante) or s 23(1) (as amended) (see s 23(1A) (as added); and PARA 574 ante).

MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(16) CIVIL PENALTIES/(iv) Contraventions of Statutory Requirements/1220. Penalties under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979.

1220. Penalties under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979.

A civil penalty may be imposed¹ in relation to the following contraventions or failures to comply with the provisions of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979:

- 3186 (1) where the occupier of an approved warehouse makes any alteration therein or thereto without the previous consent of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs²;
 - 3187 (2) where any person contravenes or fails to comply with any condition imposed or direction given by the Commissioners in relation to an approved warehouse³;
 - 3188 (3) where any person contravenes or fails to comply with any of the requirements in the warehouse regulations or with any conditions, restrictions or requirements imposed under those regulations⁴;
 - 3189 (4) where any person contravenes or fails to comply with any provision of registered excise dealers and shippers regulations or to comply with any conditions or restrictions subject to which a person is registered as a registered excise dealer⁵;
 - 3190 (5) where the holder of an excise licence to carry on any trade or to manufacture or sell goods fails to produce his licence for examination within one month after being requested to do so by an officer⁶;
 - 3191 (6) where the holder of an excise licence to carry on a trade contravenes or fails to comply with any requirement made or direction given by the Commissioners to affix to and maintain on premises in respect of which a licence is granted a notice of the person to whom and the purpose for which the licence is granted⁷;
 - 3192 (7) where any person not duly licensed to carry on an excise licence trade affixes to any premises any sign or notice purporting to show that he is so licensed⁸;
 - 3193 (8) where any person making entry of any premises or article contravenes or fails to comply with any direction given by the Commissioners under the revenue trade provisions of the customs and excise Acts⁹;
 - 3194 (9) where a person uses for any purpose of his trade any premises or article required by or under the revenue trade provisions of the customs and excise Acts to be entered for that purpose without entry having been duly made¹⁰;
 - 3195 (10) where a person knowingly uses a substance or liquor which has by regulations been prohibited in the manufacture or preparation for sale of any goods specified in the regulations¹¹;
 - 3196 (11) where a revenue trader removes, conceals, withholds, damages or destroys a specimen, that is to say a document in which particulars relating to the revenue trader's trade may be entered, or alters or defaces or obliterates any entry in that document¹²;
 - 3197 (12) where a revenue trader fails to pay any excise duty on demand¹³;
 - 3198 (13) where a revenue trader fails:
- 178
- 78. (a) to keep and preserve such records as may be prescribed in regulations made by the Commissioners or to furnish them to the Commissioners;
 - 79. (b) to furnish to the Commissioners, within such time and in such form as they may reasonably require, information relating to goods or services supplied by or to him in the course or furtherance of a business or about any goods in the importation or exportation of which he is concerned in the course or furtherance of a business;

80. (c) on demand made by an officer, to produce or cause to be produced for inspection by that officer at the principal place of business of the revenue trader or at such other place as the officer may reasonably require and at such time as the officer may reasonably require any documents relating to the goods or services or to their supply importation or exportation¹⁴;

3199 (14) where:

81. (a) after the excise duty point¹⁵ for any goods¹⁶ which are chargeable with a duty of excise, a person acquires possession of those goods or is concerned in carrying, removing, depositing, keeping or otherwise dealing with those goods; and
82. (b) at the time when he acquires possession of those goods or is so concerned, a payment of duty on the goods is outstanding and has not been deferred,

3200 the conduct of that person falling within head (a) above attracts a civil penalty under the Finance Act 1994¹⁷ which must be calculated by reference to the amount of the unpaid duty¹⁸.

1221. Penalties under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979.

A civil penalty may be imposed¹ in relation to the following contraventions or failures to comply with the provisions of the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979:

- 3201 (1) where any person contravenes the restrictions on the use of duty-free oil²;
- 3202 (2) where any person misuses rebated heavy oil³;
- 3203 (3) where any person misuses rebated kerosene⁴;
- 3204 (4) where any person:
- 182
- 83. (a) uses or acquires rebated light oil for use as furnace fuel for a different use or takes it into any vehicle, appliance or storage tank in order that it can be put to such other use⁵; or
- 84. (b) supplies rebated light oil for use as furnace fuel having reason to believe that it will not be so used and that such use without the consent of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs would contravene the statutory provisions⁶;
- 183
- 3205 (5) where a person fails to give a notification to the Commissioners or to comply with a direction given by the Commissioners in relation to the mixing of rebated oil⁷;
- 3206 (6) where any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation made by the Commissioners or any condition imposed by or under such regulation which allows reliefs from any duty of excise⁸;
- 3207 (7) where any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation made relating to hydrocarbon oil and road fuel gas⁹;
- 3208 (8) where any person contravenes the prohibition on the chargeable use of any liquid which is not hydrocarbon oil on which duty has not been paid¹⁰;
- 3209 (9) where any person contravenes the prohibition on the use of road fuel gas on which duty has not been paid¹¹;
- 3210 (10) where any person contravenes or fails to comply with any regulation relating to the control of the use of duty-free and rebated oil¹²;
- 3211 (11) where a person misuses marked oil as a fuel for a road vehicle¹³.

(v) Breaches of Walking Possession Agreements

1223. Breaches of walking possession agreements.

Where¹ a person ('the person levying the distress') is empowered or authorised to distrain any property of another person ('the person in default') who has refused or neglected to pay any amount of relevant duty² or any amount recoverable as if it were an amount of relevant duty due from him and the person levying the distress and the person in default have entered into a walking possession agreement³, then, if the person in default is in breach of the undertaking contained in a walking possession agreement, he is liable to a penalty equal to one-half of the unpaid duty or penalty which gave rise to the distraint⁴. The person in default is not, however, so liable to a penalty if he satisfies the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or, on appeal⁵, an appeal tribunal⁶ that there is a reasonable excuse for the breach in question⁷.

1 In accordance with regulations under the Finance Act 1997 s 51 (enforcement by distress): see PARA 1139 et seq ante.

2 For these purposes, 'relevant duty' means any Community customs duty or agricultural levy of the European Community or any duty of excise: Finance Act 1994 s 17(2). For the meaning of 'duty of excise' see PARA 1231 note 1 ante. As to customs duty see PARA 1 et seq ante. As to the abolition of agricultural levies see the Uruguay Round Agreement on Agriculture (Marrakesh, 15 April 1994; Cm 2559; Misc 17 (1994); OJ L336, 23.12.94, p 22).

3 For these purposes, a 'walking possession agreement' means an agreement under which, in consideration of the property distrained being allowed to remain in the custody of the person in default and of the delaying of its sale, the person in default: (1) acknowledges that the property specified in the agreement is under distraint and held in walking possession; and (2) undertakes that, except with the consent of the Commissioners and subject to such conditions as they may impose, he will not remove or allow the removal of any of the specified property from the premises named in the agreement: Finance Act 1994 s 11(2). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante.

4 Ibid s 11(1), (3) (s 11(3) amended by the Finance Act 1997 s 53(2), (9)). The Finance Act 1994 s 11 (as amended) does not extend to Scotland: s 11(5).

5 As to appeals see PARA 1255 et seq post.

6 For the meaning of 'appeal tribunal' see PARA 1255 note 1 post.

7 Finance Act 1994 s 11(4). For the meaning of 'reasonable excuse' see PARA 1218 note 16 ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/4. MANAGEMENT, COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF DUTIES/(16) CIVIL PENALTIES/(vi) Assessments to Penalties/1224. Assessment to penalties.

(vi) Assessments to Penalties

1224. Assessment to penalties.

Where any person is liable to a penalty¹, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may assess the amount due by way of penalty and notify that person or his representative² accordingly³. An assessment so made may be combined with an assessment to relevant duty⁴; but any notification for the purposes of such combined assessment must separately identify any amount assessed by way of penalty⁵.

In the case of any amount due from any person by way of a civil penalty⁶ for conduct⁷ consisting in a contravention⁸ which attracts daily penalties: (1) a notification under the above provisions must specify a date, being a date no later than the date of the notification, to which the penalty as assessed is to be calculated; and (2) if the contravention continues after that date, a further assessment, or further assessments, may be made in respect of any continuation of the contravention after that date⁹.

If:

- 3216 (a) a person is assessed to a penalty in accordance with head (1) above; and
- 3217 (b) the contravention to which the penalty relates is remedied within such period after the date specified in head (1) above in the notification of assessment as may for these purposes be notified to that person by the Commissioners, that contravention is treated as having been remedied, and accordingly the conduct is deemed to have ceased, immediately before that date¹⁰.

If an amount has been assessed as due from any person and notified in accordance with the above provisions, then, unless, or except to the extent that, the assessment has subsequently been withdrawn or reduced, that amount is, subject to any appeal¹¹, recoverable as if it were an amount due from that person as an amount of the appropriate duty¹².

¹ I.e. under the Finance Act 1994 s 8 (see PARAS 1208-1209 ante), s 9 (as amended) (see PARA 1218 ante) or s 11 (see PARA 1223 ante).

² For these purposes, 'representative', in relation to a person liable to a penalty, means his personal representative, trustee in bankruptcy or interim or permanent trustee, any receiver or liquidator appointed in relation to that person or any of his property or any other person acting in a representative capacity in relation to that person: ibid s 13(7) (amended by the Finance Act 1997 s 50(2), Sch 6 para 1(3)).

³ Finance Act 1994 s 13(1). As to the Commissioners see PARA 900 et seq ante. So much of any decision by the Commissioners that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19) (as amended), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in an assessment under s 13, is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see ss 14(1)(c), (2)-(7), 15, 16 (as amended); and PARAS 1240, 1244, 1252 et seq post.

⁴ I.e. under ibid s 12 (as amended): see PARAS 1231-1232 ante. For the meaning of 'relevant duty' see PARA 1223 note 2 ante.

6 le under ibid s 9 (as amended): see PARA 1218 ante.

10 Ibid s 13(4).

11 le under ibid s 16 (as amended): see PARA 1258 et seq post.

12 Ibid s 13(5). For these purposes, 'the appropriate duty' means: (1) the relevant duty, if any, by reference to an amount of which the penalty in question is calculated; or (2) where there is no such duty, the relevant duty the provisions relating to which are contravened by the conduct giving rise to the penalty or, if those provisions relate to more than one duty, such of the duties as appear to the Commissioners and are certified by them to be relevant in the case in question: s 13(6) (amended by the Finance Act 1997 s 53(3), (9)).

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ have power to make assessments to excise duty in the following cases:

- 3218 (1) where they may by statute assess certain amounts which have fallen due as being excise duty²;
- 3219 (2) in specified circumstances where default is made by any person from whom excise duty is due³;
- 3220 (3) where excessive payments have been made by the Commissioners⁴;
- 3221 (4) where relief which should not have been given by the Commissioners has been given⁵.

(ii) Assessments of Sums due as Excise Duty

1226. Assessments under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979.

An assessment to excise duty may be made under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979¹:

- 3222 (1) upon the master of a ship or the commander of an aircraft on account of a deficiency or excess deficiency of stores²;
- 3223 (2) upon the occupier of a warehouse or the proprietor of goods in the warehouse in respect of drawback or an allowance given where warehoused goods are deficient³;
- 3224 (3) upon the owner of a pipe-line or the proprietor of goods in respect of unpaid or repaid duty or drawback where goods moved by pipe-line are deficient⁴;
- 3225 (4) upon a person who has made or signed or caused to be made or signed or delivered or caused to be delivered to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or an officer any declaration, notice, certificate or other document or who has made any statement in answer to a question put to him by an officer which he is required under any enactment to answer, being a document or statement produced or made for any purpose of any assigned matter, which is untrue in any material particular, in respect of any unpaid duty or any overpayment in respect of any drawback, allowance, rebate or repayment of duty⁵.

1227. Assessments under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979.

An assessment to excise duty may be made under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979¹:

- 3226 (1) upon the person concerned where duty has been remitted on spirits used for medical or scientific purposes but they are not used as proposed and it is not shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that they can be accounted for by natural waste or other legitimate cause²;
- 3227 (2) upon the person concerned where duty has been remitted on spirits used in art or manufacture but they are not used as proposed and it is not shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that they can be accounted for by natural waste or other legitimate cause³;
- 3228 (3) upon the relevant person⁴ where a direction is given for relief from duty on imported goods not for human consumption containing spirits but it turns out that the goods were for human consumption⁵.

1228. Assessments under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979.

An assessment to excise duty may be made under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979¹:

- 3229 (1) upon a person who uses or acquires duty-free oil in an unauthorised manner²;
- 3230 (2) upon a person who misuses rebated heavy oil delivered for home use³;
- 3231 (3) upon a person who misuses rebated kerosene delivered for home use⁴;
- 3232 (4) upon a person who misuses rebated light oil delivered for home use as furnace fuel⁵;
- 3233 (5) upon a person who uses as fuel in or takes as fuel into a road vehicle road fuel gas on which excise duty has not been paid⁶;
- 3234 (6) upon a person who misuses duty-free or rebated oil⁷.

1229. Assessments under the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979.

An assessment to excise duty may be made under the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979¹ upon a person who does not prove either that all the tobacco products or materials for their manufacture which have been in his possession or under his control have been duly dealt with or that duty has been paid or secured in respect of them².

1 As to the time limits for making an assessment see PARA 1239 post.

(iii) Assessments where Default is made

1231. In general.

Where it appears to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs that any person is a person from whom any amount has become due in respect of any duty of excise¹ and that there has been a default, that is to say:

- 3235 (1) any failure by any person to make, keep, preserve or produce as required or directed by or under any enactment² any returns, accounts, books, records or other documents;
- 3236 (2) any omission from or inaccuracy in any returns, accounts, books, records or other documents which any person is required or directed by or under any enactment to make, keep, preserve or produce;
- 3237 (3) any failure by any person to take or permit to be taken any step which he is required under the Betting and Gaming Duties Act 1981³ to take or to permit to be taken;
- 3238 (4) any failure by a person to comply with a requirement to which he is made subject by the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979⁴;
- 3239 (5) any unreasonable delay in performing any obligation the failure to perform which would be a default falling within heads (1) to (4) above, the Commissioners may assess the amount of duty due from that person to the best of their judgment⁵ and notify that amount to that person or his representative⁶.

Where it appears to the Commissioners that any person is a person from whom any amount has become due in respect of any duty of excise and that the amount of duty can be ascertained by them, they may⁷ assess the amount of duty due from that person and notify that amount to that person or his representative⁸.

Where an amount has been assessed as due from any person and notified in accordance with the above provisions, it is deemed, subject to any appeal⁹, to be an amount of the duty in question due from that person and may be recovered accordingly, unless, or except to the extent that, the assessment has subsequently been withdrawn or reduced¹⁰.

1 For these purposes, references to a duty of excise do not include references to vehicle excise duty: Finance Act 1994 s 17(4) (amended by the Vehicle Excise and Registration Act 1994 s 63, Sch 3 para 22). As to vehicle excise duty see PARA 717 et seq ante. As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 In heads (1) and (2) in the text, 'enactment' includes directly applicable Community provision: Finance Act 1994 s 12(2A) (added by the Excise Duty Points (Duty Suspended Movements of Excise Goods) Regulations 2001, SI 2001/3022, reg 9).

3 Ie under the Betting and Gaming Duties Act 1981 s 12(2), s 17(1), s 20, Sch 1 or Sch 3 (as amended) or the Finance Act 1997 s 13, Sch 1: see LICENSING AND GAMBLING vol 68 (2008) PARA 761 et seq.

4 Ie under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 64A, Sch 2A (as added): see PARA 405 ante.

5 The question whether an assessment has been made to the best of judgment has been considered in a number of VAT and direct tax cases. In order to make an assessment to the best of their judgment, the Commissioners must exercise their functions honestly and bona fide, and it would be a misuse of their power if they were to decide on a figure which they thought was in excess of the amount which could be possibly payable; there must be some material before the Commissioners, but they are not obliged to carry out exhaustive investigations if they have material on which they may reasonably act: Van Boeckel v Customs and Excise Comrs [1981] 2 All ER 505 at 508, [1981] STC 290 at 292 per Woolf J. See also Schlumberger Inland Services Inc v Customs and Excise Comrs [1987] STC 228; Holder v Customs and Excise Comrs [1989] STC 327; Spillane v Customs and Excise Comrs [1990] STC 212; Farnocchia v Customs and Excise Comrs [1994] STC 881, Ct of Sess; Dwyer Property Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1995] STC 1035; Georgio (t/a Marios Chippery) v Customs and Excise Comrs [1995] STC 1101 (affd [1996] STC 463, CA); Majid & Partners v Customs and Excise Comrs [1999] STC 585. Whether the Commissioners have assessed an amount of tax due to the best of their judgment is a question of fact for the tribunal: Seto v Customs and Excise Comrs [1981] STC 698, Ct of Sess. The decision will, however, be quashed if the Commissioners have not properly considered the question: Koca v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] STC 58. In Gauntlett v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] V & DR 138, an assessment was upheld despite the fact that the officer made an error, due to want of care, since the error was not one of judgment; and in Robert's Golden Cod Fish Bar v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] V & DR 423n, an assessment was upheld despite arithmetical errors. Recent tribunal cases in which the question of best judgment has been successfully raised include J and E Glazebrook (t/a Togs) v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) VAT Decision 13985, [1996] STI 943 (where apart from a low profits margin there was no evidence of any inaccuracies in returns); Chambis Partnership (t/a The Parsons Nose) v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 15000, [1997] STI 1236; Godfrey v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 15250, [1998] STI 236 (where VAT assessments were successfully appealed against on the basis that various false assumptions meant that the assessment was not made to best of judgment). In Singh v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) VAT Decision 14505, [1996] STI 2036, Sze Tai Chung Li and Sang Li (t/a New Paignton Chinese Take-away) v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) VAT Decision 14361, [1997] STI 1619, DJ and MA Wright v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 14570, [1997] STI 110, Sung Wong Li and Xiao Mei Li v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 15133, [1997] STI 1396, Koon Wong Lam (t/a The Dragon Inn Chinese Restaurant) v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 14974, [1997] STI 1231, and Surinder Pal Dubb and Joginder Pall v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 14973, [1997] STI 1230, assessments were quashed on the basis that they were not made on sufficient evidence or sufficiently reliable evidence and, therefore, to the best of judgment. In K Cheung and Partners (t/a The China Garden Restaurant v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 14708, an assessment was held not to have been made to the Commissioners' best judgment because of the unrealistically high figures obtained by an exercise which was inherently unreliable. In The Golden Grill v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 14760, [1997] STI 647, a decision to apply the results of a mark-up exercise in one period to earlier periods without looking at the accounts and patterns of takings in earlier periods was considered unreasonable. In Bennett v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 14976, [1997] STI 1233, it was doubted whether the Commissioners could exercise their best judgment by computer-generated assessment and it was held for this purpose not to matter that the assessment was too low. In North East Garages Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1998) VAT Decision 15734, [1999] STI 69, an assessment was quashed because the officer made an apportionment on a basis which maximised the tax payable and used an unrepresentative sample. In Hobden v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) Excise Decision 15 (unreported) and Cameron (t/a RC Bookmakers) v Customs and Excise Comrs (1998) Excise Decision 15 (unreported), the tribunal questioned whether the test in Van Boeckel v Customs and Excise Comrs supra at 508 and 292 was binding on a Scottish tribunal; the tribunal did not consider that the Commissioners were necessarily entitled to act just because they had some material upon which to act. However, Van Boeckel v Customs and Excise Comrs supra was followed in Douwe Egberts Van Nelle Tobacco International BV v Customs and Excise Comrs (1998) Excise Decision 91 (unreported).

6 Finance Act 1994 s 12(1), (2) (amended by the Finance Act 1997 s 13(2), Sch 2 para 7; and the Finance Act 2004 s 4(3)). As to the time limits for making assessments see PARA 1232 post. For these purposes, 'representative', in relation to any person appearing to the Commissioners to be a person from whom any amount has become due in respect of any duty of excise, means his personal representative, trustee in bankruptcy or interim or permanent trustee, any receiver or liquidator appointed in relation to that person or any of his property or any other person acting in a representative capacity in relation to that person: Finance Act 1994 s 12(8) (amended by the Finance Act 1997 s 50(2), Sch 6 para 1(3), 7). So much of any decision by the Commissioners that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under the Finance Act 1994 s 12 (as amended) is subject to review and to appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal: see the Finance Act 1994 ss 14(1)(b), (2)-(7), 15, 16 (as amended); and PARAS 1240, 1247, 1252 et seq post.

An assessment under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 20AAB(4) (as added) (see PARA 569 ante) is to be treated as if it were an assessment under the Finance Act 1994 s 16(1) (as amended) (see PARA 1258 post): see the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 20AAB(5) (as added); and PARA 569 ante.

For a consideration of the VAT cases which have considered the requirements relating to the notification see House (t/a P & J Autos) v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] STC 154, CA. In Brooker v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 15164, [1997] STI 1427, the fact that the assessment was sent to the appellant's wife was held not to prevent it from being validly notified. It seems that an assessment is made when the amount is recorded and not when it is delivered to the person assessed, although it is not enforceable until delivery: see Grunwick Processing Laboratories Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1986] STC 441. The making and notification of an assessment are different exercises: see the cases cited in PARA 1232 note 1 post.

7 le subject to the Finance Act 1994 s 12(4): see PARA 1232 post.

8 Ibid s 12(1A) (added by the Finance Act 1998 Sch 2 paras 7, 12).

9 le under the Finance Act 1994 s 16 (as amended): see PARA 1258 et seq post.

10 Ibid s 12(3). If the assessment is a nullity because the time limit for making it has expired, it is arguably void ab initio and the person may rely upon the invalidity to challenge the validity of the assessment in collection proceedings: Lord Advocate v Shanks (t/a Shanks & Co) [1992] STC 928, Ct of Sess. In reducing an assessment, the Commissioners are entitled to take account of considerations of practical management and are not required to exercise best judgment: see Elias Gale Racing v Customs and Excise Comrs [1999] STC 66.

1232. Time limits for making assessments.

An assessment of the amount of any duty of excise due from any person must not be made¹ at any time after whichever is the earlier of the following times, that is to say:

- 3240 (1) the end of the period of three years beginning with the time when his liability to the duty arose²; and
- 3241 (2) the end of the period of one year beginning with the day on which evidence of facts, sufficient in the opinion of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs to justify the making of the assessment, comes to their knowledge³.

However, this is without prejudice, where further evidence comes to the knowledge of the Commissioners at any time after the making of the assessment concerned, to the making of a further assessment within the period applicable⁴ in relation to that further assessment⁵.

However, in the case of any assessment to any amount of duty the assessment or payment of any of which has been postponed or otherwise affected by:

- 3242 (a) conduct in respect of which any person, whether or not the person assessed, has become liable to a penalty for evasion of excise duty⁶ or has been convicted of an offence of fraud or dishonesty⁷; or
- 3243 (b) any conduct in respect of which proceedings for an offence of fraud or dishonesty would have been commenced or continued against any person, whether or not the person assessed, but for their having been compounded⁸, the above provisions⁹ have effect as if the reference in head (1) above to three years were a reference to 20 years¹⁰.

1. See under the Finance Act 1994 s 12 (as amended): see PARA 1231 ante. VAT cases suggest that an assessment is made when the amount is recorded and not when it is delivered to the person assessed, although it is not enforceable until delivery: see Grunwick Processing Laboratories Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1986] STC 441 (this point not being considered on appeal at [1987] STC 357, CA); Babber (t/a Ram Pankash Sunderdass) v Customs and Excise Comrs [1991] VATTR 268; Customs and Excise Comrs v Post Office [1995] STC 749; British Teleflower Service Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) VAT Decision 13756, [1996] STI 290; House (t/a P & J Autos) v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] STC 154, CA.

An assessment which is made out of time is a nullity ab initio, with the consequence, it seems, that the person assessed may defend the collection proceedings, rather than appealing against the assessment: Lord Advocate v Shanks (t/a Shanks & Co) v Customs and Excise Comrs [1992] STC 928, Ct of Sess; but see also IRC v Pearlberg [1953] 1 All ER 388, [1953] 1 WLR 331, CA; IRC v Soul (1976) 51 TC 86, CA; IRC v Aken [1990] 1 WLR 1374, [1990] STC 497, CA; and INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1739.

2. Finance Act 1994 s 12(4)(a) (amended by the Finance Act 1997 s 50, Sch 5 para 6(1), (2)(a)). For these purposes, the references to the time when a person's liability to a duty of excise arose are references, in the case of a duty of excise on goods, to the excise duty point, and, in any other case, to the time when the duty was charged: Finance Act 1994 s 12(6). For the meaning of 'excise duty point' see PARA 970 note 6 ante.

3. Ibid s 12(4)(b). As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante. The provision requires actual knowledge: Schlumberger Inland Services Inc v Customs and Excise Comrs [1987] STC 228; Cutts v Customs and Excise Comrs [1989] STC 201; Spillane v Customs and Excise Comrs [1990] STC 212; Customs and Excise Comrs v Post Office [1995] STC 749; British Teleflower Service Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) VAT Decision 13756, [1996] STI 290; and see Parekh v Customs and Excise Comrs [1984] STC 284. It is for the Commissioners to determine what facts are necessary to make an assessment and the court may interfere only if there was sufficient material to make the failure to make an earlier assessment perverse: see Cumbræ Properties (1963) Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1981] STC 799; GT Garages (Scarborough) Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1983] VATTR 214; Elvington Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) VAT Decision 14537, [1997] STI 63; RJ and JW Furniss (t/a Newspoint) v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 14758, [1997] STI 621; Pegasus Birds Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1999] STC 95. A successful challenge was made to an assessment on this basis in Hobden v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) Excise Decision 15 (unreported).

4 Ie by virtue of the Finance Act 1994 s 12(4).

5 Ibid s 12(4). For VAT cases considering a similar provision see Jeudwine v Customs and Excise Comrs [1977] VATTR 115 (where a further assessment was held to be invalid since no new evidence had come to light); distinguished in Yuen Tung Restaurant Ltd (t/a The Far East Restaurant) v Customs and Excise Comrs [1993] VATTR 226, in the light of dicta in Parekh v Customs and Excise Comrs [1984] STC 284 (where the original assessment was withdrawn prior to a new assessment). The invalidity of an earlier assessment has been held not to invalidate a further assessment, the original assessment being held not to be void ab initio: see Bennett v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 14976, [1997] STI 1233; EK Rustem (t/a The Dry Cleaners) v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 15206, [1997] STI 1602. 1235. Time limits for making assessments; recovery of duty.

An assessment for an excessive repayment¹ or for an overpayment of interest² must not be made more than two years after the time when evidence of facts sufficient in the opinion of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs to justify the making of the assessment comes to their knowledge³.

Where an amount has been assessed and notified to any person⁴, it is recoverable as if it were relevant tax⁵ due from the person assessed⁶; but this provision does not have effect if, or to the extent that, the assessment in question has been withdrawn or reduced⁷.

4 Ie under ibid Sch 5 para 14 (as amended) (see PARA 1233 ante) or Sch 5 para 15 (as amended) (see PARA 1234 ante).

5 For these purposes, 'relevant tax', in relation to any assessment, means: (1) a duty of excise if the assessment relates to: (a) a repayment of an amount paid by way of such a duty; (b) an overpayment of interest under the Finance Act 1994 s 40(2) (see PARA 822 et seq ante); or (c) interest on an amount specified in an assessment in relation to which the relevant tax is a duty of excise; (2) insurance premium tax if the assessment relates to: (a) a repayment of an amount paid by way of such tax; (b) an overpayment of interest under s 64, Sch 7 para 22 (see INSURANCE vol 25 (2003 Reissue) PARA 839); or (c) interest on an amount specified in an assessment in relation to which the relevant tax is insurance premium tax; (3) landfill tax if the assessment relates to: (a) a repayment of an amount paid by way of such tax; (b) an overpayment of interest under the Finance Act 1996 s 60, Sch 5 para 29 (see LANDFILL TAX vol 61 (2010) PARA 1000); or (c) interest on an amount specified in an assessment in relation to which the relevant tax is landfill tax: Finance Act 1997 Sch 5 para 20(2).

ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(1) ASSESSMENTS/(iv) Recovery of Excess Payments/1236. Assessments of interest on assessments for excessive repayment or overpayment of interest.

1236. Assessments of interest on assessments for excessive repayment or overpayment of interest.

Where an assessment for an excessive repayment¹ or for an overpayment of interest² is made, the whole of the amount assessed carries interest at the applicable rate³ from the date on which the assessment is notified until payment⁴. Where any person is so liable to interest, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may assess the amount due by way of interest and notify it to him⁵.

Without prejudice to the power to make an assessment under these provisions for later periods, the interest to which an assessment may relate is to be confined to interest for a period of no more than two years ending with the time when the assessment is made⁶.

A notice of assessment must specify a date, being not later than the date of the notice, to which the amount of interest is calculated; and, if the interest continues to accrue after that date, a further assessment or assessments may be made in respect of amounts which so accrue⁷. If, within such period as may be notified by the Commissioners to the person liable for interest⁸, the amount due from him⁹ is paid, it is to be treated as paid on the date specified¹⁰ in the notice of assessment¹¹.

Where an amount has been assessed and notified to any person under the above provisions, it is recoverable as if it were relevant tax¹² due from him¹³; but this provision does not have effect if, or to the extent that, the assessment in question has been withdrawn or reduced¹⁴.

1237. Supplementary assessments.

If it appears to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ that the amount which ought to have been assessed in an assessment for an excessive repayment² or for an overpayment of interest³ exceeds the amount which was so assessed, then, under the same statutory provision⁴ as that assessment was made and on or before the last day on which that assessment could have been made⁵, the Commissioners may make a supplementary assessment of the amount of the excess and must notify the person concerned accordingly⁶.

ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(1) ASSESSMENTS/(v) Assessments relating to Relief which should not have been Given/1238. Assessments relating to relief which should not have been given.

(v) Assessments relating to Relief which should not have been Given 1238. Assessments relating to relief which should not have been given.

Where any relevant excise duty relief other than an excepted relief¹ has been given² but ought not to have been given or would not have been given had the facts been known or been as they later turn out to be, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may assess the amount of the relief given as being excise duty due from the liable person³ and notify him or his representative⁴ accordingly⁵.

Where an amount has been so assessed as due from any person⁶ and notice has been given accordingly, that amount is deemed, subject to any appeal⁷, to be an amount of excise duty due from that person and may be recovered accordingly, unless, or except to the extent that, the assessment has subsequently been withdrawn or reduced⁸.

1 For these purposes, 'excepted relief' means any relief which is given by the making of a repayment on a claim made under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (as added and amended) (see PARA 1125 ante); Finance Act 1994 s 12B(4) (added by the Finance Act 1997 s 50(2), Sch 6 para 1(1)).

2 For these purposes, relevant excise duty relief has been given if, and only if:

- .13 (1) an amount of excise duty which a person is liable to pay has been remitted or payment of an amount of excise duty which a person is liable to pay has been waived;
- .14 (2) an amount of excise duty has been repaid to a person;
- .15 (3) an amount by way of drawback of excise duty has been paid to a person;
- .16 (4) an allowance of excise duty in any amount has been made to a person;
- .17 (5) an amount by way of rebate has been allowed to a person;
- .18 (6) the liability of a person to repay an amount paid by way of drawback of excise duty has been waived;
- .19 (7) an amount has been paid to a person under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 20(3) (as substituted) (contaminated or accidentally mixed oil: see PARA 560 ante);
- .20 (8) an amount of relief has been allowed to a person under s 20AA (as added and amended) (power to allow reliefs: see PARA 549 ante) or in accordance with s 21(1), Sch 3 para 10 (power to make regulations for the purpose of relieving from excise duty oil intended for exportation or shipment as stores: see PARA 571 ante); or
- .21 (9) an amount of relief has been allowed to a person under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 20AB (as added) (see PARA 549 ante), and the amount of the relief is the amount mentioned in relation to the relief in heads (1)-(9) supra: Finance Act 1994 s 12B(1) (s 12B added by the Finance Act 1997 Sch 6 para 1(1); and amended by the Finance Act 2001 s 3(4)). For the meaning of 'duty of excise' see PARA 1231 note 1 ante.

3 For these purposes, 'the liable person' means: (1) in the case of excise duty which has been remitted or repaid under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 130 (see PARA 1108 ante) on the basis that goods were lost or destroyed while in a warehouse, the proprietor of the goods or the occupier of the warehouse; (2) in the case of a rebate which has been allowed on any oil under the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 11 (as amended) (see PARA 535 ante), the person to whom the rebate was allowed or the occupier of any warehouse from which the oil was delivered for home use; (3) in the case of a rebate allowed on any petrol under s 13A (as added and amended) (see PARA 540 ante), the person to whom the rebate was allowed or the occupier of any warehouse from which the petrol was delivered for home use; (4) in any other case, the person mentioned in the Finance Act 1994 s 12B(1) (as added) (see note 2 supra) to whom the relief in question was given: s 12B(3) (as added: see note 2 supra).

4 For these purposes, 'representative', in relation to any person from whom the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs assess an amount as being excise duty due, means his personal representative, trustee in bankruptcy or interim or permanent trustee, any receiver or liquidator appointed in relation to him or any of his property or any other person acting in a representative capacity in relation to him: ibid s 12B(4) (as added: see note 2 supra). As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante.

(vi) Time Limits for making Assessments

1239. Time limits for making assessments.

No assessment is to be made in respect of sums due as excise duty¹ or relief which should not have been given² at any time after whichever is the earlier of the following times, that is to say:

- 3248 (1) the end of the period of three years beginning with the relevant time³; and
- 3249 (2) the end of the period of one year beginning with the day on which evidence of facts, sufficient in the opinion of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs to justify the making of the assessment, comes to their knowledge⁴, but without prejudice, where further evidence comes to the knowledge of the Commissioners at any time after the making of the assessment concerned, to the making of a further assessment within the period applicable⁵ in relation to that further assessment⁶.

However, in any case where the assessment has been postponed or otherwise affected by, or the power to make the assessment arises out of:

- 3250 (a) conduct in respect of which any person, whether or not the person assessed, has become liable to a penalty for evasion of excise duty or has been convicted of an offence of fraud or dishonesty⁷; or
- 3251 (b) any conduct in respect of which proceedings for an offence of fraud or dishonesty would have been commenced or continued against any person, whether or not the person assessed, but for their having been compounded⁸, the above provisions⁹ have effect as if the reference in head (1) above to three years were a reference to 20 years¹⁰.

UPDATE

1240 Persons who may require a review of a decision

TEXT AND NOTES--If Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs notifies a person (P) of a relevant decision by it, it must at the same time, by notice to P, offer P a review of that decision (but this provision does not apply to the notification of the conclusions of a review): Finance Act 1994 s 15A (ss 15A-15F added by SI 2009/56). Any person (other than P) who has the right of appeal under the Finance Act 1994 s 16 against a relevant decision may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review that decision, unless (1) the relevant decision falls within s 14(1)(b) and, under s 15 (see PARA 1253), Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is reviewing, or has reviewed, the decision to which the relevant decision is linked; or (2) P or that person has brought an appeal under s 16 with respect to the relevant decision: s 15B(1)-(4). A notification that such a person requires a review must be made within 30 days of his becoming aware of the decision: s 15B(5).

Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must review a decision if it has offered to do so under s 15A, and P notifies it of acceptance of the offer within 30 days beginning with the date of the document containing the notification of the offer of the review, but P may not notify acceptance of the offer if the requirement in head (1) or (2) is met: s 15C(1)-(4). Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must review a decision if a person other than P notifies it under s 15B: s 15C(5). However, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must not review a decision if P, or another person, has appealed to the appeal tribunal (see PARA 1255) under s 16 in respect of the decision: s 15C(6).

If under s 15A, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs has offered P a review of a decision, it may, within the relevant period, notify P that that period is extended: s 15D(1). It may also do so if under s 15B another person may require them to review a matter: s 15D(2). If notice is given, the relevant period is extended to the end of 30 days from the date of the notice or from any other date set out in the notice or a further notice: s 15D(3). 'Relevant period' means the period of 30 days referred to in s 15C(1)(b) or s 15B(5) (as the case may be); or, if notice has been given under s 15D(1), (2), that period as extended (or as most recently extended) in accordance with s 15D(3): s 15D(4). If P (or, as the case may be, the other person) does not give notification within the relevant period (whether or not so extended), Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must review the decision if (a) after the expiry of the period, P or the other person notifies it in writing requesting a review out of time; (b) it is satisfied that P, or the other person, had reasonable excuse for not giving notice within that period; and (c) it is satisfied that P, or the other person, made the request without unreasonable delay after the excuse had ceased to apply: s 15E(1), (2). However, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs cannot be required to review a decision under this provision if the condition in head (1) is met; and it must not do so if P, or another person, has appealed to the appeal tribunal (see PARA 1255) under s 16 in respect of the decision: s 15E(4).

If Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is required to undertake a review under s 15C or s 15E, the nature and extent thereof are to be such as appear to it appropriate in all the circumstances, but Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must in particular have regard to steps taken by it in making the decision and by any person who is seeking to resolve disagreement about the decision: s 15F(1)-(3). The review must take account of any representations made by P, or the other person, at a stage which gave Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs a reasonable opportunity to consider them; and may conclude that the decision is to be upheld, varied or cancelled: s 15F(4), (5). Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must give P, or the other person, notice of the conclusions of the review and their reasoning, within the period of 45 days beginning with the relevant date, or such other period as they and P, or the other person, may agree: s 15F(6). If no notice is given, within the specified period, the decision is taken to have been upheld, and Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must notify P, or the other person, of that deemed conclusion: s 15F(8), (9). The 'relevant date' is the date on which Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs received notification accepting the offer of a review (or, as the case may be, requiring a review), or the date on which it decides to undertake the review (in a case falling within s 15E: s 15F(7)).

1241. Decisions relating to agricultural levy and customs duty which may be reviewed.

Any decision by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹, in relation to any customs duty² or to any agricultural levy³ of the European Community, as to:

- 3255 (1) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy;
- 3256 (2) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged;
- 3257 (3) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability; or
- 3258 (4) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled, may be reviewed⁴. Any decision as to whether or not an amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by the Commissioners of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest⁵, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest, may also be reviewed⁶.

UPDATE

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit;

(h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

UPDATE

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

1243 Decisions relating to alcoholic liquor duties which may be reviewed

TEXT AND NOTES--Also subject to review is any decision by the Commissioners on a claim under the Finance Act 1995 s 4 (see PARA 407) or as to whether or not to remit duty under s 4: Finance Act 1994 Sch 5 para 9ZA (added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 42 para 7).

TEXT AND NOTES 1-32--The decisions which may be so reviewed also include (14) any decision as to whether or not drawback is allowed under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 22 (see PARA 428) or the amount of drawback to be so allowed; (15) any decision by the Commissioners as to whether or not to remit or repay duty under s 46 (see PARA 455) or the amount of duty to be so remitted or repaid; (16) any decision by the Commissioners as to whether or not to remit or repay duty under s 61 (see PARA 476) or the amount of duty to be so remitted or repaid; (17) any decision by the Commissioners as to whether or not to remit or repay duty under s 64 (see PARA 501) or the amount of duty to be so repaid or remitted: Finance Act 1994 Sch 5 para 3(1) (ha), (ka), (ma), (mb) (added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 42 para 2).

TEXT AND NOTES 33, 34--Head (i) also includes a decision as to whether or not a person is to be required to give security for the fulfilment of an obligation or as to the form or amount of, or the conditions of, any such security: Finance Act 1994 Sch 5 para 3(2) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 42 para 3). Also, heads (v) any decision which is made under or for the purposes of any regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 15 (see PARA 419) and is a decision as to whether or not a person is to be required to give security for the fulfilment of an obligation or as to the form or amount of, or the conditions of, any such security; (vi) any decision which is made under or for the purposes of the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 41A (see PARA 445) or s 47 (see PARA 465), or any regulations under s 49 (see PARA 464), and is a decision (a) as to whether or not to register a person or premises under s 41A or 47, (b) as to the conditions subject to which a person is, or premises are, so registered, (c) as to the revocation of such a registration, (d) as to whether or not a person is to be required to give security for the fulfilment of an obligation or as to the form or amount of, or the conditions of, any such security, or (e) as to whether or not to restrict or prohibit the movement of beer from one place to another without payment of duty: Finance Act 1994 Sch 5 para 3(2A), (2B) (added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 42 para 4).

TEXT AND NOTES 35, 36--Reference to Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 55 now to s 54 (see PARA 484) or s 55, and head (ii) now includes a decision as to whether or not a person is to be required to give security for the fulfilment of an obligation or as to the form or amount of, or the conditions of, any such security, or as to the conditions subject to which, or the purposes for which, wine or made-wine may be moved from one place to another without payment of duty: Finance Act 1994 Sch 5 para 3(3) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 42 para 5). Also head (vii) any decision which is made under or for the purposes of the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 62 (see PARAS 504, 505), or any regulations made thereunder, and is a decision (a) as to whether or not to register, or to cancel the registration of, a maker of cider, (b) as to whether or not a person is to be required to give security for the fulfilment of an obligation or as to the form or amount of, or the conditions of, any such security, or (c) as to the conditions subject to which, or the purposes for which, cider may be moved from one place to another without payment of duty: Finance Act 1994 Sch 5 para 3(3A) (added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 42 para 6).

UPDATE

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

UPDATE

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

1245 Decisions under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 which may be reviewed

TEXT AND NOTES 51-53--Head (19) also covers a decision relating to the giving of further security or to the cancellation of any guarantee or other security: Finance Act 1994 Sch 5 para 2(1)(s) (amended by Finance Act 2008 s 126).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/5. ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(2) REVIEWS/(ii) Decisions which may be Reviewed/1246. Decisions under the Community Customs Code which may be reviewed.

1246. Decisions under the Community Customs Code which may be reviewed.

The following decisions made by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ or any officer², so far as they are made for the purposes of the Community Customs Code³ and are decisions the authority for which is not contained in provisions outside that Code and any directly applicable Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code, may be reviewed⁴:

- 3311 (1) any decision in relation to any goods⁵ as to whether or not the entry, unloading or transshipment of the goods, or their release by or to any person or for any purpose, is to be allowed or otherwise permitted⁶;
- 3312 (3) any decision as to whether or not permission for the examination of, or the taking of samples from, any goods presented to the Commissioners is to be granted⁷;
- 3313 (4) any decision as to the route to be used for the movement of goods⁸;
- 3314 (5) any other decision as to whether or not the requirements of any procedure for goods which are to be or have been presented to the Commissioners, or any other formalities in relation to any such goods, have been satisfied or complied with, or are to be waived, or as to the measures to be taken, including any requirements to be imposed, in consequence of the inability or other failure of any person to comply with the required procedure⁹;
- 3315 (6) any decision in relation to any place or area as to whether or not it is to be, or to continue to be, designated or approved for any purpose¹⁰;
- 3316 (7) any decision, in any particular case, as to whether or not the carrying out of any processing or other operations or the use of any procedure is to be, or to continue to be, authorised or approved¹¹;
- 3317 (8) any decision in relation to:
 - 190 94. (a) the establishment or operation of any warehouse or other facility; or
 - 95. (b) the construction of any building,
 - 191
- 3318 as to whether or not its establishment, operation or construction or the person by whom it is to be established, operated or constructed, is to be, or to continue to be, authorised or approved for any purpose¹²;
- 3319 (9) any decision consisting in the imposition of a requirement to supply information or assistance, or to furnish any document or other evidence, to the Commissioners or any officer or of a requirement to be present or represented when anything is done in relation to any goods¹³;
- 3320 (10) any decision to take or retain samples of any goods or as to the examination or analysis to which any goods or samples are to be subjected¹⁴;
- 3321 (11) any decision as to whether or not any person is to bear any of the expenses of the supply of any information by or on behalf of the Commissioners or as to the amount of any such expenses to be borne by any person¹⁵;
- 3322 (12) any decision as to whether or not collection of interest¹⁶ on arrears of customs duty¹⁷ or agricultural levy¹⁸ is to be waived¹⁹;
- 3323 (13) any decision, in relation to a decision mentioned in any of heads (1) to (11) above, as to the conditions²⁰ subject to which the decision so mentioned is made or, as the case may be, the matters to which that decision relates have effect²¹;

3324 (14) any decision as to whether or not any person is to be required to give any security²² for the fulfilment, in whole or in part, of:

192

96. (a) any obligation to pay any customs duty or any agricultural levy of the European Community; or

97. (b) any obligation to comply with a condition of any permission, designation, approval, authorisation or requirement mentioned in any of heads (1) to (12) above or with any provision for the purposes of which any decision falling within any of those heads is made,

3325 or as to the form or amount of, or the conditions of, any such security²³;

3326 (15) any decision as to the time at which or the period within which any obligation to pay any customs duty or agricultural levy of the European Community or to do any other thing required by virtue of the Community Customs Code is to be complied with²⁴;

3327 (16) any decision as to whether or not a decision falling within heads (1) to (14) above is to be varied or revoked, including a decision as to whether or not the time at which any such decision is to take effect is to be deferred²⁵.

The following decisions of the Commissioners, so far as they are made for the purposes of the Community provisions relating to binding tariff information²⁶ or the Community provisions relating to binding origin information²⁷ may also be reviewed²⁸:

3328 (i) any decision as to the tariff classification²⁹ or determination of the origin³⁰ of any goods;

3329 (ii) any decision as to whether or not binding tariff information or binding origin information is to be supplied;

3330 (iii) any decision as to whether or not any binding tariff information or binding origin information is to be annulled, withdrawn or revoked³¹.

The following decisions of the Commissioners, so far as they are made for the purposes of preferential tariff measures³² applicable to the exportation of goods and are not decisions falling within heads (i) to (iii) above may be reviewed³³:

3331 (A) any decision as to the determination of the origin of goods;

3332 (B) any decision as to whether there is sufficient evidence to determine the origin of any goods³⁴.

If it appears to the Commissioners that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of the Community Customs Code, any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code or any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 14 (as amended) otherwise applies, the Commissioners may by regulations provide for s 14 (as amended) to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to the decisions mentioned in s 14(1) (as amended): s 14(6). The power so to make regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament and includes power: (1) to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which these provisions are so applied by any such regulations, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5 (as amended); and (2) to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provision as the Commissioners think fit: s 14(7). The wording of Sch 5 para 1(b) suggests, however, that the provision is directed at the decision to take a sample and what should then be done with it and not at the conclusions which the Commissioners draw from having taken the sample.

UPDATE

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil

Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

UPDATE

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

UPDATE

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or clawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). UPDATE

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

1241-1251 Decisions which may be Reviewed

The following decisions by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may now be reviewed: (1) any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether or not anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored; and (2) any relevant decision which is linked by its subject matter to such a decision under that provision: Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(a), (b) (substituted by SI 2009/56). However, in the case of a relevant decision falling within head (2) above, a person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review the decision under these provisions only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within head (1) to which it is linked: Finance Act 1994 s 14(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

For the purposes of the Finance Act 1994 ss 14-19, a 'relevant decision' is any of the following: (a) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, in relation to any agricultural levy of the European Community, as to (i) whether or not, and at what time, anything is charged in any case with any such duty or levy, (ii) the rate at which any such duty or levy is charged in any case, or the amount charged, (iii) the person liable in any case to pay any amount charged, or the amount of his liability, or (iv) whether or not any person is entitled in any case to relief or to any repayment, remission or drawback of any such duty or levy, or the amount of the relief, repayment, remission or drawback to which any person is entitled; (b) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any duty of excise, or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 12 (see PARAS 1231, 1232); (c) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to assess any person to excise duty under s 12A(2) (see PARAS 1238, 1239), the Customs and Excise

Management Act 1979 s 61 (see PARA 1025), s 94 (see PARAS 706, 707), s 96 (see PARA 708) or s 167 (see PARA 1176), the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 414), s 10 (see PARA 416), s 11 (see PARA 413) or s 36G (see PARA 440), the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979 s 10 (see PARA 534), s 13 (see PARA 537), s 13ZB (see PARA 537), s 13AB (see PARA 539), s 13AD (see PARA 539), s 14 (see PARA 541), s 14F (see PARA 550A), s 23 (see PARA 574) or s 24 (see PARA 575), the Tobacco Products Duty Act 1979 s 8 (see PARA 592); or the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2 (see PARA 1109), or as to the amount of duty to which he is so assessed; (d) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs on a claim under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (see PARA 1125); (e) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any drawback of excise duty by virtue of regulations under the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 2, or as to the amount of drawback to which any person is so entitled; (f) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs as to whether or not any person is entitled to any repayment or credit by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(h) (see PARA 405); (g) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs made by virtue of regulations under the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979 Sch 2A para 4(2)(i) that some or all of a payment made, or security provided, is forfeit, or the amount which is so forfeit; (h) so much of any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that a person is liable to any penalty under any of the provisions of the 1994 Act Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19), or as to the amount of his liability, as is contained in any assessment under s 13 (see PARA 1224); (i) any decision as to whether or not any amount due in respect of customs duty or agricultural levy, or any repayment by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs of an amount paid by way of customs duty or agricultural levy, is to carry interest, or as to the rate at which, or period for which, any such amount is to carry interest; (j) any decision by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs which is of a description specified in Sch 5 (see PARA 1243), except for any decision under the Customs and Excise Management Act s 152(b) (see PARA 1188) as to whether anything forfeited or seized under the customs and excise Acts is to be restored to any person or as to the conditions subject to which any such thing is so restored: Finance Act 1994 s 13A (added by SI 2009/56).

If it appears to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs that there is any description of decisions falling to be made for the purposes of any provision of (A) the Customs Code (see PARA 20 NOTE 1); (B) any Community legislation made for the purpose of implementing that Code; or (C) any enactment or subordinate legislation so made, which are not decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 ss 13A-16 otherwise apply, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provided for those provisions to apply to decisions of that description as they apply to relevant decisions or the decisions referred to in s 14: s 16(10) (s 16(11), (12) added by SI 2009/56). The power to make such regulations is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and includes power to provide, in relation to any description of decisions to which the Finance Act 1994 s 16 is applied thereby, that s 16(4) is to have effect as if those decisions were of a description specified in Sch 5, and to make such other incidental, supplemental, consequential and transitional provisions as Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs thinks fit: s 16(11)).

(iii) Procedure on a Review

1252. Notice to review.

The Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ are not required² to review any decision unless the notice requiring the review is given before the end of the period of 45 days beginning with the day on which written notification of the decision, or of the assessment containing the decision, was first given to the person requiring the review³. For these purposes, it is the duty of the Commissioners to give written notification of any decision⁴ to any person who:

- 3358 (1) requests such a notification;
- 3359 (2) has not previously been given written notification of that decision; and
- 3360 (3) if given such a notification, will be entitled to require a review of the decision⁵.

1 As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 Ie under the Finance Act 1994 s 14 (as amended): see PARA 1240 et seq ante.

3 Ibid s 14(3). If, after receipt of a decision, a person wishes to have longer to consider whether or not to request a review, he should contact the office which notified him of the decision, and should do so in good time before the expiry of the 45-day period; late applications will be considered if there are good reasons why the deadline has been missed, eg because of ill-health or bereavement: see HM Revenue and Customs Notice 990 Excise and Customs Appeals (March 2003) PARA 2.2. The review stage, although mandatory, is not intended to be complex or to require professional representation; nevertheless, if a person chooses to employ professional advisers, he must bear in mind that he will be responsible for their charges: see PARA 2.6.

4 Ie any decision to which the Finance Act 1994 s 14 (as amended) applies.

UPDATE

1252 Notice to review

TEXT AND NOTES--If a person may, under the Finance Act 1994 s 14(2) (see PARA 1240), require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review a decision, and gives a notice requiring such a review after the end of the 45-day period mentioned in s 14(3), Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs must carry out a review of the decision if either (1) it is satisfied that there was a reasonable excuse for not giving notice requiring a review before the end of that 45-day period and that the late notice was given without unreasonable delay after that excuse ceased; or (2) where head (1) above does not apply, but the appeal tribunal (see PARA 1255), on application made by the person, orders Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to carry out a review: s 14A(1), (4) (s 14A added by SI 2009/56). A person may require Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs to review a decision within the Finance Act 1994 s 14(1)(b) only if Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs is also required to review the decision within s 14(1)(a) to which it is linked: s 14A(5). Section 14(5) (see PARA 1254) applies to notices given under s 14A as it applies to notices given under s 14: s 14A(6).

1253. Decision on review.

Where the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs are required to review any decision¹, it is their duty to do so and they may, on that review, either confirm the decision or withdraw or vary the decision and take such further steps, if any, in consequence of the withdrawal or variation as they may consider appropriate².

Where it is the duty of the Commissioners, in pursuance of a requirement made by any person³, to review any decision and they do not, within the period of 45 days beginning with the day on which the review was required, give notice to that person of their determination on the review, they are to be assumed⁴ to have confirmed the decision⁵.

The Commissioners do not, by virtue of any requirement⁶ to review a decision, have any power⁷ to mitigate the amount of any penalty imposed⁸ by them⁹.

1254. Request for second or subsequent review.

A person is entitled to give a notice¹ requiring a decision to be reviewed for a second or subsequent time only if:

- 3361 (1) the grounds on which he requires the further review are that the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs² did not, on any previous review, have the opportunity to consider certain facts or other matters; and
- 3362 (2) he does not, on the further review, require the Commissioners to consider any facts or matters which were considered on a previous review, except in so far as they are relevant to any issue to which the facts or matters not previously considered relate³.

1255. Establishment of VAT and duties tribunals.

For the purpose of hearing appeals in respect of a range of matters relating to customs¹ and excise duties², VAT and duties tribunals³ have been established for England and Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland⁴. The tribunals are supervised by the Council on Tribunals⁵.

The 'appropriate tribunal centre'⁶ for any appeal means the tribunal centre for the time being appointed by the president⁷ for the area in which is situated the address to which the disputed decision⁸ was sent by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs or the tribunal centre to which the appeal against the disputed decision may be transferred⁹.

1 As to customs duties see PARA 1 et seq ante.

2 As to excise duties see PARA 389 et seq ante.

3 The tribunals formerly known as VAT tribunals were renamed VAT and duties tribunals by the Finance Act 1994 s 7(1), (2) (repealed by the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 100(2), Sch 15); and this change is preserved by the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 82(1), Sch 12 para 1(2). Any reference in that Act or subordinate legislation to a VAT tribunal is to be construed as a reference a VAT and duties tribunal: Sch 12 para 1(4). In the Finance Act 1994 Pt I Ch II (ss 7-19) (as amended), references to an appeal tribunal are references to a VAT and duties tribunal: ss 7(3), 17(2). As to VAT and duties tribunals see also VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 343 et seq.

Officers and staff may be appointed under the Courts Act 1971 s 27 (as substituted) (see COURTS vol 10 (Reissue) PARA 514) for carrying out the administrative work of the tribunals in England and Wales: Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 82(3). As to the power to contract out of the administrative work of any tribunal constituted in accordance with the Value Added Tax Act 1994 Sch 12 see the Contracting Out (Administrative and Other Court Staff) Order 2001, SI 2001/3698, art 3(b).

4 As to the number of VAT and duties tribunals, and the times and places at which they sit see the Value Added Tax Act 1994 Sch 12 para 4. Information about the tribunals is contained in VAT and Duties Tribunals: Excise Duties: Appeals and Applications to the Tribunals; Explanatory Leaflet (January 1995) and VAT and Duties Tribunals: Customs Duties: Appeals and Applications to the Tribunals; Explanatory Leaflet (January 1995). See also HM Revenue and Customs Notice 990 Excise and Customs Appeals (March 2003).

5 See under the Tribunals and Inquiries Act 1992 s 1, Sch 1 para 44 (amended by the Finance Act 1994 s 7(6)). As to the Council on Tribunals generally see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARAS 55-57.

6 For these purposes, 'tribunal centre' means an administrative office of the VAT and duties tribunals: Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 2 (amended by SI 1994/2617).

7 As to the president see PARA 1256 post.

8 For these purposes, 'disputed decision' means the decision of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs against which an appellant or intending appellant appeals or desires to appeal to a tribunal: Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 2. As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante. 'Appellant' means a person who brings an appeal under the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 83 (as amended) (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 346) or under the Finance Act 1994 s 16 (as amended) (see PARA 1258 et seq post) or s 60 (insurance premium tax: see INSURANCE vol 25 (2003 Reissue) PARA 850), the Finance Act 1996 s 55 (landfill tax: see LANDFILL TAX vol 61 (2010) PARA 1005), the Finance Act 2000 s 30, Sch 6 para 122 (climate change levy: see FUEL AND ENERGY vol 19(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 702), the Finance Act 2001 s 41 (aggregates levy: see PARA 850 ante), the Finance Act 2003 s 36 (penalties on importation and exportation: see PARA 1214 ante), or the Export (Penalty) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/3102, reg 12 (see PARA 1217 ante): Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 2 (amended by SI 1994/2617; SI 1997/255; SI 2001/3073; SI 2002/2851; SI 2003/2757; SI 2004/1032).

1257. Composition and membership of tribunals; registrar.

A VAT and duties tribunal consists of a chairman¹ sitting with two other members or with one other member or alone². If the tribunal does not consist of the chairman sitting alone, its decisions may be taken by a majority of votes and the chairman, if sitting with one other member, has the casting vote³. For each sitting of a tribunal the chairman is either the president⁴ or, if so authorised by the president, a member of the appropriate panel of chairmen; and any other member of the tribunal must be a person selected from the appropriate panel of other members⁵, the selection being made either by the president or by a member of the panel of chairmen authorised by the president to make it⁶.

All or any of the following powers of a tribunal or chairman may be exercised by the registrar⁷ of the VAT and duties tribunals:

- 3363 (1) power to give or make any direction by consent of the parties to the appeal or application;
- 3364 (2) power to give or make any direction on the application of one party which is not opposed by the other party to the application;
- 3365 (3) power to issue a witness summons;
- 3366 (4) power to postpone any hearing; and
- 3367 (5) power to extend the time for the service of any notice of appeal, notice of application or other document at the appropriate tribunal centre⁸ for a period not exceeding one month without prior notice or reference to any party or other person and without a hearing⁹.

The registrar has power to sign a direction recording the outcome of an appeal and any award or direction given or made by the tribunal during or at the conclusion of the hearing of an appeal¹⁰ and to sign any document recording any direction given or made by him under the above provisions¹¹.

1 For these purposes, 'chairman' includes the president (see note 4 infra) and any vice-president: Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 2 (amended by SI 1997/255). As to the panel of chairmen see the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 82(1), Sch 12 para 7; and VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 345.

6 Ibid Sch 12 para 6.

7 For these purposes, 'the registrar' means the registrar of the VAT and duties tribunals, or any member of the administrative staff of the VAT and duties tribunals authorised by the president to perform for the time being all or any of the duties of a registrar under the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590 (as amended): r 2 (amended by SI 1994/2617).

(ii) Appeals to VAT and Duties Tribunals

1258. Decisions against which an appeal lies.

An appeal lies to a VAT and duties tribunal¹ with respect to any of the following decisions, that is to say:

- 3368 (1) any decision by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs on a review², including³ a deemed confirmation⁴; and
- 3369 (2) any decision by the Commissioners on such review of a decision⁵ as the Commissioners have agreed to undertake in consequence of a request made after the end of the period⁶ for requesting a review⁷.

An appeal may be made only by the person who requested the review⁸.

1 As to the establishment and composition of VAT and duties tribunals see PARAS 1255-1257 ante.

2 Ie under the Finance Act 1994 s 15: see PARA 1253 ante. As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante. It is only if there has been a review that an appeal may be brought; and it is only the decision subject to the review which may be challenged: Shaneel Enterprises Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] V & DR 23 at 35; Amand v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) Customs Decision 17 (unreported); Falcon Foods Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) Customs Decision 60 (unreported); Jeff Dee Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) Excise Decision 59 (unreported) (no right of appeal if decision withdrawn on review).

3 Ie including a deemed confirmation under the Finance Act 1994 s 15(2): see PARA 1253 ante.

4 Ibid s 16(1)(a). An appeal which relates to air passenger duty may not be entertained under s 16 (as amended) at any time if any return which the appellant is required by regulations made by virtue of s 38 (see PARA 817 ante) to make has not been made: s 40, Sch 6 para 6.

Section 16 (as amended) has effect in relation to any decision which: (1) is contained in an assessment under the Finance Act 1997 s 50, Sch 5 para 14, 15 or 17 (see PARAS 1233, 1234, 1236 ante); (2) is a decision about whether any amount is due to the Commissioners or about how much is due; and (3) is made in a case in which the relevant repayment provision is the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979 s 137A (as added and amended) (see PARA 1125 ante) or the Finance Act 2001 Sch 3 Pt I paras 1-3 (see PARA 1126 ante) or the relevant interest provision is Sch 3 Pt II paras 4-13 (see PARA 1127 ante), as if that decision were such a decision as is mentioned in s 14(1)(b) (see PARA 1247 head (1) ante): Finance Act 1997 Sch 5 para 19(1) (amended by the Finance Act 2001 s 15, Sch 3 para 19(1), (4)).

The tribunal has no general supervisory jurisdiction over the administrative decisions of the Commissioners and may interfere with a decision only in the manner prescribed: see PARA 1259 post. See also Berry v Customs and Excise Comrs, Shannon v Customs and Excise Comrs [1995] V & DR 204 (no jurisdiction to review the Commissioners' decision to assess); Murray Vernon Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1997] V & DR 340 (no residual jurisdiction to award interest); Lacara Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) Excise Decision 66 (unreported); Smith v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) Excise Decision 79 (unreported). This has also been recognised as being the position by the courts in VAT cases: see Dollar Land (Feltham) Ltd, Dollar Land (Cumberland) Ltd, Dollar Land (Calthorpe House) Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1995] STC 414; John Dee Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1995] STC 941, CA; Georgiou (t/a Marios Chipperry) v Customs and Excise Comrs [1995] STC 1101 (affd [1996] STC 463, CA); Customs and Excise Comrs v Arnold [1996] STC 1271 (no power to consider the applicability of an extra-statutory concession on an appeal to recover input tax, but different considerations may apply to other appeals). However, these cases must be read in the light of the more explicit provisions in PARA 1259 post.

Where a decision cannot be challenged by appeal, it may be possible to challenge its validity in judicial review proceedings: see PARA 1287 post. An appellant's right to enforce his rights under Community law may on occasions extend the tribunal's jurisdiction: see eg Hodgson v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] V & DR 200; Marks & Spencer plc v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 15302, [1998] STI 594. In Shaneel Enterprises Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] V & DR 23, the tribunal considered that the fact that ancillary matters may be challenged only if unreasonable was probably consistent with European law and in particular EC Council Regulation 2913/92 (OJ L302, 19.10.92, p 1) (the 'Community Customs Code') art 243 (see PARA 336 ante); but the question was left open.

1258 Decisions against which an appeal lies

TEXT AND NOTES--Replaced. An appeal against a decision on a review under the Finance Act 1994 s 15 (not including a deemed confirmation under s 15(2)) may be made to an appeal tribunal (see PARA 1255) within the period of 30 days beginning with the date of the document notifying the decision to which the appeal relates; and an appeal against such a deemed confirmation may be made to an appeal tribunal within the period of 75 days beginning with the date on which the review was required: s 16(1), (1A) (s 16(1)-(1G) substituted by SI 2009/56). An appeal against a relevant decision (other than any relevant decision falling within the Finance Act 1994 s 16(1) or (1A) may be made to an appeal tribunal within the period of 30 days beginning with (1) in a case where P is the appellant, the date of the document notifying P of the decision to which the appeal relates; (2) in a case where a person other than P is the appellant, the date that person becomes aware of the decision; or (3) if later, the end of the relevant period (within the meaning of s 15D) (see PARA 1240): s 16(1B). However, in a case where HM Revenue and Customs is required to undertake a review under s 15C (see PARA 1240), an appeal may not be made until the date of the document notifying the conclusion of the review (the 'conclusion date'), but must be made within the period of 30 days beginning with that date: s 16(1C), (1G). In a case where HM Revenue and Customs is requested to undertake a review in accordance with s 15E (see PARA 1240), an appeal may not be made unless it has decided whether or not to undertake a review (and, if it decided to do so, until the conclusion date); and must be made within the period of 30 days beginning with the date on which it decides not to undertake a review (or, as the case may be, from the conclusion date): s 16(1D). In a case where s 15F(8) (see PARA 1240) applies, a notice of appeal may be made at any time from the end of the period specified in s 15F(6) to the date 30 days after the conclusion date: s 16(1E). In each case, the appeal tribunal may extend the time limit: s 16(1F). As to P see PARA 1240e.

An appeal (other than under s 16(1), (1A)) may also be made by (a) a person whose liability to pay any duty or penalty is determined by, results from, or is or will be affected, by the relevant decision; (b) a person in relation to whom, or on whose application, the relevant decision has been made; or (c) a person on whom the conditions, limitations, restrictions, prohibitions or other requirements to which the relevant decision relates are, or are to be, imposed or applied: s 16(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

NOTE 4--Also applied by the Finance Act 1997 Sch 5 para 19(1) is the Finance Act 1994 s 13A (see PARA 1241-1251). The reference to s 14(1)(b) is now to s 13A(2)(b): Finance Act 1997 Sch 5 para 19(1) (amended by SI 2009/56).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/5. ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(3) APPEALS/(ii) Appeals to VAT and Duties Tribunals/1259. Powers exercisable by tribunal on an appeal.

1259. Powers exercisable by tribunal on an appeal.

In relation to any decision as to an ancillary matter¹, or any decision on the review of such a decision, the powers of a VAT and duties tribunal on an appeal² are confined to a power, where the tribunal is satisfied that the decision could not reasonably have been arrived at, to do one or more of the following, that is to say:

- 3370 (1) to direct that the decision, so far as it remains in force, is to cease to have effect from such time as the tribunal may direct;
- 3371 (2) to require the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs to conduct, in accordance with the directions of the tribunal, a further review of the original decision; and
- 3372 (3) in the case of a decision which has already been acted on or taken effect and which cannot be remedied by a further review, to declare the decision to have been unreasonable and to give directions to the Commissioners as to the steps to be taken for securing that repetitions of the unreasonableness do not occur when comparable circumstances arise in future³.

In relation to other decisions, the power of a tribunal on an appeal also includes power to quash or vary any decision and power to substitute its own decision for any decision quashed on appeal⁴.

An appeal tribunal does not⁵ have any power⁶ to mitigate the amount of any penalty imposed⁷ by the Commissioners⁸; nor is anything in the above provisions to be taken to confer on a tribunal any power to vary the amount of interest specified in an assessment relating to air passenger duty⁹, except in so far as it is necessary to reduce it¹⁰ to the appropriate amount¹¹.

1 For these purposes, references to a decision as to an ancillary matter are references to any decision of a description specified in the Finance Act 1994 s 14, Sch 5 (as amended) (see PARA 1242 et seq ante) which is not comprised in a decision falling within s 14(1)(a)-(c) (as amended) (see PARAS 1241, 1244, 1247 ante): s 16(8) (amended by the Finance Act 1995 s 16(3), (4)). However, references to a decision as to an ancillary matter do not include a reference to a decision of a description specified in the Finance Act 1994 Sch 5 para 3(4) (as added) (see PARA 1243 ante), Sch 5 para 4(3) (as added) (see PARA 1248 ante), Sch 5 para 9(e) (as added) (see PARA 1242 ante), or Sch 5 para 9A (as added) (see PARA 1242 ante): s 16(9) (amended by the Finance Act 2001 s 15, Sch 3 para 16).

3 Ibid s 16(4). As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante. Section 16(4) has effect as if: (1) the decisions in the Customs Reviews and Appeals (Tariff and Origin) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/534, reg 3(1)(b), (c) (see PARA 1246 heads (i), (ii) ante) were of a description specified in the Finance Act 1994 s 14, Sch 5 para 1 (see PARA 1246 ante) (Customs Reviews and Appeals (Tariff and Origin) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/534, art 4); and (2) the decision in reg 5(1)(b) (see PARA 1246 head (B) ante) were of a description specified in the Finance Act 1994 Sch 5 para 1 (see PARA 1246 ante) (Customs Reviews and Appeals (Tariff and Origin) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/534, art 6).

In Bowd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1995] V & DR 212, the tribunal considered that a decision could not be reasonably arrived at if it was open to challenge on any of the grounds outlined in Associated Provincial Picture Houses Ltd v Wednesbury Corp [1948] 1 KB 223, [1947] 2 All ER 680, CA; Customs and Excise Comrs v JH Corbitt (Numismatists) Ltd [1981] AC 22, [1980] 2 All ER 72, HL; and John Dee Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1995] STC 941, CA. In a footnote to its interim decision in Hodgson v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] V & DR 200 at 211, the tribunal considered that it had no jurisdiction to quash a decision on the grounds of perversity. Since this is merely another way of stating that the decision is one which 'could not reasonably have been arrived at', it is considered that the tribunal may quash a decision on this basis. The decision in Bowd v Customs and Excise Comrs supra was followed in Shaneel Enterprises Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] V & DR 23 at 47; and the decision in Customs and Excise Comrs v JH Corbitt (Numismatists) Ltd supra was followed in Chapman v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) Excise Decision 9 (unreported); Revilo Shipping Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1996) Customs Decision 8 (unreported); Amand v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) Customs Decision 42 (unreported); Antichi v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) Customs Decision 55 (unreported). In Shaneel Enterprises Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs supra, the tribunal considered that the fact that ancillary matters may be challenged only if unreasonable was probably consistent with European law and in particular EC Council Regulation 2913/92 (OJ L302, 19.10.92, p 1) (the 'Community Customs Code') art 243 (see PARA 336 ante); but the question was left open. 1260. Preconditions to the entertainment of an appeal.

An appeal which relates to, or to any decision on a review of, any specified decision made by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹, other than an appeal arising out of an assessment under certain provisions of the Alcoholic Liquor Duties Act 1979², may not be entertained if any amount is outstanding from the appellant in respect of any liability of the appellant to pay any amount of relevant duty³ to the Commissioners, including an amount of any such duty which would be so outstanding if the appeal had already been decided in favour of the Commissioners, unless:

- 3373 (1) the Commissioners have, on the application of the appellant, issued a certificate stating either:
- 194
98. (a) that such security as appears to them to be adequate has been given to them for the payment of that amount; or
99. (b) that, on the grounds of the hardship that would otherwise be suffered by the appellant, they either do not require the giving of security for the payment of that amount or have accepted such lesser security as they consider appropriate; or
- 195
- 3374 (2) the tribunal to which the appeal is made decides that the Commissioners should not have refused to issue a certificate under head (1) above and is satisfied that such security, if any, as it would have been reasonable for the Commissioners to accept in the circumstances has been given to the Commissioners⁴.

UPDATE

1260 Preconditions to the entertainment of an appeal

TEXT AND NOTES--Heads (1) and (2) now apply to an appeal which relates to a relevant decision falling within any of the Finance Act 1994 s 13A(2)(a)-(h) (see PARA 1241-1251), or which relates to a decision on a review of any such relevant decision and the amount of relevant duty which HM Revenue and Customs has determined to be payable in relation to that decision has not been paid or deposited with it: s 16(3) (amended by SI 2009/56). The Value Added Tax Act 1994 ss 85, 85B (see VALUE ADDED TAX) have effect as if the references to s 83 included a reference to the Finance Act 1994 s 16; and the references to value added tax included references to any relevant duty: s 16(3B) (added by SI 2009/56).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/5. ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(3) APPEALS/(ii) Appeals to VAT and Duties Tribunals/1261. Rules of procedure before tribunal.

1261. Rules of procedure before tribunal.

Rules¹ may be made with respect to the procedure to be followed on appeals to, and in other proceedings before, VAT and duties tribunals²; and such rules may include provisions:

- 3375 (1) for limiting the time within which appeals may be brought³;
- 3376 (2) for enabling hearings to be held in private in such circumstances as may be determined by or under the rules⁴;
- 3377 (3) for parties to proceedings to be represented by such persons as may be determined by or under the rules⁵;
- 3378 (4) for requiring persons to attend to give evidence⁶;
- 3379 (5) for discovery and for requiring persons to produce documents⁷;
- 3380 (6) for the payment of expenses and allowances to persons attending as witnesses or producing documents⁸;
- 3381 (7) for the award and recovery of costs⁹; and
- 3382 (8) for authorising the administration of oaths to witnesses¹⁰.

Without prejudice to the generality of heads (1) to (8) above, the power so to make rules of procedure may provide for costs awarded against an appellant on an appeal to be recoverable, and for any directly applicable Community legislation relating to any relevant duty¹¹ or any enactment so relating to apply, as if the amount awarded were an amount of duty which the appellant is required to pay¹².

A person who fails to comply with a direction or summons issued by a tribunal¹³ is liable to a penalty not exceeding £1,000¹⁴. This penalty may be awarded summarily by a tribunal, notwithstanding that no proceedings for its recovery have been commenced¹⁵. An appeal from the award of a penalty so awarded lies to the High Court¹⁶; and on such an appeal the court may either confirm or reverse the decision of the tribunal or reduce or increase the sum awarded¹⁷. A penalty so awarded is recoverable as if it were VAT due from the person liable to the penalty¹⁸.

A tribunal may, however, of its own motion or on the application of any party to an appeal or application, waive any breach or non-observance of the procedural rules or of any decision or direction of a tribunal on such terms as it may think just¹⁹.

Where the parties to an appeal or application have agreed upon the terms of any decision or direction to be given by a tribunal, a tribunal may give a decision or make a direction in accordance with those terms without a hearing²⁰.

1 As to the rules that have been made see the Value Added Tax Tribunals (Amendment) Rules 1994, SI 1994/2617, which came into force on 1 November 1994 (r 1); the Value Added Tax Tribunals (Amendment) Rules 1997, SI 1997/255, which came into force on 1 March 1997 (r 1); and the Value Added Tax Tribunals (Amendment) Rules 2001, SI 2001/3073, which came into force on 1 October 2001 (r 1). By virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b), the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590 (amended by SI 1986/2290; SI 1991/186) have effect as if so made. See also VAT and Duties Tribunals: Excise Duties: Appeals and Applications to the Tribunals; Explanatory Leaflet (January 1995) and VAT and Duties Tribunals: Customs Duties: Appeals and Applications to the Tribunals; Explanatory Leaflet (January 1995), although these have no binding force; and Practice Notes [1973] VATTR 215 (procedure on appeals and applications to tribunals, together with certain simple precedents).

Forms have been produced, which may be used to make an appeal (Trib 1), to comply with the requirement to serve a list of documents (Trib 2), to make a witness statement (Trib 3), or to make an application (Trib 5). It is not necessary to use the forms, provided that the appellant or other party complies with the requirements of the Value Added Tax Tribunal Rules 1986, SI 1986/590 (as amended). 1262. Service of notice of appeal.

An appeal to a VAT and duties tribunal¹ is to be brought by a notice of appeal served² at the appropriate tribunal centre³. The notice of appeal must be signed by or on behalf of the appellant⁴ and must:

- 3383 (1) state the appellant's name and address;
- 3384 (2) state the date, if any, with effect from which the appellant was registered for tax and the nature of his business;
- 3385 (3) state the address of the office of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs from which the disputed decision was sent⁵;
- 3386 (4) state the date of the document containing that decision and the address to which it was sent;
- 3387 (5) have attached to it a copy of the document containing the disputed decision; and
- 3388 (6) set out, or have attached to it a document containing, the grounds of appeal, including, in the case of a reasonable excuse appeal⁶, particulars of the excuse relied on⁷.

The notice of appeal must also have attached to it a copy of any letter from the Commissioners extending the appellant's time to appeal against the disputed decision and a copy of any further letter from the Commissioners notifying him of a date from which his time to appeal against the disputed decision is to run⁸.

Subject to the tribunal's power⁹, and to that of the Commissioners¹⁰, to extend the time within which the appellant must serve his notice of appeal, that notice must be served at the appropriate tribunal centre before the expiration of 30 days after the date of the document containing the disputed decision of the Commissioners¹¹.

A proper officer¹² must send an acknowledgment of the service of the notice of appeal at the appropriate tribunal centre to the appellant and a copy of the notice of appeal and any accompanying documents to the Commissioners; and the acknowledgment and the copy of the notice of appeal must state the date of service and the date of notification of the notice of appeal¹³.

Except in the case of a decision or direction of a tribunal, for the purposes of determining the issues in dispute or of correcting an error or defect in an appeal or application or intended appeal, a tribunal may at any time, either of its own motion or on the application of any party to the appeal or application or any other person interested, direct that a notice of appeal, notice of application, statement of case, reply, particulars or other document in the proceedings be amended in such manner as may be specified in that direction on such terms as it may think fit¹⁴.

² A notice of appeal does not have to be made on any particular form, but form Trib 1 may be used: see PARA 1261 note 1 ante. As to service see PARA 1275 post.

3 Value Added Tax Tribunal Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 3(1). For the meaning of 'appropriate tribunal centre' see PARA 1255 ante. No appeal lies against a decision sent to an address at a place for which no tribunal centre has been appointed: Interbet Trading Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1977] VATTR 63; Interbet Trading Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (No 2) [1978] VATTR 235.

A tribunal may, on the application of a party to an appeal, direct that the appeal and all proceedings in it be transferred to the tribunal centre specified in that direction, whereupon, for the purposes of the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590 (as amended), the tribunal centre specified in the direction becomes the appropriate tribunal centre for the appeal and all proceedings in it, without prejudice to the power of a tribunal to give a further direction relating to the appeal under this provision: r 15. As to the parties to an appeal see PARA 1269 post.

4 For the meaning of 'appellant' see PARA 1255 note 8 ante.

6 For these purposes, 'reasonable excuse appeal' means an appeal which, according to the notice of appeal or other document received from the appellant at the appropriate tribunal centre, is against a decision of the Commissioners with respect to any liability to or the amount of any penalty or surcharge on grounds confined to those set out in the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 59(7), s 62(3), s 63(10), s 64(5), s 65(3), s 66(7), s 67(8), s 68(4) or s 69(8) (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARAS 323 et seq, 332), or the Finance Act 1994 s 10(1) (see PARA 1218 ante) or s 11(4) (see PARA 1223 ante) or s 64, Sch 7 para 14(3), 15(5), 16(4), 17(3), 18(2) or 19(4) (insurance premium tax: see INSURANCE vol 25 (2003 Reissue) PARA 854) or the Finance Act 2000 s 30, Sch 6 para 41(4), 55(5), 90(4), 100(4), 101(4), 114(4), 124(4), 125(7), or 127(5) (climate change levy: see FUEL AND ENERGY vol 19(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 673 et seq), or the Finance Act 2001 s 25(4), 33(4), Sch 4 para 1(5), Sch 5 para 15(4), Sch 6 para 9(4), or Sch 7 para 1(4)(a), (b), 2(7) or 4(5)(a), (b) (aggregates levy: see PARA 843 ante), or the Finance Act 2003 s 27 (see PARA 1211 ante), or the Export (Penalty) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/3102, reg 4 (see PARA 1217 ante): Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 2 (amended by SI 1994/2617; SI 1997/255; SI 2001/3073; SI 2002/2851; SI 2003/2757; SI 2004/1032).

Where a direction is deemed to have been confirmed by the Commissioners under the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 15(2) (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 113), the Finance Act 1996 s 54(8) (repealed), the Finance Act 2000 Sch 6 para 121(8) (see FUEL AND ENERGY vol 19(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 701), the Finance Act 2001 s 40(8) (see PARA 850 ante), the Finance Act 2003 s 35(4) or the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 11(4), the notice of appeal must be served at the appropriate tribunal centre before the expiration of 75 days after the day on which the review was required: r 4(3) (added by SI 2002/2851; and amended by SI 2003/3757; SI 2004/1032).

10 If, during the period of 30 days after the date of the document containing the disputed decision, the Commissioners notify the appellant by letter that his time to appeal against the disputed decision is extended until the expiration of 21 days after a date set out in that letter, or to be set out in a further letter to him, a notice of appeal against that disputed decision may be served at the appropriate tribunal centre at any time before the expiration of the period of 21 days set out in the letter or further letter: Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 4(2). The reviewing officer should be contacted in good time: see HM Revenue and Customs Notice 990 Excise and Customs Appeals (March 2003) PARA 2.2.

1263. Notice that an appeal does not lie or cannot be entertained.

Where the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs contend that an appeal does not lie to, or cannot be entertained by, a VAT and duties tribunal¹, they must serve a notice to that effect at the appropriate tribunal centre² containing the grounds for that contention and applying for the appeal to be struck out or dismissed as soon as practicable after the receipt by them of the notice of appeal³. Any such notice served by the Commissioners must be accompanied by a copy of the disputed decision⁴, unless a copy of it has been served previously at the appropriate tribunal centre by either party to the appeal⁵. In a reasonable excuse⁶ or mitigation⁷ appeal the hearing of any such application made by the Commissioners may immediately precede the hearing of the substantive appeal⁸. A proper officer⁹ must send a copy of any notice or certificate served and of any accompanying document or documents to the appellant¹⁰.

7 For these purposes, 'mitigation appeal' means an appeal which, according to the notice of appeal or other document received from the appellant at the appropriate tribunal centre, is against a decision of the Commissioners with respect to the amount of a penalty on grounds confined to those set out in the Finance Act 1985 s 13(4) (repealed) (penalties imposed before 27 July 1993), or with respect to the amount of a penalty or, as the case may be, interest solely under the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 70 (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 329), the Finance Act 1994 s 8(4) (see PARA 1208 ante) or s 64, Sch 7 para 13 (insurance premium tax: see INSURANCE vol 25 (2003 Reissue) PARA 854), the Finance Act 1996 s 60, Sch 5 para 25 or 28 (landfill tax: see LANDFILL TAX vol 61 (2010) PARAS 996, 999), the Finance Act 2000 s 30, Sch 6 para 104 (climate change levy: see FUEL AND ENERGY vol 19(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 692), the Finance Act 2001 s 46(1) (aggregates levy: see PARA 842 ante), the Finance Act 2003 s 29 (see PARA 1212 ante), or the Export (Penalty) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/3102, reg 5 (see PARA 1217 ante): Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 2 (amended by SI 1994/2617; SI 1997/255; SI 2001/3073; SI 2002/2851; SI 2003/2757; SI 2004/1032). 1264. Procedure after service of notice of appeal.

Unless a VAT and duties tribunal¹ otherwise directs, in appeals other than reasonable excuse, mitigation and evasion penalty² appeals the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³ must, within the period of 30 days after:

- 3389 (1) the date of notification⁴ of the notice of appeal; or
- 3390 (2) the date of notification of the notice of withdrawal of an application to have the appeal struck out or dismissed⁵; or
- 3391 (3) the date on which a direction in the appeal is released dismissing any such application⁶, whichever is the latest, serve at the appropriate tribunal centre⁷ a statement of case in the appeal setting out the matters and facts on which they rely to support the disputed decision⁸ and the statutory provision under which the tax or penalty is assessed or demanded or the decision is made⁹.

Where, on an appeal against a decision with respect to an assessment or the amount of an assessment, the Commissioners wish to contend that an amount specified in the assessment is less than it ought to have been, they must so state in their statement of case in that appeal, indicating the amount of the alleged deficiency and the manner in which it has been calculated¹⁰.

Any statement of case served by the Commissioners¹¹ must be accompanied by a copy of the disputed decision unless a copy of that decision has been served previously at the appropriate tribunal centre by either party to the appeal¹². In a reasonable excuse or mitigation appeal, the Commissioners must serve a copy of the disputed decision at the appropriate tribunal centre as soon as practicable after they have received the copy of the notice of appeal unless a copy of that decision has been so served previously by the appellant¹³. A proper officer¹⁴ must send:

- 3392 (a) an acknowledgment of the service at the appropriate tribunal centre of any statement of case, defence, reply or particulars in any appeal to the party serving it or them; and
- 3393 (b) a copy of that document or particulars and any other accompanying document to the other party to the appeal¹⁵.

A tribunal may at any time direct a party to an appeal to serve further particulars of his case at the appropriate tribunal centre for the appeal within such period from the date of that direction, not being less than 14 days, as it may specify in the direction¹⁶. For the purposes of determining the issues in dispute or correcting any errors, the tribunal may, either of its own motion or upon an application, permit a statement of case or any particulars or a reply to be amended upon such terms as it thinks fit¹⁷. The tribunal may also extend the time within which directions have to be complied with¹⁸.

1265. Statement of case, defence and reply in an evasion penalty appeal.

Unless a VAT and duties tribunal¹ otherwise directs, in an evasion penalty appeal²:

- 3394 (1) the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs must, within 42 days of the date of notification of the notice of appeal³ or the withdrawal or dismissal of any application made by them⁴, whichever is the later, serve at the appropriate tribunal centre⁵ a statement of case in the appeal setting out the matters and facts on which they rely for the making of the penalty assessment or the ascertainment of the penalty and (where it, too, is disputed) the making of the assessment for, or the ascertainment of, the tax alleged to have been evaded by the same conduct⁶;
- 3395 (2) the statement of case served in accordance with head (1) above must include full particulars of the alleged dishonesty and must state the statutory provision under which the penalty or tax is assessed or the decision is made⁷;
- 3396 (3) the appellant⁸ must, within 42 days of the date of notification of that statement of case, serve at the appropriate tribunal centre a defence to it setting out the matters and facts on which he relies for his defence⁹; and
- 3397 (4) the Commissioners may, within 21 days of the date of notification of the defence, serve at the appropriate tribunal centre a reply to the defence and must do so if it is necessary thereby to set out specifically any matter or any fact showing illegality, or which:
- 196
100. (a) they allege makes the defence not maintainable; or
101. (b) if not specifically set out, might take the appellant by surprise; or
102. (c) raises any issue of fact not arising out of the statement of case¹⁰.
- 197

At any hearing of an evasion penalty appeal the Commissioners are not required to prove, or to bring evidence relating to, any matter or fact which is admitted by the appellant in his defence¹¹. Every statement of case, defence and reply must be divided into paragraphs numbered consecutively, each allegation being, so far as is convenient, contained in a separate paragraph¹². Each such document must contain in summary form a brief statement of the matters and facts on which the party relies but not the evidence by which those facts are to be proved¹³. A party may raise a point of law in such documents¹⁴. The tribunal may permit any statement of case, reply or particular to be amended or extend the time within which the pleadings or particulars must be provided¹⁵.

1266. Tribunal's power to strike out or dismiss an appeal.

A VAT and duties tribunal must strike out an appeal where no appeal against the disputed decision lies to a tribunal¹, and must dismiss an appeal where it cannot be entertained by a tribunal². A tribunal may dismiss an appeal for want of prosecution where the appellant³ or the person to whom the interest or liability of the appellant has been assigned or transmitted, or upon whom that interest or liability has devolved, has been guilty of inordinate and inexcusable delay⁴. Except where an appeal or application is allowed by consent⁵, no appeal may be so struck out or dismissed without a hearing⁶.

A tribunal entertains an appeal from the date of service of the notice of hearing in accordance with r 23 (as amended) (see PARA 1276 post), but if the issue of competency is raised under r 6 (see PARA 1263 ante) that that issue must be decided as a preliminary step before the tribunal entertains the appeal: see Customs and Excise Comrs v Hubbard Foundation Scotland [1981] STC 593, Ct of Sess.

1267. Withdrawal of an appeal or application.

An appellant¹ or applicant may at any time withdraw his appeal or application by serving at the appropriate tribunal centre² a notice of withdrawal signed by him or on his behalf; and a proper officer³ must send a copy of it to the other parties to the appeal⁴. Such a withdrawal of an appeal or application does not prevent a party to it from applying⁵ for an award or direction as to his or their costs⁶ and possibly for a direction for the payment or repayment of a sum plus interest on account of overpaid duty⁷.

7 A direction may be sought for the payment or repayment of a sum of money with interest in relation to VAT under the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 84(8) (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 347) and in relation to landfill tax under the Finance Act 1996 s 56 (see LANDFILL TAX vol 61 (2010) PARA 1005) and climate change levy under the Finance Act 2000 s 30, Sch 6 para 123(4) (see FUEL AND ENERGY vol 19(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 702). No corresponding express provision is, however, contained in the Finance Act 1994 s 16(3) (see PARA 1260 ante). In Murray Vernon Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1997] V & DR 340, the Commissioners successfully argued that they were not liable to pay interest in a case where they withdrew the decision subject to appeal.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/5. ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(3) APPEALS/(ii) Appeals to VAT and Duties Tribunals/1268. Settlement of appeals by agreement.

1268. Settlement of appeals by agreement.

Where a person gives notice of appeal and, before the appeal is determined by a tribunal, the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs and the appellant come to an agreement, whether in writing or otherwise, about the terms upon which the decision under appeal is to be treated as upheld without variation, or as varied in a particular manner or as discharged or cancelled, the like consequences ensue as if, at the time when the agreement was come to, the tribunal had determined the appeal in accordance with the terms of the agreement, including any terms as to costs¹. The agreement will not determine the appeal if the appellant, within 30 days from the date when the agreement was come to, gives notice in writing to the Commissioners that he desires to repudiate or resile from the agreement². If an agreement is not in writing, the agreement will not determine the appeal unless the fact that an agreement was reached and the terms of the agreement agreed are confirmed by notice in writing given by the Commissioners to the appellant or vice versa and the agreement is to be treated as having been made at the time when the confirmation in writing is given³. If an appellant notifies the Commissioners, either orally or in writing, that he does not desire to proceed with the appeal and 30 days have elapsed since the giving of the notification and the Commissioners have not given the appellant notice in writing indicating that they are unwilling that the appeal should be treated as withdrawn, the appellant and the Commissioners are to be treated as having come to an agreement, orally or in writing, as the case may be, at the date of the appellant's notification that the decision under appeal should be upheld without variation⁴. Agreements reached with, and notices or notification given by or to, an agent for an appellant are for these purposes treated as having been made with, or given to or by, the appellant⁵.

1269. Parties to an appeal.

Subject to any direction made where, in the course of proceedings, the liability or interest of the applicant passes to another person by reason of death, insolvency or otherwise¹, the parties to an appeal are the appellant² and the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs³. An appeal may be brought only by the person who required the review⁴, although the tribunal may direct that other persons be added or substituted as parties⁵.

One or more partners in a firm which is not a legal person distinct from the partners of whom it is composed may appeal against a decision of the Commissioners relating to the firm or its business, or apply to a tribunal in an appeal or intended appeal, in the name of the firm and, unless a tribunal otherwise directs, such proceedings are to be carried on in the name of the firm, but with the same consequences as would have ensued if the appeal or application had been brought in the names of the partners⁶.

Where, in the course of proceedings, the liability or interest of the appellant or applicant passes to another person ('the successor') by reason of death, insolvency, or otherwise, the tribunal may direct, on the application of the Commissioners or the successor, and with the written consent of the successor, that the successor be substituted for the applicant or appellant in the proceedings⁷. If the tribunal is satisfied that there is no person interested in the application or appeal, or the successor fails to give written consent for his substitution in the proceedings within a period of two months after being requested to do so by the tribunal, the tribunal may, of its own motion or on application by the Commissioners and after giving prior written notice to the successor, dismiss the application or appeal⁸.

Neither a bankrupt nor a discharged bankrupt has any locus standi in an appeal; but the trustee in bankruptcy may assign the right of appeal to the discharged bankrupt⁹.

5 Power is given to the tribunal under the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 19(3) (as amended) (see PARA 1270 post) to join third parties to an appeal if it is necessary or expedient to ensure the speedy and just determination of that appeal; but it may be made a condition of the joinder of such a party that it should not at any stage (including on appeal) apply for its costs: Barclays Bank plc v Customs and Excise Comrs (Visa International Service Association, third party) [1992] VATTR 229 at 239; and see Schwarz v Aeresta Ltd and Customs and Excise Comrs [1989] STC 230. UPDATE

1269 Parties to an appeal

TEXT AND NOTES 4, 5--An appeal (other than under the Finance Act 1994 s 16(1), (1A) (see PARA 1258) may also be made by (1) a person whose liability to pay any duty or penalty is determined by, results from, or is or will be affected, by the relevant decision; (2) a person in relation to whom, or on whose application, the relevant decision has been made; or (3) a person on whom the conditions, limitations, restrictions, prohibitions or other requirements to which the relevant decision relates are, or are to be, imposed or applied: s 16(2A) (added by SI 2009/56).

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/5. ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(3) APPEALS/(ii) Appeals to VAT and Duties Tribunals/1270. Directions.

1270. Directions.

An application to a VAT and duties tribunal¹, made otherwise than at a hearing, for the issue of a witness summons² or a direction, including a hardship direction³ or a direction for the setting aside of a witness summons, must be made by notice served⁴ at the appropriate tribunal centre⁵. The notice must:

- 3398 (1) state the name and address of the applicant;
- 3399 (2) state the direction sought or details of the witness summons sought to be issued or set aside; and
- 3400 (3) set out, or have attached to it a document containing, the grounds of the application⁶.

Additionally, any notice of application by an intending appellant⁷ must:

- 3401 (a) state the address of the office of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs from which the disputed decision was sent⁸;
- 3402 (b) state the date of the disputed decision and the address to which it was sent;
- 3403 (c) set out shortly the disputed decision or have attached to it a copy of the document containing the disputed decision; and
- 3404 (d) have attached to it a copy of any letter from the Commissioners extending the applicant's time to appeal against the disputed decision together with a copy of any letter from the Commissioners notifying him of a date from which his time of appeal against the disputed decision is to run⁹.

A notice of application for a hardship direction must be served at the appropriate tribunal centre within the period for the service of the notice of appeal¹⁰. Except as provided in certain provisions relating to witness summonses and summonses to third parties¹¹, the parties to an application are the parties to the appeal or intended appeal¹², and, except as so provided, a proper officer¹³ must send an acknowledgment of the service of a notice of application at the appropriate tribunal centre to the applicant and must also send a copy of that notice and of any accompanying documents to the other party, if any, to the application¹⁴. The acknowledgment and copy of the notice of application must state the date of service and the date of notification of the notice of application¹⁵.

Within 14 days of the date of notification of a notice of application, the other party to the application, if any, must indicate whether or not he consents to it and, if he does not consent to it, the reason why he does not so consent¹⁶.

A proper officer must send a notice stating the date and time when, and the place where, a hearing for the purpose of giving directions will take place to the parties to the appeal which, unless the parties otherwise agree, is not to be earlier than 14 days after the date on which the notice is sent¹⁷.

A tribunal may of its own motion or on the application of any party to an appeal or application extend the time within which a party to the appeal or application, or any other person, is required or authorised¹⁸ to do anything in relation to the appeal or application, including the time for service for a notice of application, upon such terms as it may think fit¹⁹. A tribunal may so make a direction of its own motion without prior notice or reference to any party or other person and without a hearing²⁰. Without prejudice to these provisions, a tribunal may of its own motion, or on the application of a party to an appeal or application or other person interested, give or make any direction as to the conduct of, or as to any matter or thing in connection with, the appeal or application which it may think necessary or expedient to ensure the speedy and just determination of the appeal, including the joining of other persons as parties to the appeal²¹.

If any party to an appeal or application or any other person fails to comply with any direction of a tribunal, a tribunal may allow or dismiss the appeal or application²².

21 Ibid r 19(3) (amended by SI 1994/2617). The tribunal may also waive any non-observance of the rules or direction by the tribunal: see the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 19(5); and PARA 1261 ante. Where a notice is served under the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 61 (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 322), the Finance Act 1996 s 60, Sch 5 para 19 (landfill tax: see LANDFILL TAX vol 61 (2010) PARA 988), the Finance Act 2000 s 30, Sch 6 para 99 (climate change levy: see FUEL AND ENERGY vol 19(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 690), the Finance Act 2001 s 28, Sch 6 para 8 (aggregates levy: see PARA 842 ante); or the Finance Act 2003 s 28 (penalties on importation and exportation: see PARA 1210 ante), and appeals are brought by different persons which relate to, or to different portions of, the basic penalty referred to in the notice, the tribunal may, of its own motion or on the application of any party to any such appeal, give any direction it thinks fit as to the joinder of the appeals: Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 19(3A) (added by SI 1997/255; and amended by SI 2001/3073; SI 2003/2757).

22 Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 19(4) (amended by SI 1991/186). In Scotland a tribunal's decision to allow an appeal because the Commissioners had failed to comply with an 'unless' order has been upheld by the court (see Customs and Excise Comrs v Young [1993] STC 394, Ct of Sess); but the English tribunals are reluctant to allow appeals in such circumstances as they may impose a penalty on a party including the Commissioners under the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 82(1), Sch 12 para 10 (see PARA 1261 ante) (see Empress of India Restaurant v Customs and Excise Comrs (1997) VAT Decision 15087, [1997] STI 1301). The tribunal may also refuse the Commissioners the opportunity to amend their case, confining them to the grounds contained in their decision letter: see Faccenda Chicken v Customs and Excise Comrs [1992] VATTR 395 at 401 (although such a refusal was not in fact thought appropriate in that case), followed in Charles F Hunter Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1993) VAT Decision 11619 (unreported). An appeal will not be allowed by reason of the failure of the Commissioners to comply with the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590 (as amended) or a direction of a tribunal, unless there is a likelihood of serious prejudice to the appellant, or contumelious disobedience by the defaulting party: Wine Warehouses Europe Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1993] VATTR 307.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/5. ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(3) APPEALS/(ii) Appeals to VAT and Duties Tribunals/1271. Disclosure, inspection and production of documents.

1271. Disclosure, inspection and production of documents.

Each of the parties to an appeal¹ other than a reasonable excuse² or mitigation³ appeal, and each of the parties to an application for a hardship direction⁴ must, before the expiration of the prescribed time⁵, serve at the appropriate tribunal centre⁶ a list of the documents in his possession, custody or power which he proposes to produce at the hearing of the appeal or application⁷.

Additionally, and without prejudice to the above provisions, a VAT and duties tribunal may, on the application of a party to an appeal and where it appears necessary for disposing fairly of the proceedings, direct the other party to the appeal to serve at the appropriate tribunal centre for the appeal, within such period as it may specify, a list of the documents, or any class of documents, which are or have been in his possession, custody or power relating to any question in issue in the appeal; and it may at the same time or subsequently order him to make and serve an affidavit verifying that list⁸. If a party desires to claim that any document included in a list of documents served by him in pursuance of a such a direction is privileged from production in the appeal, that claim must be made in the list of documents with a sufficient statement of the grounds of privilege⁹.

A proper officer¹⁰ must send a copy of any list of documents and any affidavit so served to the other party to the appeal or application; and that other party is entitled to inspect and take copies of the documents set out in the list which are in the possession, custody or power of the party who made the list and are not privileged from production in the appeal, at such time and place as he and the party who served the list of documents may agree or a tribunal may direct¹¹. At the hearing of an appeal or application, a party must produce any document included in a list of documents so served by him in relation to that appeal or application which is in his possession, custody or power and is not privileged from production when called upon to do so by the other party to the appeal or application¹².

1 As to the parties to an appeal see PARA 1269 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'reasonable excuse appeal' see PARA 1262 note 6 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'mitigation appeal' see PARA 1263 note 7 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'hardship direction' see PARA 1270 note 3 ante.

5 A list of documents must be served: (1) in the case of an evasion penalty appeal, within a period of 15 days after the last day for the service by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs of any reply pursuant to the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 7(1)(c) (as amended) (see PARA 1265 head (4) ante); (2) in any other appeal except a reasonable excuse appeal or a mitigation appeal, within a period of 30 days after: (a) the date of notification of the notice of appeal; or (b) the date of notification of the notice of withdrawal of any application under r 6 (see PARA 1263 ante) in the appeal; or (c) the date on which a direction dismissing any application under r 6 is released in accordance with r 30 (as amended) (see PARA 1282 post), whichever is the latest; (3) in an application for a hardship direction, within a period of 30 days after the date of notification of the application: r 20(2) (amended by SI 1991/186; SI 1994/2617). For the meaning of 'evasion penalty appeal' see PARA 1264 note 3 ante; and for the meaning of 'date of notification' see PARA 1262 note 13 ante. As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante.

6 For the meaning of 'appropriate tribunal centre' see PARA 1255 ante.

7 Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 20(1) (amended by SI 1991/186). The list of documents to be so served by the Commissioners must contain a reference to the documents relied upon in reaching a decision on a review under the Finance Act 1994 s 15 (see PARA 1253 ante) or s 59 (insurance premium tax: see INSURANCE vol 25 (2003 Reissue) PARA 849) or the Finance Act 1996 s 54 (landfill tax: see LANDFILL TAX vol 61 (2010) PARA 1003 et seq) and also (where appropriate) to the documents relied on in reaching a decision on a review under the Finance Act 2000 s 30, Sch 6 para 121 (climate change levy: see FUEL AND ENERGY vol 19(1) (2007 Reissue) PARA 701), the Finance Act 2003 s 33 (penalties on importation or exportation: see PARA 1214 ante) or the Export (Penalty) Regulations 2003, SI 2003/3102, reg 9 (see PARA 1217 ante); Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 20(1A) (added by SI 1994/2617; and amended by SI 1997/255; SI 2001/3073; SI 2004/1032).

Failure to include a document in a list does not preclude the document's admission before the tribunal. The High Court may remit a case to the tribunal for rehearing if it refuses to admit documents whose existence has only come to light shortly before the hearing. The tribunal has a discretion as to whether or not to admit documents not contained on a party's list, but must exercise this discretion rationally and in accordance with the principles of natural justice: see GUS Merchandise Corp Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs, Customs and Excise Comrs v GUS Merchandise Corp Ltd [1992] STC 776. The Commissioners are entitled to rely on documents before the tribunal which were not included in their list without making an application under the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 19 (as amended) (see PARA 1270 ante) if the documents in question became relevant only when the appellant advanced a fresh argument at the hearing: Koca v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] STC 58.

1272. Witness statements.

A party to an appeal¹ may, within the prescribed time², serve at the appropriate tribunal centre³ a statement in writing (a 'witness statement') containing evidence proposed to be given by any person at the hearing of the appeal⁴. A witness statement must contain the name, address and description of the person proposing to give the evidence contained in it and must be signed by him⁵. A proper officer⁶ must send a copy of a witness statement served at the appropriate tribunal centre to the other party to the appeal, and that copy must state the date of service and the date of notification of the witness statement and must contain, or be accompanied by, a note to the effect that, unless a notice of objection to it is served, the witness statement may be read at the hearing of the appeal as evidence of the facts stated in it without the person who made it giving oral evidence at the hearing⁷.

If a party objects to a witness statement being read at the hearing of the appeal as evidence of any fact stated in it, he must serve a notice of objection to the witness statement not later than 14 days after the date of notification of that witness statement, whereupon a proper officer must send a copy of the notice of objection to the other party and the witness statement must not be read or admitted in evidence at the hearing, although the person who signed it may give evidence orally at the hearing⁸. Subject to this provision and unless a tribunal otherwise directs, a witness statement signed by any person and duly served is admissible in evidence at the hearing of the appeal as evidence of any fact stated in it of which oral evidence by him at that hearing would be admissible⁹.

1 As to the parties to an appeal see PARA 1269 ante.

2 A witness statement must be served: (1) in the case of an evasion penalty appeal, before the expiration of 21 days after the last day for the service by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs of a reply pursuant to the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 7(1)(c) (as amended) (see PARA 1265 head (4) ante); (2) in the case of a mitigation appeal or a reasonable excuse appeal, before the expiration of 21 days after the date of notification of the notice of appeal; and (3) in the case of any other appeal, before the expiration of 21 days after the date of notification of the Commissioners' statement of case: r 21(6) (amended by SI 1991/186; SI 1994/2617). 1273. Affidavits and depositions made in other legal proceedings.

If:

- 3405 (1) an affidavit or deposition made in other legal proceedings, whether civil or criminal, is specified as such in a list of documents served¹ by a party to an appeal² or application or in a notice³ served by such a party at the appropriate tribunal centre⁴; and
- 3406 (2) it is stated in that list or notice that the party serving it proposes to give that affidavit or deposition in evidence at the hearing of the appeal or application and that the person who made that affidavit or deposition is dead or is outside the United Kingdom⁵ or is unfit by reason of his bodily or mental condition to attend as a witness, or that, despite the exercise of reasonable diligence, it has not been possible to find him, the affidavit or deposition is admissible⁶ at the hearing of the appeal or application as evidence of any fact stated in it of which oral evidence by the person who made the affidavit or deposition would be admissible⁷.

If a party objects to an affidavit or deposition being read and admitted as evidence under these provisions, he must serve a notice of application for directions with regard to that affidavit or deposition at the appropriate tribunal centre not later than 21 days after the date of notification of the list of documents or notice⁸. At the hearing of such an application, a VAT and duties tribunal may give directions as to whether, and if so how and on what conditions, the affidavit or deposition may be admitted as evidence and, where applicable, as to the manner in which the affidavit or deposition is to be proved; and the affidavit or deposition is admissible as evidence to the extent and on the conditions, if any, specified in the direction but not further or otherwise⁹. The members of the tribunal hearing such an application must not sit on the hearing of the appeal or application to which the above-mentioned application for directions relates¹⁰.

1274. Witness summonses and summonses to third parties.

Where a witness is required by a party to an appeal¹ or application to attend the hearing of an appeal or application to give oral evidence or to produce any document in his possession, custody or power necessary for the purpose of that hearing, a chairman² or the registrar³ must, upon the application of that party, issue a summons requiring the attendance of the witness at the hearing or the production of the document, wherever the witness may be in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man⁴.

Where a party to an appeal or application desires to inspect any document necessary for the purpose of the hearing of that appeal or application which is in the possession, custody or power of any other person in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man, whether or not that other person is a party to the appeal or application, a chairman or the registrar must, upon the application of that party, issue a summons requiring:

- 3407 (1) the attendance of the other person at such date, time and place as the chairman or the registrar may direct and then and there for that person to produce the document for inspection by the party or his representative and to allow the party or his representative then and there to peruse the document and to take a copy of it; or
- 3408 (2) the other person to post the document by ordinary post to an address in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man by first class mail in an envelope duly prepaid and properly addressed to the party requiring to inspect it⁵.

A chairman or the registrar may issue a summons under this provision without prior notice or reference to the applicant or any other person and without a hearing, the only party to the application being the applicant⁶. A summons so issued must be signed by a chairman or the registrar and must be served:

- 3409 (a) where the witness or third party is an individual, by leaving a copy of the summons with him and showing him the original of it; or
- 3410 (b) where the witness or third party is a body corporate, by sending a copy of the summons by post to, or leaving it at, the registered or principal office in the United Kingdom or the Isle of Man of the body to be served, not less than four days before the day on which the attendance of the witness or third party or the posting of the document is thereby required⁷. Such a summons must contain a statement, or be accompanied by a note, to the effect that the witness or third party may apply, by a notice served at the tribunal centre⁸ from which the summons was issued, for a direction that the summons be set aside⁹.

A witness summons so issued for the purpose of a hearing and duly served has effect until the conclusion of the hearing at which the attendance of the witness is thereby required¹⁰. No person is, however, to be required to attend to give evidence or to produce any document at any hearing or otherwise under these provisions¹¹ which he could not be required to give or produce on the trial of an action in a court of law¹²; and no person is bound to attend any hearing or to produce or post any document for the purpose of a hearing or for inspection and perusal in accordance with such a summons unless a reasonable and sufficient sum of money to defray the expenses of coming to, attending at and returning from the hearing or place of inspection and perusal was tendered to him at the time when the summons was served on him¹³.

A tribunal may, upon the application of any person served at the appropriate tribunal centre, set aside a summons so served upon him¹⁴.

1275. Service of notices and documents.

Service of a notice of appeal, notice of application or other document is to be effected by handing the document to a proper officer¹ at the appropriate tribunal centre², or by its being received there through the post or by a facsimile of it being received there through a facsimile transmission process, or by telex or other means of electronic communication which produces a text of the document, in which event the document is regarded as sent when its text is received in legible form³.

Any notice of appeal, notice of application or other document (including a facsimile of a document received by facsimile transmission process or telex or other means of electronic communication which produces a text of the document) handed in or received at a tribunal centre other than the appropriate tribunal centre may be: (1) sent by post in a letter addressed to a proper officer at the appropriate tribunal centre; or (2) handed back to the person from whom it was received; or (3) sent by post in a letter addressed to the person from whom it appears to have been received or by whom it appears to have been sent; or (4) if a facsimile of a document is received by facsimile transmission process or telex or by other means of electronic communication which produces a text of the document, sent by the means by which it was received, either to a proper officer at the appropriate tribunal centre or to the person from whom it appears to have been received or by whom it appears to have been sent⁴.

Any document authorised or required to be sent to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may be sent to them by post⁵ in a letter addressed to them at the address of the office of theirs from which the disputed decision⁶ appears to have been sent, or handed or sent to them by post or in such manner and at such address as the Commissioners may from time to time request by a general notice served at the appropriate tribunal centre⁷.

Any document authorised or required to be sent to any party to an appeal or application other than the Commissioners may be sent by post:

- 3411 (a) in a letter addressed to him at his address stated in his notice of appeal or application; or
- 3412 (b) in a letter addressed to any person named in his notice of appeal or application as having been instructed to act for him in connection with that appeal or application at the address stated in it; or
- 3413 (c) in a letter addressed to such person and at such address as he may specify from time to time by notice served at the appropriate tribunal centre⁸.

Where, however, partners appeal or apply to a tribunal in the name of their firm, any document sent by post:

- 3414 (i) in a letter addressed to the firm at the address of the firm stated in the notice of appeal or notice of application; or
- 3415 (ii) to any person named in that notice as having been instructed to act for the firm at the address given in it; or
- 3416 (iii) to any other address the partners may from time to time specify by notice served at the appropriate tribunal centre, is deemed to have been duly sent to all those partners⁹.

Subject to the above provisions, any document authorised or required to be sent to any party to an appeal or application, or to another person, may be sent by post in a letter addressed to him at his usual or last known address or addressed to him or to that other person at such address as he may from time to time specify by notice served at the appropriate tribunal centre¹⁰.

5 For these purposes, any reference to the sending of any document to any party to an appeal or application or to any other person by post is to be construed as including a reference to the transmission of a facsimile of that document by facsimile transmission process and to telex or other means of electronic communication which produces a text of the document, in which event the document is regarded as sent when its text is received in legible form: Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 32(4) (added by SI 1991/186; and amended by SI 2003/2757). 1276. Notice of hearings.

A proper officer¹ must send to the parties to the appeal² a notice stating the place where, and the date and time when, an appeal will be heard which, unless the parties otherwise agree, must be not earlier than 14 days after the date on which the notice is sent³.

Unless a VAT and duties tribunal otherwise directs, an application made at a hearing must be heard forthwith, and no notice of the hearing need be sent to the parties to it⁴. Subject to this, a proper officer must send a notice stating the place where, and the date and time when, an application will be heard which, unless the parties otherwise agree, must not be earlier than 14 days after the date on which the notice is sent:

3417 (1) in the case of an application for the issue of a witness summons⁵, to the applicant;

3418 (2) in the case of an application to set aside the issue of a witness summons, to the applicant and the party who obtained the issue of the witness summons; and 1277. Failure to appear at a hearing.

If, when an appeal or application is called on for hearing, a party to it¹ does not appear in person or by his representative², a VAT and duties tribunal may proceed to consider the appeal or application in the absence of that party³. If at that time no party to the hearing appears in person or by his representative, a tribunal may dismiss or strike out the appeal or application but may, on the application of any such party or of any person interested which is served at the appropriate tribunal centre⁴ within 14 days after the decision or direction of the tribunal was released⁵, reinstate the appeal or application on such terms as it thinks just⁶.

The tribunal may set aside any decision or direction given in the absence of a party on such terms as it thinks just, on the application of that party or of any other person interested which is served at the appropriate tribunal centre within 14 days after the date when the decision or direction of the tribunal was released⁷; but, where a party makes such an application and does not attend the hearing of it, he is not entitled to apply to have a decision or direction of the tribunal on the hearing of that application set aside⁸.

1279. Procedure at a hearing.

The hearing of an appeal must be in public unless, on the application of a party to the appeal¹, a VAT and duties tribunal directs that the whole or any part of the hearing should take place in private². The hearing of any application made otherwise than at or subsequent to the hearing of an appeal must, however, take place in private unless a tribunal otherwise directs³. Any member of the Council on Tribunals⁴ or the Scottish Committee of the Council on Tribunals may, in that capacity, attend the hearing of any appeal or application notwithstanding that it takes place in private⁵.

At the hearing of an appeal or application, any party to it other than the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs may conduct his case himself or may be represented by any person whom he may appoint for the purpose⁶. The Commissioners may be represented at any hearing at which they are entitled to attend by any person whom they may appoint for the purpose⁷.

At the hearing of an appeal or application other than an evasion penalty appeal⁸ the tribunal must allow:

- 3423 (1) the appellant⁹ or applicant or his representative to open his case;
- 3424 (2) the appellant or applicant to give evidence in support of the appeal or application and to produce documentary evidence;
- 3425 (3) the appellant or applicant or his representative to call other witnesses to give evidence in support of the appeal or application or to produce documentary evidence, and to re-examine any such witness following his cross-examination;
- 3426 (4) the other party to the appeal or application or his representative to cross-examine any witness called to give evidence in support of the appeal or application, including the appellant or applicant if he gives evidence;
- 3427 (5) the other party or his representative to open his case;
- 3428 (6) the other party to give evidence in opposition to the appeal or application and to produce documentary evidence;
- 3429 (7) the other party or his representative to call other witnesses to give evidence in opposition to the appeal or application or to produce documentary evidence and to re-examine any such witness following his cross-examination;
- 3430 (8) the appellant or applicant or his representative to cross-examine any witness called to give evidence in opposition to the appeal or application, including the other party to it if he gives evidence;
- 3431 (9) the other party or his representative to make a second address closing his case; and
- 3432 (10) the appellant or applicant or his representative to make a final address closing his case¹⁰.

At the hearing of an evasion penalty appeal, or certain other appeals against a penalty under the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979¹¹ and the Hydrocarbon Oil Duties Act 1979¹², the tribunal must follow the same procedure as is set out in heads (1) to (10) above with the prescribed modifications¹³.

At the hearing of an appeal or application, the chairman¹⁴ and any other member of the tribunal may put any question to any witness called to give evidence at it, including a party to the appeal or application if he gives evidence¹⁵. Subject to the above provisions, a tribunal may regulate its own procedure as it may think fit, and, in particular, may determine the order in which the matters mentioned in heads (1) to (10) above are to take place¹⁶. A chairman or the registrar¹⁷ may postpone the hearing of any appeal or application¹⁸; and a tribunal may adjourn the hearing of any appeal or application on such terms as it may think just¹⁹.

Hearings of appeals should, whenever possible, be in public: see Guy Butler (International) Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1974] VATTR 199. A direction that the whole or part of a hearing should be in private will be made only in exceptional circumstances, such as where the disclosure of confidential information would harm an appellant in his business, or where the evidence to be given would involve such disclosure of a process as would prejudice the appellant's competitive position: Consortium International Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs, Consortium Communications International Club v Customs and Excise Comrs (1979) VAT Decision 824 (unreported). Where a tribunal has directed that the hearing of the appeal be in private, it would nevertheless be contrary to natural justice for the other party's expert witness to be excluded from the proceedings: R v Manchester VAT Tribunal, ex p Customs and Excise Comrs (February 1982, unreported).

18 Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 27(5).

19 Ibid r 27(6). A tribunal may refuse to adjourn a hearing and, having heard it, dismiss the appeal, if the appellant is absent and his representative is inadequately instructed or if there is a history of attempted delay by the appellant: Whatton v Customs and Excise Comrs [1996] STC 519.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/5. ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(3) APPEALS/(ii) Appeals to VAT and Duties Tribunals/1280. Evidence at a hearing.

1280. Evidence at a hearing.

Subject to certain provisions as to witness statements¹ and as to the tendering of affidavits and depositions made in other legal proceedings², a VAT and duties tribunal may direct or allow evidence of any fact to be given in any manner it thinks fit and may not refuse evidence tendered to it on the grounds only that it would be inadmissible in a court of law³.

A tribunal may require oral evidence of a witness, including a party to an appeal⁴ or application, to be given on oath or affirmation; and, for that purpose, a chairman⁵ and any member of the administrative staff of the tribunals on the direction of a chairman has power to administer oaths or take affirmations⁶.

At the hearing of an appeal or application, a tribunal must allow a party to produce any document set out in his list of documents⁷; and, unless a tribunal otherwise directs:

- 3433 (1) any document contained in that list of documents which appears to be an original document is deemed to be an original document printed, written, signed or executed as it appears to have been; and
- 3434 (2) any document contained in the list of documents which appears to be a copy is deemed to be a true copy⁸.

¹ I.e. the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 21(4) (as amended) and r 21(5): see PARA 1272 ante. The tribunal may exercise its discretion to allow evidence in the form of a statement of a person who is overseas to be given, but should, as a rule, be slow to do so: Presman (Bullion) Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1986] VATTR 136. The weight to be accorded to such evidence is a matter for the tribunal: Bord v Customs and Excise Comrs (1992) VAT Decision 7946, [1992] STI 879. 1281. Awards and directions as to costs.

A VAT and duties tribunal may direct that a party to an appeal¹ or applicant must pay to the other party to the appeal or application:

- 3435 (1) within such period as it may specify, such sum as it may determine on account of the costs² of that other party of, and incidental to and consequent upon, the appeal or application; or
- 3436 (2) the costs of that other party of, and incidental to and consequent upon, the appeal or application, to be assessed by a taxing master of the Supreme Court or a district judge of the High Court by way of detailed assessment or taxed³.

Any costs awarded under these provisions are recoverable as a civil debt⁴.

¹ As to the parties to an appeal see PARA 1269 ante. As to the establishment and composition of VAT and duties tribunals see PARAS 1255-1257 ante.

² As to the meaning of 'costs' see PARA 1267 note 6 ante. Where the appellant is a litigant in person, the tribunal is restricted to the common law award of the litigant's out-of-pocket expenses in accordance with Buckland v Watts [1970] 1 QB 27, [1969] 2 All ER 985, CA. The tribunal may not award him costs for time spent preparing for the appeal, since the Litigants in Person (Costs and Expenses) Act 1975 (see COURTS vol 10 (Reissue) PARA 206) does not extend to a VAT and duties tribunal: Customs and Excise Comrs v Ross [1990] 2 All ER 65, [1990] STC 353; Nader (t/a Try Us) v Customs and Excise Comrs [1993] STC 806, CA. It has been held that a company is not a litigant in person when it is represented at the hearing by one of its directors, so that costs may be recovered for time spent by the director in preparation for the appeal (GA Boyd Building Services Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1993] VATTR 26); but the opposite conclusion was reached in Rupert Page Developments Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1993] VATTR 152 and impliedly in Alpha International Coal Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1994) VAT Decision 11441, [1994] STI 162 (where costs were recovered for the time spent by an accountant who happened also to be company secretary, on the ground that he was acting in his capacity as an independent agent of the company).

³ Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 29(1) (amended by SI 1991/186; SI 2003/2757). Where a tribunal gives a direction under the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 29(1)(b) (as amended) (see head (2) in the text) in proceedings in England and Wales, the provisions of CPR Pt 47 and any supplementary practice directions apply, with the necessary modifications, to the taxation of the costs as if the proceedings in the tribunal were a cause or matter in the Supreme Court: Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 29(2) (amended by SI 2003/2757). As to proceedings in Northern Ireland see the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 29(4) (amended by SI 1994/2617). There are presently two bases of costs, costs on the standard basis and costs on an indemnity basis: see CPR Pt 47; and CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1734 et seq. The latter are rarely awarded by the tribunal and it is likely that they are available to an appellant only if the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs have 'acted disgracefully' to such an extent as to make the case 'a wholly exceptional one': H & B Motors (Dorchester) v Customs and Excise Comrs (1993) VAT Decision 11209, [1993] STI 1428. Thus such costs were awarded where the Commissioners had sought to exercise powers given to them by the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 58, Sch 11 para 4(2) (see VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 286) for an improper purpose: VSP Marketing Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1994) VAT Decision 12636, [1994] STI 1321. See also KTS Fashions Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1992) VAT Decision 6782, [1992] STI 174. As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante.

In an appeal against an assessment, the recovery of costs incidental to the appeal, pursuant to the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 29(1) (as amended) does not include those costs which are incidental to the underlying decision, while in an appeal against a decision reviewing the initial assessment, only the costs dating from the notification of the review are recoverable: Customs and Excise Comrs v Dave [2002] EWHC 969 (Ch), [2002] STC 900. As to the scope of the Value Added Tax Tribunals Rules 1986, SI 1986/590, r 29(1) (as amended) see Security Despatch Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [2001] V & DR 392; and VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 367.

Costs should generally follow the event; it has been held that it is improper to deny a successful appellant his costs merely because his accountants have created a substantial degree of animosity prior to the appeal by the terms in which they have corresponded with the Commissioners: Zoungrou v Customs and Excise Comrs [1989] STC 313. Costs may be awarded where one party concedes before the appeal is heard: Surrey College Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs [1992] VATTR 181. However, an appeal cannot be continued after a compromise has been reached in order to obtain an award of costs; the costs must form part of the compromise: Cadogan Club Ltd v Customs and Excise Comrs (1978) VAT Decision 548 (unreported).

The Commissioners do not generally seek an award of costs; but, unless the appeal involves an important point of law requiring clarification, they do so in exceptional tribunal hearings of substantial and complex cases where large sums are involved and which are comparable with High Court cases. They also consider seeking costs where the appellant has misused the tribunal procedure as eg in frivolous or vexatious cases, or where he has failed to appear or to be represented at a mutually arranged hearing without sufficient explanation, or where he has first produced at a hearing relevant evidence which ought properly to have been disclosed at an earlier stage and which could have saved public funds had it been produced timeously. The Commissioners normally seek an award of costs in unsuccessful evasion penalty appeals on the ground that such cases are comparable with High Court cases: 102 HC Official Report (6th series), 24 July 1986, written answers cols 459-460; VAT and Duties Tribunals: Excise Duties: Appeals and Applications to the Tribunals; Explanatory Leaflet (January 1995) Appendix B; HM Revenue and Customs Notice 990 Excise and Customs Appeals (March 2003) PARA 3.6. Costs are recoverable on an indemnity basis only, and are not recoverable where the appellant has agreed that he would only be obliged to pay his representative if and to the extent that an award of costs were made in his favour: Customs and Excise Comrs v Vaz, Portcullis (VAT Consultancy Ltd intervening) [1995] STC 14.

1282. Decisions and directions.

At the conclusion of the hearing of an appeal the chairman¹ may give or announce the decision of the tribunal². Where he does so at the conclusion of the hearing of a mitigation appeal³ or a reasonable excuse appeal⁴, he may ask the parties present at the hearing whether they require the decision to be recorded in a written document⁵; and, if none of the parties present so requires, the appeal will be treated for the purposes of the following provisions as if it had been an application⁶. Subject to those exceptions, the decision of the tribunal must be recorded in a written document containing the findings of fact by the tribunal and its reasons for the decision; and that document must be signed by the chairman⁷.

If, however, a party to the appeal so requests by notice in writing served at the appropriate tribunal centre⁸ within one year of the date on which the decision is released in accordance with these provisions, the outcome of the appeal, together with any award and direction as to costs⁹, or for the payment or repayment of any sum of money with or without interest, given or made by the tribunal during or at the conclusion of the hearing of the appeal must be recorded in a written direction which must be signed by a chairman or the registrar¹⁰.

At the conclusion of the hearing of an application, whether or not the chairman gives or announces the decision of the tribunal, the outcome of the application, together with any award or direction given or made by the tribunal during or at the conclusion of the hearing, must be recorded in a written direction which must be signed by a chairman or the registrar¹¹. If, however, a party to the application so requests by notice in writing served at the appropriate tribunal centre within 14 days of the date on which the direction is released in accordance with these provisions, the decision of the tribunal on the application must be recorded in a written document containing the findings of fact by the tribunal and its reasons for the decision which must be signed by a chairman¹².

A proper officer¹³ must send a copy of the tribunal's decision and of any direction in an appeal to each party to the appeal and a duplicate of the direction and of any decision in an application to each party to the application¹⁴. Every decision in an appeal must bear the date when the copies of it are released to be sent to the parties and any direction, and all copies of any direction, recording the outcome of the appeal must state that date¹⁵. Every direction on an application must bear the date when the copies of it are released to be sent to the parties; and any decision on that application which is given or made¹⁶, and all copies of it, must state that date¹⁷.

A chairman or the registrar may correct any clerical mistake or other error in expressing his manifest intention in a decision or direction signed by him; but, if a chairman or the registrar corrects any such document after a copy of it has been sent to a party, a proper officer must as soon as practicable thereafter send a copy of the corrected document, or of the page or pages which have been corrected, to that party¹⁸.

Where a copy of a decision or a direction dismissing an appeal or application or containing a decision or direction given or made in the absence of a party is sent to a party or other person entitled to apply¹⁹ to have the appeal or application reinstated or the decision or direction set aside, the copy must contain or be accompanied by a note to that effect²⁰.

1283. Enforcement of tribunal's decisions and orders.

If the decision, or any order however described, of the tribunal on an appeal is registered by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs in accordance with the rules of court, payment of any amount which is recoverable as relevant duty due from any person and any costs awarded to the Commissioners by the decision may be enforced by the High Court as if the amounts were due to the Commissioners in pursuance of a judgment or order of the High Court¹. The tribunal has no power to direct the Commissioners to pay sums which they admit to be due to a taxpayer². A tribunal has power to direct a stay of proceedings on its decision on such terms as it may consider just, but should make such a direction only in exceptional circumstances and should not do so merely because one party has appealed against that decision to the High Court³.

1284. Appeal from a tribunal to the High Court.

If any party to proceedings before a VAT and duties tribunal¹ is dissatisfied in point of law with a decision of the tribunal, he may, according as rules of court provide², either appeal from the tribunal to the High Court or require the tribunal to state and sign a case for the opinion of the High Court³. The High Court has all the powers of the tribunal and may affirm, set aside or vary any order or judgment made or given by the tribunal, refer any claim or issue for determination by the tribunal, order a new hearing, make orders for the payment of interest and make a costs order⁴.

1 As to the establishment and composition of VAT and duties tribunals see PARAS 1255-1257 ante.

2 See CPR Pt 52 (as added and amended), Sch 1 RSC Ord 94 rr 8(1), 9(1) (r 8 as substituted); and CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 12 (2009) PARA 1657 et seq. Further points of law not taken below may be argued: see Pittalis v Grant [1989] QB 605, [1989] 2 All ER 622, CA (an appeal from a county court, distinguished in Lenihan v Customs and Excise Comrs [1992] STC 478). However, the general rule of an appellate court is not to allow a new point to be raised except on a point of law which no evidence could alter: see A-G v Aramayo [1925] 1 KB 86, 9 TC 445, CA (affd sub nom Aramayo Francke Mines Ltd v Eccott (Inspector of Taxes) [1925] AC 634, HL); Moriarty (Inspector of Taxes) v Evans Medical Supplies Ltd [1957] 3 All ER 718, [1958] 1 WLR 66, 37 TC 540, HL; Girobank plc v Clarke (Inspector of Taxes) [1996] STC 540; Customs and Excise Comrs v Ferrero UK Ltd [1997] STC 881, CA.

In Customs and Excise Comrs v Fathaven Incentive Marketing Ltd [1992] STC 839n, the Commissioners sought leave to extend the time for appealing some four months after time; their application was dismissed because the trader was in liquidation and the disputed sums were unlikely in any event to be recovered; the court was unwilling to allow the appeal procedure to be used simply to establish a principle.

1285. Appeal from a tribunal to the Court of Appeal.

An order may be made providing that in such classes of appeal as may be prescribed by the order, and subject to the consent of the parties and to such other conditions as may be so prescribed, an appeal from a VAT and duties tribunal¹ is to lie to the Court of Appeal².

If any party to proceedings before a VAT and duties tribunal is dissatisfied in point of law with a decision of the tribunal, he may appeal from the tribunal direct to the Court of Appeal if:

- 3437 (1) the parties consent³;
- 3438 (2) the tribunal indorses its decision with a certificate that the decision involves a point of law relating wholly or mainly to the construction of an enactment, or of a statutory instrument, or of any of the Community Treaties or of any Community instruments, which has been fully argued before it and fully considered by it⁴; and
- 3439 (3) the leave of a single judge of the Court of Appeal has been⁵ obtained⁶.

A party who wishes to appeal in this way must apply to the tribunal⁷ for a certificate under head (2) above at the conclusion of the hearing or within 21 days after the date when the decision of the tribunal was released⁸.

2 See the Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 86(1); and VALUE ADDED TAX vol 49(1) (2005 Reissue) PARA 371. Such an order may provide that the Tribunals and Inquiries Act 1992 s 11 (which provides for appeals to the High Court from a tribunal) is to have effect, in relation to any appeal to which the order applies, with such modifications as may be specified in the order: Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 86(2). Provision is made for consultation before the making of such an order: see s 86(2A), (2C) (added by the Constitutional Reform Act 2005 s 15(1), Sch 4 paras 235, 236). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made, but, by virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b), the Value Added Tax Tribunals Appeals Order 1986, SI 1986/2288 (as amended) has effect as if so made: see the text and notes 2-5 infra.

1285 Appeal from a tribunal to the Court of Appeal

NOTE 4--As to the meaning of 'the Community Treaties' see EUROPEAN COMMUNITIES vol 51

NOTE 5--Appointed day is 1 October 2009: SI 2009/1604.

Halsbury's Laws of England/CUSTOMS AND EXCISE (VOLUME 12(2) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 1-619; VOLUME 12(3) (2007 REISSUE) PARAS 620-1288)/5. ASSESSMENTS, REVIEWS AND APPEALS/(3) APPEALS/(iii) Further Appeals and References/1286. References to the European Court of Justice.

1286. References to the European Court of Justice.

Where a question as to the validity and interpretation of Community law¹ is raised before any court or tribunal² of a member state, that court or tribunal may, if it considers that a decision on the question is necessary to enable it to give judgment, request the European Court of Justice to give a ruling on it³. Where any such question is raised in a case pending before a court or tribunal of a member state against whose decisions there is no judicial remedy under national law, that court or tribunal must bring the matter before the European Court of Justice⁴.

These provisions are of particular significance in view of the fact that customs duties are based on European legislation⁵.

1 le a question as to: (1) the interpretation of the Treaty establishing the European Community (Rome, 25 March 1957; TS 1 (1973); Cmnd 5179) (the 'EC Treaty'); (2) the validity and interpretation of acts of the institutions of the Community and of the European Central Bank; and (3) the interpretation of the statutes of bodies established by an act of the EC Council, where those statutes so provide: see art 234(a)-(c) (substituted by the Maastricht Treaty Title II art G(56); and renumbered by virtue of the Treaty of Amsterdam).

1287. Judicial review.

If no right of appeal is provided from a decision by the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs, a person dissatisfied, provided that he has standing, may make an application for judicial review¹. If an appeal procedure exists, the courts in general will, as a matter of discretion, dismiss the application for judicial review on the basis that the matter should be raised by appeal². There may also be circumstances where the validity of the exercise of powers by the Commissioners may be raised as a defence to enforcement proceedings³.

1 For examples of cases where a successful application was made for judicial review of decisions made by the Commissioners see R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Kay & Co Ltd [1996] STC 1500; R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Littlewoods Home Shopping Group Ltd [1998] STC 445, CA (VAT); R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Lunn Poly Ltd [1998] STC 649 (insurance premium tax). As to the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs see PARA 900 et seq ante.

2 Generally speaking, the High Court is hostile to attempts to bring appeals against decisions or directions of VAT and duties tribunals by way of judicial review, indicating that the proper approach is by way of an appeal in accordance with the Tribunals and Inquiries Act 1992 if such an appeal can be brought: see R v VAT Tribunal, ex p Cohen [1984] STC 361n; R v London VAT Tribunal and Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Theodorou [1989] STC 292; R v Customs and Excise Comrs and London VAT Tribunal, ex p Menzies [1990] STC 263, CA; R v VAT Tribunal, ex p Jenny Braden Holidays Ltd (10 March 1994, unreported); R v London VAT and Duties Tribunal, ex p Conoco Ltd [1995] STC 468; cf R v VAT Tribunal, ex p Happer [1982] 1 WLR 1261, [1982] STC 700; R v Customs and Excise Comrs, ex p Sims (t/a Supersonic Snacks) [1988] STC 210; R v VAT Tribunal, ex p Minster Associates [1988] STC 386. In R v IRC, ex p Caglar [1995] STC 741, concerning direct tax, the court considered that it had a residual discretion to intervene; but IRC v Aken [1990] 1 WLR 1374, [1990] STC 497, CA, and IRC v Napier [1993] STC 815n, CA, were not cited. (iv) Inspection and Complaints 1288. Inspection and complaints relating to Commissioners and officers.

Various procedures have been put in place for the carrying out of inspections relating to the actions of the Commissioners for Revenue and Customs¹ and of officers of Revenue and Customs², and for the bringing of complaints against them. Regulations may authorise inspections to be made by Her Majesty's inspectors of constabulary³, and such regulations have been made allowing inspections to be made into the effectiveness of the actions of an officer or the Commissioners in relation to offences, or any subsequent criminal proceedings, and into the operation of any guidance issued by the Commissioners to their officers about alternatives to criminal investigations or levying civil penalties⁴. A person who claims to have sustained injustice in consequence of maladministration in connection with administrative action taken by or on behalf of Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may, after written complaint to a member of the House of Commons, have an investigation carried out by the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration⁵.

Complaint may be made to the independent Adjudicator where a matter (excluding certain types of complaint) has not been resolved to the satisfaction of a member of the public⁶; and, in particular circumstances, complaint may be made to the Independent Police Complaints Commission⁷.
